HIGH BIDS PERIL SCHOOL EXPANSION

Clabaugh Lists 3 Alternatives

The Arlington Heights elementary school building program is imperiled by a rising spiral of construction costs.

That was obvious Monday as low bids on prime contracts for South Junior High School and Administration Building additions totaled $789,649—some $278,000 higher than estimates last December on the same work.

"We figured if we went over $600,000 we would certainly be in trouble," District 25 Supt. Ralph Clabaugh told board members as he gave them the bad news.

A total of $970,000 is available for the elementary district's construction work. This was to have covered an addition to Dryden and Greenbrier schools as well as the Administration and South Junior High remodeling and a small addition at Miner Junior High.

If the present low bids are accepted and contracts let, another $148,000 will still need to be spent on the South project—covering such miscellaneous costs as architects fees, kitchen equipment, furniture, new boilers and an installed gymnasium floor.

CLABAUGH ASKED for general guidance on the course to be followed next by the elementary school administration, saying he could see three alternatives:

—Reject all bids, hoping for lower ones next time.

—Delete a portion of the South work and include that part in the referendum due next spring.

—Complete South Junior High work and plan to finance the Dryden School addition out of the next referendum.

Clabaugh discounted the likelihood of getting better bids another time, noting the large number of bidders for the current contract offer.

HE SAID THAT to do the South remodeling on a piecemeal basis, part now and part after the next referendum, could leave the school in an uproar even longer. As it is, classes will have to be dovetailed around construction for the better part of two years.

The third option—to go ahead with all South work, despite the sky-high costs, and delay other second stage construction as necessary — was agreed to in general terms by board members.

Clabaugh told the elementary board he would confer with William Ganster, architect for the building program, and report back to the board at a special 7:30 p.m. meeting next Thursday.

The superintendent noted that the Dryden School addition was planned to meet expected growth in Park Manor subdivision, and this has not taken place as fast as expected. Only two Dryden classes — 35 students each — are considered badly crowded, and kindergarten classes are not crowded, administrators said.

FURTHER, THE board was told, shifting the financing of the Dryden addition to the next bond issue would not necessarily mean a delay in building.

Possible reasons for the higher-than-expected bids were explored, with board member Robert Bukowski noting the increased economic pace since last year's pre-referendum estimates and the difficulty of remodeling a "jigsaw" building like South.

Board Pres. Harold Sortor added that residential construction costs have gone up 10 per cent in the past year.

Five firms sought the general contract work, their bids ranging from $571,306 to a low of $494,444 submitted by Four Contractors, holder of the general contract for the school district's present first-stage building program.

Low of four plumbing bids was $45,777, submitted by Jacob G. Weber Co.

ELEVEN FIRMS bid on the heating and ventilating contract, with the low base bid of $195,550 coming from James W. Hardy, Inc., and the high bid being $242,500.

Electrical contract bids by eight firms ranged from a high a $71,660 to a low of $53,878 by Wadeford Electric Co.

A board committee composed of Sortor, Howard Sjogren and Charles Bennett will meet Saturday to evaluate financial standing of the bidding firms.

Fear Wayside Classroom Gap

Our Lady of the Wayside school may face a severe classroom space problem this fall if plans to construct a building addition are not approved soon by the archdiocese.

The Rev. Harold T. O'Hara, pastor of Our Lady of the Wayside Church, said Tuesday approval is being delayed because Archbishop John Cody, who succeeded Cardinal Meyer after his death last year, has not had time to organize his building commission.

"There is nothing we can do until we hear from the archdiocese," explained Father O'Hara. The proposed addition, estimated to cost approximately $500,000, would provide eight additional junior high classrooms, a science room, library, auditorium-gym combination with lockers and kitchen facilities.

Currently, 26 classrooms serve approximately 1,350 pupils—an average of more than 51 per class.

FATHER O'HARA said he could not speculate whether the delay would force classes to be held on split shifts. Plans called for completion of the addition by September to handle increased enrollment.

Asked if there was any consideration of using mobile classrooms, Father O'Hara said such facilities might represent a temporary solution to overcrowded classes if the need arose. He stressed, however, that consideration of any alternatives was being put off pending a decision from the archdiocese.

The parish has been waiting for approval of the addition since last November.

There was no indication on how much enrollment is expected to increase next fall.

ROBERT CAMPBELL, assistant superintendent of Elementary District 25, reported he had received no word concerning any possible effect the parochial school's space problem might have on public schools.

He noted that each year rumors of possible shifts in parochial school classroom provisions raised speculation public school classes would have to be enlarged. He added that such a need has never arisen.

IN ADDITION, for more than 20 years she has done volunteer work for the Lutheran Home where he said her efforts have been "untiring." She coordinates the work of volunteer women who prepare handiwork. Proceeds from the work provide small items for residents of the home.

Mrs. Kastning was born on a farm, then outside Arlington Heights, in 1889. Her husband is retired.

Park Manor Variation Is Refused

A request for a variation to permit a home on a 50-foot-wide lot in Park Manor subdivision was rejected by the Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals Monday.

The board refused to grant a variation to Erland Johnson of Des Plaines who sought permission to build a single-family home on a 50-foot wide lot in Park Manor subdivision. The board ruled that Johnson had not presented sufficient evidence of ownership and that he had not demonstrated his request was based on "hardship not self-imposed." Village ordinances require a minimum lot width of 70 feet.

THE DECISION came in the wake of testimony from a representative of owners of property adjoining Johnson's lot who protested the proposed variation. Their representative, Mrs. Walter J. Damm of 710 S. Cleveland Ave. said, "We object to the granting of this variation because the majority of homes in the adjoining area all are on large lots." Mrs. Damm was accompanied by six

Gifted Class Focuses On Politics, Religion

A study of democracy, communism and the Sino-Soviet rift in the third grade?

It sounds impossible, but that's one of the topics taken up in a "hothouse" class for gifted third, fourth and fifth graders at Arlington Heights' North School.

A report on the District 25 special gifted child program was presented to the board of education Monday by the people most directly concerned — the gifted child counselors.

BOARD MEMBERS not only received a dazzling review of third grade study topics but they were told gifted children can have special learning problems. That, in fact, is the purpose of the program, said Director of Special Services Robert S. Stavrakas.

Stavrakas said only a handful of the district's hundreds of children who have been identified as "gifted" are included in the special state-financed program. Its purpose is not so much to benefit the children directly involved, he said but to "gain information about gifted child learning and relay it back to the classroom teacher."

With information gained through the experimental classes, he said, classroom teachers can better help other gifted children work toward their potential.

Supt. R. E. Clabaugh added the district has a gifted child program for children so identified who are not involved in the experiment. And he said there was a "spillover" of information learned about teaching that applies to all pupils.

NORMAN R. Soderstrom, gifted child counselor at the elementary level, has the program at North School. Fourteen children from throughout the district attend regular classes at North School and participate in the special program.

Besides communism and democracy, he said, they have studied famous artists and their works and tried to incorporate the artists' concepts into their own paintings. They have studied the religious of the world. They have set up a panel discussion on religions along the lines of a television panel show.

They have done special projects in creative writing, including dramatizations. And they have planned supplies for a three-year trip to the moon with a crew of 25 men and women.

The group, Soderstrom said, makes weekly trips to the public library for more "challenging" books than are available in the school library. They have had field trips to radio and television stations and are now working on pro and con debates on:

1) Should we continue fighting in Viet Nam?

2) Should we continue in the race to the moon?

3) Whose home run record is better — Babe Ruth's or Roger Maris'?

TWO OF the children are learning Spanish.

Labeling of the youngsters as "gifted" has caused "no particular problems," he said. They seem to maintain a variety of friends in school.

"The gifted child is no different from other children," Soderstrom said. "They have differing potentials and they need motivation — praise and constructive criticism. There are under and over achievers and average achievers. They are not necessarily eager to learn just because they are gifted."

A somewhat different approach was cited by Miss Dorothae C. Wiedling, gifted child counselor at the junior high level. She has 26 pupils in her program at the three junior high schools.

She concentrates on counseling techniques, to learn how the gifted child feels about himself, on programmed learning to improve reading and study skills and on working with the child to further classroom activities — like learning the use of the slide rule.

AT THE junior high level, she said, some gifted children "feel more important" and are motivated to work to retain that feeling. Others, she said, actually feel inferior because they are not working up to their own abilities.

Gifted children can be as obstreperous as they are precocious. One child told her, Miss Wiedling reported, "You're violating my privacy when you expect me to do more."

In a study of the psychological adjustment of gifted children, she said, she learned that the children who are receiving good marks generally do well in creativity testing, while those receiving poor marks appear to be less creative.

No dirt, concrete or building materials will be picked up.

HERE'S THE schedule for the rest of the village:

April 25—northeast section of town, north of the railway and east of Arlington Heights Road.

JAMES PENN

Harold E. Sortor was re-elected president of the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 board at an organizational meeting Monday.

Seated on the board during the session was James W. Penn, who was elected Saturday, and Mrs. Marian Malcolmson, who was re-elected.

Board members chose Sortor for a second one-year term. He has been on the board for four years.

Mrs. Malcolmson started her second three-year term and Penn his first.

THE BOARD approved a resolution praising retiring member Joseph Faner, whom Penn replaced. Board member Charles O. Bennett told Faner he and other school directors had "learned much" from the retiring member.

In other actions, the board re-elected school Bus. Mgr. Peter Bakas as secretary to the board and reappointed the law firm of Norman, Engelhardt, Zimmerman, Franke & Lauritzen to represent District 25.

Bennett said the board had experienced "considerable disappointment" that on occasion "instead of getting principals in the organization, we're getting junior partners, and they're training on our time."

Supt. R. E. Clabaugh said he had informed the firm that where it used junior partners for leg work, the firm's report had to be signed by a principal of the firm, and he added the procedure appeared to be working.

SATURDAY'S election was uncontested: Penn and Mrs. Malcolmson were both nominated by the School Caucus. Penn received 1,216 votes, Mrs. Malcolmson 1,195. Several residents wrote in the names of the four candidates for High School District 214.

Also receiving write-ins were Batman, Lower Taxes, Robert Bishop, Gene Schlickman, James L. Drake, current board members and others.

School Clerks Get $200 Pay Increase

A $200 across-the-board salary range increase for clerical employes was approved by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 board Monday.

The board had decided at its last meeting not to increase the salary range for clerical help. But Supt. R. E. Clabaugh included the $200 increase for all clerical employes in his recommended 1966-1967 salaries for 15 clerical employes now on staff.

HE TOLD THE board it is difficult to find employes for the beginning salary in the least skilled category and the salary encouraged high turnover rates.

The "Group C" range was $3,600 to $4,800. It was changed from $3,800 to $5,000. The "Group B" range was $4,200 to $5,400. It was increased to $4,400 to $5,600. The "Group A" category includes only one employe. Range was $5,000 to $6,200. It also was raised $200.

New employes will start $200 higher than the former schedule; continuing employes will receive the $200 plus a normal $200 step increase. (A

Deny More Parking In Residence Area

A request for a zoning variation to permit parking east of the 123 S. Arlington Heights Road building was denied Monday by the zoning board of appeals.

Owners of the building had sought permission to build an additional parking lot on land currently zoned for single-family use (R-3).

President of the corporation owning the building, Dr. Vernon Boman, 107 S. Kennicott Ave., said he wanted to install 16 additional parking spaces on the lot.

ATTY. WILLIAM Moore, representing Boman, told the board the additional parking space was needed to accommodate the increased number of cars using the lot. He asserted that the traffic flow in and out of the existing lot was tying up traffic on Arlington Heights Road.

Protest against the request came from homeowners on Pine Avenue represented by William G. Franke, 120 S. Pine Ave. Pine Avenue is the first street east of Arlington Heights Road.

Franke, formerly a village trustee and member of the plan commission, gave the board a petition signed by 12 Pine Avenue homeowners. He asserted the proposed parking lot would change the character of the neighborhood and would depress home values. (A

School Clerks Get $200 Pay Increase

A $200 across-the-board salary range increase for clerical employes was approved by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 board Monday.

The board had decided at its last meeting not to increase the salary range for clerical help. But Supt. R. E. Clabaugh included the $200 increase for all clerical employes in his recommended 1966-1967 salaries for 15 clerical employes now on staff.

HE TOLD THE board it is difficult to find employes for the beginning salary in the least skilled category and the salary encouraged high turnover rates.

The "Group C" range was $3,600 to $4,800. It was changed from $3,800 to $5,000. The "Group B" range was $4,200 to $5,400. It was increased to $4,400 to $5,600. The "Group A" category includes only one employe. Range was $5,000 to $6,200. It also was raised $200.

New employes will start $200 higher than the former schedule; continuing employes will receive the $200 plus a normal $200 step increase. (A

Good Will Workshops To Begin at 2 Homes

Two Arlington Heights couples will be hosts at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday) to inter-faith groups starting a six-weeks workshop on "Rearing Children of Good Will."

Television sets will get a workout during the evening in both homes—those of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Leighton, 746 S. Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Opela, 636 N. Dunton. This is because the workshop, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will be keyed to programs presented on Channel 11 for the six-weeks series.

The 8:30 p.m. program seen tonight will be on "Children and Prejudice," and will feature Mrs. Edith Neisser, lecturer and author.

On future Thursdays the inter-faith groups will watch, and discuss, programs on "Psychology and Prejudice," "Discrimination and Prejudice," "Religion and Prejudice," and "Community Action and Prejudice."

THEY WILL hear such well-known speakers as Dr. Paul Mundy, Glenview resident who is professor of sociology at Loyola University; Rev. Elmer Witt, director of the National Walther League, and Dr. Jeanne Spurlock, chief of the child psychiatric clinic at Michael Reese Hospital.

Mrs. William Dempsey is in charge of registrations for the workshop, being sponsored locally by the Arlington Heights Human Relations Committee. Arrangements to attend may still be made by calling her at 392-3564.

Mrs. Dempsey said her latest signers-up were a couple who has just moved to Arlington Heights and hope to make friends through the workshop.

"Protestants, Catholics, Jews and non-believers are equally welcome," Mrs. Dempsey added. "And while the title of the workshop is 'Rearing Children of Good Will," we hope that won't keep away anyone who likes a good discussion but is not a parent." (A

Trees or Traffic—What's Your Vote?

by DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

Would you rather have trees or a fast, wide roadway—if someone else's street is involved?

Residents of Euclid Street have proven, almost to a man, that when it comes to one's own street, the answer is definitely a vote for trees. In a dramatic protest organized by Ollie Thelander, 14 W. Euclid St., most residents of the tree-arched road are fighting plans for the widening of Euclid to 44 feet. The widening would eliminate most or all of the stately old Euclid trees.

The residents of Euclid—and the signers of Thelander's petitions include Village Trustee Carl F. Mees—have a tough job cut out for them. The street has been designated an important thoroughfare for years and portions east of the village, as well as in the western part of Arlington Heights, are already four lanes wide.

Whether protests from street residents alone will be enough to convince village, county and other agencies involved is a big question.

Residents of other areas who support the saving of Euclid's trees over any improvement in driving benefits they'll receive from a four-lane road now have an outlet. Thelander reports he has petitions which residents of other streets who want to save Euclid's trees may sign.

Residents who'd rather have the wider road than the trees, well . . . they can write letters to the editor or, if they feel strongly, attend the plan commission's next thoroughfare hearing May 11.

A second, though less dramatic protest, has been registered against plans to create a railroad grade crossing at Arthur Street. Residents of Stonegate subdivision insist such a crossing would dump through traffic on their quiet streets. Anyone with a map can see how appealing it would be to go through Stonegate to reach the northeast side of town.

The Stonegate protest, however, seems to have some solutions short of "do it" or "don't do it." If northbound drivers on Arthur did enter Stonegate, they would do so via Wilshire. That street could be made one-way south between Carlyle Place and Northwest Highway. Or Arthur traffic could be routed along Sigwalt Street—extended to a crossing at Dryden, which is a thoroughfare on the north side.

Windows Broken In New Home

Fourteen windows were reported broken over the weekend in a home under construction at 1120 Dale Ave., Arlingon Heights.

Candidates Sought For 'Tip Top Teen'

The title of "Tip Top Teen" and a $50 savings bond will go to an Arlington Heights teenager as a result of the search begun this week by Arlington Heights Rotarians. The winner will be that young person who best exemplifies the Rotary motto of "Service above Self."

Nominations may be made by any group, institution or individual, according to L. S. Jenness, Rotary community service chairman. A letter of nomination, mailed to the Rotary community service chairman. A letter of nomination, mailed to the Rotary Club of Arlington Heights, P. O. Box 402, Arlingtin Heights, should detail the contributions and services rendered during the past year by the nominee.

All nominations must be received by May 12, Jenness said. In addition to the savings bond, the winner will receive a wall plaque indicating his award. Presentation will be made at a regular meeting of the club.

THREE LOCAL citizens will judge the nominations on the basis of the following criteria:

1. How has the nominee lived the Rotary motto of "Service above Self?"
2. What was the type and amount of worthwhile service rendered to the community by the nominee?
3. The nominee must live in Arlington Heights and be 13 to 19 years of age, inclusive.

Judges will not have access to the names of the nominees and will pass only upon the records submitted for review, Jenness said. He stressed that information regarding the teen and his or her activities should be as detailed as possible.

The "Tip Top Teen" award is a Rotary community service program through which the local club hopes to develop in all youth the spirit of giving meaningful service to community activities.

Last year's Tip Top Teen was Mack Borgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Winston Borgan of 538 S. Pine Ave. Then a senior at Arlington High School, Borgan was nominated by the Nurses Club on the basis of his academic record and his activity in scouting and student government. (A

Trees or Traffic—What's Your Vote?

by DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

Would you rather have trees or a fast, wide roadway—if someone else's street is involved?

Residents of Euclid Street have proven, almost to a man, that when it comes to one's own street, the answer is definitely a vote for trees. In a dramatic protest organized by Ollie Thelander, 14 W. Euclid St., most residents of the tree-arched road are fighting plans for the widening of Euclid to 44 feet. The widening would eliminate most or all of the stately old Euclid trees.

The residents of Euclid—and the signers of Thelander's petitions include Village Trustee Carl F. Mees—have a tough job cut out for them. The street has been designated an important thoroughfare for years and portions east of the village, as well as in the western part of Arlington Heights, are already four lanes wide.

Whether protests from street residents alone will be enough to convince village, county and other agencies involved is a big question.

Residents of other areas who support the saving of Euclid's trees over any improvement in driving benefits they'll receive from a four-lane road now have an outlet. Thelander reports he has petitions which residents of other streets who want to save Euclid's trees may sign.

Residents who'd rather have the wider road than the trees, well . . . they can write letters to the editor or, if they feel strongly, attend the plan commission's next thoroughfare hearing May 11.

A second, though less dramatic protest, has been registered against plans to create a railroad grade crossing at Arthur Street. Residents of Stonegate subdivision insist such a crossing would dump through traffic on their quiet streets. Anyone with a map can see how appealing it would be to go through Stonegate to reach the northeast side of town.

The Stonegate protest, however, seems to have some solutions short of "do it" or "don't do it." If northbound drivers on Arthur did enter Stonegate, they would do so via Wilshire. That street could be made one-way south between Carlyle Place and Northwest Highway. Or Arthur traffic could be routed along Sigwalt Street—extended to a crossing at Dryden, which is a thoroughfare on the north side.

Candidates Sought For 'Tip Top Teen'

The title of "Tip Top Teen" and a $50 savings bond will go to an Arlington Heights teenager as a result of the search begun this week by Arlington Heights Rotarians. The winner will be that young person who best exemplifies the Rotary motto of "Service above Self."

Nominations may be made by any group, institution or individual, according to L. S. Jenness, Rotary community service chairman. A letter of nomination, mailed to the Rotary community service chairman. A letter of nomination, mailed to the Rotary Club of Arlington Heights, P. O. Box 402, Arlingtin Heights, should detail the contributions and services rendered during the past year by the nominee.

All nominations must be received by May 12, Jenness said. In addition to the savings bond, the winner will receive a wall plaque indicating his award. Presentation will be made at a regular meeting of the club.

THREE LOCAL citizens will judge the nominations on the basis of the following criteria:

1. How has the nominee lived the Rotary motto of "Service above Self?"
2. What was the type and amount of worthwhile service rendered to the community by the nominee?
3. The nominee must live in Arlington Heights and be 13 to 19 years of age, inclusive.

Judges will not have access to the names of the nominees and will pass only upon the records submitted for review, Jenness said. He stressed that information regarding the teen and his or her activities should be as detailed as possible.

The "Tip Top Teen" award is a Rotary community service program through which the local club hopes to develop in all youth the spirit of giving meaningful service to community activities.

Last year's Tip Top Teen was Mack Borgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Winston Borgan of 538 S. Pine Ave. Then a senior at Arlington High School, Borgan was nominated by the Nurses Club on the basis of his academic record and his activity in scouting and student government. (A

Should the Village Have Waterworks

65 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, April 13, 1901

With only one ticket in the field the only excitement at Tuesday's village election will be the vote for or against a waterworks. Unless Arlington Heights wants to be a backwoods town we should adopt modern, progressive issues. We should have both a waterworks and electric lights. They will greatly increase the value of home property.

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, April 14, 1916

The boom is coming! Since it has been settled in court that Arlington Heights is to have paved streets and get permanently out of the mud, real estate is growing in demand and shrewd businessmen are picking up all the bargains they can get hold of. Transient parties are seeking business and residential sites.

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, April 18, 1941

Arlington Heights voters Tuesday elected a split ticket for village offices. Elected from the United Ticket were Albert W. Goedke, president; Herman A. Kossack, village clerk; and Rudolph Rizzi, trustee.

Two trustees were elected from the Good Neighbor ticket; Fred M. Kehe and William G. Franke.

North PTA To Discuss 4 Questions

North PTA will discuss four questions facing parents today at the monthly meeting at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the school's multi-purpose room, 410 N. Arlington Heights Road.

The questions selected through a parents' poll are: 1) How can we help our children to develop independence and accept responsibility? 2) Are we exerting too much pressure on our children to excel? 3)How can we develop effective study habits? and 4)How can we combat growing lack of respect for property? PTA members will divide into discussion groups with each giving a summarizing report.

A REPRESENTATIVE of the junior college speakers bu reau will discuss the coming referendum and lead a question and answer session on this subject.

On Friday, April 22, North School PTA will sponsor a Book Fair from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the school. Books suitable for children from kindergarten through fifth grade will be on display and available for purchase. A hot dog lunch will be served for 30 cents from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. (A

Police Handle 374 Complaints in March

Arlington Heights police handled a total of 374 complaints during March, according to the monthly activity report of Chief L. W. Calderwood.

There were eight burglaries in the village, six residential and two commercial. Four apartment burglaries were cleared with the apprehension of two male suspects, and one commercial burglary was solved by an arrest.

Larcenies numbered 29, which are broken down into nine cases involving over $50 in value, 13 cases under $50 and 17 stolen bicycles.

One auto theft was reported for the month and it was cleared with an arrest.

INCIDENCES of vandalism appear to be on the rise. There were 33 cases reported, one of which was cleared by investigation and none by arrests. The total number of vandalism cases this year is 70, up seven from last year's total of 63 for the comparable period.

Juvenile officers handled 32 juveniles, 28 males and four females. One was sent to adult court and 31 were handled by station adjustment.

Sixty-two traffic accidents in the village bring the year's total to 246. Four of the accidents resulted in injuries. There have been no fatalities this year to date.

In accident prevention activity, police made a total of 447 hazardous driving arrests. Most numerous cause was speeding with 294. Police also issued 969 parking tickets. (A

Smaller Lot Sizes Sought On 38 Acres

A petition to rezone approximately 38 acres on the far north side to permit denser single-family development will be heard by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission at 8 p.m. May 4.

West of Berkley Square subdivision, the acreage would be an extension of that development. The developer seeks a zoning change from R1 to R3. Both are single-family residential zoning categories, but R3 permits smaller lots.

Minimum lots under R1 have frontages of 90 feet. Under R3, minimum frontages are 70 feet. The land is north of the Commonwealth Edison right-of-way, north of Palatine Road, and west of Arlington Heights Road. (A

Two Sabbatical Requests Denied

Sabbatical leave is not a "reward" for teaching service, the District 25 board decided Monday.

The board rejected two requests from teachers for sabbatical leave next year after the superintendent told board members he could not recommend the leaves be granted except as a "reward."

Supt. R. E. Clabaugh said both requests came from older teachers and neither sabbatical leave, in his judgment, would benefit the school district.

ONE TEACHER proposed a year of travel, and the superintendent said she already was well traveled.

The other teacher proposed to combine a partial year's travel with work toward a doctorate in music. Clabaugh said she was a classroom teacher and he did not feel her having a doctorate in music would benefit her work.

Under rules for sabbatical leave, a teacher receives a half-year's salary on his return to the district.

Clabaugh noted the district's policy for granting sabbaticals was vague and did not rule out leaves as a reward.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said the high school board considers sabbaticals only after the administration screens and recommends them on the basis of seven criteria which include reward to the teacher and benefit to the district.

Several board members advocated a clarification of the District 25 policy, but no action was taken. Board Pres. Harold Sortor said the district cannot afford to encourage a real sabbatical program at the present time. (A

Chief Warns: Trash Creates Fire Hazard

Trash and rubbish are an open invitation for fire to enter your home, reminds Arlington Heights Fire Chief Harvey Carothers.

Carothers asked residents to give the trash can "the same workout you give other spring cleanup tools in your home. A good, vigorous cleanout job, repeated at regular intervals, is one of the smartest things you can do to keep your home and your family safe from fire," the chief said.

"MAYBE YOU don't have anything you would call 'trash' around your place. Call it 'clutter' then. Go up into your attic and take a good, calculating look at any old mattresses, stacks of papers and magazines, discarded draperies and lamp shades. Check closets for old clothing and cleaning rags. Go over the basement for workshop scraps, oily rags, paint cans. Don't miss the garage, either.

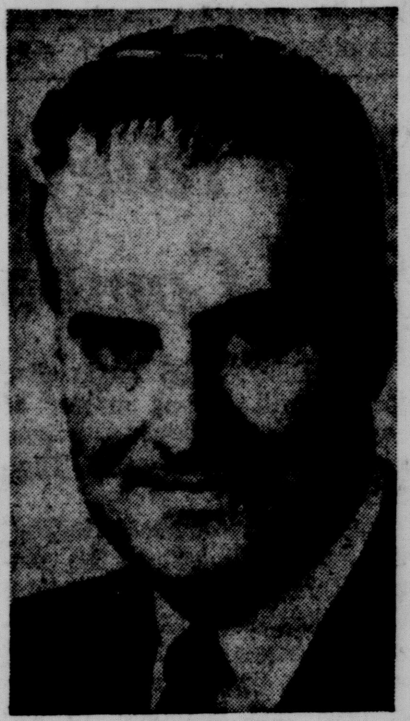
"Get rid of all this fuel for fire. National Fire Protection Association figures show that about one in every 12 fires starts in rubbish." (A

Sociologist Mundy To Speak at PTA



DR. MUNDY

Dr. Paul Mundy, chairman of sociology at Loyola University, will speak to the Westgate-Dwyer PTA at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the multi-purpose room of Westgate School, Arlington Heights.

Mundy's subject will be "Hostilities and Prejudices in Younger Children." The program will include a discussion session with parents.

Mundy is the former editor of the American Catholic Sociological Review and now president of the executive council of the parent organization, the American Catholic Sociological Society. In addition, he is a consultant to the Chicago Commission on Human Relations, the National Conference on Christians and Jews and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. (A

Formal public hearings on the proposed extension of Lillian Street from the new Arlington Highlands subdivision east to Arlington Heights Road were continued by the board of local improvements (BOLI) Thursday to 9 p.m. April 28.

The proposed extension will run between the Market Basket Shopping Center located at Palatine and Arlington Heights Roads and the Pure Oil station south of the shopping center on Arlington Heights Road.

IT IS BEING opposed by the Pure Oil Co. and Nicholas Prassas, owner of the shopping center property.

Representatives of the Pure Oil Co. contend that if the street goes through, it will adversely affect the operation of the gas station by denying it use of one of its access ramps.

Prassas contended Thursday that the planned extension of the street would harm the future commercial value of the shopping center property.

BOLI contends that the extension must go through to provide access to the Arlington Knolls and Arlington Highlands subdivisions.

But BOLI members have indicated that they are willing to consider alternate proposals. (A

Car Rams Tree; 1 Injured

An Arlington Heights man was taken to Northwest Community Hospital with a broken leg suffered when his car struck a tree early Friday morning.

According to police, Emile F. Hertzog, 31, 1529 N. Kaspar Ave., was driving north on Arlington Heights Road at 5:30 a.m. when his car left the roadway and struck a metal sign post and a tree.

POLICE investigating the accident found no skid marks, and said it appeared that Hertzog either fell asleep at the wheel or suffered a blackout causing temporary loss of control.

Hertzog was cited for not having his vehicle under control, damaging village property, and having no current driver's license. (A

Nike Site Acquisition At a Halt

There is nothing new in the status of the Nike base property the Arlington Heights Park District hopes to purchase, Atty. Charles K. Bobinette told the park board Tuesday.

The park district cannot move to acquire the land until it is finally declared surplus by the government and so far that has not happened.

ALSO IN HIS progress report on the land acquisition program, the park district attorney reported that the acquisition of two major park sites has been formally completed.

Those sites are 20 acres south of Central Road and west of Arlington Heights Road at the Surrey Ridge subdivision, and 23 acres formerly part of the Baker Nursery along Palatine Road.

Bobinette said he is still working on the acquisition of a 7½-acre parcel north of Noyes Street and east of Arlington Heights Road.

The parcel is owned by the Bradley family and the Santucci Construction Co. (A Go up into your attic and take a good, calculating look at any old mattresses, stacks of papers and magazines, discarded draperies and lamp shades. Check closets for old clothing and cleaning rags. Go over the basement for workshop scraps, oily rags, paint cans. Don't miss the garage, either.

Formal public hearings on the proposed extension of Lillian Street from the new Arlington Highlands subdivision east to Arlington Heights Road were continued by the board of local improvements (BOLI) Thursday to 9 p.m. April 28.

The proposed extension will run between the Market Basket Shopping Center located at Palatine and Arlington Heights Roads and the Pure Oil station south of the shopping center on Arlington Heights Road.

IT IS BEING opposed by the Pure Oil Co. and Nicholas Prassas, owner of the shopping center property.

Representatives of the Pure Oil Co. contend that if the street goes through, it will adversely affect the operation of the gas station by denying it use of one of its access ramps.

Prassas contended Thursday that the planned extension of the street would harm the future commercial value of the shopping center property.

BOLI contends that the extension must go through to provide access to the Arlington Knolls and Arlington Highlands subdivisions.

But BOLI members have indicated that they are willing to consider alternate proposals. (A

Car Rams Tree; 1 Injured

An Arlington Heights man was taken to Northwest Community Hospital with a broken leg suffered when his car struck a tree early Friday morning.

According to police, Emile F. Hertzog, 31, 1529 N. Kaspar Ave., was driving north on Arlington Heights Road at 5:30 a.m. when his car left the roadway and struck a metal sign post and a tree.

POLICE investigating the accident found no skid marks, and said it appeared that Hertzog either fell asleep at the wheel or suffered a blackout causing temporary loss of control.

Hertzog was cited for not having his vehicle under control, damaging village property, and having no current driver's license. (A

Nike Site Acquisition At a Halt

There is nothing new in the status of the Nike base property the Arlington Heights Park District hopes to purchase, Atty. Charles K. Bobinette told the park board Tuesday.

The park district cannot move to acquire the land until it is finally declared surplus by the government and so far that has not happened.

ALSO IN HIS progress report on the land acquisition program, the park district attorney reported that the acquisition of two major park sites has been formally completed.

Those sites are 20 acres south of Central Road and west of Arlington Heights Road at the Surrey Ridge subdivision, and 23 acres formerly part of the Baker Nursery along Palatine Road.

Bobinette said he is still working on the acquisition of a 7½-acre parcel north of Noyes Street and east of Arlington Heights Road.

The parcel is owned by the Bradley family and the Santucci Construction Co. (A

Trip Tips

Wayne Griffin

When you travel by overnite TWA jet from New York to Madrid as I did last fall, there isn't much time for sleep. By the time you get thru with the lavish 8 course gourmet meal, and see the movie, you're practically there. So I went from the airport right to the hotel and bedded down for a few hours. Aside from the time adjustment from New York you must accustom yourself to the late meals in Spain. Lunch starts about 1:30 or 2:00 and dinner about 9:00 p.m.

So, I had a late dinner, then took a nite club tour to see the famous Flamenco dancers. I left the tour when it was about half over because I was tired—it was then 2:00 a.m. It's no wonder they take a seista every afternoon in Spain. They need the rest.

A side trip to Toledo, just out of Madrid is a must. Aside from its historic background, it's famous for its works in steel — swords, shields and dinnerware of intricate design. How these artisans can pound the fine gold thread into the small grooves on the plates without using glasses of any sort is beyond me. Management told me that every artist has exceptional eyesight and none wore glasses.

Next week we'll write about Rome. For any travel needs, remember Wayne Griffin Travel, 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights. Phone CL 5-7010.

School Trustees to Meet Monday for Ancient Rites

A law passed in 1785 will be obeyed again Monday as Wheeling Township school trustees have their semi-annual meeting at 8 p.m. in the office of E. C. McAuliff, 16 W. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect.

McAuliff, who sent out notices for the meeting last week said that the three trustees' business Monday would probably include:

—Appointment of a treasurer.

—Examination of bonds which represent investment of Wheeling Township school districts' monies.

—Transfer of title of school lands at the request of township school boards.

—Reconfirmation of the appointment of Gust Stavros, Nichols Road, as a township school trustee.

Stavros was appointed school trustee at an unannounced meeting of the trustees several weeks ago after the resignation of school trustee Gerald Moe of Buffalo Grove.

Township school trustees' duties are not unfamiliar to Stavros. He was appointed to the board once before but was unsuccessful in a 1963 bid to be elected to the post. Beating him that time was Moe, whose present resignation was prompted by Moe's candidacy for U.S. Senator on a Conservative ticket.

ONLY ONE OF the other two township school trustees was chosen by election. That is Henry F. Vallely, whose six-year term expires in April, 1967.

The other township school trustee—and currently president of the board — is Dr. Chester Cole, a Mount Prospect dentist.

Dr. Cole was a candidate for election as school trustee last April, coming in fourth in a race in which Joseph Tolson, Arlington Heights, was victor. He was appointed school trustee last year after Tolson moved out of town.

McAuliff, an accountant, was appointed township school treasurer two years ago. School district busines managers, who had found fault with previous township school treasurers, have generally expressed satisfaction with McAuliff's work.

IN 101 OF THE 102 Illinois counties the office of township school trustee has been abolished and local school boards given the right to choose their own treasurers and disburse tax funds directly, rather than through a middleman.

Efforts were made in both the 1963 and 1965 legislatures to have the township school trustee system changed for Cook County. In 1963 a bill to abolish the office was introduced by Rep. Bernard Peskin (D) of Northbrook. Despite support from the Tri-County Division of the Illinois Association of School Boards, and from the IASB itself, it failed to pass.

In 1965, Rep. Eugenia Chapman (D) of Arlington Heights was principal sponsor of a similar bill which passed the House but not the Senate.

A bill to transfer the school trustees' powers to the township board of auditors was introduced in the 1965 general assembly with the support of Rep. Eugene Schlickman (R) of Arlington Heights. Strongly criticized by school people the bill was killed by being referred to subcommittee. (ACM

St. Peter's PTL Schedules Talk On Retardation

A discussion of "Christian Children and Retardation" will be given at Friday's meeting of the St. Peter PTL by Byrn Witt, director of the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children. The PTA will meet in the cafeteria of the Arlington Heights school. The Girl Scout and Brownie troops will present a flag ceremony, there will be musical entertainment and refreshments. (A

60 Administrators Given Pay Increase

High School District 214 administrators have received about the same salary increases as teachers whose salaries were approved before them.

Action taken by the high school board last Thursday gave each member of the 60-person administrative staff a raise based on his 1965-66 teaching salary times a one-sixth step up on the salary index "ladder" — and $250 more.

That was the raise approved earlier for the district's teachers.

The board's salary committee chairman, T. Earl Thompson, noted that the raises were not large but said that there had been "substantial" administrative increases a year ago. To go any higher than the "step plus $250" given teachers would be unwise.

The need to make the school district's administrative salaries eventually comparable with "middle management" was cited by the administrative salary committee in making its presentation.

TWO OTHER salary schedules, based on the 1966-67 teacher salary instead, were also offered by the administrative committee headed by Principal Lawrence Jenness. Per-person differences between those two schedules and the one approved were not large, however.

Thursday's action leaves only the salary of soon-to-be-superintendent Edward H. Gilbert left undetermined. Custodial and clerical salaries were approved in earlier board action.

Total cost of the administrative increases, including raises caused by promotions, will be $54,561.

Rod McLennan, who will be assistant superintendent when Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer retires this summer and Gilbert steps up, was given a salary of $16,867 based on a 1.50 index times what his salary as a teacher would have been.

BECAUSE of their longer experience, salaries of three of the five high school principals will be higher than McLennan's. The principals' salaries will range from $18,795 for Prospect High School's Alvin Kulieke to $16,756 for Elk Grove High School's Donald Thomas.

Salaries of instructional coordinators, also part of the central administrative staff, will range from $11,767 to $13,302.

Business Manager Frances Coleman will receive a salary of $15,276 in 1966-67 and Nelson Lowry, director of personnel, will receive $16,557.

W. A. (Pat) Randle, director of the adult school, will receive $15,515 during the coming year and the salary of Jack Martin, assistant for public relations, will be $12,390.

ASSISTANT principals in the high school district will be paid between $15,692 and $11,862, based on their place on the teachers' salary schedule and an administrative salary index between 1.130 and 1.50.

Salaries of division heads and department chairman will have an even wider spread, ranging from $9,851 to $12,600.

High School Bid Opening Set May 2

High School District 214 will open bids for sale of $3,400,000 in building bonds on Monday, May 2, 8 p.m. in the administration building, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Date for the sale was set at Monday's board meeting.

The bonds offered will cover one-half of the $6,800,000 authorized by voters Feb. 5 for purchase of a school site and the building of a sixth high school on Willow Road near Rand Road.

In discussing the bond sale, Business Manager Frank Coleman noted that Standard and Poor had given the district a continued "A" rating.

Happiness is Relaxed Retirement
Every hard-working person deserves to look forward to post-65 years of relaxed retirement. Yet the facts are that four-fifths of single persons over 65 are poverty-stricken, with yearly incomes of less than $2,000, and two-thirds of family heads over 65 have incomes of less than $4,000 annually.
"Poor people are the bulk of the old," says the New York Times. "If you weren't poor before you reached your 65th year, you are likely to be so afterward."
This doesn't have to be. Thoughtful persons will free themselves from the financial distress and daily drudgery that lie ahead by making provision now for relaxed retirement years.

O'Dea, Johnson Win Without Opposition

Paul O'Dea and Richard L. Johnson were re-elected for three-year terms on the District 301 junior college board Saturday.

The two incumbents, who drew one-year terms when the board was organized last year, were challenged only by an estimated 70 to 80 votes for write-in candidates. Unofficial tallies show O'Dea received 5,973 votes and Johnson 6,131. Total number of votes cast was 6,799..

These figures remain unofficial until the junior college board votes to approve them tonight (Thursday).

THE LACK of challengers to O'Dea's and Johnson's candidacies apparently caused what junior college officials consider a "very light turnout."

Voters in only five of a total 33 precincts cast more than 400 votes. Voters in eight other precincts turned in more than 200 ballots. Heaviest votes came from precincts in Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Hoffman Estates and Mount Prospect.

Arlington Heights residents cast approximately 1,200 votes, more than any other village in the district. Hoffman Estates was next with 730 votes, followed by Wheeling with 699.

O'Dea, an instructor of English at Mundelein College, lives at 349 Princeton, Hoffman Estates. Johnson, a hospital consultant, lives at 425 S. Belmont Ave., Arlington Heights. (B10

Witnesses Plan 3-Day Assembly

"Make Disciples of People of All The Nations" will be the theme of a three-day assembly to be held at the Elgin Public High School April 29, 30 and May 1 by Jehovah's Witnesses.

The three day assembly of ministers is expected to attract almost 1,500 participants in the series of lectures, demonstrations and active door-to-door ministry in the Elgin area.

Albert F. Erickson, presiding minister, 237 E. Golf Road, Arlington Heights, said that the majority of the ministers associated with the Palatine congregation will attend all the sessions, most of them in family groups.

ANGELO MANERA, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in Illinois and Indiana, will preside as chairman of the convention. On April 29, he will conduct a model ministry school following his keynote speech. This school of ministerial training is held weekly in all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses throughout the world.

Highlighting Saturday's program will be the baptism service conducted for new ministers. Manera will speak at 1:30 and 7 p.m.

The three day series of meetings will reach a climax Sunday at 3 p. m. when Manera speaks on the subject, "Does God Have Influence in this Twentieth Century?" All sessions of the assembly are free and open to the public. (B10

Organ Installed

A new organ was installed at Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf roads, in time for the Holy Week services of this young Lutheran Congregation. Although the delivery of the new instrument was scheduled for permanent installation in the new sanctuary to be built this year, special arrangements were worked out for temporary installation in the present sanctuary.

HAROLD KLUMPP of Des Plaines, music director and organist at Grace, describes the new instrument as "being brighter with more flexibility than the old."

The music and worship committee of the congregation, chaired by Arlyn Hedin, has set up an "organ fund" and announced that donations are welcome. (ACM

O'Dea, Johnson Win Without Opposition

Paul O'Dea and Richard L. Johnson were re-elected for three-year terms on the District 301 junior college board Saturday.

The two incumbents, who drew one-year terms when the board was organized last year, were challenged only by an estimated 70 to 80 votes for write-in candidates. Unofficial tallies show O'Dea received 5,973 votes and Johnson 6,131. Total number of votes cast was 6,799..

These figures remain unofficial until the junior college board votes to approve them tonight (Thursday).

THE LACK of challengers to O'Dea's and Johnson's candidacies apparently caused what junior college officials consider a "very light turnout."

Voters in only five of a total 33 precincts cast more than 400 votes. Voters in eight other precincts turned in more than 200 ballots. Heaviest votes came from precincts in Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights, Hoffman Estates and Mount Prospect.

Arlington Heights residents cast approximately 1,200 votes, more than any other village in the district. Hoffman Estates was next with 730 votes, followed by Wheeling with 699.

O'Dea, an instructor of English at Mundelein College, lives at 349 Princeton, Hoffman Estates. Johnson, a hospital consultant, lives at 425 S. Belmont Ave., Arlington Heights. (B10

Area News Roundup

MOUNT PROSPECT — A secretly-made tape recording abruptly ended Tuesday night's public hearing on the recent demotion of Richard Van Dyke from principal to classroom teacher. Van Dyke produced the tape which he said was made Feb. 25 when district 57 superintendent, Dr. Eric Sahlberg, asked for Van Dyke's resignation. "I taped it because I felt I couldn't trust him (Sahlberg)," Van Dyke said.

ROLLING MEADOWS—A $255,000 library bond issue referendum will be held simultaneously with the city's special mayoralty election May 17. The building program budget includes acquisition of a downtown site. Library officials expect community backing evidenced by a successful referendum will enable them to borrow money at an interest rate lower than the current bond market. A $57,468 federal grant for the project has been approved, and the amount to be borrowed will be reduced by the federal funds.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—Bids for additions to South Junior High School and the District 25 Administration Building have thrown a monkeywrench into the district's whole building program. Bids for the four prime contracts alone totaled $789,000, compared with estimates for the same work last December totaling only $511,000. Completing the South-Administration work will eat up most of the remaining construction budget which was to include a six-room addition to Dryden School.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — A hotly contested race for GOP committeeman of Schaumburg Township grew hotter this week as the two contestants challenged each others nominating petitions. The challenges were subsequently withdrawn.

SCHAUMBURG—Schaumburg faces a water shortage next fall unless a new supply is found soon. The village board is discussing three possible solutions to the problem.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE—Elk Grove Village's long-awaited study of its water system resulted in recommendations for another well and elevated tank. The 47 page study by Alvord, Burdick, & Howson predicted wells would be inadequate as a water source in the next 10 years and suggested the village then look to Chicago for its water.

WHEELING—Village Trustees told Ralph Markus, developer of an $18 million dollar project just south of town, that Wheeling couldn't furnish water to his project unless it were annexed to the village. A spokesman told the board of trustees that the developers would like to get water from Wheeling by "contract" for 12 months. Wheeling did not like this idea because it would not be able to control what happened in the project.

PALATINE—Tonight (Thursday) the village zoning board will hear petitions of two builders who seek to build 1,555 apartment units. The hearing is expected to be well attended by residents of the village who in the past have opposed such apartment complexes.

ELGIN SCHOOL DISTRICT—The school board ceased control of Elgin Community College (ECC) following the state junior college board's final approval for Class I status. The school board's action paves the way for the election, expected in late May or early June, of a Class I Junior College Board. Dean G. I. Renner of ECC told the board that the resolution to cease control would make Elgin the first junior college associated with the common school system to take the action in the state. The school board will operate the junior college until the new board is elected.

BENSENVILLE—Annexation and zoning ordinances were adopted by the Village Board of Trustees in final action to establish a Bensenville Industrial Park. But first, the board had to cope with an unexpected, last-minute protest from one of the village's biggest money-makers, Beeline Fashions.

DuPAGE COUNTY—A public hearing has been slated for next Wednesday on proposed amendments to the residential sections of the DuPage County Zoning Ordinance. The amendments would favor larger houses, smaller apartments, more open space, and would be a death blow to future development on flood plains.

ROSELLE—Arrest of a 19-year-old West Chicago youth for public intoxication has resulted in a public hearing to consider suspension or revocation of the liquor license held by Village Inn, 54 E. Irving Park Road, where he allegedly obtained liquor. The tavern is one of three in the village. Hearing tentatively has been set for Friday, April 22.

WOOD DALE—Emphasis of a new salary schedule for teachers in Wood Dale Grade School District 7 is placed on experience and advanced study. While the beginning rate for a new teacher with bachelor's degree reamins at $5,300, increases were allocated for teachers with more experience and more study, rated on a new index system.

School Building Budget $470,375

The Arlington Heights elementary school board Monday night approved a preliminary building budget of $470,375 for the 1966-67 term.

The budget is based on estimated receipts from taxes and other sources totaling $470,625. Current taxes are expected to provide $237,625 of this sum.

More than half the budgeted funds would go for plant operations. Some $204,000 of this expense would be paid for custodial services.

Final approval of the budget will follow public hearings this summer.

VFW Seeks Addresses Of Mothers

The addresses of 10 Gold Star mothers are being sought by Arlington Heights VFW Post 981. VFW public relations chairman Edward R. Doyle said the post wants to arrange to have the Gold Star mothers present for its Memorial Day parade and services.

The mothers are: Mrs. Lewis Gardner, Mrs. Jacob Kreher, Mrs. John Deutsch, Mrs. Lester Bennett Sr., Mrs. William F. Behrens, Mrs. Vega Freyermuth, Mrs. Helen Hatch, Mrs. Charles Umbright, Mrs. Pearl Sutter and Mrs. Mae Lacina. Anyone knowing the address of one of the mothers is asked to contact call Doyle at HE 7-2864 or write him at 1221 S. Pine ave.

Meters Smashed

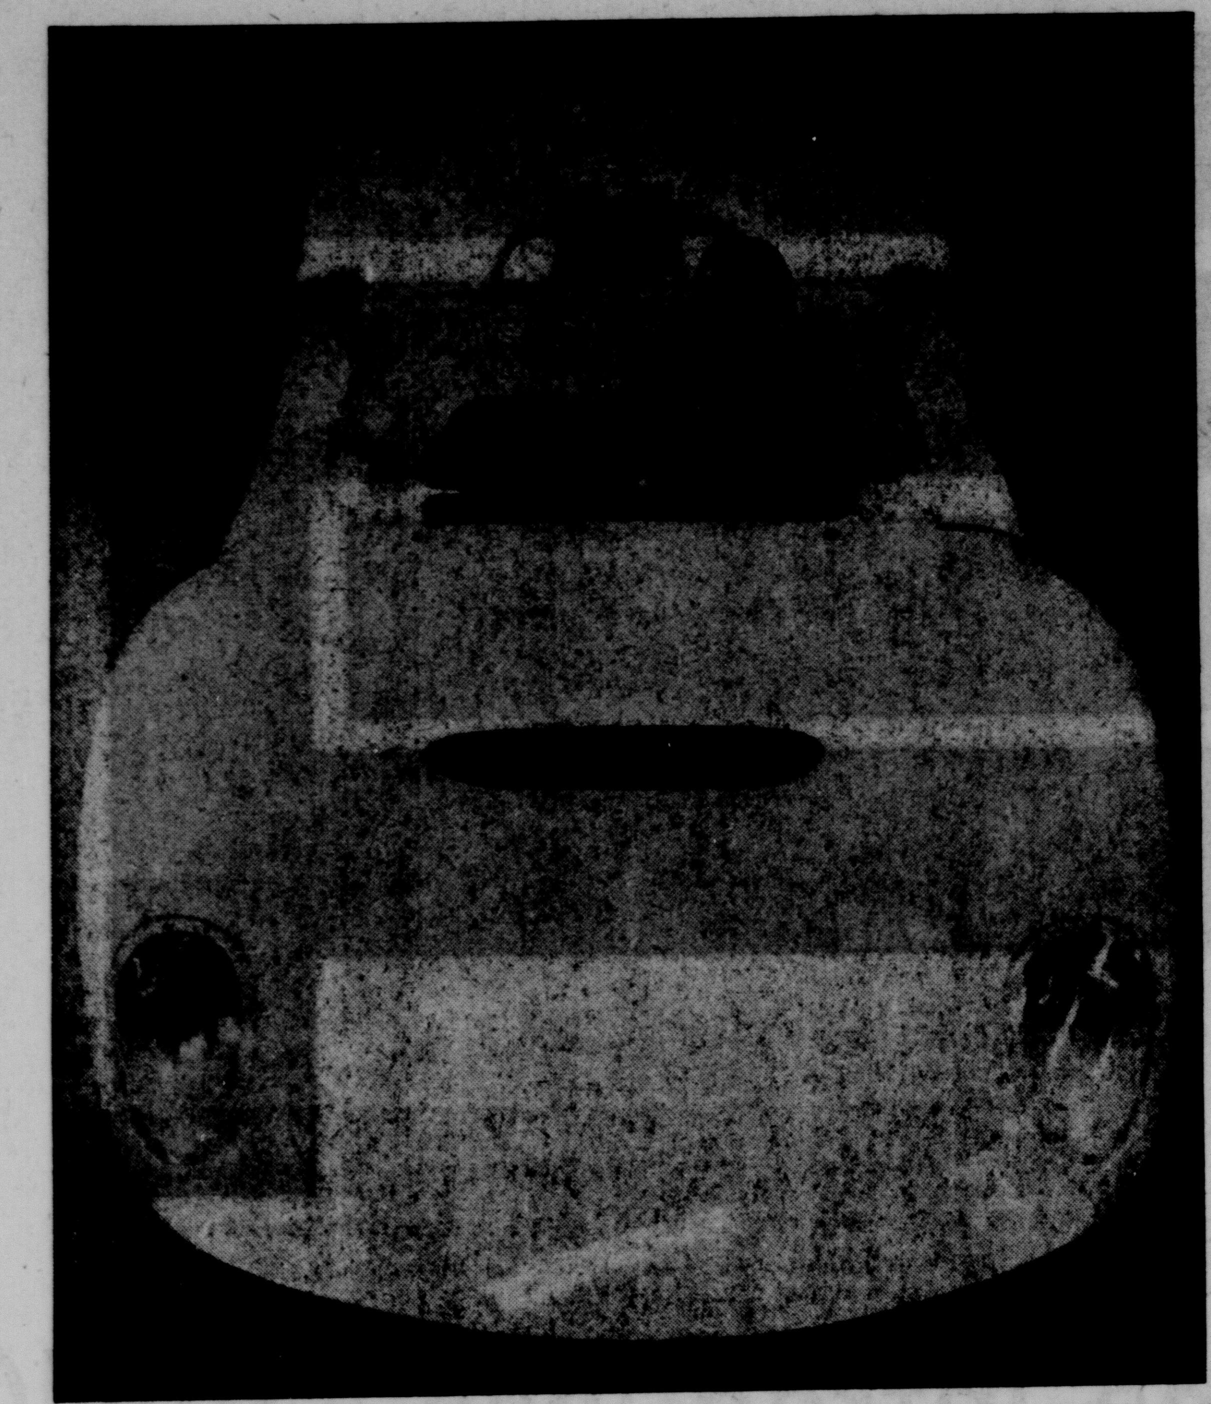
Seven 12-hour parking meters were broken over the weekend in the municipal parking lot between Vail and Dunton Avenues south of the Chicago and North Western tracks in Arlington Heights. Police say the meters were smashed intentionally, probably by striking them with a rock. Each will have to be replaced.

During March Total $2,600

Property loss in Arlington Heights from 26 fires during March amounted to $2,600, according to estimates made in Fire Chief Harvey Carothers' monthly report.

An automobile fire March 29 at 406 E. Euclid St. accounted for $1,400 of the total loss, the report said. Eighteen emergency and 11 inhalator calls also were listed.

The fire department last month hired Stefan V. Balogh, 966 W. Glencoe, Palatine, the report showed.



RACING CAR—This is one of Bob McKee's latest models, which he completed a few weeks ago. Made of a fiberglass body, the car has a large rear-mounted engine and will go more than 180 miles an hour. Weighing 1,400 pounds, this is one of six basic types McKee builds.

Mechanic Builds Custom Race Cars

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

Palatine has its own car manufacturer.

Name: Bob McKee. Type of car manufactured: McKee and Chevette.

The McKee and Chevette are racing cars with speeds over 180 miles an hour.

For 12 years the 31-year-old McKee has been working on racing cars and for the last four years building them.

NATIONALLY famous in racing circles for his racing cars, and even more famous for his gear boxes, McKee and three other mechanic-engineers work at the McKee Engineering Corp. plant, 411 Colfax, Palatine.

Producing six to eight cars yearly, the racing cars are custom made to buyers' general specifications.

McKee said "a fancy one is $10,500 with $3,000 to $5,000 going into the engine."

It takes eight weeks to build a car, McKee said.

The McKee cars are actually quite simple affairs.

STARTING WITH tubular seamless steel, frames are made. Using a prototype body he has designed, the body is made of fiberglass by an outside firm. Aluminum sidings and other parts are made by McKee's firm.

The racing car's engine is the "guts" of the whole machine. McKee puts in whatever engine his buyer asks for. The engines come from the "Big Three," General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

For racing buffs, it might be impressive to mention McKee recently completed a 640 horsepower hemi-Chrysler model.

McKee's first shop was in a dog kennel at 55 N. Rand. He moved to the 411 Colfax address three years ago.

BUYERS HAVE included such famous race men as Roger Ward and Dick Rathman. McKee has been a mechanic for both of them as well as other famous Indianapolis racing men. He also has worked for the Pontiac race team.

A graduate of Palatine High School, McKee is married, has two children and lives in Barrington Woods in north Palatine Township.

McKee himself drives a Mustang. He is not interested in racing as a driver.

"I just like the technical end, really," McKee said.

ABOUT.. RACE driving, he said, "You couldn't get me in one with a gun. It looks like a good way to get yourself hurt."

The McKee Engineering Corp. presently has six prototype racing cars which it builds. McKee also works on prototype projects for the big auto firms. The Chevette is a Chevrolet racer.

"I do quite a bit of experimental work for the big firms," McKee said. "It's cheaper to have us do it."

The McKee and Chevette are currently being produced in miniature for slot car racing buffs.

MUCH OF the corporation's work is on its own gear boxes. The boxes are considered extremely strong and compact considering the power plant that goes with them.

"Just about all gear boxes are made in Europe," McKee said of racing equipment. "The European gear boxes are not strong enough for the big American engines."

McKee said he uses Ford and General Motors parts in the boxes.

The McKee car is compact and light, a "large" one weighing only 1,440 pounds.

THE FACT that the racing cars are smaller, more compact for their large power plants is one of the major improvements in racing design, McKee said. The next biggest improvement is the better tires now being manufactured, he added.

McKee said he was the first to mount a V-8 engine in the rear of an American built racer.

A major problem for McKee is getting experienced workers.

"It's darn hard. They have to be welders, machinists, fabricators — you name it."

McKee said this year eight of his cars will be running in competition "plus a lot of gear boxes mounted on other cars."

Smith, Aronson Elected

Incumbents Survive Strong Challenge in District 214

Both Arthur Aronson of Prospect Heights and Dr. Frank J. Smith of Arlington Heights have been returned to the high school District 214 board by area voters.

Despite the Easter holidays, 6,362 voters — the highest so far recorded in a high school board election — were cast Saturday as the two incumbents won over challengers John K. Auld of Arlington Heights and Dr. Otto Bouc of an unincorporated area near Mount Prospect.

Smith received 3,547 votes and Aronson had 3,075. Auld garnered 2,918 while Bouc received 2,593 votes. Breakdown of the election results, by precincts, is carried inside this edition of Paddock Publications.

BOTH SMITH and Aronson had been endorsed for re-election by Paddock Publications. Their candidacies had also been supported by the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Education Association.

Bouc and Auld were endorsed by Mount Prospect's Residents Organized for Sound Education (ROSE). They also received support from political conservatives who objected to District 214's use of federal aid and made the two incumbents' support of federally-financed programs a focus of attack.

Even had Auld topped Aronson's total, the 1965-66 board president would have been reelected. This is because Aronson is the sole District 214 board member from unincorporated territory, and the high school board must —by law— have at least one representative from outside the villages. Only Bouc, also from unincorporated territory, could have unseated Aronson.

Auld was present at Monday's official board canvass and made a statement in which he thanked his supporters and commented that "I do have to admit that some of the workers may have been overzealous."

HE DID NOT say whether he was referring to a mimeographed sheet put out by Citizens for Auld, with an unidentified membership. The leaflet charged "Your present school board operates as if you are too uninformed to make this your business . . . your present board is out of touch with the community they live in . . . Your present board rejects outside opinion or is suspicious of the motives."

In reply to Aronson's heated criticism of the Citizens for Auld leaflet, Auld told a Thursday night District 214 board meeting that the mimeographed sheet had been printed without his authorization and he had had its use stopped.

It was widely distributed, however, both Friday and Saturday by Bouc and Auld supporters.

Board Member Gets First Task

James W. Penn got his first assignment Monday as a member of the Arlington Heights District 25 Elementary School Board.

Board Pres. Harold E. Sortor named Penn to the personnel committee which reviews the superintendent's recommendations on hiring of teachers. Sortor, an ex officio member of the committee, reappointed board members Theodore Seiler and Robert Bukowski to the committee. Penn was elected to the school board last Saturday.

Armstrong Named Board President

Two High School District 214 board members with strong Mount Prospect backing were named president and secretary of the board Monday.

Hal Armstrong, 920 Tower Road, Mount Prospect, was named president, succeeding Arthur Aronson of 2818 Schoenbeck Road, Prospect Heights.

T. Earl Thompson, 110 Pear Tree Lane, Arlington Heights, was named secretary, succeeding Mrs. Leah Cummins of Elk Grove Village.

Both Armstrong and Thompson, then a Mount Prospect resident, were elected to the District 214 board in 1964. Thompson, past president of the Prospect Heights Booster Club, gained an Arlington Heights address last year when he moved to Regent Park, across the street from the high school.

Seek Second Downtown Apartment Building

Another apartment building in Arlington Heights' downtown area is being proposed.

Builder Edwin Albright has acquired options to purchase two lots facing Vail Ave. at the southwest corner of Vail and Sigwalt Street.

He proposes to build a five-story structure with the first floor occupied by parking spaces. In the four floors above it, he would build 20 apartment units.

Albright is the developer of Eastwood Apartments on Miner St., north of the Arlington Market shopping center. Albright said he intends to build balcony apartment units at the Sigwalt-Vail site.

Present zoning of the site is R-4 (two-family units). Albright is petitioning for a zoning change to R-6 (60-foot maximum-height apartment buildings). The Sigwalt-Vail site is within the R-6 zoning "eligibility ring" that surrounds the downtown core. Albright's parcel is recommended for apartment development in the Tec-Search report on downtown redevelopment.

One high-rise apartment building is well under construction in the R-6 ring. It is the One North Chestnut Building, a five-story structure at Campbell and Chestnut.

Bennett Chosen Park Architect

Arlington Heights architect Joe L. Bennett was selected by the park board Tuesday to design bathhouse, pool facilities and other buildings for two major park sites recently acquired by the park district.

His preliminary designs will provide a basis for estimates of costs on referenda asking for funds for construction projects on the sites.

Bennett was chosen from a field of six under consideration by the park board. All had appeared before a park board committee and made presentations.

Park District Atty. Charles K. Bobinette will prepare a contract to be negotiated with Bennett.

Youth Accused of Church Burglary

Arlington Heights police Sunday night arrested a 19-year-old McHenry youth in connection with a burglary of St. Peter Lutheran Church which had taken place only moments before.

Walter J. Milke, was apprehended by Officer Raymond Voelker who was responding to a call by the Rev. Leonard Martin that someone was burglarizing the church, at 111 W. Olive St.

Officer Voelker stopped Milke's car because the youth had failed to stop for a stop sign. While issuing the citation, he noticed that Milke fitted a description of the burglar broadcast on the police radio and also saw a bag of change in the car.

FURTHER SEARCH of the car turned up bags of cash totaling $580 in bills taken from the church and change and a master key to the church building.

According to police, the burglary was first noticed when a church member, James C. Schalin, 1315 N. Highland, saw lights on in the church study around 10 p.m. Schalin said he looked into the study window and saw a man rummaging through a desk.

Schalin then called Rev. Mr. Martin who notified the police.

After questioning by police, Milke signed statement admitting the burglary. He also admitted a March 13 burglary of St. Peter Lutheran Church in which he took $850, and thefts of small sums from other churches in the area.

MILKE HAS ..been formally charged in the Arlington Heights branch of the Circuit Court and his bond has been set at $5,000.

He is being held in the Arlington Heights jail until he can be returned to the McHenry County Jail. According to police, Milke is wanted in McHenry County for violation of probation.

home-owners from the area.

Building Commissioner H. C. Best testified that Johnson's situation was not unique. He cited the agreement for development of Park Manor subdivision signed by the village and developer George Wallach.

Park Manor was subdivided years ago under county standards with 50-foot lot frontages. To halt building on the lots, the village annexed it and encouraged the Wallach Corp. to buy up lots in the subdivision. In the agreement between the village and Wallach, a formula was set up to enlarge lots. Under the formula, three 50-foot lots under Wallach's ownersship were to be reduced to two larger lots.

JOHNSON acquired one 50-foot lot from a third party not connected with Wallach who owned three contiguous lots. In applying for the variation, Johnson told the board he not know of the lot size formula when he purchased the lot last year.

Best remarked, "I feel reasonably sure that the owners of these lots knew of the zoning requirement when they sold this lot." He noted that Johnson's lot was one of three in common ownership. The three lots are on the southeast corner of Rockwell and Roosevelt Avenues.

Board member Mrs. William G. Harms, commenting on the final decision, said, "This is a case of buyer beware."

There are two alternate estimates of cost: $40,000 and $36,000. The difference lies in the type of materials used in the road base.

Area News Roundup

MOUNT PROSPECT — A secretly-made tape recording abruptly ended Tuesday night's public hearing on the recent demotion of Richard Van Dyke from principal to classroom teacher. Van Dyke produced the tape which he said was made Feb. 25 when district 57 superintendent, Dr. Eric Sahlberg, asked for Van Dyke's resignation. "I taped it because I felt I couldn't trust him (Sahlberg)," Van Dyke said.

ROLLING MEADOWS—A $255,000 library bond issue referendum will be held simultaneously with the city's special mayoralty election May 17. The building program budget includes acquisition of a downtown site. Library officials expect community backing evidenced by a successful referendum will enable them to borrow money at an interest rate lower than the current bond market. A $57,468 federal grant for the project has been approved, and the amount to be borrowed will be reduced by the federal funds.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—Bids for additions to South Junior High School and the District 25 Administration Building have thrown a monkeywrench into the district's whole building program. Bids for the four prime contracts alone totaled $789,000, compared with estimates for the same work last December totaling only $511,000. Completing the South-Administration work will eat up most of the remaining construction budget which was to include a six-room addition to Dryden School.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — A hotly contested race for GOP committeeman of Schaumburg Township grew hotter this week as the two contestants challenged each others nominating petitions. The challenges were subsequently withdrawn.

SCHAUMBURG—Schaumburg faces a water shortage next fall unless a new supply is found soon. The village board is discussing three possible solutions to the problem.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE—Elk Grove Village's long-awaited study of its water system resulted in recommendations for another well and elevated tank. The 47 page study by Alvord, Burdick, & Howson predicted wells would be inadequate as a water source in the next 10 years and suggested the village then look to Chicago for its water.

WHEELING—Village Trustees told Ralph Markus, developer of an $18 million dollar project just south of town, that Wheeling couldn't furnish water to his project unless it were annexed to the village. A spokesman told the board of trustees that the developers would like to get water from Wheeling by "contract" for 12 months. Wheeling did not like this idea because it would not be able to control what happened in the project.

PALATINE—Tonight (Thursday) the village zoning board will hear petitions of two builders who seek to build 1,555 apartment units. The hearing is expected to be well attended by residents of the village who in the past have opposed such apartment complexes.

ELGIN SCHOOL DISTRICT—The school board ceased control of Elgin Community College (ECC) following the state junior college board's final approval for Class I status. The school board's action paves the way for the election, expected in late May or early June, of a Class I Junior College Board. Dean G. I. Renner of ECC told the board that the resolution to cease control would make Elgin the first junior college associated with the common school system to take the action in the state. The school board will operate the junior college until the new board is elected.

BENSENVILLE—Annexation and zoning ordinances were adopted by the Village Board of Trustees in final action to establish a Bensenville Industrial Park. But first, the board had to cope with an unexpected, last-minute protest from one of the village's biggest money-makers, Beeline Fashions.

DuPAGE COUNTY—A public hearing has been slated for next Wednesday on proposed amendments to the residential sections of the DuPage County Zoning Ordinance. The amendments would favor larger houses, smaller apartments, more open space, and would be a death blow to future development on flood plains.

ROSELLE—Arrest of a 19-year-old West Chicago youth for public intoxication has resulted in a public hearing to consider suspension or revocation of the liquor license held by Village Inn, 54 E. Irving Park Road, where he allegedly obtained liquor. The tavern is one of three in the village. Hearing tentatively has been set for Friday, April 22.

WOOD DALE—Emphasis of a new salary schedule for teachers in Wood Dale Grade School District 7 is placed on experience and advanced study. While the beginning rate for a new teacher with bachelor's degree reamins at $5,300, increases were allocated for teachers with more experience and more study, rated on a new index system.

School Building Budget $470,375

The Arlington Heights elementary school board Monday night approved a preliminary building budget of $470,375 for the 1966-67 term.

The budget is based on estimated receipts from taxes and other sources totaling $470,625. Current taxes are expected to provide $237,625 of this sum.

More than half the budgeted funds would go for plant operations. Some $204,000 of this expense would be paid for custodial services.

Final approval of the budget will follow public hearings this summer.

During March Total $2,600

Property loss in Arlington Heights from 26 fires during March amounted to $2,600, according to estimates made in Fire Chief Harvey Carothers' monthly report.

An automobile fire March 29 at 406 E. Euclid St. accounted for $1,400 of the total loss, the report said. Eighteen emergency and 11 inhalator calls also were listed.

RACING CAR—This is one of Bob McKee's latest models, which he completed a few weeks ago. Made of a fiberglass body, the car has a large rear-mounted engine and will go more than 180 miles an hour. Weighing 1,400 pounds, this is one of six basic types McKee builds.

Mechanic Builds Custom Race Cars

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

Palatine has its own car manufacturer.

Name: Bob McKee. Type of car manufactured: McKee and Chevette.

The McKee and Chevette are racing cars with speeds over 180 miles an hour.

For 12 years the 31-year-old McKee has been working on racing cars and for the last four years building them.

NATIONALLY famous in racing circles for his racing cars, and even more famous for his gear boxes, McKee and three other mechanic-engineers work at the McKee Engineering Corp. plant, 411 Colfax, Palatine.

Producing six to eight cars yearly, the racing cars are custom made to buyers' general specifications.

McKee said "a fancy one is $10,500 with $3,000 to $5,000 going into the engine."

It takes eight weeks to build a car, McKee said.

The McKee cars are actually quite simple affairs.

STARTING WITH tubular seamless steel, frames are made. Using a prototype body he has designed, the body is made of fiberglass by an outside firm. Aluminum sidings and other parts are made by McKee's firm.

The racing car's engine is the "guts" of the whole machine. McKee puts in whatever engine his buyer asks for. The engines come from the "Big Three," General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

For racing buffs, it might be impressive to mention McKee recently completed a 640 horsepower hemi-Chrysler model.

McKee's first shop was in a dog kennel at 55 N. Rand. He moved to the 411 Colfax address three years ago.

BUYERS HAVE included such famous race men as Roger Ward and Dick Rathman. McKee has been a mechanic for both of them as well as other famous Indianapolis racing men. He also has worked for the Pontiac race team.

A graduate of Palatine High School, McKee is married, has two children and lives in Barrington Woods in north Palatine Township.

McKee himself drives a Mustang. He is not interested in racing as a driver.

"I just like the technical end, really," McKee said.

ABOUT RACE driving, he said, "You couldn't get me in one with a gun. It looks like a good way to get yourself hurt."

The McKee Engineering Corp. presently has six prototype racing cars which it builds. McKee also works on prototype projects for the big auto firms. The Chevette is a Chevrolet racer.

"I do quite a bit of experimental work for the big firms," McKee said. "It's cheaper to have us do it."

The McKee and Chevette are currently being produced in miniature for slot car racing buffs.

MUCH OF the corporation's work is on its own gear boxes. The boxes are considered extremely strong and compact considering the power plant that goes with them.

"Just about all gear boxes are made in Europe," McKee said of racing equipment. "The European gear boxes are not strong enough for the big American engines."

McKee said he uses Ford and General Motors parts in the boxes.

The McKee car is compact and light, a "large" one weighing only 1,440 pounds.

THE FACT that the racing cars are smaller, more compact for their large power plants is one of the major improvements in racing design, McKee said. The next biggest improvement is the better tires now being manufactured, he added.

McKee said he was the first to mount a V-8 engine in the rear of an American built racer.

A major problem for McKee is getting experienced workers.

"It's darn hard. They have to be welders, machinists, fabricators — you name it."

McKee said this year eight of his cars will be running in competition "plus a lot of gear boxes mounted on other cars."

Smith, Aronson Elected

Incumbents Survive Strong Challenge in District 214

Both Arthur Aronson of Prospect Heights and Dr. Frank J. Smith of Arlington Heights have been returned to the high school District 214 board by area voters.

Despite the Easter holidays, 6,362 voters — the highest so far recorded in a high school board election — were cast Saturday as the two incumbents won over challengers John K. Auld of Arlington Heights and Dr. Otto Bouc of an unincorporated area near Mount Prospect.

Smith received 3,547 votes and Aronson had 3,075. Auld garnered 2,918 while Bouc received 2,593 votes. Breakdown of the election results, by precincts, is carried inside this edition of Paddock Publications.

BOTH SMITH and Aronson had been endorsed for re-election by Paddock Publications. Their candidacies had also been supported by the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Education Association.

Bouc and Auld were endorsed by Mount Prospect's Residents Organized for Sound Education (ROSE). They also received support from political conservatives who objected to District 214's use of federal aid and made the two incumbents' support of federally-financed programs a focus of attack.

Even had Auld topped Aronson's total, the 1965-66 board president would have been reelected. This is because Aronson is the sole District 214 board member from unincorporated territory, and the high school board must —by law— have at least one representative from outside the villages. Only Bouc, also from unincorporated territory, could have unseated Aronson.

Auld was present at Monday's official board canvass and made a statement in which he thanked his supporters and commented that "I do have to admit that some of the workers may have been overzealous."

HE DID NOT say whether he was referring to a mimeographed sheet put out by Citizens for Auld, with an unidentified membership. The leaflet charged "Your present school board operates as if you are too uninformed to make this your business . . . your present board is out of touch with the community they live in . . . Your present board rejects outside opinion or is suspicious of the motives."

In reply to Aronson's heated criticism of the Citizens for Auld leaflet, Auld told a Thursday night District 214 board meeting that the mimeographed sheet had been printed without his authorization and he had had its use stopped.

It was widely distributed, however, both Friday and Saturday by Bouc and Auld supporters.

Board Member Gets First Task

James W. Penn got his first assignment Monday as a member of the Arlington Heights District 25 Elementary School Board.

Three Food Service Plans to Be Aired

Advocates of three different approaches to school food service —vending, frozen foods and satellite kitchen operations — will be heard this evening (Thursday) by the Citizens Committee for the Sixth High School.

Their 8 p.m. meeting will take place in the board room at the District 214 administration center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Chairing the meeting will be John K. Auld of Arlington Heights, head of the citizens committee since its organization last year.

Auld, who triggered the present study by suggesting to the high school board that they go to vending for the sixth high school's food service and then— as a board candidate — criticized their quick action in taking the suggestion up, offered his resignation as committee chairman Monday. Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer did not accept it.

AULD, OWNER OF Barrington Vending Company, suggested automated food service at the District 214 meeting where he brought in the Citizens Committee's final high school report.

The board approved the switch, after a one-month study and two visits to vending operations, but citizens' protest forced them to promise a "new look" at the proposal. After more visits, and the study of much material, board members rescinded their original approval and tossed the hot potato to the citizens committee.

The three experts the committee will hear are Matthew Cockrell, owner of Cockrell Coffee Service in Arlington Heights; Gary Krimmel, superintendent of school feeding programs for Ecko Container in Wheeling, and W. J. Thone, Food systems director for the special products division of Armour and Company.

COCKRELL IS a vending man, Krimmell's company is interested in satellite food service and Thone's firm supplies packaged frozen foods.

The committee has full rein to recommend anything from full cafeteria operation to no food service.

It must act by the end of May if it wishes to recommend the presently-used full service.

Miss Hibbeler, an elementary education major, was the Sodak cover girl candidate for the university magazine.

Summer Study Urged For NYC Members

Summer Neighborhood Youth Corps participants should be encouraged to take summer classes, too, board members agreed Monday in unanimously approving the program.

Of the two High School District 214 board members who had originally voted aganst starting the NYC program last fall, one, Richard Bachhuber, was among those voting to approve the summer program.

The other, William Griffith, was not present. He left Monday's meeting, pleading press of business, shortly after election votes were canvassed and new officers of the board approved.

The NYC program is budgeted at $28,561. Board members agreed that the school district would also cover cost of summer school for any NYC student who can benefit from the course work.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD Youth Corps summer program is set up for 50 students — though Wheeling-based NYC Director George Theodore made it clear Monday that the number could be flexible.

High school students who qualify on the basis of low family income, need for special on-job guidance counselling, and an age of 16 or older will be given summer work at the high schools at $1.25 an hour. They will work as teachers aides, office clerks and landscape assistants in all five high schools and the administration center.

The "encourage summer school" approach was triggered by Bachhuber. He said he had strong reservations about the high school district getting into a "welfare program" with no school-associated purpose. This would be so, Bachhuber, asserted, in a summer program in which NYC enrollees would have no course work.

"HOW MANY NYC students," Bachhuber added, "failed courses which summer school could help them make up?"

Though reservations were expressed by Mrs. Leah Cummins, general consensus of the board was that summer school work by the NYC enrollees should be encouraged.

Some of the NYC students—particularly the 30 per cent who are Mexican - Americans—already have a summer "squeeze" on their time, Mrs. Cummins pointed out.

"These children have an obligation to their landlords. They must pick so many boxes of produce a day, or their families cannot continue to live in their shacks," Mrs. Cummins said.

Flags Lowered for William Luehring

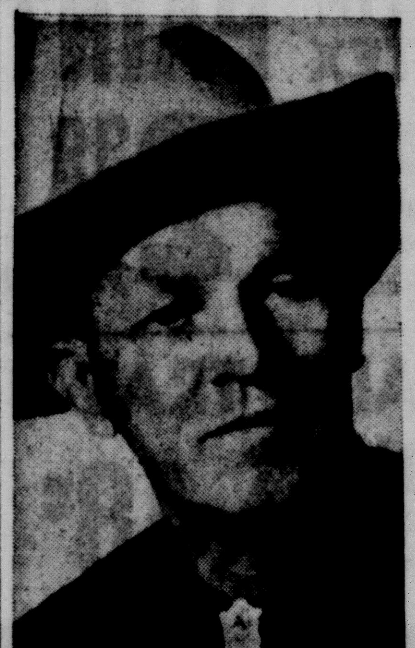
Flags were flown at half staff in Arlington Heights from Saturday through Tuesday in honor of William W. Luehring, Wheeling Township Highway Commissioner.

Luehring, 60, died Saturday at Northwest Community Hospital from an apparent heart attack.

He had been hospitalized at Northwest Community Hospital since March 3. He was released Saturday and was being taken home by his wife, Mary, when he was stricken. He was taken to North Side Fire Station for oxygen and then rushed back to Northwest Community Hospital where he died.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at St. John United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights, and he was buried at Arlington Heights Cemetery.

LUEHRING LIVED at 1656 Buffalo Grove Road, Arlington Heights. He was born in the village Feb. 7, 1906, the son of one of the village lamplighters, and he remained a resident throughout his life.



WILLIAM W. LUEHRING

Luehring is survived by his wife, Mary; two daughters, Mrs. Jacquelyn F. Hayden and Mrs. Judith L. Stille, both of Arlington Heights; si xgrandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Laura Pepper and Mrs. Ellyn Eichler of Lake Zurich, and Mrs. Pearl Brody of Glen Ellyn; and a brother Albert of Chicago.

Luehring was superintendent of public works in Arlington Heights from 1931 to 1964 when he retired. He served under five mayors and three village managers.

From 1947 to 1954, he served as a village trustee. For 20 years he was a member of the Fire Department.

IN SEPTEMBER, 1964, Luehring was appointed township highway commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of former commissioner Oscar Everson. He was elected to that office in April, 1965.

As township highway commissioner, Luehring was highly regarded for the efficiency he brought to the maintenance of the more than 90 miles of roads in the unincorporated areas of Wheeling Township. His work was publicly commended by citizens at this year's March 30 township budget hearings and April 5 town meeting.

Luehring was a member of Masonic Lodge 992 of Arlington Heights and masonic services for him were held at 8 p.m. Monday. (ACM

Three Food Service Plans to Be Aired

Advocates of three different approaches to school food service —vending, frozen foods and satellite kitchen operations — will be heard this evening (Thursday) by the Citizens Committee for the Sixth High School.

Their 8 p.m. meeting will take place in the board room at the District 214 administration center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Chairing the meeting will be John K. Auld of Arlington Heights, head of the citizens committee since its organization last year.

Auld, who triggered the present study by suggesting to the high school board that they go to vending for the sixth high school's food service and then— as a board candidate — criticized their quick action in taking the suggestion up, offered his resignation as committee chairman Monday. Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer did not accept it.

AULD, OWNER OF Barrington Vending Company, suggested automated food service at the District 214 meeting where he brought in the Citizens Committee's final high school report.

The board approved the switch, after a one-month study and two visits to vending operations, but citizens' protest forced them to promise a "new look" at the proposal. After more visits, and the study of much material, board members rescinded their original approval and tossed the hot potato to the citizens committee.

The three experts the committee will hear are Matthew Cockrell, owner of Cockrell Coffee Service in Arlington Heights; Gary Krimmel, superintendent of school feeding programs for Ecko Container in Wheeling, and W. J. Thone, Food systems director for the special products division of Armour and Company.

COCKRELL IS a vending man, Krimmell's company is interested in satellite food service and Thone's firm supplies packaged frozen foods.

The committee has full rein to recommend anything from full cafeteria operation to no food service.

It must act by the end of May if it wishes to recommend the presently-used full service.

Lattof Celebration Week Crowded with Special Fun

Festivities start Monday, April 18, on "Dedication Week" at Lattof Chevrolet, 800 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, and will run through Saturday, April 23.

The festivities mark the formal dedication of new facilities which include the expansive new car showroom with space for over 60 cars, expanded service facilities, drive-through truck testing lane and doubled parts department.

Featured in the Lattof Chevrolet dedication week will be door prizes given away every day to persons whose names are drawn from among those who come in and register.

DEDICATION week will also be sale week and there will be special reduced prices on new cars aimed at a volume turnover.

In addition, during the dedication week, visitors to Lattof Chevrolet can register for the Chevrolet "500" Sweepstakes in which one $500 cash award will be given away every day for 30 days and a 1966 Impala sport coupe every week for four weeks.

Scheduled within the week are:

—Wednesday, April 20: ladies day;

—Thursday, April 21: square dancing from 8 to 10:30 p.m. in the showroom;

—Friday, April 22: "Chevy-a-go-go" record hop in the showroom with music by WLS' Clark Weber and the "Kritters;"

—Saturday, April 23: Family day with gifts and refreshments.

IN DESCRIBING the new facilities at Lattof Chevrolet, Nicholas M. Lattof emphasizes the amount of growth they represent. Just a year ago the firm had showroom space for just four cars.

The new showroom with display space for over 60 new cars is about equivalent to three fourths of a football field.

It is divided into two parts. The front part is the formal display area. The rear, and larger part is a display area with the accent on delivery.

It enables Lattof to put so many cars under one roof that a buyer can get a close idea of what he wants instead of paging through a catalog. And if he sees the car he likes, he can drive it right out of the showroom without waiting several days for it to get cleaned up for delivery.

THE GYM-SIZED showrooms are latest in a series of expansions by the Lattof firm since it started in the old Mayfair Rug Cleaner building on Arlington Heights Road in 1936.

Later the firm moved to South Evergreen Street, and in 1954 to Northwest Highway. That space was doubled in 1958 and construction on the new showroom began August, 1964.

Vote Use of Federal Funds To Better School Libraries

Use of federal funds to enrich public and parochial high school libraries was approved by the High School District 214 board Monday evening.

A total of $21,451 is available for purchase of library materials through the State Department of Public Instruction, the funds supplied under the Elementary and Secondary education Act.

Reservations regarding the proposal were expressed by Richard Bachhuber, although he joined the other five District 214 board members present in approving the application for the $21,451 grant.

"Can't we afford this on our own and apply so much each year toward a pre-stated plan?" Bachhuber asked.

"WE DO HAVE a plan," answered Asst. Supt. Edward H. Gilbert, explaining that the district is trying to increase its library collection gradually until each high school has the 10 books per student recommended by the American Library Association. Right now, each district high school library has about 14,000 books for a student body averaging 2,500.

The federal grant, the board was told, will make a "bonus" increase possible at each school in a needed subject matter area.

Charles J. Miller, instructional coordinator, told the high school board that the funds would be used to strengthen different subject areas at each school's card catalog so interested students borrow books from other schools as well as from their own.

History books and periodicals will be purchased for use at Sacred Heart of Mary High School and general reference works will be purchased through the grant for placement at St. Viator High School.

THE FOREST VIEW High School library will have its collection of art and practical arts books strengthened, and the Wheeling High School library will be increased by purchase of books in the area of sociology and philosophy.

Science and mathematics books will be purchased for the Arlington High library, and the Prospect High School library will receive additional books in the area of biography, fiction and foreign languages.

Though some of the books will be housed at the two parochial schools, title will remain with the public school district and an annual inventory will be required, the board was told.

Sharing of the grant—computed on a per-student basis—was required under Title II. The parochial schools could have asked for their share separately if District 214 did not participate in the federally-financed program or set up a program from which the private school system did not benefit. (ACME

TV SCAPEGOAT

by ED LANDWEHR

Psychiatrists claim that television viewing is good for our emotions because it serves as a scapegoat. It's a target for all our troubles, and we can pick it all apart.

We can razz the actors to our heart's content and object as fervently as we want to speaker's opinions no matter who they are. We can laugh and cry without self consciousness to strangers. Psychiatrists say that it keeps us more stable in a world of increasing tensions.

Of course, to get these psychological results you must have clear and sharp pictures on your TV screen. So, LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights sneaks in here to let you know that CLearbrook 5-0700 is the number to call. We'll guarantee satisfaction, and if the psychiatrists are right, you'll be better off emotionally.

Course Slated in Money Management

"Personal Money Management" is the subject of a five-lesson course starting Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., at the Prospect High School, 799 Kensington Road, Mt. Prospect.

The two-hour lessons are intensely practical, covering such subjects as banking, savings and loans, wills, trusts, home-ownership, stocks, bonds, and financial pages, general insurance and life insurance. F. Emmett Derham will be the instructor.

The Finance Forum was started in 1935 by Lorraine L. Blair, financial consultant and author of "Your Financial Guide For Living." The Forum is a non-profit educational organization whose sole purpose it is to educate people concerning finance and related subjects in simple, non-technical language, at moderate cost.

Registration for the course is now open and applications for enrollment are available through the Finance Forum office, 30 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, DEarborn 2-5636. (ACME

Why Heart Attacks? Japanese Diets Provide Clues

Three groups of Japanese, living in three different areas—Japan, Hawaii and the U.S. West Coast—and eating three different types of diet are helping to explain heart attack susceptibility.

With Heart Fund support, Dr. Ancel Keys, from the University of Minnesota, has been studying the living habits of various Asian, European and American population groups (some 16,000 people in all) in an effort to find out why peoples around the world differ in susceptibility to heart attack.

AMONG THE Japanese living in Japan, Dr. Keys pointed out, only 13 per cent of the average daily caloric intake comes from fats, and these fats are largely of the polyunsaturated variety found in fish and vegetable oils.

The blood cholesterol levels of these Japanese (who subsist mainly on fish and rice) average a low 160 milligrams per 100 cubic centimeters of blood.

The Japanese in Hawaii eat fish too, but they also consume meat, eggs and dairy products (all rich cholesterol sources) and derive about 32 per cent of their calories from fats. Their cholesterol count: an average of around 220.

Finally, the U.S.-born Nisei eat a typical fat-rich American diet. In Los Angeles they have a cholesterol average of about 245 (slightly higher than caucasians in that city).

WHAT.. ABOUT the three groups' relative susceptibility to heart attack? For every heart attack observed in Japan, there are four among the Japanese in Hawaii—and 10 among the Nisei, Dr. Keys said.

There's more to heart attack risk than an elevated blood cholesterol, however, as Dr. Keys point out. Other factors such as cigarette smoking, overweight, lack of physical activity, unfavorable heredity, high blood pressure and diabetes, have also been identified as factors raising a person's risk of heart attack.

But certainly a high level of cholesterol (and other fats) in the blood is strikingly related to heart attack risk. Encouragingly enough, the Japanese example, combined with examples from other nations suggests how diet can be used to bring down blood cholesterol levels, and with them, the risk of heart attack.

THE CHICAGO Heart Assn. has recommended the following dietary changes:

Substitute polyun-saturated fats for saturated fats whenever possible as polyun-saturates (found in fish, poultry, many vegetable oils) tend to lower blood cholesterol. Saturates (whole milk products and meat) tend to raise them.

Eat less fat. Instead of obtaining 40 to 45 per cent of their calories from fat, Americans could learn to get along with, say, 30 to 35 per cent. Since each gram of fat supplies nine calories compared with four for protein or carbohydrates, this dietary modification would tend to lower total caloric intake. It would help overcome overweight, another heart attack hazard, all too widespread in the United States.

A STRONG advocate of an even lower low-fat (25 to 30 per cent) cholesterol-lowering diet, Dr. Keys said you don't have to sacrifice culinary pleasures in order to get blood cholesterol levels down and keep them down.

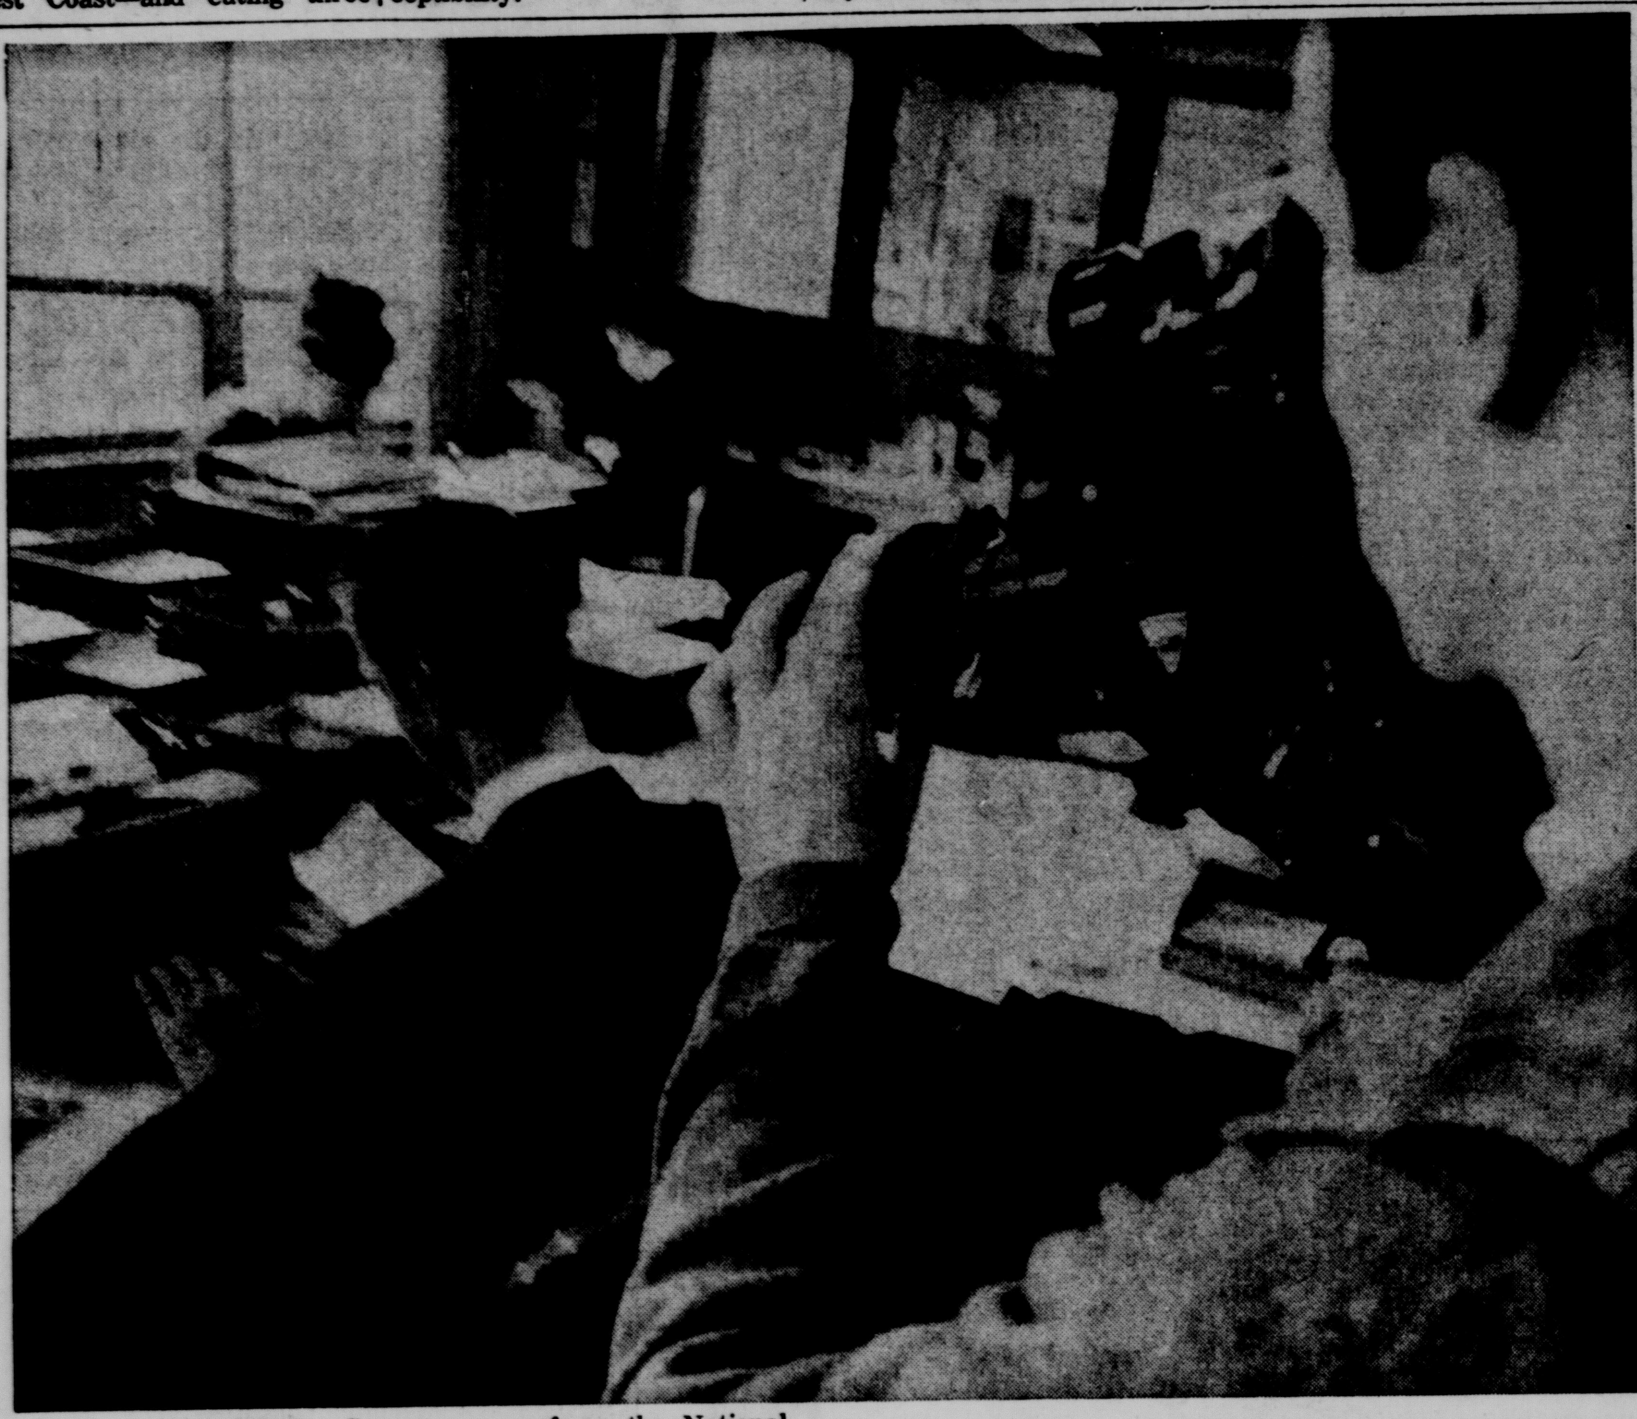
The Minnesota researcher said people should get into the habit of eating less meat, fewer eggs and dairy products. If you must eat meat, he suggests choosing veal over steaks and roast beef. But if you do eat these meats, make sure they are lean and fat-trimmed.

He recommends more fish, chicken, Canadian bacon and Italian dishes in which a little meat is made to go a long way. He said, too, that legumes and fresh fruit offer additional means of reducing cholesterol. An ingredient in fruit, pectin, is a cholesterol-lowering agent.

WHY LEGUMES are helpful, as recent controlled studies in India, Holland and the United States have indicated, is yet to be determined.

Actually, Dr. Keys has so many good things to say about legumes that he is going to say them, in collaboration with his wife, in a new recipe book now in the writing.

It's bound to be a big book since there are over 300 types (including beans, lentils, green peas, chick peas and soy beans) and 2,000 varieties. (A-15



FOCUS ON PADDOCK: Camera crews from the National Education Television network, New York, visited Paddock Publications newsroom for three days last week filming a program for the network's "At Issue" program, seen locally on Channel 11. Why Heart Attacks? Japanese Diets Provide Clues

Three groups of Japanese, living in three different areas—Japan, Hawaii and the U.S. West Coast—and eating three different types of diet are helping to explain heart attack susceptibility.

With Heart Fund support, Dr. Ancel Keys, from the University of Minnesota, has been studying the living habits of various Asian, European and American population groups (some 16,000 people in all) in an effort to find out why peoples around the world differ in susceptibility to heart attack.

The blood cholesterol levels of these Japanese (who subsist mainly on fish and rice) average a low 160 milligrams per 100 cubic centimeters of blood.

The Japanese in Hawaii eat fish too, but they also consume meat, eggs and dairy products (all rich cholesterol sources) and derive about 32 per cent of their calories from fats. Their cholesterol count: an average of around 220.

Finally, the U.S.-born Nisei eat a typical fat-rich American diet. In Los Angeles they have a cholesterol average of about 245 (slightly higher than caucasians in that city).

WHAT ABOUT the three groups' relative susceptibility to heart attack? For every heart attack observed in Japan, there are four among the Japanese in Hawaii—and 10 among the Nisei, Dr. Keys said.

There's more to heart attack risk than an elevated blood cholesterol, however, as Dr. Keys point out. Other factors such as cigarette smoking, overweight, lack of physical activity, unfavorable heredity, high blood pressure and diabetes, have also been identified as factors raising a person's risk of heart attack.

But certainly a high level of cholesterol (and other fats) in the blood is strikingly related to heart attack risk. Encouragingly enough, the Japanese example, combined with examples from other nations suggests how diet can be used to bring down blood cholesterol levels, and with them, the risk of heart attack.

THE CHICAGO Heart Assn. has recommended the following dietary changes:

Substitute polyun-saturated fats for saturated fats whenever possible as polyun-saturates (found in fish, poultry, many vegetable oils) tend to lower blood cholesterol. Saturates (whole milk products and meat) tend to raise them.

Eat less fat. Instead of obtaining 40 to 45 per cent of their calories from fat, Americans could learn to get along with, say, 30 to 35 per cent. Since each gram of fat supplies nine calories compared with four for protein or carbohydrates, this dietary modification would tend to lower total caloric intake. It would help overcome overweight, another heart attack hazard, all too widespread in the United States.

A STRONG advocate of an even lower low-fat (25 to 30 per cent) cholesterol-lowering diet, Dr. Keys said you don't have to sacrifice culinary pleasures in order to get blood cholesterol levels down and keep them down.

The Minnesota researcher said people should get into the habit of eating less meat, fewer eggs and dairy products. If you must eat meat, he suggests choosing veal over steaks and roast beef. But if you do eat these meats, make sure they are lean and fat-trimmed.

He recommends more fish, chicken, Canadian bacon and Italian dishes in which a little meat is made to go a long way. He said, too, that legumes and fresh fruit offer additional means of reducing cholesterol. An ingredient in fruit, pectin, is a cholesterol-lowering agent.

WHY LEGUMES are helpful, as recent controlled studies in India, Holland and the United States have indicated, is yet to be determined.

Actually, Dr. Keys has so many good things to say about legumes that he is going to say them, in collaboration with his wife, in a new recipe book now in the writing.

It's bound to be a big book since there are over 300 types (including beans, lentils, green peas, chick peas and soy beans) and 2,000 varieties. (A-15

District 214 Views Hiring Policemen

High School District 214 is exploring the possibility of having a policeman assigned to each high school on a full-time basis.

As described to the board Monday by Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer, the policeman would serve as a counselor as well as security officer.

He would wear civilian clothes rather than a uniform, would have special training in dealing with youth and would be chosen with "special qualities" in mind.

Slichenmyer said Flint, Mich., has successfully integrated policemen — paid half by the police department and half by the schools — into its school staff. District 214 considered such a staff addition well before a recent visit to Flint, he said.

THE superintendent asked for — and received — permission to explore the possibilities of such a police-school project with local law enforcement officers.

The permission was given, however, only after Dr. Frank J. Smith and Richard Bachhuber stated reservations.

Mrs. Leah Cummins asked, "Do local police departments have persons of the caliber needed?" And Bachhuber noted, "It would take a rather exceptional person to pull this off." (ACM-E

Arlington Chamber Meets, Questions College Board

Questions on every issue from proposed campus size and land acquisition to state aid were fired at the District 301 junior college board Tuesday night.

The question and answer session was part of a three-hour meeting with the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce set up to help clarify some of the more pressing problems facing the establishment of the two-year community college.

The meeting, attended by a handful of chamber members, was opened up with brief explanations by board members of work done so far.

AMONG THE first questions asked was one on cost to build proposed campus.

Dr. Robert P. Lahti, junior college president, said current estimates ranged from $25 million to $30 million for the total project, which includes land acquisition and construction costs. He explained that estimated cost to district taxpayers would amount to $7,500,000 (25 per cent) of the overall cost.

The entire project would not be completed until 1975 when projected enrollment figures indicate some 7,000 students will be attending the college.

THE FIRST phase of construction, costing about one-third of total bill, would be completed in time for classes in September, 1968, according to past estimates.

The district is counting on state funds to meet the remaining 75 per cent of the cost. He noted, however, that eligibility for these funds was based on passage of the bond referendum in June.

State law requires that district voters agree to pay 25 per cent of the total project before consideration is given to granting state funds.

Board president John Haas, responding to a question concerning the amount of state money available, said current appropriations by the state legislature was not adequate.

HE EXPLAINED that approximately $22 million was now available for six Class I junior colleges in Illinois.

However, District 301 has been advised by the Illinois Junior College Board to proceed with plans on the assumption that the state would be providing needed funds, said Haas.

E. C. Alft, executive manager of the chamber, told the board he had received estimates from state board officials that it would take from two to three years before the state would make adequate funds available.

Questioning later shifted the familiar issue of site, size and land acquisition.

"It is my understanding," said Alft, "that you have begun condemnation proceedings against the Tri-Color farm." Haas retorted that the board had authorized its attorney to initiate condemnation proceedings if attempts to buy the land failed.

HAAS ADDED that an agreement with one of the landowners had been reached giving the district an option to buy 81 of the 171 acres for more than $400,000.

Negotiations with George Jayne, owner of the remaining acreage at Roselle and Algonquin Roads, are still under way, he added.

Board members also explained reasons for scrpping other possible locations for the college.

Board members Haas, Paul O'Dea, Richard L. Johnson, and Milton Hansen outlined various phases of planning before the question and answer session.

O'Dea, heading curriculum studies said the modern junior college does not fit the old concept of a "kind of dumping ground" for kids who can't make it at a four-year institution.

"The advent of the community college," stressed O'Dea "is one of the most exciting developments of this century."

Name Selection Committee Picked

Jack Martin, assistant to District 214 Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer, has been named chairman of a high school committee to suggest persons for whom high school libraries and auditoriums could be named.

Persons who have contributed greatly to the field of education should be selected, said Dr. Frank J. Smith in suggesting the appointment of the committee. He said he felt the first person so honored should be late Helene Bristol, Paddock Publications education editor until her death in late December.

SMITH AND Richard Bachhuber will represent the school board on the memorial committee.

Others appointed to the committee are Arlington High principal Bruno Waara, Elk Grove High School assistant principal Donald M. Fyfe, department chairman G. Galen Berrier of Forest View High School, division head E. Elliott Ormsbee of Wheeling High School, and five teachers — Alex J. Schmidt of Prospect, Gay C. Hughes of Forest View, Charles D. Jenks of Wheeling, Douglas K. Murphy of Arlington and Donald J. Hruby of Elk Grove.

Smith, Aronson Win 15 Precincts

In winning re-election to the High School District 214 board, Arthur Aronson of Prospect Heights and Dr. Frank J. Smith of Arlington Heights carried 15 of 23 precincts in the school board election.

Challengers John K. Auld of Arlington Heights and Dr. Otto Bouc of unincorporated Mount Prospect won in two of the three central Arlington Heights precincts, however, and the candidates split Mount Prospect.

Voters at Mount Prospect's Central School supported Smith and Aronson, while at Lincoln School the high two were Smith and Auld.

MOUNT PROSPECT TOTALS were late in coming in Saturday and persons gathered at the District 214 office held their breath, remembering the 2,000-some votes which swept Hal Armstrong and T. Earl Thompson into office in 1964. Smith and Aronson supporters were audibly relieved when they saw Mount Prospect's split chalked up.

Last precinct to report in Saturday was High Ridge Knolls, a Des Plaines precinct that went heavily for Auld and Bouc.

TWENTY-TWO PERSONS—many of them candidates for other elective offices—received one write-in vote apiece. There were 125 defective ballots—mostly badly marked—and 42 spoiled ballots.

Here are the totals, by precincts:

Arlington Chamber Meets, Questions College Board

Questions on every issue from proposed campus size and land acquisition to state aid were fired at the District 301 junior college board Tuesday night.

The question and answer session was part of a three-hour meeting with the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce set up to help clarify some of the more pressing problems facing the establishment of the two-year community college.

The meeting, attended by a handful of chamber members, was opened up with brief explanations by board members of work done so far.

AMONG THE first questions asked was one on cost to build proposed campus.

Dr. Robert P. Lahti, junior college president, said current estimates ranged from $25 million to $30 million for the total project, which includes land acquisition and construction costs. He explained that estimated cost to district taxpayers would amount to $7,500,000 (25 per cent) of the overall cost.

The entire project would not be completed until 1975 when projected enrollment figures indicate some 7,000 students will be attending the college.

THE FIRST phase of construction, costing about one-third of total bill, would be completed in time for classes in September, 1968, according to past estimates.

The district is counting on state funds to meet the remaining 75 per cent of the cost. He noted, however, that eligibility for these funds was based on passage of the bond referendum in June.

State law requires that district voters agree to pay 25 per cent of the total project before consideration is given to granting state funds.

Board president John Haas, responding to a question concerning the amount of state money available, said current appropriations by the state legislature was not adequate.

HE EXPLAINED that approximately $22 million was now available for six Class I junior colleges in Illinois.

However, District 301 has been advised by the Illinois Junior College Board to proceed with plans on the assumption that the state would be providing needed funds, said Haas.

E. C. Alft, executive manager of the chamber, told the board he had received estimates from state board officials that it would take from two to three years before the state would make adequate funds available.

Questioning later shifted the familiar issue of site, size and land acquisition.

"It is my understanding," said Alft, "that you have begun condemnation proceedings against the Tri-Color farm." Haas retorted that the board had authorized its attorney to initiate condemnation proceedings if attempts to buy the land failed.

HAAS ADDED that an agreement with one of the landowners had been reached giving the district an option to buy 81 of the 171 acres for more than $400,000.

Negotiations with George Jayne, owner of the remaining acreage at Roselle and Algonquin Roads, are still under way, he added.

Board members also explained reasons for scrpping other possible locations for the college.

Board members Haas, Paul O'Dea, Richard L. Johnson, and Milton Hansen outlined various phases of planning before the question and answer session.

O'Dea, heading curriculum studies said the modern junior college does not fit the old concept of a "kind of dumping ground" for kids who can't make it at a four-year institution.

"The advent of the community college," stressed O'Dea "is one of the most exciting developments of this century."

Name Selection Committee Picked

Jack Martin, assistant to District 214 Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer, has been named chairman of a high school committee to suggest persons for whom high school libraries and auditoriums could be named.

Persons who have contributed greatly to the field of education should be selected, said Dr. Frank J. Smith in suggesting the appointment of the committee. He said he felt the first person so honored should be late Helene Bristol, Paddock Publications education editor until her death in late December.

SMITH AND Richard Bachhuber will represent the school board on the memorial committee.

Others appointed to the committee are Arlington High principal Bruno Waara, Elk Grove High School assistant principal Donald M. Fyfe, department chairman G. Galen Berrier of Forest View High School, division head E. Elliott Ormsbee of Wheeling High School, and five teachers — Alex J. Schmidt of Prospect, Gay C. Hughes of Forest View, Charles D. Jenks of Wheeling, Douglas K. Murphy of Arlington and Donald J. Hruby of Elk Grove.

Smith, Aronson Win 15 Precincts

In winning re-election to the High School District 214 board, Arthur Aronson of Prospect Heights and Dr. Frank J. Smith of Arlington Heights carried 15 of 23 precincts in the school board election.

Challengers John K. Auld of Arlington Heights and Dr. Otto Bouc of unincorporated Mount Prospect won in two of the three central Arlington Heights precincts, however, and the candidates split Mount Prospect.

Voters at Mount Prospect's Central School supported Smith and Aronson, while at Lincoln School the high two were Smith and Auld.

MOUNT PROSPECT TOTALS were late in coming in Saturday and persons gathered at the District 214 office held their breath, remembering the 2,000-some votes which swept Hal Armstrong and T. Earl Thompson into office in 1964. Smith and Aronson supporters were audibly relieved when they saw Mount Prospect's split chalked up.

Last precinct to report in Saturday was High Ridge Knolls, a Des Plaines precinct that went heavily for Auld and Bouc.

TWENTY-TWO PERSONS—many of them candidates for other elective offices—received one write-in vote apiece. There were 125 defective ballots—mostly badly marked—and 42 spoiled ballots.

Here are the totals, by precincts:

	Smith	Auld	Aronson	Bouc

'Plush' Is Word for Coming Hospital Ball

"We want to make this year's event as plush as possible," stated Mrs. William Pailey, social chairman for the Benefit Ball of Northwest Community Hospital to be held at Arlington Park Race Track Saturday, May 14.

"This fund raising ball is a new thing for this area, and we are determined to make it as enjoyable as possible. The social committee believes an enjoyable evening this time will insure continued success in the future, so the women of the community will look forward to attending this event each year.

"Response has been good so far, and we still have a month to go. But we need many, many more couples planning to enjoy themselves that evening. Dancing to Lou Breese and his band, the musical entertainment during the social hour, the beautiful free souvenir book, the "races" narrated by Phil Georgeff, and attendance by many stars of the entertainment world—all of these events are planned for enjoyment and should insure success of the event."

MRS. LOWELL Christy is cochairman of the social committee and is directing the vast ticket detail. Anyone wishing tickets can call either Mrs. Christy at 253-1000 or Mrs. Matthew Brost 253-0784. Hundreds of invitations have been mailed out to persons closely identified with the hospital, but it has been impossible to contact the thousands of others who might be interested in attendance at the affair.

The menu is certain to be a good one, directed by the chefs of the Post and Paddock club. Mrs. C. S. Hansen is chairman of this facet of the evening, with committee members expecting to schedule the famous Post and Paddock club buffet.

FORMAL ATTIRE is requested, but not mandatory, according to general chairman Dr. Constantine Soter. "We wanted to give everyone the opportunity to 'go formal' " said Dr. Soter, "but we know many have outgrown those tuxedos of the past. Besides, with warm weather likely, we want everyone to be comfortable while they dance."

Ticket prices for the big event are just $30 per couple, or $15 individually. Those attending will receive plenty of play money free of charge for the entertainment, as well as the free souvenir book. Phil Georgeff, regular race track announcer, will be on hand to narrate "the races" as patrons try their luck against the camera between dances. (B-10

Gym Price Tag Called Too High

Arlington High School badly needs better physical education facilities but the price tag—so far—is too much.

That was the agreement of District 214 board members Monday as they heard an architectural firm representative, Wayne Fritch, put a $270,000 price on a girls' gymnasium addition.

Board members asked that Fritch, at the next board meeting, present alternative suggestions—ways to cut costs of the project or to do it in several steps.

Both Arthur Aronson and Richard Bachhuber cited the $150,000 cost of a similar Prospect High School "phys ed" expansion in asking for more information at the April 25 meeting.

FRITCH PROPOSED putting a 135,000-square-foot addition on the east side of the high school between the band room wing and the "greenhouse" laboratory extension.

A divider curtain would be put between the new addition and the present girls' gymnasium.

Girls' shower and locker facilities—now inadequate—would be remodeled and new rest rooms would be installed. And four class rooms, those losing windows because of the addition, would be air conditioned.

THE REMODELING would add two girls' P.E. "stations" to the school, dovetailing the improvements with those necessary to bring Arlington High up to Life Safety Code requirements.

The Life Safety Code remodeling, separately itemized, will come to $200,000. It is covered by a special levy authorized at the time when the Life Safety changes were approved.

Arlington High is two P.E. "stations" short of that needed for a 2,200-student school, and the shortage is in space for girls' sports. Some classes are now being held in a foyer, where the noise can drift to nearby language labs.

An under-the-stairs rifle range used to be used for corrective exercise classes, but under the Life Safety Code requirements this must be stopped. (ACME

Legal Firm Moving to New Quarters

The Arlington Heights law firm of Burfeind & Schlickman will move Monday from their offices at 6 N. Dunton Ave. to new space at 203 N. Arlington Heights Road. The firm said the new location will provide larger and more modern offices.

Partners of the firm are Nat T. Burfeind, 1130 N. Harvard Ave., and Eugene F. Schlickman, 311 N. Derbyshire Lane, both of Arlington Heights. (A

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Do You Know How To Take Care Of Your Pets?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

The wit Josh Billings said, "Money will buy a pretty good dog, but it won't buy the wag of his tail." Most people like pets and have some around—from gold fish to elephants. Perhaps some of these points will be helpful—especially if you are not housing an elephant. TRUE or FALSE?

	TRUE	FALSE
1. Animals are wiser in their eating habits than human beings.	( )	( )
2. Birds enjoy and should have airconditioning when possible.	( )	( )
3. Furry dogs should be protected from moisture by blankets or coats.	( )	( )
4. Domesticated dogs should be limited in their walking.	( )	( )

6. If, for some reason, you must leave your pet, return it to nature where it will find freedom.	( )	( )
7. Domesticated animals thrive on travel.	( )	( )

ANSWERS: (based on advice given by Marlin Perkins, the Director of the St. Louis Zoo, St. Louis, Missouri.

1. FALSE Animals in the home will eat themselves to a fast grave if permitted. Set up proper feeding time and adhere to it. Pets should not be indulged with sweets.
2. FALSE Air conditioning is bad for all pets but especially for birds because of the drafts.

Gym Price Tag Called Too High

Arlington High School badly needs better physical education facilities but the price tag—so far—is too much.

That was the agreement of District 214 board members Monday as they heard an architectural firm representative, Wayne Fritch, put a $270,000 price on a girls' gymnasium addition.

Board members asked that Fritch, at the next board meeting, present alternative suggestions—ways to cut costs of the project or to do it in several steps.

Both Arthur Aronson and Richard Bachhuber cited the $150,000 cost of a similar Prospect High School "phys ed" expansion in asking for more information at the April 25 meeting.

FRITCH PROPOSED putting a 135,000-square-foot addition on the east side of the high school between the band room wing and the "greenhouse" laboratory extension.

A divider curtain would be put between the new addition and the present girls' gymnasium.

Girls' shower and locker facilities—now inadequate—would be remodeled and new rest rooms would be installed. And four class rooms, those losing windows because of the addition, would be air conditioned.

THE REMODELING would add two girls' P.E. "stations" to the school, dovetailing the improvements with those necessary to bring Arlington High up to Life Safety Code requirements.

The Life Safety Code remodeling, separately itemized, will come to $200,000. It is covered by a special levy authorized at the time when the Life Safety changes were approved.

Arlington High is two P.E. "stations" short of that needed for a 2,200-student school, and the shortage is in space for girls' sports. Some classes are now being held in a foyer, where the noise can drift to nearby language labs.

An under-the-stairs rifle range used to be used for corrective exercise classes, but under the Life Safety Code requirements this must be stopped. (ACME

Legal Firm Moving to New Quarters

The Arlington Heights law firm of Burfeind & Schlickman will move Monday from their offices at 6 N. Dunton Ave. to new space at 203 N. Arlington Heights Road. The firm said the new location will provide larger and more modern offices.

Partners of the firm are Nat T. Burfeind, 1130 N. Harvard Ave., and Eugene F. Schlickman, 311 N. Derbyshire Lane, both of Arlington Heights. (A

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Do You Know How To Take Care Of Your Pets?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

The wit Josh Billings said, "Money will buy a pretty good dog, but it won't buy the wag of his tail." Most people like pets and have some around—from gold fish to elephants. Perhaps some of these points will be helpful—especially if you are not housing an elephant. TRUE or FALSE?

	TRUE	FALSE
1. Animals are wiser in their eating habits than human beings.	( )	( )
2. Birds enjoy and should have airconditioning when possible.	( )	( )
3. Furry dogs should be protected from moisture by blankets or coats.	( )	( )
4. Domesticated dogs should be limited in their walking.	( )	( )
5. Cats and dogs should be scrubbed down with soap and water every two months.	( )	( )
6. If, for some reason, you must leave your pet, return it to nature where it will find freedom.	( )	( )
7. Domesticated animals thrive on travel.	( )	( )

ANSWERS: (based on advice given by Marlin Perkins, the Director of the St. Louis Zoo, St. Louis, Missouri.

1. FALSE Animals in the home will eat themselves to a fast grave if permitted. Set up proper feeding time and adhere to it. Pets should not be indulged with sweets.
2. FALSE Air conditioning is bad for all pets but especially for birds because of the drafts.
3. FALSE Blankets and other covering lowers an animal's resistance.
4. FALSE Animals need exercise even more than human beings. A medium-sized dog should walk at least two miles a day.
5. FALSE Soaps remove the natural oil from the skin, causing small cracks which may become infected.
6. FALSE Domesticated animals have lost their ability to fend with nature. Try to find a good home for your pet. If that is impossible, take it to the local animal shelter.
7. FALSE While it has become quite common practice to travel with pets, they will live longer, have fewer ills and better dispositions if they are kept at home.

Unique 'Middle School' Magnet for Visitors

Ford Foundation people call the new Barrington Middle School the "jump the gun" school.

Despite school-wide carpeting, jutting window walls and a planetarium, cost of the new Middle School is modest: $12.37 per square foot or $1,022 per pupil, $150 per pupil less than the average of 40 Illinois elementary schools built in 1965.

And probably only O'Hare Field can top the circuit of visitors the new school has seen since it was opened four months ago. Though still mud-surrounded, the Barrington Middle School has already been inspected by architects, educators and school board members from all 50 states, Canada and six other foreign countries.

Ford Foundation interest in the Middle School stems from its construction. The school utilizes school construction systems development (SCSD) components developed experimentally at Stanford University by the Ford Foundation-backed Educational Facilities Laboratory.

THE SCSD COMPONENTS include structure, a heating-ventilating-air conditioning system, a ceiling lighting system and interior partitions. Architects—in this case Cone and Dornbusch of Chicago—juggle the components like an erector set pieces in planning the school plan wanted.

In Barrington, air conditioning is not included, though piping for the system is. "Everything is in but the refrigerant system—and $40,000," the Barrington school tour guide, Mrs. O. E Gough, is telling visitors.

Mrs. Gough's salary is paid by the Ford Foundation, a fringe benefit for the Barrington school system in being first to utilize the SCSD component construction. The Ford Foundation grant of $13,100 also covers cost of publicity materials.

A feature of every tour is the planetarium. Like many other features of this uniquely-designed school, it cost less than one might think.

"WE SAVED $9,000 for the planetarium," says Mrs. Gough, "by putting cork flooring in the gymnasium instead of wood. The cork has one per cent less bounce—but since we don't push competitive sports that doesn't bother it. We just over inflate the balls."

The $9,000 covered cost of the steel-supported interior dome and Nova planetarium instrument, cheaper and more sturdy than that offered by another firm and thus able to be operated by the junior high students.

Housed in a regular classroom, the planetarium will be used in science classes for elementary students, high schoolers and adults. Dual district use of the facility is simplified by the fact that both school districts have the same superintendent, Dr. Robert Finley.

DR. FINLEY, A small spry man with the look of a Conant, enjoys hearing visitors praise the new Middle School's beauty and unique construction but prefers himself to stress some other features.

"This school, like any other, is just a shell—a package in which education can take place," he says. In this case the school was planned for the "team approach to teaching," of which Finley is an enthusiast.

The school district had tried team teaching in other schools, as well, but found—as many school men do—that standard classroom construction restricts non-standard teaching use.

In the new sixth through eighth grade school, classrooms in three wings can be easily made larger or subdivided for small group use. Manning subject matter areas are four-teacher teams, each with personnel with "strengths" in different facets of science, mathematics, English or foreign languages. The teams plan their scheduling, fitting course needs to one, two or three 30-minute "modules."

CENTRALLY LOCATED is the Learning Center, an area old-timers would consider to be a library but here designed for broader use. Entirely carpeted—like the classrooms and corridors, the Learning Center houses books, of course. It also has individual study carrels, group work tables, easy chairs, and a central Meditation Center set off by a circle of wood panelling.

CEILING SCRUTINIZED—These teachers from Arlington Heights elementary District 25 are among the host of visitors who have inspected the new Barrington Middle School since it was opened early this year. Here they are seeing a music room, one of the few classrooms to have permanent, rather than demountable walls. Lighting panels are used throughout the sixth through eighth grade school, attached directly to a steel ceiling framework. (B-10

Teen Group Forms For Novotny

The formation of "Tom Novotny's Teens," supporting Novotny's candidacy for Republican committeeman of Wheeling Township, has been announced by Thomas W. Duda, Arlington Heights. Duda served as president of the Wheeling township TARS (Teen Age Republicans) an adjunct of the Young Republican organization, in 1963 and 1964. He was a founder of the local group.

"The TARS organization in the township has languished recently," Duda asserted. "This intensifies my concern with the direction of the party in the township."

"I FIRMLY believe that teen age interest in Republicanism exists and must be encouraged. It is obvious that new leadership is needed to provide the spark. I believe that Thomas W. Novotny as Republican township committeeman will provide that spark. I therefore salute and firmly endorse his candidacy."

Duda announced the appointment of Jack Schmitz, 109 N. Yale Ave., Arlington Heights, as organization chairman. Young men and women interested in learning more about the types of political ac- should call Schmitz at CL 3-1810.

The initials of the new group tie into the basic theme of Novotny's campaign, which is "Join TNT . . . The Novotny Team for Republican Progress." (ACM

Notes from Arlington Acres

Arlington Acres is rolling out the welcome mat for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Munson who last week moved to 421 S. Prindle from Silver Spring, Md. They have two children, Susan, 6, and Mark, soon 3. Mr. Munson is with Armour Grocery Products in the Loop.

The John Holt family, former owners of what is now the Munson home, are wished much happiness in their new house in another area of Arlington Heights.

Sincere condolences are extended to the John Brunsfeld family, 416 S. Phelps, on the death of John's father in Chicago early last week.

Out-of-town guests of the Don Cooks, 525 S. Forrest, are Don's brother and sister-in-law, the George Cooks of Orlando, Fla. The tornado which struck that part of the state was cause for concern until a phone call to friends assured the family that their home was undamaged.

WHEN THE CHANCE for a spring vacation presented itself, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt and their daughters Carlene, Barbara and Patty, 515 S. Gibbons, took advantage of the opportunity and flew to Phoenix to see Vicki's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koziel. They also spent a few days relaxing, mostly poolside, enjoying daytime temperatures in the 80's.

From Phoenix the family flew to Los Angeles to visit close friends in the area where the Schmidts formerly lived, and to revisit Disneyland with the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Briscoe, 433 S. Forrest, returned Wednesday of last week, after spending five delightful days in Washington, D. C., where Boyd was attending a convention of the American Gas Assn. Activities planned for the wives included a private tour of the White House, visits to Arlington National Cemetery, the Lee Mansion, lunch at Hospitality House, a drive past Embassy Row and a 45-minute stop at Georgetown for browsing.

On their own, the Briscoes visited Mt. Vernon, dined at such well known spots as the Rotunda and the Flagship, and had dinner with old friends living in Washington.

ADDED PLEASANT memories of the trip for Joan and Boyd were the private plane flight with other company officials and their stay at the Marriott on the Potomac.

Three area couples, the Ray Fritzes, Burton Soderbergs and John Brunsfelds, of the 400 block S. Phelps, celebrated the early April birthdays of Ray Fritz and Lorraine Soderberg by having dinner together at Como Inn a week ago Saturday. The celebrants felt the atmosphere called for extending birthday congratulations in Italian, but ironically, found no one who spoke the language and had to settle for saying "Happy Birthday" in French and Armenian.

April 8 is the birthday of Mrs. Louis Leistikow, 512 S. Forrest, and April 9 that of her son, Tommy. They were joined in celebrating by out-of-town guests, Kay's sister, Mrs. E. W. Hendrickson and her children, Marcia and Lee, who arrived from their home in Jackson, Mich., Tuesday and stayed until Saturday.

Sunday the Leistikows and Grandma Carnahan drove to Williams Bay, Wis., to spend Easter with the senior Louis Leistikows.

THE DEXTER Ashbrook family, 416 S. Forrest, spent Easter weekend visiting their families in central Illinois. With their daughters, Jane, Susan and Nancy, they left Friday and drove to Normal to see Deck's parents and to Washington, where his brother James lives with his family. Sunday they spent at Princeton with Marj's mother, Mrs. Earl Howell, and celebrated Susan's 11th birthday with a festive dinner topped off with a birthday cake.

Forrest, were their daughter and son-in-law, the Stanley Koys of Des Plaines, and John Schmidt of San Francisco, a guest of their other daughter, Margaret. The group was joined in time for a late supper by the Lawrence Burkes of Elmhurst and the Art Travises of Westgate.

Pam Jahnke, daughter of the William Jahnkes, 2024 E. Park, was wished many happy returns of the day by her parents, sister, Lynne, and grandmother, Mrs. Vye Donohue, on her 17th birthday April 8. (A

Foam Furniture Open in Arlington

A new store is being opened in Arlington Heights today by Foam Furniture Designs. It is located at 11 S. Dunton Avenue where it shares the former Jewel Tea building with Lisa's Draperies.

Lisa's moved from its former location at 17 E. Miner St. two weeks ago.

Though separate entities, both firms share the building without physical separation of facilities and they complement each other's operations. Both also share the same grand opening days.

THE ARLINGTON Heights store is the newest of 10 Foam Furniture Design showrooms. Others are located in San Francisco, Houston, Dallas and, in the Chicago area, Morton Grove.

As the name suggests, the Foam Furniture Design store will specialize in foam furniture. The concept is, essentially, the placing of foam rubber cushions on completely exposed wood frames with webbing construction for support. A basic feature is that the cushion coverings are zippered and can be easily removed.

THE STORE carries dual purpose lounge furniture, for sitting and sleeping, along with accessory tables and companion chairs.

Style offerings will be not only in contemporary but also in early American, country French, Spanish, Mediterranean and Danish designs.

The store is keyed to little room arrangements with vignettes throughout the store area to simulate home surroundings. (A

Pupils' Writing To Be Displayed At Dryden PTA

Next Tuesday's meeting of the Dryden School PTA will include a display of creative writing the children of the school have been working on for the past month.

Fifth grade students who are participating in the Great Books program also will be present to demonstrate a typical discussion with their leaders. (A

EVERY CHILD SHOULD HAVE GOOD TEETH

It is a mistaken notion that "Baby" teeth do not need care just because the body replaces them with "permanent" teeth. Imperfect "Baby" teeth often cause many later-life dental problems.

Every child should be taken to a dentist at about two and a half years to three years of age. By then all the "Baby" teeth will be in. The dentist will check for minute signs of decay, or any malformations which can cause later troubles. Dental patients under four years old have an average of three teeth that need fillings. If dental-aids are needed, whether it be a child's toothbrush or a good tasting effective toothpaste, we have a complete stock.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Paul Carlson Film To Close 5-Day Mission Conference

Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church, Dunton Ave. at St. James Street, will feature the film "The Paul Carlson Story" at the Sunday evening closing session of the annual missionary conference, April 13 through 17. The film will be shown at 7 p.m. on April 17.

On November 24, 1964, the attention of the entire world was drawn to Paul Carlson, a Congo missionary who was only moments away from safety when a hail of bullets ended his life on a Stanleyville street.

THE MISSIONARY conference opened Wednesday, with Dr. David Gotaas, instructor in Bible and missions at Moody Bible Institute and a former missionary in Venezuela with the Evangelical Alliance Mission, speaking on "Power for Missions." His talk was followed by a missionary prayer time.

Thursday (tonight) at 7:30 p.m. the Rev. Gordon Kling, Great Lakes district superintendent, will speak on "Home Missions." At 8:15 p.m. a taped message will be heard from William Lindahl, serving radio station KCAM, missionary voice of the Central Alaskan Missions, Inc.

Friday at 7:30 p.m. a missionary panel discussion will be featured, with Pastor Eugene O. Ongna moderating. The panel will include Dr. and Mrs. William Colby, accepted as a missionary physician at the Hong Kong Hospital; Mr. and Mrs. Conley Holcomb, missionaries with the Central Alaskan Missions Inc.; the Rev. and Mrs. James Monson, Evangelical Free Church missionaries home on furlough from the Congo, and Dirk E. VanDam, supervisor of flight education, missionary technical training course of Moody Bible Institute, Moody Airport. Following the panel will be a fellowship coffee, an opportunity to meet the missionaries, and a 25-minute documentary film on the Congo entitled "New Hands."

SATURDAY AT 6:45 p.m. there will be a youth banquet for the junior and senior FCYF. Dr. David Hesselgrave of Trinity Evangelical Divinity School and College and a former missionary to Japan will be the speaker. Gadiel and Marge Isidro, students from the Philippines now attending Trinity will play their guitars and sing.

Both the 9 and 11 o'clock Sunday morning worship service messages will be brought by the Rev. Tom Watson, junior radio and film secretary of the Evangelical and Alliance Mission Mission (TEAM). The Rev. Mr. Watson was a missionary to Korea and Japan. (A

A new store is being opened in Arlington Heights today by Foam Furniture Designs. It is located at 11 S. Dunton Avenue where it shares the former Jewel Tea building with Lisa's Draperies.

Lisa's moved from its former location at 17 E. Miner St. two weeks ago.

Though separate entities, both firms share the building without physical separation of facilities and they complement each other's operations. Both also share the same grand opening days.

THE ARLINGTON Heights store is the newest of 10 Foam Furniture Design showrooms. Others are located in San Francisco, Houston, Dallas and, in the Chicago area, Morton Grove.

As the name suggests, the Foam Furniture Design store will specialize in foam furniture. The concept is, essentially, the placing of foam rubber cushions on completely exposed wood frames with webbing construction for support. A basic feature is that the cushion coverings are zippered and can be easily removed.

THE STORE carries dual purpose lounge furniture, for sitting and sleeping, along with accessory tables and companion chairs.

Style offerings will be not only in contemporary but also in early American, country French, Spanish, Mediterranean and Danish designs.

The store is keyed to little room arrangements with vignettes throughout the store area to simulate home surroundings. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Arlington Acres is rolling out the welcome mat for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Munson who last week moved to 421 S. Prindle from Silver Spring, Md. They have two children, Susan, 6, and Mark, soon 3. Mr. Munson is with Armour Grocery Products in the Loop.

The John Holt family, former owners of what is now the Munson home, are wished much happiness in their new house in another area of Arlington Heights.

Sincere condolences are extended to the John Brunsfeld family, 416 S. Phelps, on the death of John's father in Chicago early last week.

Out-of-town guests of the Don Cooks, 525 S. Forrest, are Don's brother and sister-in-law, the George Cooks of Orlando, Fla. The tornado which struck that part of the state was cause for concern until a phone call to friends assured the family that their home was undamaged.

WHEN THE CHANCE for a spring vacation presented itself, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt and their daughters Carlene, Barbara and Patty, 515 S. Gibbons, took advantage of the opportunity and flew to Phoenix to see Vicki's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koziel. They also spent a few days relaxing, mostly poolside, enjoying daytime temperatures in the 80's.

From Phoenix the family flew to Los Angeles to visit close friends in the area where the Schmidts formerly lived, and to revisit Disneyland with the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Briscoe, 433 S. Forrest, returned Wednesday of last week, after spending five delightful days in Washington, D. C., where Boyd was attending a convention of the American Gas Assn. Activities planned for the wives included a private tour of the White House, visits to Arlington National Cemetery, the Lee Mansion, lunch at Hospitality House, a drive past Embassy Row and a 45-minute stop at Georgetown for browsing.

On their own, the Briscoes visited Mt. Vernon, dined at such well known spots as the Rotunda and the Flagship, and had dinner with old friends living in Washington.

ADDED PLEASANT memories of the trip for Joan and Boyd were the private plane flight with other company officials and their stay at the Marriott on the Potomac.

Three area couples, the Ray Fritzes, Burton Soderbergs and John Brunsfelds, of the 400 block S. Phelps, celebrated the early April birthdays of Ray Fritz and Lorraine Soderberg by having dinner together at Como Inn a week ago Saturday. The celebrants felt the atmosphere called for extending birthday congratulations in Italian, but ironically, found no one who spoke the language and had to settle for saying "Happy Birthday" in French and Armenian.

April 8 is the birthday of Mrs. Louis Leistikow, 512 S. Forrest, and April 9 that of her son, Tommy. They were joined in celebrating by out-of-town guests, Kay's sister, Mrs. E. W. Hendrickson and her children, Marcia and Lee, who arrived from their home in Jackson, Mich., Tuesday and stayed until Saturday.

Sunday the Leistikows and Grandma Carnahan drove to Williams Bay, Wis., to spend Easter with the senior Louis Leistikows.

THE DEXTER Ashbrook family, 416 S. Forrest, spent Easter weekend visiting their families in central Illinois. With their daughters, Jane, Susan and Nancy, they left Friday and drove to Normal to see Deck's parents and to Washington, where his brother James lives with his family. Sunday they spent at Princeton with Marj's mother, Mrs. Earl Howell, and celebrated Susan's 11th birthday with a festive dinner topped off with a birthday cake.

The celebration of Michael Morgan's fourth birthday lost none of its spirit because it was postponed from March 31 to April 5. Guests for cake, ice cream, games, prizes and favors were Cindy Wright, Darcy Switzer, Joey Spagnoli, Robert Miner and Frankie Gryzik.

Michael is the son of the Robert Morgans, 412 S. Forrest.

EASTER DINNER guests of the Frank Marshalls, 432 S. Forrest, were their daughter and son-in-law, the Stanley Koys of Des Plaines, and John Schmidt of San Francisco, a guest of their other daughter, Margaret. The group was joined in time for a late supper by the Lawrence Burkes of Elmhurst and the Art Travises of Westgate.

Pam Jahnke, daughter of the William Jahnkes, 2024 E. Park, was wished many happy returns of the day by her parents, sister, Lynne, and grandmother, Mrs. Vye Donohue, on her 17th birthday April 8. (A

Hire First Batch Of New Teachers

The first group of new teachers for the fall semester was hired Monday by the board of Arlington Heights Elementary District 25.

The board voted to offer contracts to 13 teachers, on recommendation of the administration. Two of the group are men, seven already have teaching experience.

NINETY-TWO teachers were hired last year. In addition to such normal turnover this year, the district is faced with the prospect of finding 50 additional teachers to fill classrooms which will open this fall.

The group offered contracts Monday includes: Carole Beldowski, one year's experience; Judith Cushing, four years experience; Donald Fowell, one year; Nancy Ludwa and Penelope Quig, new teachers; Gloria Patka, two years; Marilyn Sanders, new teacher; Jean Schmitz, seven years; Kathleen Stone, Susan Strand and Darla Stransenback, new teachers; Judith Strohmeyer, one year; Anthony Zilic, two years. EVERY CHILD SHOULD HAVE GOOD TEETH

It is a mistaken notion that "Baby" teeth do not need care just because the body replaces them with "permanent" teeth. Imperfect "Baby" teeth often cause many later-life dental problems.

Every child should be taken to a dentist at about two and a half years to three years of age. By then all the "Baby" teeth will be in. The dentist will check for minute signs of decay, or any malformations which can cause later troubles. Dental patients under four years old have an average of three teeth that need fillings. If dental-aids are needed, whether it be a child's toothbrush or a good tasting effective toothpaste, we have a complete stock.

Nike Site Soldier Charged With Palatine Girl's Murder

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

How did Suzanne Proeber meet Army Cpl. William Murphy?

The answer is not readily available. Neither her parents nor the county police know for sure.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Arnold Proeber, could only guess. She named a popular drive-in restaurant which her daughter liked to frequent. The drive-in is the type of place where a stranger to the area, a soldier like Murphy, who comes from Brooklyn, N. Y., might go to find a friend.

However, the acquaintance started, the outcome is well known.

MISS PROEBER, 21, of 928 S. Vermont in unincorporated Palatine, is dead, her body found in a shallow grave north of Palatine last week.

And Murphy, a soldier stationed at the Arlington Heights Nike Base and only a week and a half married, is in county jail on a charge of murdering her. Monday, a preliminary hearing on the charge was continued until May 16. In the court at Niles, Judge Robert Buckley granted the continuance at the request of defense attorney David S. Cohen.

Reportedly, in a confession signed by Murphy last weekend, he related he had been intimate with her.

When Miss Proeber was killed, she was 3½ months pregnant.

ALLEGEDLY, Murphy confessed that he killed the girl at a place they had frequented, when he became angry after she argued that he marry her.

It is a prairie area just north of Palatine. Paved streets and sidewalks from a partially built-up unincorporated subdivision lead to the area.

The only way to describe the site at night is a "lovers' lane."

One area resident told this newspaper, "there's 10 or 20 cars back there every night." Perhaps the resident was exaggerating, perhaps not.

The resident said he had complained many times. But complaints can get little response in an area which has few county patrols and an overworked police staff.

AFTER MISS Proeber disappeared on Dec. 3, police had few leads. Her red and white convertible was found on Dundee Road near Hicks Road.

The police apparently treated it as a routine missing person case. Why not? Dozens of people disappear weekly.

According to one source, several office girls at Pure Oil where Miss Proeber worked knew she was pregnant.

When she disappeared, state police questioned Murphy, but the results of the interrogation and a lie detector test were inconclusive.

MISS PROEBER had told her parents on Dec. 3 she was going to visit a girl friend in Lake Zurich. Later, after the body was found, Mrs. Proeber told police she knew her daughter was to see Murphy that night.

When Miss Proeber left home, she carried a change of clothing for her weekend stay with the Lake Zurich friend.

On April 4, a 16-year-old boy walking his dog found the shallow grave.

Several items of clothing, including a blue suede coat with white fur collar, were missing when police, aided by Palatine firemen, recovered the body.

This week they were found, but not the suitcase which contained the change of clothing.

MURPHY reportedly confessed he tried to strangle the girl, then dragged her from her car and stabbed her with a piece of scrap metal which the police believe they have found.

At the time of Miss Proeber's death, Murphy was engaged to the former Lenore Wagner, 1254 Larchmont Drive, Elk Grove Village. He and Miss Wagner were married on April 2. They were honeymooning at Niagara Falls when Miss Proeber's body was found.

Miss Proeber was buried Saturday in Randhill Cemetery after services at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palatine.

She was a graduate of Immanual Lutheran School and Palatine High School.

Inner City Pastor Will Talk to Youth

A minister who helps run inner-city coffee houses and "Headstart" projects will be a key speaker at a seven-church high school youth meeting this Sunday.

Young people from Arlington Heights' Congregational United Church of Christ in Arlington Heights, the Church of the Good Shepherd in Elk Grove Village, St. Paul United Church of Christ in Palatine, and Christ Church in Des Plaines will attend the meeting, to take place in Peace United Church of Christ in Bensenville.

Heading their church youth delegations will be John Rabchuk, Arlington Heights; Karen Walters and Karen McKelvey, Elk Grove Village; Marilyn Rennack and Barbara Zadney of Palatine, and Ken Thompson and Bob Chamberlin of the Des Plaines church.

THE INNER-CITY minister they will hear will be one of two speakers in a program geared to Christian vocations in the modern world. The other speaker will be Dr. Robert Sheldon of Bensenville, a biochemist who has been conducting youth programs in the Illinois Conference of the United Church of Christ for three years.

Dr. Sheldon conducted a similar two-day seminar in Detroit, Mich., and has organized summer retreats for youth coming from a five-state area. Sunday's meeting, which Rev. Jack Eichaker of Palatine's St. Paul United Church of Christ is helping plan, will be the first one-day meeting of its type.

The meeting will begin with the youth worshiping with the host church at 10:45 a.m. This will be followed by lunch at the church. After lunch the first session will be "The World in Which we Live," covering such world changes as automation, cybernation, and vocational trends.

AFTER A TALK by Dr. Sheldon, the group will divide into three groups for discussion led by a member of the youth committee.

Nike Site Soldier Charged With Palatine Girl's Murder

by DAN PRIBILSKI

How did Suzanne Proeber meet Army Cpl. William Murphy?

The answer is not readily available. Neither her parents nor the county police know for sure.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Arnold Proeber, could only guess. She named a popular drive-in restaurant which her daughter liked to frequent. The drive-in is the type of place where a stranger to the area, a soldier like Murphy, who comes from Brooklyn, N. Y., might go to find a friend.

And Murphy, a soldier stationed at the Arlington Heights Nike Base and only a week and a half married, is in county jail on a charge of murdering her. Monday, a preliminary hearing on the charge was continued until May 16. In the court at Niles, Judge Robert Buckley granted the continuance at the request of defense attorney David S. Cohen.

Reportedly, in a confession signed by Murphy last weekend, he related he had been intimate with her.

When Miss Proeber was killed, she was 3½ months pregnant.

Inner City Pastor Will Talk to Youth

A minister who helps run inner-city coffee houses and "Headstart" projects will be a key speaker at a seven-church high school youth meeting this Sunday.

Young people from Arlington Heights' Congregational United Church of Christ in Arlington Heights, the Church of the Good Shepherd in Elk Grove Village, St. Paul United Church of Christ in Palatine, and Christ Church in Des Plaines will attend the meeting, to take place in Peace United Church of Christ in Bensenville.

Heading their church youth delegations will be John Rabchuk, Arlington Heights; Karen Walters and Karen McKelvey, Elk Grove Village; Marilyn Rennack and Barbara Zadney of Palatine, and Ken Thompson and Bob Chamberlin of the Des Plaines church.

THE INNER-CITY minister they will hear will be one of two speakers in a program geared to Christian vocations in the modern world. The other speaker will be Dr. Robert Sheldon of Bensenville, a biochemist who has been conducting youth programs in the Illinois Conference of the United Church of Christ for three years.

Dr. Sheldon conducted a similar two-day seminar in Detroit, Mich., and has organized summer retreats for youth coming from a five-state area. Sunday's meeting, which Rev. Jack Eichaker of Palatine's St. Paul United Church of Christ is helping plan, will be the first one-day meeting of its type.

The meeting will begin with the youth worshiping with the host church at 10:45 a.m. This will be followed by lunch at the church. After lunch the first session will be "The World in Which we Live," covering such world changes as automation, cybernation, and vocational trends.

AFTER A TALK by Dr. Sheldon, the group will divide into three groups for discussion led by a member of the youth committee.

Easter Season Crammed with Variety of Social Affairs

The Easter rabbit has put in his appearance for another year. The Easter season brings social news, too, and this year there was activity a-plenty as Arlington Heighters entertained family members and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas, 1111 W. Euclid, entertained their son, James, and their son and daughter-in-law, the William J. Thomases, over the Easter weekend. Following a brunch at Itasca Country Club on Sunday, the senior Thomases saw their children off to resume classes at Michigan State University, where William is completing his senior year and James is a freshman.

Celebrating her ninth birthday April 10 at a family dinner at 1201 N. Mitchell was Sally, daughter of the Edward J. Grabows. Present to enjoy the festive atmosphere were her grandmother, Mrs. Edward A. Grabow, and the Ray Marshall family of Park Ridge.

SALLY ENJOYED a birthday cake "especially for her" for the second time on Sunday. She had been guest of honor at a party for nine friends on Thursday afternoon. The day's entertainment included an Easter egg hunt for the young ladies, followed by a "designing spree," during which the girls trimmed old hats in a contest to create the most original Easter bonnet. Prizes were awarded, after which they were served cake and ice cream.

The Clarence Loechls, formerly of 1213 N. Dunton and now Ballwin, Mo., weekended with local friends and former neighbors while spending the Easter holiday with Chicago relatives.

Karen, daughter of the Sidney Alkires, arrived here Thursday to spend spring vacation in her parents' home at 742 S. Arlington Heights Road. She will return to Madison and the University of Wisconsin on April 17.

Sympathies are extended to the Alkire family upon the death of Mr. Alkire's step-father, Dr. O. A. Kabrick of Hull, Ill., on March 29.

ENJOYING EASTER dinner at the Medinah Country Club were the Walter M. Dills, 526 S. Evergreen, who were accompanied by their daughter, son-in-law, and granddaughter, the Les Swieteks of Chicago, who returned home with them for the remainder of the holiday.

Drake University sophomore, Karen Roberts, spent a week's spring vacation in the home of her parents, the Thomas Roberts, 506 S. Chestnut, returning to Des Moines on Sunday.

Other recent guests in the Roberts' home were their son and family the junior Thomas Roberts, who visited for two weeks before returning to Cincinnati on Thursday.

Raymond, son of the Donald Perkins, 814 N. Walnut, was 11 on Tuesday, but celebrated with his family on Easter.

Steve, son of the Leander Gatewoods, 1303 N. Walnut, celebrated his ninth birthday April 11, but was guest of honor at a family party on Sunday, when dinner guests were Steve's grandmother, Mrs. Estelle Cichon, uncle, Robert Gatewood, and his uncle's friend, Frank Milligan, all of Chicago.

Additional dinner guests in the Keller home on Easter were the Jack Betkas of Niles, parents of Mr. Smith.

Kathi Keller, a student at Drake University in Des Moines, spent her spring vacation on a student tour of Nassau, sponsored by the school. She returned to resume her studies on April 9, following a 10-day vacation, four days of which were spent on the island, with the remaining time spent in travel to Florida and back.

ANDREW VON WACHTER, 16, of Curacas, Venezuela, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Johnson, 500 Mayfair. A son of family friends, he will be here for about three weeks before returning to school in Germany. Andrew, who speaks Spanish, German and English, will visit Arlington High School with Lynn Johnson this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gustitus of 400 Dryden had a double celebration for their 25th wedding anniversary on March 30. That night they had dinner with their son, Glenn, at Uncle Andy's Cow Palace. Son Paul came home from the University of Illinois for the weekend and they had another outing at the Kankakee Country Club. Flowers and gifts from friends helped make things festive.

AS A MEMBER of the President's Committee for the Employment of the Physically Handicapped, Dwight Guilfoil, 633 Burton, and his wife visited Phoenix to arrange with Mayor Bill Graham and Gov. Pat Goddard for a national convention in October. While there, they saw the Rodeo of Rodeos and made a jaunt to Las Vegas. They enjoyed the performances of Danny Thomas, Dick Contino and Betty Grable in "Hello, Dolly" in Vegas. "She was excellent and has lost none of her charm," said Mrs. Guilfoil.

Dwight Guilfoil is in line for another honor, the Golden Plate Award of the American Academy of Achievement. This has been given to such notables as Dr. Edward Keller, Bob Hope, Dr. Charles Mayo, General Douglas MacArthur and Col. John Glenn. Guilfoil is president of the Paraplegic Manufacturing Co. in Bensenville.

MRS. RUSSELL Gardner, 408 S. Bristol, joined her husband for the last evening of the Premium Show at McCormick Place and stayed overnight at the Carriage House in Chicago. The next day she joined the League of Women Voters' tour of Family Court and the Audy Home. "I feel that they are doing very well at the Audy Home under difficult circumstances," she said.

Her mother, Mrs. H. W. Purviance, is visiting from Guatemala. Mr. Purviance is with General Tire International and the couple has lived all over the globe.

The Gardners entertained Elizabeth Leal, the Brazilian exchange student at Arlington High School, and Mrs. Gardner was able to converse with her in Portuguese since she, her sister and brother were raised in Brazil.

JEFF GARDNER'S second grade class at Dryden School has been writing to Capt. Stuart Purviance, his uncle, a member of the Air Force Helicopter Rescue Squadron in Viet Nam. This is following through with letting our servicemen know we are thinking of them.

Douglas Coobs, son of the Melvin Coobs, 401 Carlyle, was 11 April 4. Friend Kerry Moore was his guest to see the "Great Race" and stayed overnight to celebrate.

The Coobs visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wamsley, in Freeport, over the weekend.

Linda Bruning, 113 Windsor, a freshman at Western Illinois University, Macomb, is home for Easter vacation. The Glen Brunings entertained relatives from Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights and Wheaton on Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. Ian MacLachlan, formerly of Woodford Place, will be in town for a visit from New Canaan, Conn., reports Mrs. Eldred Koenig, 341 Windsor, and they hope to see their friends.

Everyone will be sorry to see the James Kindelin family, 202 Gibbons, move to Kansas City. Virginia (Mrs.) had a birthday March 29, but waited to celebrate it with her husband on April 7.

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given for Eleanor Evenson on April 9 by Sue Miller, 1301 Woodford Place. Eleanor, daughter of the Robert Evensons of 31 N. Forest, will be married April 30 unless her fiance, Wayne Wilkins', induction speeds things up. (A

A message from George Harris, Your Presciption Pharmacist

INFORMATION FOR HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS
If you have not yet definitely decided what your life's work will be, may we suggest that you consider the many career opportunities open to a pharmacist.

USUALLY FIVE YEARS AT COLLEGE
is needed for a B.S. in Pharmacy degree (A few Colleges of Pharmacy require six years.) After graduation you then must pass a state pharmacy examination to obtain a license to practice pharmacy. This college training is needed to acquire the important knowledge about drugs a pharmacist must know to safely compound prescriptions and to help protect public health.

PHARMACY SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE
You need good high school grades. Also, any worthy applicant can obtain student loans to be repaid from income after graduation. Many find employment at better than average salaries. You may prefer serving the public in a retail pharmacy. Pharmacists are also needed in hospitals, government service, teaching, detailing physicians about new drugs and also in drug manufacturing. Some prefer the research field and many important discoveries have been made by pharmacists.

WE LIKE BEING A PHARMACIST
Every day gives us the opportunity to help people to live a healthier and more sickness-free life. And, some of the prescriptions we have filled have saved lives. We welcome any requests for more information about a pharmacy career.

The day's entertainment included an Easter egg hunt for the young ladies, followed by a "designing spree," during which the girls trimmed old hats in a contest to create the most original Easter bonnet. Prizes were awarded, after which they were served cake and ice cream.

AS A MEMBER of the President's Committee for the Employment of the Physically Handicapped, Dwight Guilfoil, 633 Burton, and his wife visited Phoenix to arrange with Mayor Bill Graham and Gov. Pat Goddard for a national convention in October. While there, they saw the Rodeo of Rodeos and made a jaunt to Las Vegas. They enjoyed the performances of Danny Thomas, Dick Contino and Betty Grable in "Hello, Dolly" in Vegas. "She was excellent and has lost none of her charm," said Mrs. Guilfoil.

Dwight Guilfoil is in line for another honor, the Golden Plate Award of the American Academy of Achievement. This has been given to such notables as Dr. Edward Keller, Bob Hope, Dr. Charles Mayo, General Douglas MacArthur and Col. John Glenn. Guilfoil is president of the Paraplegic Manufacturing Co. in Bensenville.

The Gardners entertained Elizabeth Leal, the Brazilian exchange student at Arlington High School, and Mrs. Gardner was able to converse with her in Portuguese since she, her sister and brother were raised in Brazil.

JEFF GARDNER'S second grade class at Dryden School has been writing to Capt. Stuart Purviance, his uncle, a member of the Air Force Helicopter Rescue Squadron in Viet Nam. This is following through with letting our servicemen know we are thinking of them.

Baumann Carries 'Torch' For Beloved Arlington Hts.

(Second in a Series)

If Dan Baumann ever adds song-writing to his many talents, he'll probably choose Arlington Heights to lyricize about in the vein of "Houston" or "Chicago, Chicago."

For Baumann, the love affair began 11 months before he became news editor last April of the Arlington Heights Herald for Paddock Publications, Inc.

THE 28-YEAR-OLD newsman, holder of both a bachelor's degree in journalism and a master's degree in political science from the University of Wisconsin, moved to Arlington Heights in May 1964 when he joined Paddock as news editor of the Roselle Register.

"My wife and I just fell in love with this town," he says. "Our neighborhood is quiet and we like the tall, old trees that form an archway over the street."

Baumann and his wife, Karen, live at 532 S. Highland Avenue with their two children, Jimmy, 4, and Jennifer, 18 months.

Practical as well as lyrical, Baumann adds he's also pleased with the community "because my wife is not stranded by geography — she's within walking distance of stores."

THE ONLY MEMBER of the firm's staff to hold a certificate in Russian Studies, Baumann maintains an active interest in local and foreign government above and beyond that needed to pursue his work.

Perceptive and analytical, he feels strongly that governmental organization in Illinois "follows a helter-skelter pattern."

"School districts don't conform to anything but their own lines," he explains, "and all too often there are separate districts for high schools and elementary. Park districts don't have to follow the boundaries of a community either."

A NATIVE OF Milwaukee, Baumann points out that a large community in Wisconsin would have the school board serving the same area as the village, with the budget a part of the city budget.

"This fiscal interlocking forces a common sense review of all these things together," he adds.

Baumann is also critical of the Illinois Constitution which permits special legislation for counties, adding he doesn't think it's "realistic or proper for there to be special, separate laws governing the state, Chicago and Cook County."

Baumann's journalistic background has given him the opportunity to gather information on other state governments as well as Wisconsin and Illinois.

HE SERVED AS news editor of the South Milwaukee Voice Journal, courthouse reporter for the East St. Louis (Ill.) Journal and public relations representative for the Credit Union National Assn. at Washington, D.C., before joining Paddock.

"I lived in Maryland and was close enough to Missouri to be familiar with governments in both of those states," he says. "Frankly, I think Illinois' system compares unfavorably to them, too, although there are peculiarities in law wherever you go."

As for foreign affairs, Baumann achieved a stronger understanding of the Cold War through his work at the University of Wisconsin's Russian Area Studies Program (RASP) while seeking his master's degree.

Although inclusion of RASP in his work meant it took longer to achieve his master's, Baumann, who was a teaching assistant at the university's School of Journalism also, thinks it was worth it.

HIS MASTER'S thesis, for instance, was based on a study of Russian newspapers from the mid-1930's to 1961, making him "more aware of the subtle influences on the press and the fact it would be disastrous if it ever happened in this country."

Nine months were spent on research for his thesis, with half of the reading done in Russian, "most of which has now faded."

"I wanted to start from the period when Stalin came to full power and the press came under the heel of centralized control," explains Baumann. "I concentrated primarily on stories affecting politics."

Since the Soviet press is regarded as a political organ, he said, the announcement of Stalin's death seemed to him especially indicative of the character of Russian newspapers.

"Most of the article was devoted to an announcement by the Soviet Presidium on policy and praise of Communism," he recalled. "Toward the end of a long statement, it was briefly mentioned that Stalin had died."

ALTHOUGH BAUMANN concentrates much of his reading presently on newspapers and news magazines, his wife visits the Arlington Heights Library once a week to get light fiction, which both read.

Like her husband, Karen, 28, holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin, only in home economics.

Jimmy, meanwhile, is developing interests, too, reports his father.

"He can't wait to attend Park School two years from now," says Baumann. "He went to the park district's play school last fall and became a different person — much more outgoing."

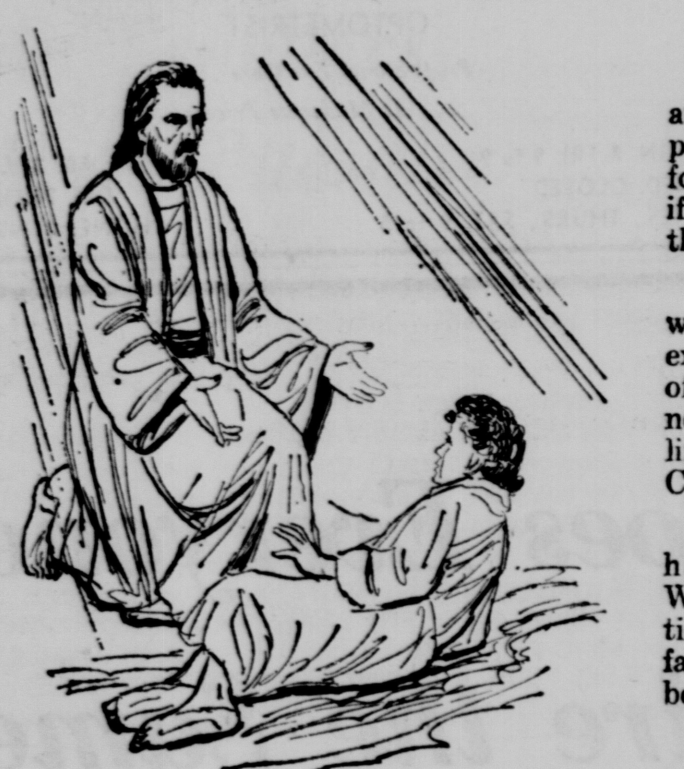
Baumann also is an active member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, and was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, an honorary fraternity, while at college.

ALTHOUGH Baumann has a variety of serious opinions on serious topics, he also has achieved a reputation for a quiet wit.

"Karen and I were married April 29, 1961," he recalls, for example, and then adds: "That was the first day of daylight saving time, you know."

The Way of God

"This God—his way is perfect; the promise of the Lord proves true; he is a shield for all those who take refuge in him."
— Psalms 18:30



The way of God is perfect and, while we can never attain perfection, we can, through effort find a positive place in life if we recognize the promise of the Lord.

We have been shown the way. There is the great example of the life and death of Christ upon earth. There is no secret to the purpose of the life of Christ upon earth. Christ came to show the way.

We have the lesson. We have the Commandments. Whatever trials and tribulations the day may bring, our faith will be as strong as our belief in the Lord.

As for foreign affairs, Baumann achieved a stronger understanding of the Cold War through his work at the University of Wisconsin's Russian Area Studies Program (RASP) while seeking his master's degree.

Although inclusion of RASP in his work meant it took longer to achieve his master's, Baumann, who was a teaching assistant at the university's School of Journalism also, thinks it was worth it.

HIS MASTER'S thesis, for instance, was based on a study of Russian newspapers from the mid-1930's to 1961, making him "more aware of the subtle influences on the press and the fact it would be disastrous if it ever happened in this country."

Nine months were spent on research for his thesis, with half of the reading done in Russian, "most of which has now faded."

"I wanted to start from the period when Stalin came to full power and the press came under the heel of centralized control," explains Baumann. "I concentrated primarily on stories affecting politics."

Since the Soviet press is regarded as a political organ, he said, the announcement of Stalin's death seemed to him especially indicative of the character of Russian newspapers.

"Most of the article was devoted to an announcement by the Soviet Presidium on policy and praise of Communism," he recalled. "Toward the end of a long statement, it was briefly mentioned that Stalin had died."

ALTHOUGH BAUMANN concentrates much of his reading presently on newspapers and news magazines, his wife visits the Arlington Heights Library once a week to get light fiction, which both read.

Like her husband, Karen, 28, holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin, only in home economics.

Jimmy, meanwhile, is developing interests, too, reports his father.

"He can't wait to attend Park School two years from now," says Baumann. "He went to the park district's play school last fall and became a different person — much more outgoing."

Baumann also is an active member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, and was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, an honorary fraternity, while at college.

ALTHOUGH Baumann has a variety of serious opinions on serious topics, he also has achieved a reputation for a quiet wit.

"Karen and I were married April 29, 1961," he recalls, for example, and then adds: "That was the first day of daylight saving time, you know."

The Way of God

"This God—his way is perfect; the promise of the Lord proves true; he is a shield for all those who take refuge in him."
— Psalms 18:30

The way of God is perfect and, while we can never attain perfection, we can, through effort find a positive place in life if we recognize the promise of the Lord.

We have been shown the way. There is the great example of the life and death of Christ upon earth. There is no secret to the purpose of the life of Christ upon earth. Christ came to show the way.

We have the lesson. We have the Commandments. Whatever trials and tribulations the day may bring, our faith will be as strong as our belief in the Lord.

Dialing Meadowbrook

Joan Shelk LEhigh 7-4007

Throughout Meadowbrook there are two definite signs that the Easter season has now become part of history: all the cleaning utensils are swinging into high gear and the dust is flying via spring cleaning and in many households egg salad sandwiches are being consumed in order to use up all the beautifully decorated hard-boiled eggs left by the Easter bunny.

Speaking of that generous long-earred gentleman, he left two of his smallest offspring at the home of Rena and Joe Ciolino, 252 E. Jeffrey, where Geri and Steve were delighted to find the black and white bunnies on Easter morning.

Celebrating their recent 15th wedding anniversary in high style were Toots and Bern Masler, 345 Wheeling. The observance began April 1, when they checked in at the Executive House in Chicago for the weekend. That night they enjoyed the performance of "Hello, Dolly" with the inimitable Carol Channing and had a late dinner at Trader Vic's in the Palmer House.

SATURDAY morning Toots dragged Bern along on a shopping trip which proved to be a pleasant experience. as she added two new ensembles to her spring wardrobe. Following the shopping spree, they enjoyed lunch at Don Roth's Blackhawk Restaurant. Saturday afternoon found the Maslers viewing the works of the 20th Century French artist, Matisse, at the Art Institute. From there they went to the movies and saw "The Silencers" with Dean Martin. Saturday night the Maslers dined in the 71 Club, the penthouse restaurant of the Executive House. They had dinner with a full panoramic view of the picturesque Chicago skyline, as the restaurant is on the 39th floor and is encompassed in glass.

Following dinner the anniversary couple was met by Toots' brother and sister-in-law, Lori and Caroll Frank of Elk Grove, as well as friends and fellow Meadowbrookites, Dolores and Bob Dunsmore, 371 Anita Place. The three couples attended the mid-evening performance of "Dr. Zhivago" followed by a trip to the new go-go- room in the Palmer House.

Sunday, Toots and Bern continued their celebration by seeing no less than three movies. They started off the day with "Madam X," then on to "The Flight of the Phoenix." They took time out from the cinema tour long enough to have dinner at Jim Saines' on Rush Street. After their evening repast they viewed the reknowned movie, "The Sound of Music" and then reluctantly headed back to Wheeling.

ON APRIL 4, Dawn Dunsmore, daughter of Dolores and Bob, 371 Anita Place, invited Karen Carlson to spend the night with her. Karen was very happy to accept the invitation, but little did she know how deceptive her friends could be. A half an hour before Karen was due to arrive at the Anita Place address, Diane Corda, who also was co-hostess, Donna Okrasinski, Rick Dahlgren, Caryn Carlborg, Mike Groot, Alan King, Bob Vincent, Leanne Moskowitz, Patrice Dever, Dan Hoste, Bill McGowan and Doug Thill arrived on the scene. In order to keep the cat from getting out of bag, the would be surprisers waited for the appointed hour across the street in the Hoste home.

Reason for all the deception and surprise was Karen's 12th birthday and surprised she was. The seven young couples spent most of the evening displaying their ability and agility with all the latest dances.

After being promised for weeks that they would be taken to the Loop during Easter vacation, the inclement weather didn't seem an adequate reason for cancellation of their plans to Johnny and Ronnie Shelk, 372 Jerome Place. They started their day, April 6, with a brisk walk in the falling snow to catch the bus. Arriving in the big city, they were fascinated by the lower level of Wacker Drive.

After a brief stop to eat, the two young men, accompanied by their mother, set a fast pace in the direction of the Prudential Building, where they were whisked by one of the fastest elevators in the world to the 40th floor, ascended two flights on the escalator and were overwhelmed by the view of the city of Chicago from the observation deck. Another quick ride brought them back to the lobby, where Johnny and Ronnie grinned from ear to ear when viewing themselves on the ATT phono-vision.

A WALK DOWN State Street brought them to a window where they were entranced by the Easter display of baby chicks being hatched.

The termination of their tour added another first to the boys' list of experiences. They rode home on the top level of a double-decker train.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Barbara and Don Babbini, 39 W. Manchester, and their family on the death of Barbara's mother, Mrs. Ella Schiele of Chicago, on Saturday.

When the Klien family, 355 Sunset, stepped out on Easter, the man of the house, Hank, pinned identical corsages on his mother, the senior Mrs. Klien, his wife, Ruth, and his daughters, Charmaine and Tracy, before showing them off at an Easter dinner at Wenzlaff's Restaurant.

Heaven forbid that anything should interfere with Lena Kozimor's volleyball session on Monday nights! However, when children want to do something, Lena usually arranges a compromise. After a quick supper, the Tom Kozimor family headed for the Mount Prospect Cinema to see "Winnie the Pooh." The youngsters had their wish and Lena was no more than five minutes late for her game.

ANOTHER anniversary celebrating couple is Stephanie and Jim Borst, 326 Wille. For them it was Saturday night dinner at Ignatz and Mary's followed by bowling at Jeffrey Lanes.

Easter provided the theme for a party in the Kozimor home on April 5, when Joanne observed her seventh natal day.

It was the second Easter inspired birthday celebration in the Kozimor household last week.

Setting the mood was Joanne's cake, in the form of an Easter bunny. After playing games, the youngsters, including Terri Woods, Charmaine Klien, Mary Goetsch, Vicki Nicholson, Patti Riddle and Cheri Babbini, were presented with miniature Easter baskets as party favors. (W

Board Okays Signs with New Slogan

Wheeling Village Trustees this week approved a proposal by the Meadowbrook Woman's Club to purchase and install signs at entrances to Wheeling displaying the recently adopted slogan.

The slogan, "Wheeling — Where Progress Is by the People," will be on several signs at various entrances to the village. The woman's club will spend up to $500 on building and installing the signs.

THE ONLY stipulation which village officials called for was that the signs conform to village ordinance.

The signs will not only list the slogan but Wheeling's population, trustees said. (W

Does Everyone Require the Same Firmness in a Mattress?

NO!

You may be one of the many who have been sleeping on a mattress that has the right degree of softness or firmness for someone else . . . but decidedly wrong for you!

Firmness is desirable . . . in fact, it is recommended. But, if you will take a minute to study an example with me, I believe you will agree there is a difference in firmness . . . If you take a mattress that is of the right density for 130 to 140 pounds, it WILL NOT properly support 200 to 225 pounds. This mattress is too soft, uncomfortable and a poor buy for the heavier person. The heavier the load on a mattress, the firmer it must be to give the proper degree of comfort. By the same token, a mattress that is fine for the heavyweight is a absolute board for the lightweight. Naturally there has to be some compromise between husband and wife, and that's where we at Wheeling Furniture come in.

We will talk to you, analyze your particular case, and guide you to better rest. Come in and find out what will make a perfect sleep combination for you.

Grade School Board OK's Summer Program

A summer school program featuring remedial reading, arithmetic and language skills, enrichment classes in science and instrumental music and special education classes for deaf and hard of hearing and the perceptually handicapped was approved Monday by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 board.

Supt. R .E. Clabaugh said the program was "essentially the same" as in past summers. Emphasis is on remedial instruction, he said.

CHILDREN TAKING remedial classes will attend Windsor or Park Schools, depending on whether they live north or south of the railway. Tuition is $32.50 a subject. Reading is offered for Grades 1 through 8. Arithmetic is offered in Grades 3 through 8, and language skills is offered in Grades 5 through 8.

Enrichment classes in science will be offered at Miner Junior High for Grades 4 through 8. Tuition is $17. Instrumental music classes will be offered at Park School and Miner for Grades 3 through 8. Tuition is $12.

Special education classes will be at Windsor School and tuition will be $32.50.

Clabaugh said the program cost is covered by tuition fees. He noted state aid would be available if no tuition was charged. But he added larger class enrollments would be necessary with a state aid program and more emphasis would be placed on enrichment classes. He said the present program "is more the kind of program we need." (A

Niles Man Charged in Check Cash

A Niles man was arrested on theft charges by Arlington Heights police Tuesday.

He was identified as Benjamin C. Hopkins, 54, a salesman at Mark Motors, Inc., 2020 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

According to police, Hopkins took 35 checks from Mark Motors on April 6. He made one of them out for $210 payable to himself, signed the name of Mark Heller, president of Mark Motors, and cashed it at a tavern in Waukegan.

Police said when officers went to get Hopkins at Mark Motors, he told them he knew he was going to be caught and that he intended to repay the $210.

A complaint against Hopkins was signed by Heller. Hopkins was released on $2,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court April 25. (A

Two Groups Get Permits

Arlington Heights Park District Commissioners Tuesday granted permission for free use of fieldhouse facilities to two local organizations.

The Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club was granted free use of one room in both Pioneer and Recreation Park fieldhouses to conduct a free vision screening clinic for children three to five years old beginning May 16. Registration for the clinic starts May 9.

PARK COMISSIONERS also renewed the permit of the Northwest Radio Control Club, whose current permit for use of fieldhouse facilities expires May 9. They will meet the second Monday of each month through the following year.

Organizations may use the fieldhouses without charge if they are non-profit, made up primarily of local residents, perform some worthwhile purpose and have an open membership. (A

Grade School Board OK's Summer Program

A summer school program featuring remedial reading, arithmetic and language skills, enrichment classes in science and instrumental music and special education classes for deaf and hard of hearing and the perceptually handicapped was approved Monday by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 board.

Supt. R .E. Clabaugh said the program was "essentially the same" as in past summers. Emphasis is on remedial instruction, he said.

CHILDREN TAKING remedial classes will attend Windsor or Park Schools, depending on whether they live north or south of the railway. Tuition is $32.50 a subject. Reading is offered for Grades 1 through 8. Arithmetic is offered in Grades 3 through 8, and language skills is offered in Grades 5 through 8.

Enrichment classes in science will be offered at Miner Junior High for Grades 4 through 8. Tuition is $17. Instrumental music classes will be offered at Park School and Miner for Grades 3 through 8. Tuition is $12.

Special education classes will be at Windsor School and tuition will be $32.50.

Clabaugh said the program cost is covered by tuition fees. He noted state aid would be available if no tuition was charged. But he added larger class enrollments would be necessary with a state aid program and more emphasis would be placed on enrichment classes. He said the present program "is more the kind of program we need." (A

A Niles man was arrested on theft charges by Arlington Heights police Tuesday.

He was identified as Benjamin C. Hopkins, 54, a salesman at Mark Motors, Inc., 2020 E. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

According to police, Hopkins took 35 checks from Mark Motors on April 6. He made one of them out for $210 payable to himself, signed the name of Mark Heller, president of Mark Motors, and cashed it at a tavern in Waukegan.

Police said when officers went to get Hopkins at Mark Motors, he told them he knew he was going to be caught and that he intended to repay the $210.

A complaint against Hopkins was signed by Heller. Hopkins was released on $2,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court April 25. (A

Two Groups Get Permits

Arlington Heights Park District Commissioners Tuesday granted permission for free use of fieldhouse facilities to two local organizations.

The Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club was granted free use of one room in both Pioneer and Recreation Park fieldhouses to conduct a free vision screening clinic for children three to five years old beginning May 16. Registration for the clinic starts May 9.

PARK COMISSIONERS also renewed the permit of the Northwest Radio Control Club, whose current permit for use of fieldhouse facilities expires May 9. They will meet the second Monday of each month through the following year.

Organizations may use the fieldhouses without charge if they are non-profit, made up primarily of local residents, perform some worthwhile purpose and have an open membership. (A

Slate China Expert At Bible Church

Dr. Andrew Gih will show pictures of Asia and speak April 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Palatine Bible Church, 312 E. Wood St.

Dr. Gih, founder of Evangelize China, is recognized around the world, as one of China's spiritual leaders. His efforts trace from the time 40 years ago when China was endeavoring to ward off Japanese invasion, down to the takeover in China by the Communists.

He had to flee for his life before the advancing Communists. He still has a price upon his head, set by the Communist leaders, anxious for his apprehenson.

HE IS FAMILIAR with "old" China, before its fall to communism. From sources known only to himself, he is able to keep in touch with the situation inside China today.

Dr. Gih's religious activities increased his influence in China so that at the time of the Communistic successes, he enjoyed a close relationship with Madame Chiang. He has travelled extensively throughout the world.

BEING THE FOUNDER and president of Evangelize China Fellowship, he supervises high schools, Bible colleges, orphanages, churches, and a vast publication department. He edits a monthly magazine, has broadcast many times each week over the last 20 years, reaching with his evangelical message, behind the Iron Curtain, into Southeast Asia. (P

Public hearings on the improvement of Belmont Avenue north of Oakton Street in Arlington Heights have been continued to 8 p.m. April 28 by the board of local improvements (BOLI) Thursday.

The project under consideration involves paving Belmont to a 28-foot width from the end of the existing pavement at 280 feet north of Oakton to the south boundary of Olive School, where a cul-de-sac is planned.

Most homeowners involved would like to have the work done by private contract rather than by special assessment.

THEIR REPRESENTATIVE, Joseph Hoffman, 1208 N. Belmont Ave., asked for a continuation of the hearings so he will have a chance to contact one non-resident owner in an attempt to persuade him to dedicate property for the street right-of-way.

Without that party's participation, the street will probably be installed by special assessment because cost would make it unfeasible to break the project up into two parts, one by special assessment and one by private contract. (A

500 Join Hunt For Easter Eggs

More than 500 children and at least 200 parents were attracted to Community Park last Saturday morning to participate in and watch the Easter egg hunt.

Prior to the hunt the Easter bunny made his appearance, and he and his helpers stayed to pose for pictures and chat with children.

In addition to the 6,000 candy eggs which were picked up in the hunt, 24 children won prizes by finding special eggs.

United Citizens Nominate for Executive Board

A United Citizens Party of Palatine nominating committee has announced its proposed slate of officers to serve on the party's executive board during the coming year.

The slate includes Stan Goodrich, Don Jacobs, Paul Jensen, George Meehan, Jack Moodie, Erik Skoglund, and Orville Williams.

Additional nominations must be made by petition to the present executive board. The election will be held at the party's next general meeting, May 18.

2 Rezoning Matters Go To Trustees

Plan commission recommendations to approve a single-family rezoning and deny a business zoning request will be heard by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

The plan commission voted last Wednesday to approve rezoning from R1 to R3 a three-lot section of S. Walnut Avenue between Central and Kirchoff roads. R1 permits single family homes on lots with a minimum frontage of 90 feet. Under R3, 70-foot frontages are permissible.

A request for rezoning of a lot on the north side of Central Road, west of Arlington Heights Road, received an unfavorable report from the plan group. Present zoning of the parcel is R5 (apartment). The owner had sought B1 (limited retail business) zoning. (A

Offer Free Wiring For Electric Ranges

Free wiring is still being offered to purchasers of electric ranges, according to Charles G. Harnach, manager of Commonwealth Edison Company's northwest area.

The offer is being made during Edison's 1966 spring electric range campaign, which will extend to April 30. Ranges purchased during the campaign must be installed by June 30, 1966.

"Most independent dealers, department and chain stores in our service area are making this offer to Edison customers," Harnach said. "They are also authorized to give a 60-day guarantee of satsifaction on any electric range purchased before the end of April."

THE FREE standard installation offer applies to single-family residences and to two- or three-apartment buildings when ranges are installed in all units. In addition to the 240-volt range circuit, a new three-wire service entrance and eight-circuit fuse box will be installed if needed.

The improved facilities will boost the housepower to more than six times that of the two-wire service, Harnach said.

Is Your Attic a Bargain Basement?

Many a home has a "bargain basement." It's the attic. That's where there are wonderful opportunities for expanding a home's living space at reasonable cost, the Illinois Association of Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Contractors points out.

You usually can convert an unfinished attic into one or more rooms at half the cost of adding such rooms. Finished attics make fine dens, sewing rooms or bedrooms.

The attic is a logical place to add a bathroom too — right over the bathroom on the floor below. That way you can take advantage of existing piping. If you're somewhat cramped for room, you can get space-saving plumbing fixtures.

MANY HOMEOWNERS like to finish off attic walls with wood paneling and decorate the area according to a tailored motif, especially if the room will be a retreat for the man of the house or for boys.

If this is what you have in mind, don't forget that you can get "masculine" looking plumbing fixtures too — in such colors as maroon, sand, etc. You have literally dozens of colors to choose from. Instead of making a hasty decision, it's a good idea to visit a plumbing contractor's store to see what's available. (O

$7.5 Million Bond Issue Suggested for Jr. College

The finance sub-committee of the District 301 junior college citizens committee was to recommend Wednesday night that voters be asked to approve a $7,500,000 bond referendum in June.

The recommendation, part of a report prepared by the sub-committee, was to be presented at the second citizens committee meeting. Reports from four other sub-committees—curriculum, enrollment potential and campus size, community services and public information—also were to be presented.

The $7,500,000, according to the report, represents an estimated 25 per cent of the total cost for land acquisition and campus construction. It noted that the bond referendum, based on total cost of the college, must be passed before the district is eligible for the remaining 75 per cent from the state.

JUNIOR COLLEGE officials cautioned earlier this week that the referendum estimate may be somewhat conservative. The District 301 board will meet tonight (Thursday) to determine exactly how much the junior college will request from voters in June.

The finance group came up with its recommendations after conferring with campus architects and financial consultants on projected building costs and enrollment needs. The group's report said architects estimate total project cost at $28,800,000 excluding land costs.

The report added that this estimate included allowances for increasing construction costs. A breakdown of the figure showed a per-square-foot cost of $22, based on a total area of 850,000 square feet.

THE BOND WOULD be paid off over a 19-year term at an interest rate of 4 per cent, according to the study report. Average annual amount of interest through 1975 would be $570,000.

The seven-page report was to be presented by sub-committee chairman H. R. Powell, 110 S. Kennicott Ave., Arlington Heights.

Among other sub-committee reports to be outlined at the meeting was one by the community service advisory group. The report, based on a survey of district residents, recommended construction of a public auditorium in the first phase of campus development, provision of athletic and "highest quality" academic facilities, and development of courses on the under-graduate and graduate level in addition to the two-year curriculum. HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Spring lawn care often presents three mysteries for the average homeowner. They include fertilizer selection, lawn mower purchases, and sometimes proper cutting height.

Buying fertilizer for the lawn need not be a mystery. Just use these guides when examining materials being offered for sale.

Saving money may be important, but the economics of buying a few bags of fertilizer are not as important as they would be buying quantities on a farm scale. However, you can save by avoiding small five and ten pound packages. You may pay 10 to 20 times as much for fertilizer in the 1-pound size compared to a larger bag.

BY LAW fertilizers must be properly labeled. This means there is no excuse to be misinformed about the merits of the product. Although you may be confused by extravagant claims in words and pictures, fertilizers are sold on the basis of active ingredients. They are expressed in a three number code. The first number represents the per cent of nitrogen the second phosphorus and the last potassium. Lawn fertilizer should have at least ten per cent nitrogen.

Don't be misled by claims of how many square feet a fertilizer will cover. What counts is whether there is enough of the proper material to do your plants good.

Once fertilized your lawn will grow vigorously. However, many people cannot resist the temptation to cut their grass too closely.

Kentucky bluegrass and red fescue should not be cut closer than 1¼ inch. Cutting at a lower height will remove too much leaf surface and thus reduce the ability of the plant to manufacture new food. The grass blades intercept sunlight and act as the factory for the production of food. If too much leaf surface is removed the plant draws food from the root reserves to start new growth. Continued defoliation of this type wil result in a depletion of the root reserves and the roots will become quite shallow. Then when adverse weather conditions of summer occur, the lawn is unable to obtain enough water and nutrients because of this shortened root system.

YOUR SELECTION of either a reel or rotary lawnmower should depend on how particular you are with your lawn.

Reel type mowers are recommended for cutting formal and semi-formal lawns. Reels, when they are properly adjusted, sharp and in good operating condition, give a clean sharp cut that gives the lawn a well groomed appearance.

Rotary mowers, in addition to cutting the grass, can be used to grind up leaves, cut tall growing weeds and for a limited amount of trimming. Rotaries do not give as clean a cut or as well groomed appearance as reel type mowers. They are recommended where grass and weed control rather than appearance are the prime consideration. Personally, I've found a rotary lawn mower to be satisfactory for my small lawn.

As for size, generally areas up to 8,000 to 13,000 square feet in size require 21 to 24 inch mowers and areas larger than 13,000 square feet require mowers more than 24 inches wide. (O

Offer Free Wiring For Electric Ranges

Free wiring is still being offered to purchasers of electric ranges, according to Charles G. Harnach, manager of Commonwealth Edison Company's northwest area.

The offer is being made during Edison's 1966 spring electric range campaign, which will extend to April 30. Ranges purchased during the campaign must be installed by June 30, 1966.

"Most independent dealers, department and chain stores in our service area are making this offer to Edison customers," Harnach said. "They are also authorized to give a 60-day guarantee of satsifaction on any electric range purchased before the end of April."

THE FREE standard installation offer applies to single-family residences and to two- or three-apartment buildings when ranges are installed in all units. In addition to the 240-volt range circuit, a new three-wire service entrance and eight-circuit fuse box will be installed if needed.

The improved facilities will boost the housepower to more than six times that of the two-wire service, Harnach said.

Is Your Attic a Bargain Basement?

Many a home has a "bargain basement." It's the attic. That's where there are wonderful opportunities for expanding a home's living space at reasonable cost, the Illinois Association of Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Contractors points out.

You usually can convert an unfinished attic into one or more rooms at half the cost of adding such rooms. Finished attics make fine dens, sewing rooms or bedrooms.

The attic is a logical place to add a bathroom too — right over the bathroom on the floor below. That way you can take advantage of existing piping. If you're somewhat cramped for room, you can get space-saving plumbing fixtures.

MANY HOMEOWNERS like to finish off attic walls with wood paneling and decorate the area according to a tailored motif, especially if the room will be a retreat for the man of the house or for boys.

If this is what you have in mind, don't forget that you can get "masculine" looking plumbing fixtures too — in such colors as maroon, sand, etc. You have literally dozens of colors to choose from. Instead of making a hasty decision, it's a good idea to visit a plumbing contractor's store to see what's available. (O

School Board Pres. Bernstein Ousted in District 59 Ballot

The Des Plaines area of Elk Grove District 59 showed its voter muscle Saturday by dumping incumbent school board president A. M. (Bud) Bernstein and electing its two candidates to the school board.

Elected to the board for three-year terms were newcomers Gene Artemenko, 38, of 431 Miller Road, Des Plaines, with 975 votes, and Wayne Little, 33, of 745 W. Ambleside Road, Des Plaines, with 970 votes.

INCUMBENT Bernstein of 332 Charing Cross Rd., Elk Grove Village, led the race in all the Elk Grove Village precincts. This lead was overcome when the High Ridge Knolls precinct, the last one to report. gave its overwhelming total to Artemenko and Little. Bernstein received a 530 vote total.

David Crail, 546 Landmeier Rd., Elk Grove Village, was fourth with 479 votes and C. Elmo Hilderbrand was last with 358 votes.

"They ran a better campaign," Bernstein observed Monday after his defeat. "They came out and talked to the voters."

Bernstein provided Artemenko Berstein provided Artemenko and Little with a campaign issue they exploited—the question of merger of District 59 with Schaumburg School District 54.

Bernstein refused for political expediency to change his position or delay the board's discussion of the merger issue.

ARTEMENKO AND Little campaigned against the merger and pledged the final decision would be determined by the voters in a referendum.

Bernstein's viewpoint was that the facts were not all in, the question should be explored fully to assess its merits, and a public hearing would be held before the board of seven made a decision. He believed the school boards and the Cook County Board of School Trustees could decide the issue adequately.

Artemenko attributed his and Little's victory to "just plain hard work for three solid weeks."

ARTEMENKO AND Little teamed together in the election though they had not known each other previously. They sent handbills to Elk Grove Village residents and, on Tuesday, distributed another handbill throughout the district outlining what they believed would happen if the merger became a reality. They attended coffee gatherings and talked to any group who would hear them.

Considering telephoning people to vote would not be effective enough, Artemenko and Little had one person in each block of the High Ridge Knolls precinct promise to knock on doors between noon and 7 p.m. asking people to vote for them. Both men also handed out sample ballots at the Des Plaines schools and provided literature on their position on the merger.

The realization of the voter strength in Des Plaines spurred a get-out-the vote campaign in Elk Grove Village in the last hours of the election.

A TOTAL OF 1,656 people voted in the District 59 election. Of the total of 3,312 votes cast, 1,183 were cast at High Ridge Knolls, more than double the 462 votes cast at Ridge School Precinct, the heart of Bernstein's strength. Ridge and Clearmont schools produced second and third voter strength.

The defeat of Bernstein came as a surprise to the other candidates who considered the incumbent had an advantage. "He's a shoe-in," one of the candidates commented prior to the election. They considered Bernstein generally popular and his unpopular stand on the merger issue not enough to affect his chances for re-election.

However, none of the candidates except Artemenko and Little worked and organized their campaigns. The others depended on a small group of friends to solicit votes for them. Each candidate acknowledged he would have to overcome the general public apathy and the added disinterest on the day before Easter when people would be making holiday plans.

THE HIGH RIDGE Knolls Precinct first showed its voter muscle in an election in 1963 when it put two Des Plaines candidates, Jackie Hofer and Joseph Schefter, on the school board. The voter turnout that year was 1,597. Last year in an over-all voter turnout of 1,464, the precinct failed to maintain its high voter turnout. This year it doubled the number of voters.

Artemenko and Little received help from a Des Plaines aldermen, Edward Schillington, who has run successfully in two political campaigns.

Little had helped Shillington in his first bid for office and re-election. Shillington returned the assistance when Little ran unsuccessfully for the Mount Prospect Park District board and again in the school race. Artemenko benefited from that help when he joined Little. Both felt they'd be stronger running together.

As board members neither Artemenko nor Little considers himself beholden to Shillington for his help.

Robert Loeffler, considered a professional politician from that Des Plaines area kept out of this school board race. In 1963 he played a key role in the campaign promoting the Des Plaines candidates.

PRECINCTS AND the votes for the candidates are: Precinct 1, Clearmont School David Crail, 88 votes; Artemenko, 45 votes; Little, 38 votes; C. Elmo Hilderbrand, 132 votes and Bernstein, 125 votes. Precinct 2, Rupley School Crail, 95 votes; Artemenko, 35 votes; Little, 28 votes; Hilderbrand, 82 votes and Bernstein, 98 votes. Precinct 3, High Ridge Knolls Crail, 45 votes, Artemenko 556 votes; Little, 561 votes, Hilderbrand, 11 votes, and Bernstein, 10 votes. Precinct 4, Ridge School — Crail, 146 votes; Artemenko, 42 votes; Little, 32 votes; Hilderbrand, 53 votes and Bernstein, 189 votes. 2 Chances Remain for Registration

Voters in Wheeling Township will have two more opportunities to register locally before the June 14 primary elections.

Registration may be completed on May 2 and 3, and most local registrars will have special office hours in addition to regular daytime hours.

The Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Wheeling Township clerks' offices will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. both May 2 and 3. The Wheeling village clerk will have no special night hours May 2 but will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on May 3.

According to Arlington Village Clerk Jeanne Novotny, voters may register any week day and Saturday mornings at the county clerk's office in Chicago. (ACM

$22,116 Library Allotment To Public, Private Schools

Libraries in public and private elementary schools of Arlington Heights will be $22,116 richer as a result of action taken Monday by the District 25 School Board.

The board approved application for that amount through the office of the state superintendent of public instruction. The money is available under Title II of the U.S. Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Supt. R. E. Clabaugh told the board the funds are a direct allotment and that no matching funds from the district are necessary. Basis of the allotment is $1.50 per student as of last Oct. 1 in both public and pri-private schools in the district.

THE MATERIALS must be available for use by private schools, and Clabaugh said their share of the materials would be "loaned to the private schools on a more or less permanent basis."

The public schools' share, $17,270, he indicated, would be used mostly to stock libraries in schools which have had unusual enrollment growth.

In addition, the superintendent reported the district film library purchases "have not kept up with enrollment" and some of the funds will be used to enlarge the film library.

CLABAUGH noted the direct allocation of funds for library purposes under Title II differs from other federally financed programs the district is involved in.

District 25 has a tutorial program mainly for Spanish-speaking children, related to the War on Poverty and financed under Title I of the act. It has applied for, but received no word on, funds for an experimental diagnostic learning program under Title III.

Board member Theodore Seiler asked Clabaugh what would happen to the funds if the district did not apply for the. Clabaugh said they presumably would not go into education since every district has an automatic allotment.

Seiler, who has opposed participation by the district in some federal aid programs, moved for approval of the application. The board's vote was unanimous. (A

School Board Pres. Bernstein Ousted in District 59 Ballot

The Des Plaines area of Elk Grove District 59 showed its voter muscle Saturday by dumping incumbent school board president A. M. (Bud) Bernstein and electing its two candidates to the school board.

Elected to the board for three-year terms were newcomers Gene Artemenko, 38, of 431 Miller Road, Des Plaines, with 975 votes, and Wayne Little, 33, of 745 W. Ambleside Road, Des Plaines, with 970 votes.

INCUMBENT Bernstein of 332 Charing Cross Rd., Elk Grove Village, led the race in all the Elk Grove Village precincts. This lead was overcome when the High Ridge Knolls precinct, the last one to report. gave its overwhelming total to Artemenko and Little. Bernstein received a 530 vote total.

David Crail, 546 Landmeier Rd., Elk Grove Village, was fourth with 479 votes and C. Elmo Hilderbrand was last with 358 votes.

"They ran a better campaign," Bernstein observed Monday after his defeat. "They came out and talked to the voters."

Bernstein provided Artemenko Berstein provided Artemenko and Little with a campaign issue they exploited—the question of merger of District 59 with Schaumburg School District 54.

Bernstein refused for political expediency to change his position or delay the board's discussion of the merger issue.

ARTEMENKO AND Little campaigned against the merger and pledged the final decision would be determined by the voters in a referendum.

Bernstein's viewpoint was that the facts were not all in, the question should be explored fully to assess its merits, and a public hearing would be held before the board of seven made a decision. He believed the school boards and the Cook County Board of School Trustees could decide the issue adequately.

Artemenko attributed his and Little's victory to "just plain hard work for three solid weeks."

ARTEMENKO AND Little teamed together in the election though they had not known each other previously. They sent handbills to Elk Grove Village residents and, on Tuesday, distributed another handbill throughout the district outlining what they believed would happen if the merger became a reality. They attended coffee gatherings and talked to any group who would hear them.

Considering telephoning people to vote would not be effective enough, Artemenko and Little had one person in each block of the High Ridge Knolls precinct promise to knock on doors between noon and 7 p.m. asking people to vote for them. Both men also handed out sample ballots at the Des Plaines schools and provided literature on their position on the merger.

The realization of the voter strength in Des Plaines spurred a get-out-the vote campaign in Elk Grove Village in the last hours of the election.

A TOTAL OF 1,656 people voted in the District 59 election. Of the total of 3,312 votes cast, 1,183 were cast at High Ridge Knolls, more than double the 462 votes cast at Ridge School Precinct, the heart of Bernstein's strength. Ridge and Clearmont schools produced second and third voter strength.

The defeat of Bernstein came as a surprise to the other candidates who considered the incumbent had an advantage. "He's a shoe-in," one of the candidates commented prior to the election. They considered Bernstein generally popular and his unpopular stand on the merger issue not enough to affect his chances for re-election.

However, none of the candidates except Artemenko and Little worked and organized their campaigns. The others depended on a small group of friends to solicit votes for them. Each candidate acknowledged he would have to overcome the general public apathy and the added disinterest on the day before Easter when people would be making holiday plans.

THE HIGH RIDGE Knolls Precinct first showed its voter muscle in an election in 1963 when it put two Des Plaines candidates, Jackie Hofer and Joseph Schefter, on the school board. The voter turnout that year was 1,597. Last year in an over-all voter turnout of 1,464, the precinct failed to maintain its high voter turnout. This year it doubled the number of voters.

Artemenko and Little received help from a Des Plaines aldermen, Edward Schillington, who has run successfully in two political campaigns.

Little had helped Shillington in his first bid for office and re-election. Shillington returned the assistance when Little ran unsuccessfully for the Mount Prospect Park District board and again in the school race. Artemenko benefited from that help when he joined Little. Both felt they'd be stronger running together.

As board members neither Artemenko nor Little considers himself beholden to Shillington for his help.

Robert Loeffler, considered a professional politician from that Des Plaines area kept out of this school board race. In 1963 he played a key role in the campaign promoting the Des Plaines candidates.

PRECINCTS AND the votes for the candidates are: Precinct 1, Clearmont School David Crail, 88 votes; Artemenko, 45 votes; Little, 38 votes; C. Elmo Hilderbrand, 132 votes and Bernstein, 125 votes. Precinct 2, Rupley School Crail, 95 votes; Artemenko, 35 votes; Little, 28 votes; Hilderbrand, 82 votes and Bernstein, 98 votes. Precinct 3, High Ridge Knolls Crail, 45 votes, Artemenko 556 votes; Little, 561 votes, Hilderbrand, 11 votes, and Bernstein, 10 votes. Precinct 4, Ridge School — Crail, 146 votes; Artemenko, 42 votes; Little, 32 votes; Hilderbrand, 53 votes and Bernstein, 189 votes. Precinct 5, Devonshire School — Crail, 10 votes; Artemenko, 131 votes; Little, 133 votes; Hilderbrand, 4 votes and Bernstein, 4 votes. Precinct 6, Forest View Elementary School — Crail, 11 votes; Artemenko, 57 votes; Little, 58 votes; Hilderbrand, 12 votes and Bernstein, 7 votes. Precinct 7, Forest View High School — Crail, 18 votes; Artemenko, 2 votes; Little, 5 votes; Hilderbrand, 5 votes and Bernstein, 14 votes. Precinct 8, Salt Creek School — Crail, 55 votes; Artemenko, 22 votes; Little, 18 votes; Hilderbrand, 47 votes and Bernstein, 69 votes. Precinct 9 — Robert Frost School, Crail, 11 votes; Artemenko, 85 votes; Little 97 votes; Hilderbrand, 12 votes and Bernstein, 14 votes.

Greatest Events In American History—No. 15

KEY WATCHES OUR "BROAD STRIPES AND BRIGHT STARS" PROUDLY WAVING

There are two facts about "The Star Spangled Banner" most people don't know.

First, oddly enough, it did not become our national anthem until 1931! Congress didn't designate it as our official anthem till then.

And, secondly, Francis Scott Key did not write the music. The tune is from an old song "To Anacreon In Heaven".

But Key did write the words, and they are among the most stirring ever written by any man anywhere.

On the night of Sept. 13, 1814, Key, who was then a 35-year old lawyer, watched the British bombard Fort McHenry, Baltimore; at dawn on the 14th he saw our flag was still waving and wrote "The Star Spangled Banner" as a tribute to that flag, and to our country, our triumphs and our determination to keep succeeding as a great nation.

News of Kildeer Countryside

by Emma Keiler

The $400,000 Kildeer School bond referendum "made it" in Saturday's election by 16 votes. Balloting 182 votes for the bond issue and 166 against, the slight margin of voters, nevertheless authorizes the board of education to build and equip the proposed addition, to be completed by the beginning of the 1967 school year.

To temporarily take the load from the overcrowded classrooms, two mobile rooms are to be used, according to plans of President Fred French and members of the Kildeer Board of Education. Incumbents Ray Miller and Art Edmunds came in for another term, Saturday's voters giving Miller 306 and Edmunds 309 votes.

Long Grove's three candidates for the Stevenson High School board came in: William Salzman, 553 votes; Heinz Loeffler, 431 and Robert Anderson, 426. Other winners were Bud Schmidt of Half Day, 511, and Mrs. Travis Nelson of Lincolnshire, 459.

Working at the polls were Mrs. Douglas MacDonald, Mrs. Harold Turner and Mrs. James Schlesser for the Kildeer election and Mrs. Everett Lewis, Mrs. Tom Hoyne and Mrs. Willard Fournier who oversaw the Stevenson balloting.

PRES. MRS. Robert Loudon Sr. and her Women's Guild executive board met April 4 at the home of Mrs. Emil Geest to wind up plans for the last quarter of the year. Members attending the May circle meetings will elect a vice president and secretary. Plans were made to hold a party for senior citizens at Maple Hill on April 21.

Local guild members have been invited to Barrington May 5, to be guests of the women of St. Paul United Church of Christ at a dessert luncheon. Speaker will be Miss Mary Dewai, a nurse recently returned from Rhodesia. Call Louise with reservations.

While listening to the radio, if the voice that suddenly comes through sounds like that of Mrs. Arthur Reimer, it could well be. Among other Lake County cancer crusade area chairmen, Gertrude was recently called to do a 30-second tape for the Highland Park station.

Making arrangements with this area's cancer education chairman, Mrs. Emil Geest, Kildeer Community Club will present two films on April 18 at 1:30 in the school all purpose room. One will deal with smoking, the other on methods of early detection for women. Mrs. William Salzman promises the entire presentation will last no more than an hour.

The early crocus is no sooner out of the ground than our Youth Fellowship members are one jump ahead, talking about this summer's possibility of going to a church camp.

MEMBERS OF the Religious Great Books discussion group will meet Saturday evening at the Andrew Sim and the Richard Ireland homes. Mrs. David Edmunds and Lee Massey will be leaders.

Community Club Pres. Mrs. Stewart Richmond has named the following to serve on the nominating committee: Mrs. Towner, Mrs. Herbert Collyer, Mrs. David McCartney and Mrs. Robert Riley. The group will meet April 19 at Marilyn Collyer's home to prepare for presentation of a slate at the May meeting.

Ask Mrs. Harold Turner about signs of spring and she'll tell you the Turner and Reed Woods are surging with life. So far Mrs. Fred French and Mrs. Hal Wilder have been joining in on bird walks. They report having seen fox sparrows, song sparrows, cedar wax wings, wood ducks, blue herons, kinglets and wood cocks, an early robin has been seen building a nest and the gold finches, we're told, are in process of receiving the bright yellow hues in their coats. Has your interest for the outdoors been whetted? You're invited to join Barbara in one of her Tuesday morning nature walks. Be there by 8:30.

TEN WEEKS among the saguaros of Arizona made the winter fly by on wings for Mrs. Lenora Stoerp, returning April 6 with Mrs. Gladys McCarthey of Gurnee, Mrs. Kate Worts of McHenry and Mrs. Ruth Boehm of Waukegan. While in Phoenix, just before taking off for home, they were riding around in an air conditioned car, since it was 93 degrees.

Important points visited included a nine-mile mountainous ride into the Saguaro National Monument, a trip over nine narrow bridges into the Sabena Canyon, a visit to the desert museum and a look at Old Tucson, where western thrillers are still made. One day was spent in Nogales, Mexico, where the houses make stepping stones up the mountains; another day they marveled at the sculpture works of the "Garden of Gethsemane," carved along the river in Tucson. They visited San Xavier, an Indian mission, and another adventure included another adventure included driving 60 miles west of Tuscon to Kitt Peak. At the end of a 12 mile winding road, they spread out their picnic baskets on the snow and took a look at the world's largest telescope, 84 inches in diameter.

AMONG FRIENDS visited were Mrs. Frank Holtje, formerly of Arlington Heights, the Walter Seilers, one time Deerfield residents, and the Gilbert Goodmans of Prairie View, all of whom now make their homes in Phoenix. In Sun City they stopped to visit with Arthur Blanchard, the brother of Mrs. Edith Weaver of Lake Zurich.

Speaking of Easter egg hunts, we wonder who had the most fun at the James Dugans'—the Dugans, who hid the dozens of many colored Easter eggs, or the children and their parents who took part in the outdoor chase on Easter morning? Believing in "the more the merrier" idea, the Dugans invited friends from Chicago, Madison and Wilmette to share in the excitement. Adding incentive to the quest was the nickel rewards paid for every crimson egg. Also sharing the activity was Pat's father, Elmer Ristau of Chicago.

To have arrived at the 94 year mark was indeed cause for a family birthday party held April 8 at the Ed Wachs home. The honoree is Mrs. Clara Hamilton, Connie's mother, who spent the evening reminiscing among her four daughters and one son.

Among other news coming from the Wachses is that their son, Charlie, will enter the service in May.

FROM GUIDANCE Counselor David McCartney comes word he has withdrawn his request for a sabbatical leave during the 1966-67 school year to complete his doctorate at the University of Kentucky. Because of certain family situations, Dave now feels it would be disadvantageous timing to take the sabbatical now. He plans, however, to request that his sabbatical be granted two years hence.

Members of the newly created board of the Long Grove Committee for Family Guidance met April 4 at the Milton Wingquist home. Plans were begun for a spring dinner dance. Bert Collyer was named the organization's finance chairman and Mrs. Anton Berg, publicity head. News is soon to be released regarding a local workshop sponsored in conjunction with the Highland Park headquarters.

The Stewart Richmonds and the Tony Bergs watched the Blackhawks win over Boston in a recent hockey game they shared as a tension relaxer.

From former Long Grover Elizabeth Buck at Monticallo College comes news that she was one of five who recently appeared in an intricate figure swimming routine. The Bucks are settling down in their home in the Swedish village of Lindstrom, Minn.

WHEN THE Carl Pottses' two parakeets make a commotion at the telephone, you can be certain Mrs. Potts is in the midst of a call from their son, Don, stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga. Don is serving as a demonstrator at a military police school of instruction. Evenings have been relaxing, since he's been assigned to running a film projector to show movies at the base.

Don's brother, Henry, is also in service. Having completed a course of training at Brooks Hospital, Ft. Sam Houston, he is on duty with the 30th Medical Corps at Ludwigsburg, Germany. Using his camera, he keeps his parents and close friends informed of scenes in that part of the world.

On Easter, the Carl Pottses were dinner guests of Mrs. Mary Hartmann and son, Frank, in Elburn, the occasion also being a birthday celebration for Mollie Potts. The families were former neighbors.

When Andy Sim Jr. and his sister and family, the Elmo Hinrichs, came home for Easter, there was a new tail a-wagging under the kitchen table. Newcomer is "Lady," a collie pup who found no trouble "warming up" to Andy, enjoying a breather from his duties as history instructor at Plymmouth College. The Hinrichs drove here from their home in Bartonville, near Peoria.

THE TONY Bergs' nephew, Douglas Elliott, a physics teacher at Knox, shared the Easter holiday with them, his parents, the Norman Elliotts of Mount Prospect and Susan also being guests.

As usual, the festive dining table at the Marshall Greens' was extended to its fullest, Joan's aunt, Kay Hogan of Chicaog, and Tommy Buhl from next door sharing the family togetherness. Richard, an instructor at Libertyville's Oak Grove School, who has been making his home with Agate Martin, shared the day. His brother Thomas is a freshman at Dominican College in Racine.

Sharing Easter activity at the William Hahnfeldts' and enjoying their new daughter, Amy's introduction to the Easter rabbit, were their guests from Chicago, Noie's mother, Mrs. Mae Morgan, and a sister, Mrs. Bonnie Haynes and children.

The William Ernstings and Mrs. Leonora Stoerp drove to Elmhurst to be Easter supper guests of friends, the Henry Vosses.

Making a recent visit at the Arthur Potts home was former Long Grover, Mrs. Olga Nordstrom who is convalescing after an operation.

MAKING IT A holiday dinner occasion at the William Hoebels' were Cathy and her husband, the Phil Bains of Mundelein. Cathy teaches at the Thomas Jefferson School in Mundelein and Phil at the Rockland School in Libertyville.

Friends were shocked to learn of the recent death of a former local resident James Borre, who died of a cerebral hemorrhage. At present the family is living in Fox River Grove.

Happy birthday wishes go to Margaret Riley, April 18.

Those who drove past Kildeer School on Monday of last week, between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m., could have told you instinctively, even without looking up, there was "something in the air." More than 40 kites, some handmade, sailed over the school grounds, each one guided by a fifth or sixth grader. Instructor John Mason shared the excitement. To Craig Massey went the honors for flying his the highest. To everyone went the exhilarated joy of Kildeer's kite flying day. We hear it's going to be an annual event—

Wheels, Tires Taken from Car

Three wheels and tires were stolen from a car owned by Lee Geisser of 1501 Cottonwood Lane early Sunday morning.

A neighbor, Robert Johnson, of 1409 Cottonwood, told police four subjects fled from the scene when he went outside to investigate a noise. Johnson said two subjects ran south across a field, and two others drove away in a car parked nearby.

Driver Charged

Stanley P. Szafran, 22, of 616 Main St., Mount Prospect, will appear in court May 26 on a charge of driving on a suspended license. He was arrested last Friday night when police saw him driving a car at Williams Street and Busse Avenue in the village.

$400,000 School Bond Issue Carries by Only 16 Votes

News of Kildeer Countryside

by Emma Keiler

The $400,000 Kildeer School bond referendum "made it" in Saturday's election by 16 votes. Balloting 182 votes for the bond issue and 166 against, the slight margin of voters, nevertheless authorizes the board of education to build and equip the proposed addition, to be completed by the beginning of the 1967 school year.

To temporarily take the load from the overcrowded classrooms, two mobile rooms are to be used, according to plans of President Fred French and members of the Kildeer Board of Education. Incumbents Ray Miller and Art Edmunds came in for another term, Saturday's voters giving Miller 306 and Edmunds 309 votes.

Long Grove's three candidates for the Stevenson High School board came in: William Salzman, 553 votes; Heinz Loeffler, 431 and Robert Anderson, 426. Other winners were Bud Schmidt of Half Day, 511, and Mrs. Travis Nelson of Lincolnshire, 459.

Working at the polls were Mrs. Douglas MacDonald, Mrs. Harold Turner and Mrs. James Schlesser for the Kildeer election and Mrs. Everett Lewis, Mrs. Tom Hoyne and Mrs. Willard Fournier who oversaw the Stevenson balloting.

PRES. MRS. Robert Loudon Sr. and her Women's Guild executive board met April 4 at the home of Mrs. Emil Geest to wind up plans for the last quarter of the year. Members attending the May circle meetings will elect a vice president and secretary. Plans were made to hold a party for senior citizens at Maple Hill on April 21.

Local guild members have been invited to Barrington May 5, to be guests of the women of St. Paul United Church of Christ at a dessert luncheon. Speaker will be Miss Mary Dewai, a nurse recently returned from Rhodesia. Call Louise with reservations.

While listening to the radio, if the voice that suddenly comes through sounds like that of Mrs. Arthur Reimer, it could well be. Among other Lake County cancer crusade area chairmen, Gertrude was recently called to do a 30-second tape for the Highland Park station.

Making arrangements with this area's cancer education chairman, Mrs. Emil Geest, Kildeer Community Club will present two films on April 18 at 1:30 in the school all purpose room. One will deal with smoking, the other on methods of early detection for women. Mrs. William Salzman promises the entire presentation will last no more than an hour.

The early crocus is no sooner out of the ground than our Youth Fellowship members are one jump ahead, talking about this summer's possibility of going to a church camp.

MEMBERS OF the Religious Great Books discussion group will meet Saturday evening at the Andrew Sim and the Richard Ireland homes. Mrs. David Edmunds and Lee Massey will be leaders.

Community Club Pres. Mrs. Stewart Richmond has named the following to serve on the nominating committee: Mrs. Towner, Mrs. Herbert Collyer, Mrs. David McCartney and Mrs. Robert Riley. The group will meet April 19 at Marilyn Collyer's home to prepare for presentation of a slate at the May meeting.

Ask Mrs. Harold Turner about signs of spring and she'll tell you the Turner and Reed Woods are surging with life. So far Mrs. Fred French and Mrs. Hal Wilder have been joining in on bird walks. They report having seen fox sparrows, song sparrows, cedar wax wings, wood ducks, blue herons, kinglets and wood cocks, an early robin has been seen building a nest and the gold finches, we're told, are in process of receiving the bright yellow hues in their coats. Has your interest for the outdoors been whetted? You're invited to join Barbara in one of her Tuesday morning nature walks. Be there by 8:30.

TEN WEEKS among the saguaros of Arizona made the winter fly by on wings for Mrs. Lenora Stoerp, returning April 6 with Mrs. Gladys McCarthey of Gurnee, Mrs. Kate Worts of McHenry and Mrs. Ruth Boehm of Waukegan. While in Phoenix, just before taking off for home, they were riding around in an air conditioned car, since it was 93 degrees.

Important points visited included a nine-mile mountainous ride into the Saguaro National Monument, a trip over nine narrow bridges into the Sabena Canyon, a visit to the desert museum and a look at Old Tucson, where western thrillers are still made. One day was spent in Nogales, Mexico, where the houses make stepping stones up the mountains; another day they marveled at the sculpture works of the "Garden of Gethsemane," carved along the river in Tucson. They visited San Xavier, an Indian mission, and another adventure included another adventure included driving 60 miles west of Tuscon to Kitt Peak. At the end of a 12 mile winding road, they spread out their picnic baskets on the snow and took a look at the world's largest telescope, 84 inches in diameter.

AMONG FRIENDS visited were Mrs. Frank Holtje, formerly of Arlington Heights, the Walter Seilers, one time Deerfield residents, and the Gilbert Goodmans of Prairie View, all of whom now make their homes in Phoenix. In Sun City they stopped to visit with Arthur Blanchard, the brother of Mrs. Edith Weaver of Lake Zurich.

Speaking of Easter egg hunts, we wonder who had the most fun at the James Dugans'—the Dugans, who hid the dozens of many colored Easter eggs, or the children and their parents who took part in the outdoor chase on Easter morning? Believing in "the more the merrier" idea, the Dugans invited friends from Chicago, Madison and Wilmette to share in the excitement. Adding incentive to the quest was the nickel rewards paid for every crimson egg. Also sharing the activity was Pat's father, Elmer Ristau of Chicago.

To have arrived at the 94 year mark was indeed cause for a family birthday party held April 8 at the Ed Wachs home. The honoree is Mrs. Clara Hamilton, Connie's mother, who spent the evening reminiscing among her four daughters and one son.

Among other news coming from the Wachses is that their son, Charlie, will enter the service in May.

FROM GUIDANCE Counselor David McCartney comes word he has withdrawn his request for a sabbatical leave during the 1966-67 school year to complete his doctorate at the University of Kentucky. Because of certain family situations, Dave now feels it would be disadvantageous timing to take the sabbatical now. He plans, however, to request that his sabbatical be granted two years hence.

KEY WATCHES OUR "BROAD STRIPES AND BRIGHT STARS" PROUDLY WAVING

There are two facts about "The Star Spangled Banner" most people don't know.

First, oddly enough, it did not become our national anthem until 1931! Congress didn't designate it as our official anthem till then.

And, secondly, Francis Scott Key did not write the music. The tune is from an old song "To Anacreon In Heaven".

But Key did write the words, and they are among the most stirring ever written by any man anywhere.

On the night of Sept. 13, 1814, Key, who was then a 35-year old lawyer, watched the British bombard Fort McHenry, Baltimore; at dawn on the 14th he saw our flag was still waving and wrote "The Star Spangled Banner" as a tribute to that flag, and to our country, our triumphs and our determination to keep succeeding as a great nation.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS

BY LINDA NORRIS

The music of Georg Philipp Telemann, Bach's greatest rival, is currently enjoying a vogue of "rediscovery" and Angel helps further that cause with its release of the album, Telemann: Suite in C ("Hamburg Ebb and Flow") Concerto in B Flat for 3 Oboes, 3 Violins and Continuo and Oboe Concerto in F Minor . . . The Suite (or overture, if you prefer), in C is also called Telemann's Water Music and is witty and descriptive in style . . . All three works are performed by the Moscow Chamber Orchestra and Rudolf Barshai, who also collaborated for Angel on the Concerto for Double String Orchestra by Tippett and Prokofiev's Visions Fugitives.

Though harpists usually find themselves buried in the anonymity of a large group of orchestra members, every so often one of them leaves that state of confinement to make a name for himself . . . Such is the case with Annie Challan, who, though still in her mid-twenties, is not only solo harpist of the Paris Opera, but is also a concert artist of considerable fame in Europe . . . In French Music for the Harp, Miss Challen makes her debut recording for Angel and performs some of the best music composed for this beautiful and versatile instrument in our century.

Included are Debussy's Danses sacree et profane, Ravel's Introduction and Allegro, Faure's Impromptu, Op. 86 and Pierne's Concertstuck for Harp and Orchestra.

TWO GAMES EACH WEEK

Consult your RED Cards thru April 16 for BOTH GAMES — Once for April 10 SUNDAY SUBURBANITE Game, then the New Set of Numbers for the PADDOCK THURSDAY Game.

Get your GRAY CARDS for this week's games from sponsoring merchants starting April 17.

THESE BUGS MAY WIN YOU

$200.00

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS

Each week pick up your Free Bingo Cards from any of the sponsors (adults only, please). Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish. The more cards you play the better your chances of winning!

HOW TO PLAY

To play, merely check the ads in the Sunday Suburbanite on Sunday, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. Different set of numbers each Sunday and each Thursday means two different games with the same card. Many ads contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the Bingo Bug (shown above). Other numbers, most of them in this symbol, will be scattered throughout the paper. On the want ad pages the numbers will be included in special type with the notation of "Newspaper Bingo Bug Sez." If you can match all 24 numbers on any one of your Bingo cards (see example of a winning card) with those appearing in either the Sunday Suburbanite, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications (but not both), you have a "Bingo" and you are a winner.

$100 WEEKLY!!

Winners will share a weekly cash prize of $100. If there is only one winner, he gets all $100. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share equally. If there are no winners any week, the $100 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund!

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER

Each Sunday Suburbanite game is complete within one issue of the Sunday Suburbanite; each Paddock Thursday game is complete within one issue of the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. You cannot use numbers from both issues for the same game. A new set of numbers will appear in the Sunday Suburbanite each Sunday, plus another new set of numbers in the Paddock Thursday editions. A new color Bingo card will be available each week at the participating stores. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week's games. The color card for each week's games will be announced each week in the newspaper.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER . . .

If you nave a winning Bingo Card, all 24 numbers of which appear in either the Sunday Suburbanite or your Thursday edition of Paddock Publications, write your name, address, phone number and from which store you procured the card on the back, and drop in the mail to Paddock office. Envelope must be postmarked by Friday of that week; or bring your card in to the office of Paddock Publications at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights by 9 a.m. of the following Monday morning.

RULES OF THE GAME:

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY

There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at office of Paddock Publications as well as public libraries and at sponsors' stores. You can play as many cards as you wish — they're free. Get additional cards, one at a time, from the friendly sponsors listed below. (Adults only, please.)

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week. Mutilated cards will not be honored. All 24 numbers must be covered to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a Bingo Number cage at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Some duplication of Bingo Numbers may exist in certain sponsors' ads due to a newspaper production problem. This duplication in No Way affects the total number of Bingo numbers drawn. All numbers Drawn at Random from our Bingo Cage Appear Somewhere In Each Issue Of the Newspapers.

Employees of Paddock Publications and their families are not eligible to win any cash prizes.

Sunday Suburbanite

TWO GAMES EACH WEEK

Consult your RED Cards thru April 16 for BOTH GAMES — Once for April 10 SUNDAY SUBURBANITE Game, then the New Set of Numbers for the PADDOCK THURSDAY Game.

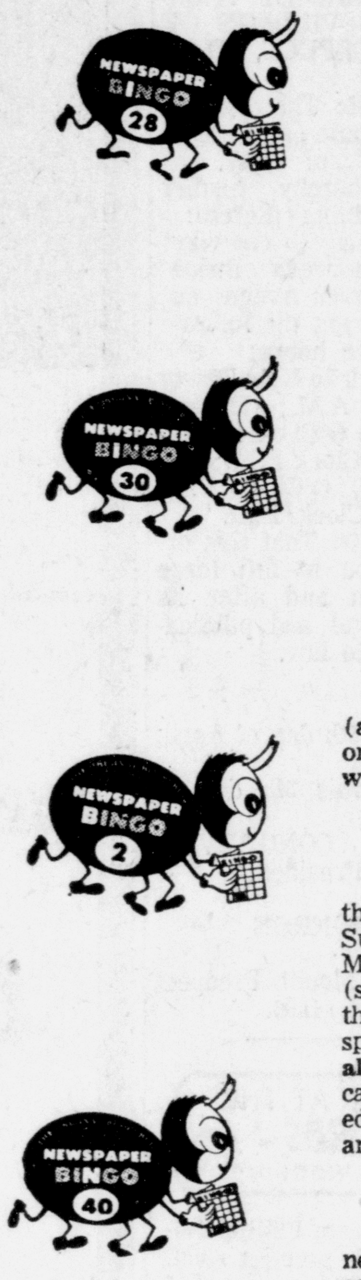
Get your GRAY CARDS for this week's games from sponsoring merchants starting April 17.



THESE BUGS MAY WIN YOU

$200.00

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS

Each week pick up your Free Bingo Cards from any of the sponsors (adults only, please). Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish. The more cards you play the better your chances of winning!

HOW TO PLAY

To play, merely check the ads in the Sunday Suburbanite on Sunday, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. Different set of numbers each Sunday and each Thursday means two different games with the same card. Many ads contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the Bingo Bug (shown above). Other numbers, most of them in this symbol, will be scattered throughout the paper. On the want ad pages the numbers will be included in special type with the notation of "Newspaper Bingo Bug Sez." If you can match all 24 numbers on any one of your Bingo cards (see example of a winning card) with those appearing in either the Sunday Suburbanite, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications (but not both), you have a "Bingo" and you are a winner.

$100 WEEKLY!!

Winners will share a weekly cash prize of $100. If there is only one winner, he gets all $100. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share equally. If there are no winners any week, the $100 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund!

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER

Each Sunday Suburbanite game is complete within one issue of the Sunday Suburbanite; each Paddock Thursday game is complete within one issue of the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. You cannot use numbers from both issues for the same game. A new set of numbers will appear in the Sunday Suburbanite each Sunday, plus another new set of numbers in the Paddock Thursday editions. A new color Bingo card will be available each week at the participating stores. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week's games. The color card for each week's games will be announced each week in the newspaper.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER . . .

If you nave a winning Bingo Card, all 24 numbers of which appear in either the Sunday Suburbanite or your Thursday edition of Paddock Publications, write your name, address, phone number and from which store you procured the card on the back, and drop in the mail to Paddock office. Envelope must be postmarked by Friday of that week; or bring your card in to the office of Paddock Publications at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights by 9 a.m. of the following Monday morning.

RULES OF THE GAME:

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY

There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at office of Paddock Publications as well as public libraries and at sponsors' stores. You can play as many cards as you wish — they're free. Get additional cards, one at a time, from the friendly sponsors listed below. (Adults only, please.)

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week. Mutilated cards will not be honored. All 24 numbers must be covered to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a Bingo Number cage at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Some duplication of Bingo Numbers may exist in certain sponsors' ads due to a newspaper production problem. This duplication in No Way affects the total number of Bingo numbers drawn. All numbers Drawn at Random from our Bingo Cage Appear Somewhere In Each Issue Of the Newspapers.

Employees of Paddock Publications and their families are not eligible to win any cash prizes.

News of North Wheeling

The Bocks, John, Pat, Jeff, Mike and Deanne, hit the Azalea Trail for a 10-day spring vacation. The trip was routed through the Smoky Mountains and Gatlinburg, Tenn., and the breathtaking heights of the Blue Ridge Parkway. A three-day stay in Charleston, S. C., was highlighted by a plantation tour with the profusion of azaleas, camellias and magnolias in full bloom. The comparative warmth of 65 degrees ruled out any ocean swimming, but did give the Wheelingites a breath of spring.

On the swing home, the Bocks reached the peak of Mount Airy, N. C., at night, providing the most dramatic scenery of the trip. An unforgettable sight was that of the acres and acres of burned out forest, completely gutted by the recent fires. In certain places, the travelers could see where the flames had jumped four lane concrete highways, swept by the high winds.

ON THE LAST lap, the Bocks stopped in Cleveland, for a three-day stay at the bachelor quarters of Pat's brother, James Barrett. A professor of sociology at the University of Cleveland, Mr. Barrett's schedule allowed him to squire the visitors around town and campus and to get better acquainted with his young nephews and niece.

Easter Monday found the group back at 78 Glendale, reunited with young Brian and Julie who had spent the holiday with grandparents, the Sidney Barretts of Chicago.

A barbecue extraordinary took place at the Joseph Vuich home, 291 S. Wheeling, on Easter. At 6 a.m., a 50 pound lamb was placed outside on an electric spit and roasted over charcoal for eight hours. The succulent dish was the entree of a family dinner for 35, at which newcomer Nancy Jean Vuich was formally introduced to her relatives by Joe, Ann and brother, Joey.

A weekend in Detroit was the holiday treat of the Mudrys, 281 S. Wheeling. Jack, Agnes and the seven children headed "home" on Friday morning and began a three-day whirlwind of visiting aunts, uncles and cousins. The family, divided between the homes of Jack's parents, the Nick Mudrys, and his brother, the junior Nick Mudrys, reconvened on Sunday for a family dinner at the home of his parents.

Cpl. Ralph Lively arrived at 88 Glendale on April 7 to begin a two-week leave with his parents, the Charles Livelys. The young marine recently was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action in Viet Nam. Although Ralph crossed the Pacific in a hospital ship, he returned to his regular base at El Toro, Calif. upon reaching the States. He then called from the coast, flew home on Holy Thursday and insured a very happy Easter for his family.

CEIL AND BERNARD Sharkey, 444 Strong, entertained daughter and family, Ann and Charles McGee and five children of Palatine. The Easter Bunny, aided by young Bernie, had secreted five baskets throughout the house, providing a built in egg hunt for the youngsters.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tynis Sr., Strong Avenue, welcomed their son, David, home on leave from Ft. Polk, La. At an Easter dinner party at the Swedish Glee Club in Waukegan, David and Miss Hollie Brydges announced their engagement. Hollie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brydges, 432 S. Wolf Road. At the termination of his leave, April 22, David will go to a new base at Huntsville, Ala.

Five April birthdays were celebrated on Sunday, when Mel and Myla Lange opened their 100 S. Wille home for a family Easter feast. The guests were the Glen Christs and the Henry Christs of Elgin, the Harvey Linnenkohls of Clinton, Wis., the Robert Finns of Carpentersville, the Buck Utpadels of Prospect Heights, the Dean Melvins and Mrs. Mary Utpadel of Wheeling. Birthdays celebrated were Glen Christ's on the 10th, Myla and Esther Linnenkohl's on the 13th (they're sisters, but not twins!), Buck Utpadel's, the 14th and his son, Norm. on the 19th.

SUNDAY WAS homecoming day for the Langes son, Tim, who was brought home by the Glen Christ's after a week's stay at their Elgin farm. It was a working vacation for the 13-year-old, who was up milking cows at 5 a.m. each day. After a full day's rest on Monday, Tom felt ready to cope with the more leisurely schedule of the school day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schwarz, 276 N. 10th, played host to their children and grandchildren on Easter. Gathered at their home were the Kenneth Bute family of Palatine and the Don Kasmun and Richard Schwarz families of Arlington Heights.

The title "Host and Hostess of the Year" must go to Keith and Pat Putnam, 183 7th. The latest influx of visitors began with the arrival of Keith's mother, Mrs. Ray Putnam, and his brother and family, Ray, Peg, Mike and Cindy, from Caro, Mich. Though the younger Putnams proceeded on to Missouri, Keith's mother was able to spend a week with them, to the delight of grandchildren, Jack and Beth. These visitors missed by one day seeing Pat's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Humm of Caro, who were guests the previous weekend, on their return trip from Phoenix.

SINCE KAREN Reiter's April 10 birthday coincided with Easter this year, she celebrated on Monday with a host of neighborhood friends. Karen, ... Jane, Pat and Tim Miller, Janet Horcher, Christine Kronthalen, Scott Messinger, Kathy Levandowski and Dennis, Elroy and Marlene Reiter joined the 7-year-old for an early afternoon party, with games directed by big sister, Linda. As proof of the party's success, the young guests went home to deposit their loot, change from party finery and returned to 182 7th for more group play until suppertime.

Four-year-old Keith Lee was joined by playmates, Frankie Atchison and Brian Bertrand, for a birthday luncheon on Saturday. That evening Keith shared the honors with his father, Jack, and brother, Kent, whose birthdays are April 8 and 16 respectively. They were feted by Mr. and Mrs. Vorpahl, Blue Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jessup of Villa Park at a dinner in the Lee's Edgewood Drive home.

Ginny Dickie, home for the holidays from Edgewood College, Madison, Wis., deserves an A-plus for good timing. When she came down with measles at school, she managed to miss a few days of classes, but was pronounced cured in time for Easter vacation. Ginny is the daughter of the Myrle Dickies, 172 7th.

ON SPRING vacation, just like one of the kids is Ruth Wieder, 116 S. Wille. By this week she had completed one course of school legislation, and another on medical self help. The PTA sponsored legislative course covered everything from Parliamentary procedure to state financing and laid the groundwork for the group's participation in the recent mock-convention in Rolling Meadows. Following the last class, and preceding the convention, Ruth and fellow students met socially for dinner at the Arlington Carousel.

For the medical self help series, Ruth was joined by Linda Tyser and nurses, Margie Lou Olson and Joan Pryby, of Forest View Drive, who were brushing up on their skills. These lessons, sponsored by the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Nurses and the Wheeling Juniors, are currently creating much interest. As a wind up, this group journeyed to Wheaton to observe the disaster communications system in operation there.

A third school orientated activity found Ruth serving as election judge for Saturday's school elections. Her long stint there made Sunday dinner at Grandma's an especially welcome treat. Ruth, Jim and their four offspring were the Easter guests of Mrs. Helen Wieder, Des Plaines.

Temperatures notwithstanding, the opening of the baseball season proves that spring is here! Sharing their young sons' enthusiasm for the national sport, Mary Garbus and Marge Nelson think of it with a capital B. They are just two of the ladies making arrangements for the Athletic Association Auxiliary's Base Ball, scheduled for April 23. (W

District 21 Applying For "Poverty" Funds

Fifty-six unknown "poverty-stricken" children who probably have graduated from high school; a slum school that isn't, plus a ream of forms and more forms qualify District 21 as a recipient of $10,266.26 in federal funds.

Norman Geske, curriculum director in the district, explained to the district board that the federal law provides a certain amount of money based on the number of poverty-stricken families in the area — those with an income of less than $3,000 a year.

"WE HAVE 56 poverty-stricken children," Geske reported. "Who they are, no one knows. The figure was worked out by the state based on the 1960 census. This means these youngsters are probably in college by now."

Having 56 such children means the district is eligible to receive the federal money. But though the amount was determined by the number of poor children, how the district spends the money is really up to them.

"There are restrictions," Geske continued. "First we cannot spend the money on a program for all the children — but rather on a number close to the magic 56. And then we have to designate one school as the poverty-slum school and administer the program there."

Geske said that the money, if granted would be spent on a special intensified reading program for 60 district youngsters, for four weeks during the summer.

SIX TEACHERS will be hired for $3,000 and the remainder of the grant will be used to buy books and equipment. The children will meet five days a week, 90 minutes a day.

"We had to pick a location," Geske said, that would serve as our 'poverty school.' We don't have one — but the government says we must. So we chose Whitman, because it is the logical place for a summer program."

Beske said that he was trying to work out an arrangement where the 60 most deserving children in the district would get the needed education. "Because this is a summer venture, there are no set enrollment areas. The government stipulates that the children must attend the selected school to qualify for the special education. Of course in the summer they do."

GESKE SAID that under the law all schools in the designated area can participate. That means some children from St. Joseph's would be chosen.

All equipment purchased for the program must remain at Whitman, Geske said. Originally, he had hoped to set up two touring reading wagons. The idea was rejected.

"Sure the law is kind of goofy — but if some children benefit who wouldn't otherwise, then I feel it is worthwhile," Geske said.

Some board members were confused, some angry, but in the end they agreed to apply for federal money. (W

District 21 Applying For "Poverty" Funds

Fifty-six unknown "poverty-stricken" children who probably have graduated from high school; a slum school that isn't, plus a ream of forms and more forms qualify District 21 as a recipient of $10,266.26 in federal funds.

Norman Geske, curriculum director in the district, explained to the district board that the federal law provides a certain amount of money based on the number of poverty-stricken families in the area — those with an income of less than $3,000 a year.

"WE HAVE 56 poverty-stricken children," Geske reported. "Who they are, no one knows. The figure was worked out by the state based on the 1960 census. This means these youngsters are probably in college by now."

Having 56 such children means the district is eligible to receive the federal money. But though the amount was determined by the number of poor children, how the district spends the money is really up to them.

"There are restrictions," Geske continued. "First we cannot spend the money on a program for all the children — but rather on a number close to the magic 56. And then we have to designate one school as the poverty-slum school and administer the program there."

Geske said that the money, if granted would be spent on a special intensified reading program for 60 district youngsters, for four weeks during the summer.

SIX TEACHERS will be hired for $3,000 and the remainder of the grant will be used to buy books and equipment. The children will meet five days a week, 90 minutes a day.

"We had to pick a location," Geske said, that would serve as our 'poverty school.' We don't have one — but the government says we must. So we chose Whitman, because it is the logical place for a summer program."

Beske said that he was trying to work out an arrangement where the 60 most deserving children in the district would get the needed education. "Because this is a summer venture, there are no set enrollment areas. The government stipulates that the children must attend the selected school to qualify for the special education. Of course in the summer they do."

GESKE SAID that under the law all schools in the designated area can participate. That means some children from St. Joseph's would be chosen.

All equipment purchased for the program must remain at Whitman, Geske said. Originally, he had hoped to set up two touring reading wagons. The idea was rejected.

"Sure the law is kind of goofy — but if some children benefit who wouldn't otherwise, then I feel it is worthwhile," Geske said.

Some board members were confused, some angry, but in the end they agreed to apply for federal money. (W

The Way We See It

The Key Word Is 'Planning'

The problem of what to do about apartments continues to pop up in new forms and different places as the wave of suburban growth rolls outward from the cities.

In recent weeks, Rolling Meadows and Palatine have become involved in discussion of the problem.

The concern of citizens and officials arises from a whirlwind of apartment proposals that has blown around both villages. In turn, the numerous proposals apparently result from easy financing which makes apartment building appear more profitable than single-family home construction.

Ald. Donald Winn of Rolling Meadows noted recently that his city had authorized 2,282 apartment units or 71 per cent of the 3,200 single-family homes in town.

Palatine Village Mgr. Robert Hollander recently submitted to trustees of that village a summary of proposed apartment developments, showing 4,057 units planned in eight separate projects either in the village or at its borders.

If occupied by an average of three persons per unit, these apartments would just about double the population of Palatine.

The familiar arguments are being offered for and against apartments. Proponents cite the need for achieving a "balanced community" by providing living quarters for retired people and for the personnel of hoped-for industrial plants.

Opponents are fearful that the "home-town" character of the community will be lost.

The two sides are apt to disagree on what impact apartments will have on school enrollments and the tax burden. Conflicting reports are cited. The truth is that apartment construction contains so many variables that no single result can be guaranteed. Location, the amount charged for rent, changing economic situations—all can change the number of school children coming from apartments.

What can villages do to cope with the problem?

The key word is planning.

Each municipality must decide how much and what kind of apartment construction at what locations will fit in with the character and "balance" and tax income it desires. Then it must tailor its building and zoning codes, its annexation policy, and its relations with the county to achieve the goal.

It is discouraging and dangerous for a village to be taken by surprise at apartment pressures. If village planning is adequate, this will not happen. Suburban municipal officials should examine their laws and policies to make sure they can maintain a firm grip on the reins and guide growth in the direction their citizens wish.

Tightening Up the Public Meeting Law

State Rep. Anthony Scariano of Park Forest is preparing strengthening amendments to the state's right-to-know law.

Most persons expected the law would do the job when it was passed a few years ago. It stated forthrightly that all deliberations of public bodies should be conducted openly, but that exceptions could (not must) be made on questions of hiring and firing, or buying and selling land.

Despite the plain language and even plainer intent of the act, some hair-splitting lawyers have encouraged evasion by public boards who prefer to conduct their business in private.

Among the devices used is the hasty calling of "special" meetings for which no public notice is (or can be) given.

Also, some attorneys have offered the tortured opinion that only the "aye" and "nay" votes constitute "deliberations" and all the discussion preceding them may be conducted in private.

In some cases, the definitions of hiring and firing and buying and selling have been stretched beyond reason.

Some boards have used the committee system for keeping their deliberations private, although it was the legislature's intent to include committees in its mandate.

The presumptions that a few officials know what is best for the rest of us and that "what the public doesn't know won't hurt it" are arrogant and inaccurate.

Rep. Scariano made a telling point when he noted there is no recollection of the legislature or any of its committees ever holding a secret session, although the law allows them to do so.

What is good enough for the parent body should be good enough for its "children."

Myopia Is Everywhere

by EUGENE NOJEK
Staff Writer

After my first six months working as a reporter, I am beginning to feel that my shakedown cruise is at an end. And in a backward glance, I smile benevolently at some of my preconceptions about newspapers that have since fallen.

Though tattered, they are still fresh in my mind, and I suppose that they roughly coincide with popular stereotypes.

First of these notions to go when I began my tenure was the belief that reporters have a talent for ferreting out the truth and that what they write can be taken substantially at face value.

NOTHING COULD be farther from the truth. My first big surprise was to find how distorted the news gets between an event and its presentation in print.

After months of grinding out distortions of my own, I learned that distortion is not due to insidious intent on the part of the reporter, but is a factor inherent in any attempt to describe a happening in an orderly and readable fashion.

Any news story I have seen appears a confusing jumble of facts. Presenting them in a simple and communicable fashion involves selecting the ones interpreted as most essential and rearranging them in order of decreasing importance.

This is distortion. It is distortion in that no matter how objective he be, a reporter is a human being who suffers from the myopia of seeing events through his own eyes.

Even the attempt to describe things through the eyes of another person like a police chief or village official by quoting him ends up in a distortion because the reporter ends up selecting the quotes he thinks most adequately express what that person is trying to say.

I HAVE BECOME content with the realization that I will go on distorting the news in the sense that it is seen through my own personal myopia and is described according to my interpretation of what is of interest to newspaper readers. There is no other way unless readers find a way to get the news themselves.

Some people complain privately and publicly that in such and such a news story the reporter has neglected to mention certain facts or has overly stressed other facts. These people suffer from myopia, just like myself.

The advantage a reporter has is that he is subjected to a variety of myopic views throughout the community. I have come to the conclusion that there are about 44,000 myopic views in Arlington Heights.

Some of these are more important than others because they belong to public luminaries. It is to these that I go most often for news, and I try to strike a balance between the different ones.

What bothers me is that some people will, as I once did, take the resulting distortion as truth.

A second mistaken notion of mine which did not last much longer than the first was that the newspaper is a vehicle against existing social evils and the reporter is a crusading agent. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

I've heard all kinds of impassioned appeals for newspaper crusades to change the mode of garbage pickup, expose alleged malpractices by home builders, make people shovel their sidewalks, make someone provide better taxi service, and so on.

THE FACT IS, we don't have a squad of reporters here waiting for a citizen to sound the alarm for them to go scurrying into an expose of existing wrongs.

And most appeals seem to come from one or a few individuals who wish the newspaper to take up their cause. For them the moment of truth comes when they are asked to promote their own cause by

1) Writing a letter stating their case to the Fence Post where, if it concerns the community, it will certainly be published, and,

2) Rally their forces and appear before the village board who are the appropriate agents for solving problems within the village. There they would certainly be before the eyes of the community.

In my six months here I don't recall any cases where such advice is heeded.

LWV Is Watching

By PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

"It's time well spent, we perform a community service and there's opportunity to use one's mind."

Mrs. Frank Moore succinctly summed up the reasons for her enthusiastic participation in the League of Women Voters. A League member for seven years, the attractive brunette homemaker and mother of three is currently president of the Arlington Heights LWV.

MRS. MOORE

ALREADY AN ardent Leaguer when she moved with her husband and family to Arlington Heights about three years ago from Buffalo, N. Y., Jane Moore immediately became involved in League activity in her new hometown. She served as publications chairman in 1963-64 and headed up the League's "Know Your Local Government" study in 1964-65 before taking over reins as president just a year ago. Her term of office has another year to run.

Mrs. Moore has performed in another function for the local LWV and is still doing so — as observer at meetings of the village plan commission, an area of government which first caught her interest in Buffalo.

"We had a local item of urban renewal on our agenda, and I learned through that study that the only way to get anywhere in slum clearance and conservation is through long range planning, so I already had this interest in planning when we moved here," she explained.

"I have great respect for the Arlington Heights Plan Commission which has realized the area's needs and the importance of long range planning to meet those needs."

As an observer, Mrs. Moore tries to attend plan commission sessions as regularly as possible. This has been somewhat difficult since she assumed the time-consuming office of president.

AS PRESIDENT, Mrs. Moore devotes a minimum of 16 hours a week on League business — meetings, telephoning, reading.

"I feel I must know all that's going on in every area of League work, and this involves a lot of reading."

Besides League materials, Mrs. Moore reads thoroughly two daily newspapers and the Arlington Heights Herald.

To carry on her League activities and still keep the household running smoothly and the family content requires organization, something Jane Moore admits it took her a few years to realize.

"Once I got the knack, everything worked out."

The family supports Mrs. Moore fully in her League work. They even give her a hand occasionally, the children running errands and delivering materials and husband Frank painting and lettering signs.

In what ways does she feel the community benefits from having a League of Women Voters?

First, voter service. The League president cites last year's candidate forums at which those seeking election to the newly-created junior college board of education appeared to speak and answer questions as one good example. Another was the distribution of voter registration information at the train stations.

Second, the League observers at governmental body meetings. Describing the League as a "watchdog," Mrs. Moore observed:

"I think all governmental bodies perform better when they know someone is watching them. They know we are a good friend if they're doing what they're supposed to be doing."

And third, information services of the League. Both League members and others are informed through its publications, its studies and its speakers bureau.

What does she view as immediate concerns at the local level? Planning and annexation. Within the coming decade? Water supply.

"We know we have a sufficient supply for about seven years, but if we are to obtain water from Lake Michigan to meet needs after that, it is necessary to decide within two or three years because of the time required to do the work."

Does the League itself face any problems?

Noting that while the majority of League members come from Arlington Heights, there are a large number from Mount Prospect and a few from other surrounding suburbs, she answered:

"We cover such a large area that there are diverse interests and different points of view to be reconciled. Right now we are a strong League and we have a good image. We want to keep that, but eventually we probably will have to have either separate Leagues or a joint League of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect."

INFORMED AND articulate on many issues, Mrs. Moore voiced her personal opinions on several current questions.

While not personally opposed to prayer in the classroom, she believes Sen. Dirksen's proposed amendment to make such prayers legal poses a threat to the authority of the Supreme Court.

"The Dirksen amendment would have the legislature cancel out a ruling of the Supreme Court and endanger the balance of power concept among the three branches of the federal government, in my opinion."

She favors the one-man, one-vote ruling. Within the states, she believes, each man's vote should be equal to every other man's vote. The U. S. Congress represents a compromise between the large and small states, each of whom gave up something. This is not true of state legislative bodies, she noted.

Voter apathy disturbs her.

"People don't take advantage of the rights they have. They complain, but they don't attend meetings where they have a chance to observe or voice their complaints. They don't go to proper officials. And some of them don't even vote."

The April 15 Champ

Dave's Greatest Challenge

By BOB CUMMINS
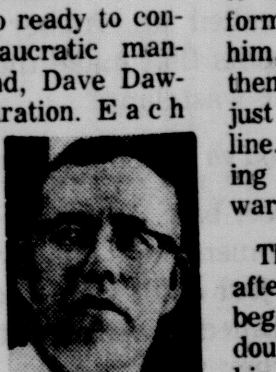
Staff Writer

In a world too ready to conform to bureaucratic mandates, my friend, Dave Dawdle, is an inspiration. Each year he undertakes a task calling for ingenuity and daring, executes it with great elan, and the next year strives mightily to outdo his previous achievements.



CUMMINS

Those of you who are acquainted with Dave know I am speaking of his last-minute income tax preparation each April 15.

DAVE GOT started on his last-minute career a few years ago, and quite by accident. He simply forgot it was April 15 until reminded by the early evening newscast. He rushed to his desk, located the tax form that had been mailed to him, made his computations, then sped to the postoffice, just in time to beat the deadline. All this was so exhilarating that he began to look forward to the following April 15.

This time he waited until after the Ed Sullivan Show to begin his task, and made it doubly difficult by itemizing his deductions instead of taking the standard 10 per cent. Despite these daring self-imposed handicaps, Dave got to the post office fully five minutes earlier than the year before.

Noting this, observers said to themselves, "Here is a man to reckon with."

During the fall and winter months of that year, Dave pondered over ways to make his next challenge to Internal Revenue even more sporting. Finally he hit on a plan so daring and so far ahead of its time that it left his friends breathless. Dave decided to abandon his desk filing system and just dump all documents in one big drawer and still itemize his deductions, beginning the whole thing at 9 p.m. April 15.

Around the middle of March he went into training for the ordeal that lay ahead. He began taking long morning walks and doing the Canadian Air Force exercises. He cut out all alcoholic liquors.

A FEW of us who count ourselves his close friends gathered in his living room just before 9 p.m. April 15. Checking over the drawer which had taken the place of his filing system, we were appalled at the disorder. Advertising circulars, canceled checks, unpaid bills, newspaper clippings, envelopes — all mixed in one enormous pile.

Precisely at 9, Dave tackled the unholy mess. With furious speed, yet with a deadly, controlled deftness, he tore into the mountain of paper, tossing aside the dross and saving the precious evidence of medical payments, interest charges, and broken eyeglasses.

As the clock ticked away, beads of sweat formed on his brow. "Can he make it?" an anxious voice whispered. Page after page of his scratch pad were covered with calculations. At 11:30 he picked up his pen triumphantly, dashed off his signature at the bottom of Form 1040, and sped to the post office with minutes to spare. All of us gathered to watch his performance broke into spontaneous applause.

Since that amazing show of last - minute income tax preparation, many of us have wondered, "Are there any worlds left for Dave to conquer?"

I asked him about it the other day and he told me of his latest defi to the IRS. It's something only a man of Dave's courage and sporting instincts would attempt.

"THIS YEAR," Dave said, "I gave my W-2 form to our dog, Bowser. What he did with it I don't know; the last I saw he was carrying it in his mouth as dogs do who are trained to fetch newspapers. It may be buried in the back yard; it may be hidden in some corner of the basement. But at 9 p.m. April 15, it will be up to me to compute my tax, then find the form I gave to Bowser. It's the greatest challenge of my career."

Those of us who know Dave Dawdle say he can win. Anything is possible for someone so completely dedicated as he is to last-minute income tax preparation.

There is no other way unless readers find a way to get the news themselves.

Some people complain privately and publicly that in such and such a news story the reporter has neglected to mention certain facts or has overly stressed other facts. These people suffer from myopia, just like myself.

The advantage a reporter has is that he is subjected to a variety of myopic views throughout the community. I have come to the conclusion that there are about 44,000 myopic views in Arlington Heights.

Some of these are more important than others because they belong to public luminaries. It is to these that I go most often for news, and I try to strike a balance between the different ones.

What bothers me is that some people will, as I once did, take the resulting distortion as truth.

A second mistaken notion of mine which did not last much longer than the first was that the newspaper is a vehicle against existing social evils and the reporter is a crusading agent. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

I've heard all kinds of impassioned appeals for newspaper crusades to change the mode of garbage pickup, expose alleged malpractices by home builders, make people shovel their sidewalks, make someone provide better taxi service, and so on.

THE FACT IS, we don't have a squad of reporters here waiting for a citizen to sound the alarm for them to go scurrying into an expose of existing wrongs.

And most appeals seem to come from one or a few individuals who wish the newspaper to take up their cause. For them the moment of truth comes when they are asked to promote their own cause by

1) Writing a letter stating their case to the Fence Post where, if it concerns the community, it will certainly be published, and,

2) Rally their forces and appear before the village board who are the appropriate agents for solving problems within the village. There they would certainly be before the eyes of the community.

In my six months here I don't recall any cases where such advice is heeded.

LWV Is Watching

By PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

"It's time well spent, we perform a community service and there's opportunity to use one's mind."

Mrs. Frank Moore succinctly summed up the reasons for her enthusiastic participation in the League of Women Voters. A League member for seven years, the attractive brunette homemaker and mother of three is currently president of the Arlington Heights LWV.

ALREADY AN ardent Leaguer when she moved with her husband and family to Arlington Heights about three years ago from Buffalo, N. Y., Jane Moore immediately became involved in League activity in her new hometown. She served as publications chairman in 1963-64 and headed up the League's "Know Your Local Government" study in 1964-65 before taking over reins as president just a year ago. Her term of office has another year to run.

Mrs. Moore has performed in another function for the local LWV and is still doing so — as observer at meetings of the village plan commission, an area of government which first caught her interest in Buffalo.

"We had a local item of urban renewal on our agenda, and I learned through that study that the only way to get anywhere in slum clearance and conservation is through long range planning, so I already had this interest in planning when we moved here," she explained.

"I have great respect for the Arlington Heights Plan Commission which has realized the area's needs and the importance of long range planning to meet those needs."

MRS. MOORE

As an observer, Mrs. Moore tries to attend plan commission sessions as regularly as possible. This has been somewhat difficult since she assumed the time-consuming office of president.

AS PRESIDENT, Mrs. Moore devotes a minimum of 16 hours a week on League business — meetings, telephoning, reading.

"I feel I must know all that's going on in every area of League work, and this involves a lot of reading."

Besides League materials, Mrs. Moore reads thoroughly two daily newspapers and the Arlington Heights Herald.

To carry on her League activities and still keep the household running smoothly and the family content requires organization, something Jane Moore admits it took her a few years to realize.

"Once I got the knack, everything worked out."

The family supports Mrs. Moore fully in her League work. They even give her a hand occasionally, the children running errands and delivering materials and husband Frank painting and lettering signs.

In what ways does she feel the community benefits from having a League of Women Voters?

First, voter service. The League president cites last year's candidate forums at which those seeking election to the newly-created junior college board of education appeared to speak and answer questions as one good example. Another was the distribution of voter registration information at the train stations.

Second, the League observers at governmental body meetings. Describing the League as a "watchdog," Mrs. Moore observed:

"I think all governmental bodies perform better when they know someone is watching them. They know we are a good friend if they're doing what they're supposed to be doing."

And third, information services of the League. Both League members and others are informed through its publications, its studies and its speakers bureau.

What does she view as immediate concerns at the local level? Planning and annexation. Within the coming decade? Water supply.

"We know we have a sufficient supply for about seven years, but if we are to obtain water from Lake Michigan to meet needs after that, it is necessary to decide within two or three years because of the time required to do the work."

Does the League itself face any problems?

Noting that while the majority of League members come from Arlington Heights, there are a large number from Mount Prospect and a few from other surrounding suburbs, she answered:

"We cover such a large area that there are diverse interests and different points of view to be reconciled. Right now we are a strong League and we have a good image. We want to keep that, but eventually we probably will have to have either separate Leagues or a joint League of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect."

INFORMED AND articulate on many issues, Mrs. Moore voiced her personal opinions on several current questions.

While not personally opposed to prayer in the classroom, she believes Sen. Dirksen's proposed amendment to make such prayers legal poses a threat to the authority of the Supreme Court.

"The Dirksen amendment would have the legislature cancel out a ruling of the Supreme Court and endanger the balance of power concept among the three branches of the federal government, in my opinion."

She favors the one-man, one-vote ruling. Within the states, she believes, each man's vote should be equal to every other man's vote. The U. S. Congress represents a compromise between the large and small states, each of whom gave up something. This is not true of state legislative bodies, she noted.

Voter apathy disturbs her. "People don't take advantage of the rights they have. They complain, but they don't attend meetings where they have a chance to observe or voice their complaints. They don't go to proper officials. And some of them don't even vote."

The April 15 Champ

Dave's Greatest Challenge

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

CUMMINS

In a world too ready to conform to bureaucratic mandates, my friend, Dave Dawdle, is an inspiration. Each year he undertakes a task calling for ingenuity and daring, executes it with great elan, and the next year strives mightily to outdo his previous achievements.

Those of you who are acquainted with Dave know I am speaking of his last-minute income tax preparation each April 15.

DAVE GOT started on his last-minute career a few years ago, and quite by accident. He simply forgot it was April 15 until reminded by the early evening newscast. He rushed to his desk, located the tax form that had been mailed to him, made his computations, then sped to the postoffice, just in time to beat the deadline. All this was so exhilarating that he began to look forward to the following April 15.

This time he waited until after the Ed Sullivan Show to begin his task, and made it doubly difficult by itemizing his deductions instead of taking the standard 10 per cent. Despite these daring self-imposed handicaps, Dave got to the post office fully five minutes earlier than the year before.

Noting this, observers said to themselves, "Here is a man to reckon with."

During the fall and winter months of that year, Dave pondered over ways to make his next challenge to Internal Revenue even more sporting.

Finally he hit on a plan so daring and so far ahead of its time that it left his friends breathless. Dave decided to abandon his desk filing system and just dump all documents in one big drawer and still itemize his deductions, beginning the whole thing at 9 p.m. April 15.

Around the middle of March he went into training for the ordeal that lay ahead. He began taking long morning walks and doing the Canadian Air Force exercises. He cut out all alcoholic liquors.

A FEW of us who count ourselves his close friends gathered in his living room just before 9 p.m. April 15. Checking over the drawer which had taken the place of his filing system, we were appalled at the disorder. Advertising circulars, canceled checks, unpaid bills, newspaper clippings, envelopes — all mixed in one enormous pile.

Precisely at 9, Dave tackled the unholy mess. With furious speed, yet with a deadly, controlled deftness, he tore into the mountain of paper, tossing aside the dross and saving the precious evidence of medical payments, interest charges, and broken eyeglasses.

As the clock ticked away, beads of sweat formed on his brow. "Can he make it?" an anxious voice whispered. Page after page of his scratch pad were covered with calculations. At 11:30 he picked up his pen triumphantly, dashed off his signature at the bottom of Form 1040, and sped to the post office with minutes to spare. All of us gathered to watch his performance broke into spontaneous applause.

Since that amazing show of last - minute income tax preparation, many of us have wondered, "Are there any worlds left for Dave to conquer?"

I asked him about it the other day and he told me of his latest defi to the IRS. It's something only a man of Dave's courage and sporting instincts would attempt.

"THIS YEAR," Dave said, "I gave my W-2 form to our dog, Bowser. What he did with it I don't know; the last I saw he was carrying it in his mouth as dogs do who are trained to fetch newspapers. It may be buried in the back yard; it may be hidden in some corner of the basement. But at 9 p.m. April 15, it will be up to me to compute my tax, then find the form I gave to Bowser. It's the greatest challenge of my career."

Those of us who know Dave Dawdle say he can win. Anything is possible for someone so completely dedicated as he is to last-minute income tax preparation.

Bensenville Needs Beauty, Not Just Industry's Bustle

I'd like to comment on your editorial "Worthy Industrial Plan" of March 31.

I have to agree with almost everything you have to say. The Bensenville Industrial Park has been a long time coming. Yes, it was only a matter of time until our ethnic pride in our deteriorating town completely disappeared.

When it takes a near scholastic crisis to get a school referendum passed or when a village allows the same people to run its government year after year without thoroughly "cleaning house" or when the youth of the village have to go to another town to a "teenage nightclub" for "exercise," or just some place to go, you can see how ambitious the good people of Bensenville really are.

I agree that Mohawk is not the only land left in Bensenville, but when O'Hare Field expands to the railroad yard, when Elmhurst expands its industrial park to Grand Avenue and perhaps across Grand Avenue, when Royal Oaks is completed to the railroad, what open land will we have left?

We will still have White Pines Golf Course to look at through its wire fence. Is this a "cultivated beauty spot?" How long will it be until our friends, the Branigar Organization, needs more money and sells White Pines?

Oh, yes, we have park land — a dried up ice pond that somewhat resembles the Great Dustbowl of Depression times during the summer and we have a field next to a drainage ditch (laughingly referred to as Silver Creek). This field is barren except for an exotic water tower and a mosquito ranch.

Yes, we may get a break in our taxes, but isn't this because our property value decreases when a village is bordered on three sides by industry? Aren't we getting down to the real or perhaps the only benefits of industry when the editor emphasizes the money the village will get? After all, the village government has $30,000 or more of the taxpayers' money. They were a little negligent with, to recover.

Why doesn't the editor mention how much the stores in town will get in trade? I know that this idea of getting free money will appeal to the practical citizens of Bensenville. It's a sad thing when people stop appreciating the beauty of nature around them and settle for a dollar and their backyards.

How many pets, artists or authors create something beautiful about a town that sold itself? If you don't think that a town and its people need anything beautiful, I pity you, for you don't know the meaning of living life to the fullest!

What should we do? First of all I appeal to the clergymen of Bensenville to, for once in Bensenville's history, interfere in its politics. I'd like to remind you men that to lie down in green pastures once in awhile while you're still alice is just as helpful as later on.

Well, Mr. Editor, I doubt if I have changed your outlook on things in Bensenville. Even though I can't have you on my side, I'd appreciate it very much if you would print my letter. A front page would be nice, but I'll settle for the Opinions of the People column.

Malicious Sign Damage Called Shameful

To paraphrase one of Shakespeare's more infamous lines . . . "Something is rotten in the State of Schaumburg." Now perhaps "rotten" is too strong, however, there must be something wrong when a group of men, in an effort to do something for their community, must devote a portion of their weekends to replace signs that were too mutilated to have been damaged by natural causes.

As one of those who spent two Saturdays repairing these signs, I can't help but wonder what has changed in our concept of parental influence to allow this shameful occurrence. Yes, I said shameful because if you can imagine yourself as a visitor to our community, how would the obvious defacement of these signs impress you?

If you do not consider appearance important, look at it another way. The Schaumburg Jaycees spent a total of 60 man-hours repairing these signs. If the village were to pay someone to do this, it would have cost $150 to $200. In addition, there was $700 in materials,. That's a total of $900 which would have come out of the tax you pay into the state's general tax fund. This is money that is vitally needed in other areas, and we certainly cannot afford to continue throwing it away on these necessary repairs created by unnecessary and ridiculous causes.

A dramatic example of what state of ridiculousness this has reached is pointed out by the fact that many of the signs replaced the second weekend were the same signs that were replaced the first weekend. It had only taken one week for someone to tear down what was just built up.

We have been very fortunate to maintain our village operations without a village tax. Eventually this tax is bound to come, but why force the issue by letting these acts continue and thereby increase the drain on the revenue needed to operate our village?

Now, we all know that our children are not involved in these malicious acts. At least we think we know. But who's watching our neighbor's children? With a population of over 6,000 people in Schaumburg, someone should be able to see who is committing these acts. If you do, report it immediately to the police.

Let's make sure it's not our children doing this and let's put a stop to it.

Urge Paying Village Taxes Under Protest

To the residents of Arlington Gardens:

In the very near future, our attorney, Earl Reynolds, will file a quo warranto action on our behalf, protesting the annexation and water lease purchase by the Village of Arlington Heights. When the court finds in our favor, we will not be annexed.

There are protest forms available for us at the office of Arnold Scharringhausen, town collector, 2400 S. Arlington Heights Road. You may fill out this form letter and pay that portion of your real estate tax that would go to the village "under protest."

Wife Questions Judgment of Police Officer

On Feb. 28, my husband did three stupid things. He ran out of cigarattes (a major catastrophy I'm told by smokers) and knowing his paycheck was ready he left two small girls alone to run over in a car that had no 1966 license plates, when he had not received his new chauffeur's license back from the secretary of state as yet, to Dick up his check, cash it, and buy cigarettes.

He found that the Jewel in the Ranch Mart, close to where we live could not cash the check, he went into Wheeling to the bank to cash it. Officer Thomas Conte stopped him on the way back home. He issued two tickets, one for having no license plates on the car, the other for having no valid driver's license.

HE TOOK him into the station to check as to whether his license had been suspended or revoked (it hadn't). Then he wouldn't allow my husband to drive the car home.

By what right did he insist on his abandoning the car? I feel this was definitely overstepping his authority.

By the time I was called at work, our two girls (ages 14 months and 3½ years) had been alone 1½ hours. I had to leave work, pick them up, and then pick up my husband, who was not allowed to drive home.

By the time I could get a friend to help me bring home the car (an old one which we were going to turn over to a creditor as a partial payment of a debt) the car had been moved, and we were told we had to pay $15 to get it back. There it sits. We had only expected to receive about $15 credit on our bill for it. We don't have $15 to redeem it.

I FEEL that the officer should have followed my husband home after he had checked out the license, to see that the car was not used on the highway. I fail to see that an officer can force a person to abandon a vehicle. And then for the station to charge $15 to move the car up to the corner is ridiculous!

I agree that my husband deserved the tickets, he was quite stupid, but I also feel the officer, after checking out the driver's license and issuing the tickets, should have let him proceed home, following him if necessary to be sure he went there. I am irritated, to say the least!

To Pay or Not To Pay–That Is the Question

This is the time of year for all of us to make a decision. Do we pay our personal property tax or do we ignore a statute law? This decision should never be a matter of concern to honest citizens, yet it is. Thousands of otherwise "law abiding" citizens will not pay their personal property tax this year.

In order to be an effective ordinance, a law must be both equitable and enforceable. The personal property assessment is sadly lacking in both respects. In the first place, two men with the same income can be taxed entirely differently. One can be frugal, a good provider and be taxed to his eyeteeth. (And if they happen to be gold-filled, they get taxed too.)

The other can be a squanderer, spend his money as he pleases and even let the municipality he lives in raise his children, if he so desires — and he goes tax-free as far as the law is concerned. This is neither equitable nor intelligent, but it is the law.

In the second place, how can the law be enforced? True, demands can be made that everyone declare his personal belongings and pay taxes on them, but how accurate is this? Grandma's uppers might have cost $400, but they wouldn't bring 50 cents in a pawn shop. And how many people will allow an assessor to go rummaging through their house, poking into all the closets and shaking Junior's piggy bank?

See what I mean? So, the tax isn't enforced and American citizens ignore or make token obedience to a statute law, and herein lies the real danger. The law should be enforced or repealed, and no person should be allowed to decide for himself which of our laws he chooses to obey and which he chooses to ginore.

Thinks Public Anxious for Cultural Events

On Palm Sunday at Elk Grove High School it was my pleasure to see and hear "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

The Elk Grove Festival Chorus that sang is made up of all different denominations from within the village, and they gave a splendid performance.

This was an excellent opening for a new high school, and for it's pretty new theatre.

I am sure that all the people who saw the performance would like to see more events staged by these people as evidenced by the applause after the show.

The theatre was filled to capacity which proved the village's willingness to support such an organization.

Elk Grove Village needs community activities and this was an excellent start.

MOTHER THINKS I SHOULD TELL HIM TO STAY AWAY...

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am no longer a teenager—I am now twenty, but I am asking for advice. I am in love with a man six years older than I am. I love him very much, but he has been going with another girl who is older than he is. I can't understand why we can't be happy together. I quit him about three weeks ago and he came to me as a man begging me to take him back. I told him if he could prove his love to me so I would appreciate him, I would take him back and give him another chance. He stayed away three weeks without letting me hear from him. I was worried over him. I went into the hospital and they kept me three days. He didn't even come around to see how I was doing. He did come to see me after I came home and I was proud to see him. It made me feel so much like a lady. My mother thinks I should tell him to stay away, but I cannot tell him. I love him too much. Please help me and tell me what I should do."

OUR REPLY: Your mother has already told you what you should do. And the sooner the better. There is no indication that your love is returned or that you can expect more consideration in the future than you have received in the past. For And About Teenagers

MOTHER THINKS I SHOULD TELL HIM TO STAY AWAY...

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am no longer a teenager—I am now twenty, but I am asking for advice. I am in love with a man six years older than I am. I love him very much, but he has been going with another girl who is older than he is. I can't understand why we can't be happy together. I quit him about three weeks ago and he came to me as a man begging me to take him back. I told him if he could prove his love to me so I would appreciate him, I would take him back and give him another chance. He stayed away three weeks without letting me hear from him. I was worried over him. I went into the hospital and they kept me three days. He didn't even come around to see how I was doing. He did come to see me after I came home and I was proud to see him. It made me feel so much like a lady. My mother thinks I should tell him to stay away, but I cannot tell him. I love him too much. Please help me and tell me what I should do."

OUR REPLY: Your mother has already told you what you should do. And the sooner the better. There is no indication that your love is returned or that you can expect more consideration in the future than you have received in the past. A clean break may hurt for a little while but, in the long run you'll realize the only thing you are missing is heartache and worry.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS. COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE. FRANKFORT, KY.

Feels Directory 'Gross Invasion Of My Privacy'

At a time when even the government is worried about electronic snooping and the opening of mail by the Internal Revenue Department, I find the Paddock Directory and the enclosed card a gross invasion of my privacy. I just can't imagine people allowing or accepting this sort of intrusion in their private lives.

Wife Questions Judgment of Police Officer

On Feb. 28, my husband did three stupid things. He ran out of cigarattes (a major catastrophy I'm told by smokers) and knowing his paycheck was ready he left two small girls alone to run over in a car that had no 1966 license plates, when he had not received his new chauffeur's license back from the secretary of state as yet, to Dick up his check, cash it, and buy cigarettes.

He found that the Jewel in the Ranch Mart, close to where we live could not cash the check, he went into Wheeling to the bank to cash it. Officer Thomas Conte stopped him on the way back home. He issued two tickets, one for having no license plates on the car, the other for having no valid driver's license.

HE TOOK him into the station to check as to whether his license had been suspended or revoked (it hadn't). Then he wouldn't allow my husband to drive the car home.

By what right did he insist on his abandoning the car? I feel this was definitely overstepping his authority.

By the time I was called at work, our two girls (ages 14 months and 3½ years) had been alone 1½ hours. I had to leave work, pick them up, and then pick up my husband, who was not allowed to drive home.

By the time I could get a friend to help me bring home the car (an old one which we were going to turn over to a creditor as a partial payment of a debt) the car had been moved, and we were told we had to pay $15 to get it back. There it sits. We had only expected to receive about $15 credit on our bill for it. We don't have $15 to redeem it.

I FEEL that the officer should have followed my husband home after he had checked out the license, to see that the car was not used on the highway. I fail to see that an officer can force a person to abandon a vehicle. And then for the station to charge $15 to move the car up to the corner is ridiculous!

I agree that my husband deserved the tickets, he was quite stupid, but I also feel the officer, after checking out the driver's license and issuing the tickets, should have let him proceed home, following him if necessary to be sure he went there. I am irritated, to say the least!

To Pay or Not To Pay–That Is the Question

This is the time of year for all of us to make a decision. Do we pay our personal property tax or do we ignore a statute law? This decision should never be a matter of concern to honest citizens, yet it is. Thousands of otherwise "law abiding" citizens will not pay their personal property tax this year.

In order to be an effective ordinance, a law must be both equitable and enforceable. The personal property assessment is sadly lacking in both respects. In the first place, two men with the same income can be taxed entirely differently. One can be frugal, a good provider and be taxed to his eyeteeth. (And if they happen to be gold-filled, they get taxed too.)

The other can be a squanderer, spend his money as he pleases and even let the municipality he lives in raise his children, if he so desires — and he goes tax-free as far as the law is concerned. This is neither equitable nor intelligent, but it is the law.

In the second place, how can the law be enforced? True, demands can be made that everyone declare his personal belongings and pay taxes on them, but how accurate is this? Grandma's uppers might have cost $400, but they wouldn't bring 50 cents in a pawn shop. And how many people will allow an assessor to go rummaging through their house, poking into all the closets and shaking Junior's piggy bank?

See what I mean? So, the tax isn't enforced and American citizens ignore or make token obedience to a statute law, and herein lies the real danger. The law should be enforced or repealed, and no person should be allowed to decide for himself which of our laws he chooses to obey and which he chooses to ginore.

Thinks Public Anxious for Cultural Events

On Palm Sunday at Elk Grove High School it was my pleasure to see and hear "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

The Elk Grove Festival Chorus that sang is made up of all different denominations from within the village, and they gave a splendid performance.

This was an excellent opening for a new high school, and for it's pretty new theatre.

I am sure that all the people who saw the performance would like to see more events staged by these people as evidenced by the applause after the show.

The theatre was filled to capacity which proved the village's willingness to support such an organization.

Elk Grove Village needs community activities and this was an excellent start.

Newspapers are wanted . . . they contain news, local items, tips, photos plus ALL the selling news of the area . . . ads that are paid for by people who know you appreciate value and honest bargain with quality.

We at Paddock's spend a lot of time and effort to find out what you want . . . and we offer it in the form of 15 award winning newspapers, delivered by men who take pride in their service. After all, he knows the paper isn't going to immediately go into the garbage can, unread and unwanted.

214 Will Review Bus Operation Complaints

The District 214 High School board will meet at 8 p.m. Monday as a committee of the whole to consider continued complaints about school bus operations.

The meeting was requested by Mrs. Leah Cummings, Elk Grove Village board member who has been critical of bus company operations and financial reports.

She pressed for the special session at Monday's board meeting and was promptly named committee chairman by new board president Hal Armstrong.

Earlier the board heard Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer give a strong defense of the bus company and of District 214's supervision of the transportation service.

DISTRICT 214 last year had the lowest cost-per-mile transported rate — 47 cents per mile — of any high school district in Cook County, Slichenmyer asserted.

He said that to add school-paid supervisors, either at the bus company site or at the high schools, would add to that cost.

Such supervision, to make sure that the Cook County School Bus Company supplies the buses it has contracted to supply, would cost the district between $1,800 and $3,384 a year, if the checks were made daily.

Slichenmyer noted that the bus company contract with the school district makes it possible to require the bus company to supply a supervisor at each high school.

HE CITED the contract again and in giving an attorney's opinion that the high school has no responsibility for the tax-free gasoline it purchases after the gas is turned over to the bus company. Sale of the tax-free gas to non-school vehicles was criticized by Mrs. Cummins at the March 29 board meeting. A check showed that the bus company was doing so but paying state sales tax on gas sold privately to trucking firms.

Mrs. Cummins also cited the contract at the meeting. She noted that the bus company was deducting $6.25 for each bus not supplied to the school on a half-day basis when the contract calls for a $12.50 deduction refund when runs were not made —morning or afternoon.

The school district received more than $10,400 in refunds so far this year, made on the basis of $12.50 per full-day out and $6.25 for a half-day's lack of bus service.

OK Kaspar Paving By Private Means

Most of Kaspar Avenue between Northwest Highway and Oakton Street in Arlington Heights will be paved by private contract rather than through special assessment of abutting property owners.

Many owners along that section of the street had been trying to get together to have the street paved by private contract so they would not have to pay extra costs of legal and engineering fees involved in special assessment proceedings.

THE BREAKTHROUGH came at last Thursday's board of local improvements (BOLI) meeting when a tally of property owners who had deposited funds in escrow to cover paving costs showed that enough were participating to justify having it done by private contract. All but about 20 owners are included.

BOLI indicated that the street will be paved by private contract from the 600 block through the 1000 block except in front of properties whose owners did not put up escrow deposits and one lot which is not contiguous with the private contract portion.

Their portions of the street will be paved by special assessment, which will be taken up when public hearings on the project resume at 8:30 p.m. April 28.

Board To Put Price Tag On Junior College Campus

The Dist. 301 junior college board tonight (Thursday) will take action on a resolution designating the amount of money to be requested from voters in the June referendum.

The action will follow adoption by the board of a resolution specifying the cost of building the junior college campus. There was no word on how much this cost might be, but it is known voters will be asked to pay approximately 25 per cent of the project. The district will seek state funds to pay for the remaining 75 per cent. Application for these funds cannot be made until voters approve the June referendum.

Dr. Robert P. Lahti, junior college president, reported he spent most of last week finalizing over-all and first-phase construction costs with architects and educational consultants. He said the total project cost will be based on a projected full-time equivalent enrollment of 7,000 students by 1980.

THE RESOLUTION is among numerous other items which the board must consider. Included will be a report from attorney Frank Hines on price negotiations for 90 of 171 acres sought for a campus site.

The 90-acre tract, part of the Tri-Color Farm at Roselle and Algonquin roads, has been the subject of much price wrangling since the board began action on site acquisition last month. Lahti reported that the owner of the land, George Jayne, agreed to have three private appraisers make estimates of the land's value.

The junior college board three weeks ago reached an agreement with owners of the remaining 81 acres giving the district an option to purchase the land for $5,000 an acre. There was no word on whether Hines had reached any agreement with Jayne.

THE BOARD also is expected to reach a decision on a name for the two-year college. Members during the past two meetings have considered several names but put off a final decision. Among the suggested names, William Rainey Harper apparently is favored by most board members and probably will be adopted. Harper was founder of the University of Chicago.

The board also will take action on an opening date for the junior college. There has been talk of opening classes in September, 1967, by using area high school facilities. Junior college officials in the past have unofficially set September, 1968, for opening of classes on the campus.

The board also will elect officers for the coming year. (B10

Double Fire Tax Billed Last Time

Many local taxpayers this year for the last time will pay doubly for fire protection service.

According to 1965 real estate tax bills, just issued, the savings for 1966 will range generally from $13 to $30.

This tax relief is the result of House Bill 105, introduced into the 74th General Assembly by State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman (R-3rd District), Arlington Heights, and signed into law May 13, 1965, by the governor.

UNDER THE new law, a territory in a rural fire protection district that annexes to a municipality that provides fire protection service becomes automatically disconnected from the fire district and no longer subject to taxation by the district, except for the territory's pro-rata share of any bonded indebtedness of the district.

However, a district which feels that it will be adversely affected by the disconnection may file a petition with the Circuit Court alleging that the disconnection will take so much assessed valuation from the district so as to impair its ability to render service to the remainder of the district.

Such petition must be filed within 60 days of the annexation, and the burden of proving the allegation falls on the district. After a hearing on the petition, the court may in its discretion disallow the disconnection.

For those territories that annexed to municipalities prior to passage of the new law, any petitions objecting to the disconnection were due by Aug. 31, 1965, and the disconnections were effective Jan. 31. (B10

Schmidt Bows Out Of House Contest

Charles E. Schmidt Jr., 28, of Northbrook, has withdrawn from the race for one of two Republican nominations to the Illinois House of Representatives representing the 3rd district.

In withdrawing, Schmidt commented, "I want to get more contact with Republican people, form a better background and obtain more exposure both in my home area and the district."

Schmidt, an attorney, was one of six people seeking the two nominations, one of which is expected to go to Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, (R-Arlington Heights), incumbent.

SCHMIDT commented "After meeting all the candidates and reviewing their resumes, I feel Gene Schlickman is by far the outstanding candidate in the ace."

He refused to endorse anyone in the three-way race for the GOP nomination for the state senate in the same district, but commented that he expects to see a good race put on by challengers Robert O. Atcher of Schaumburg and William Davies of Streamwood. Sen. John Graham, (R-Barrington), is the incumbent.

The others seeking the house nomination are William Means of Buffalo Grove; Robert Hesse of Palatine; William Moore of Arlington Heights and David J. Regner of Mount Prospect. (B-10

YOUR TAX BILL

BY P. J. CULLERTON COOK COUNTY ASSESSOR

How is a real estate tax bill made up? How is the tax on my home determined? What are the computations that produce that final lump sum figure on the tax bill showing the total amount due? Where does it all start and who does the figuring?

These are questions, no doubt, that run through the mind of every John Q. Home Owner when he receives his annual real estate property tax bill.

They go beyond the function of the assessor's office, whose sole function is to make sure that each parcel of property is appraised fairly and equitably in proportion to its percentage of the total value of the real estate in the county. They are, however, legitimate questions that must be answered to provide a clear explanation of the manner in which local government is financed.

THE WHOLE thing really starts in each of the some 450 taxing bodies in the county. These are the various school districts—which take the largest part of the tax dollar—municipalities, parks, forest preserve areas, mosquito abatement districts, rural fire protection areas, sanitary district and others. Each of these bodies has been created by vote of the citizens living within it to provide a service deemed necessary by the voters.

Do not jump to the conclusion, let us hasten to point out, that your bill represents 450 taxing bodies. It represents only those districts in which your property is located and from which you receive service. The number reflected in each individual bill may run from six to 12 taxing bodies, depending on the location of the property and the agencies that have been created by the voters to serve it.

When each local government has made up its budget, which it is required to do by law with full public hearings before the budget's adoption, a determination of the total sum of money needed to operate each taxing district is made by adding up the budgets of each of the governments within the district.

THEN THE revenue needed is divided by the total valuation of all the property in the district. (It is the assessor's job to determine this valuation and the details of this task will be explained in the next article.) The result of dividing the revenue needed by the total valuation is the tax rate. This rate is then charged against each parcel in the district; each pays its charge and the sum of all the charges against each parcel will then produce the revenue the taxing bodies need.

For example, assume that the budget requirements of a taxing area are $100,000 and the total appraised value of all property in the district is $2,500,000. The tax rate is computed by dividing $2,500,000 into $100,000. This comes out to 4 cents per dollar of assessed valuation. However, it is always expressed in per $100 of valuation which in this case would be $4 per $100 of valuation.

To determine the tax bill for a parcel of property assessed at $7,250 you would then multiply $7,250 by $4.00 and divide by $100, which in this case would yield a tax bill of $290.

VERY SIMPLY, if there were only 10 parcels of property in the taxing district, and all were of equal value, the cost of government would be the same for the owner of each parcel.

But if one of the 10 parcels were five times the value of each of the other nine, then that one should pay five times as much property tax as each of the other nine. This is the way the system is designed to work, each parcel paying taxes according to its worth. ("Ad valorem," in the language of tax attorneys.)

It bears repeating that the property tax is a local tax, collected from the owners of property located in the district and used to provide services to the residents of the district.

IT IS DESIGNED to collect the amount of money—no more, no less—needed to provide the services demanded by the voters within the taxing district and it is assessed on the basis of the value of each parcel of property in the district.

Thus, it has a celiling on the amount that may be collected and exactly equals the amount requested by the various city, county and school agencies.

The federal government may or may not run at a deficit depending on how much income tax it collects. How much income tax it collects may depend on the state of the economy.

But local government bodies receive an exact amount equally collected from all property.

Board To Put Price Tag On Junior College Campus

The Dist. 301 junior college board tonight (Thursday) will take action on a resolution designating the amount of money to be requested from voters in the June referendum.

The action will follow adoption by the board of a resolution specifying the cost of building the junior college campus. There was no word on how much this cost might be, but it is known voters will be asked to pay approximately 25 per cent of the project. The district will seek state funds to pay for the remaining 75 per cent. Application for these funds cannot be made until voters approve the June referendum.

Dr. Robert P. Lahti, junior college president, reported he spent most of last week finalizing over-all and first-phase construction costs with architects and educational consultants. He said the total project cost will be based on a projected full-time equivalent enrollment of 7,000 students by 1980.

THE RESOLUTION is among numerous other items which the board must consider. Included will be a report from attorney Frank Hines on price negotiations for 90 of 171 acres sought for a campus site.

The 90-acre tract, part of the Tri-Color Farm at Roselle and Algonquin roads, has been the subject of much price wrangling since the board began action on site acquisition last month. Lahti reported that the owner of the land, George Jayne, agreed to have three private appraisers make estimates of the land's value.

The junior college board three weeks ago reached an agreement with owners of the remaining 81 acres giving the district an option to purchase the land for $5,000 an acre. There was no word on whether Hines had reached any agreement with Jayne.

THE BOARD also is expected to reach a decision on a name for the two-year college. Members during the past two meetings have considered several names but put off a final decision. Among the suggested names, William Rainey Harper apparently is favored by most board members and probably will be adopted. Harper was founder of the University of Chicago.

The board also will take action on an opening date for the junior college. There has been talk of opening classes in September, 1967, by using area high school facilities. Junior college officials in the past have unofficially set September, 1968, for opening of classes on the campus.

The board also will elect officers for the coming year. (B10

Double Fire Tax Billed Last Time

Many local taxpayers this year for the last time will pay doubly for fire protection service.

According to 1965 real estate tax bills, just issued, the savings for 1966 will range generally from $13 to $30.

This tax relief is the result of House Bill 105, introduced into the 74th General Assembly by State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman (R-3rd District), Arlington Heights, and signed into law May 13, 1965, by the governor.

UNDER THE new law, a territory in a rural fire protection district that annexes to a municipality that provides fire protection service becomes automatically disconnected from the fire district and no longer subject to taxation by the district, except for the territory's pro-rata share of any bonded indebtedness of the district.

However, a district which feels that it will be adversely affected by the disconnection may file a petition with the Circuit Court alleging that the disconnection will take so much assessed valuation from the district so as to impair its ability to render service to the remainder of the district.

Such petition must be filed within 60 days of the annexation, and the burden of proving the allegation falls on the district. After a hearing on the petition, the court may in its discretion disallow the disconnection.

For those territories that annexed to municipalities prior to passage of the new law, any petitions objecting to the disconnection were due by Aug. 31, 1965, and the disconnections were effective Jan. 31.

Schmidt Bows Out Of House Contest

Charles E. Schmidt Jr., 28, of Northbrook, has withdrawn from the race for one of two Republican nominations to the Illinois House of Representatives representing the 3rd district.

In withdrawing, Schmidt commented, "I want to get more contact with Republican people, form a better background and obtain more exposure both in my home area and the district."

Schmidt, an attorney, was one of six people seeking the two nominations, one of which is expected to go to Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, (R-Arlington Heights), incumbent.

SCHMIDT commented "After meeting all the candidates and reviewing their resumes, I feel Gene Schlickman is by far the outstanding candidate in the ace."

He refused to endorse anyone in the three-way race for the GOP nomination for the state senate in the same district, but commented that he expects to see a good race put on by challengers Robert O. Atcher of Schaumburg and William Davies of Streamwood. Sen. John Graham, (R-Barrington), is the incumbent.

The others seeking the house nomination are William Means of Buffalo Grove; Robert Hesse of Palatine; William Moore of Arlington Heights and David J. Regner of Mount Prospect.

YOUR TAX BILL

BY P. J. CULLERTON COOK COUNTY ASSESSOR

How is a real estate tax bill made up? How is the tax on my home determined? What are the computations that produce that final lump sum figure on the tax bill showing the total amount due? Where does it all start and who does the figuring?

These are questions, no doubt, that run through the mind of every John Q. Home Owner when he receives his annual real estate property tax bill.

They go beyond the function of the assessor's office, whose sole function is to make sure that each parcel of property is appraised fairly and equitably in proportion to its percentage of the total value of the real estate in the county. They are, however, legitimate questions that must be answered to provide a clear explanation of the manner in which local government is financed.

THE WHOLE thing really starts in each of the some 450 taxing bodies in the county. These are the various school districts—which take the largest part of the tax dollar—municipalities, parks, forest preserve areas, mosquito abatement districts, rural fire protection areas, sanitary district and others. Each of these bodies has been created by vote of the citizens living within it to provide a service deemed necessary by the voters.

Do not jump to the conclusion, let us hasten to point out, that your bill represents 450 taxing bodies. It represents only those districts in which your property is located and from which you receive service. The number reflected in each individual bill may run from six to 12 taxing bodies, depending on the location of the property and the agencies that have been created by the voters to serve it.

When each local government has made up its budget, which it is required to do by law with full public hearings before the budget's adoption, a determination of the total sum of money needed to operate each taxing district is made by adding up the budgets of each of the governments within the district.

THEN THE revenue needed is divided by the total valuation of all the property in the district. (It is the assessor's job to determine this valuation and the details of this task will be explained in the next article.) The result of dividing the revenue needed by the total valuation is the tax rate. This rate is then charged against each parcel in the district; each pays its charge and the sum of all the charges against each parcel will then produce the revenue the taxing bodies need.

For example, assume that the budget requirements of a taxing area are $100,000 and the total appraised value of all property in the district is $2,500,000. The tax rate is computed by dividing $2,500,000 into $100,000. This comes out to 4 cents per dollar of assessed valuation. However, it is always expressed in per $100 of valuation which in this case would be $4 per $100 of valuation.

To determine the tax bill for a parcel of property assessed at $7,250 you would then multiply $7,250 by $4.00 and divide by $100, which in this case would yield a tax bill of $290.

VERY SIMPLY, if there were only 10 parcels of property in the taxing district, and all were of equal value, the cost of government would be the same for the owner of each parcel.

But if one of the 10 parcels were five times the value of each of the other nine, then that one should pay five times as much property tax as each of the other nine. IT IS DESIGNED to collect the amount of money—no more, no less—needed to provide the services demanded by the voters within the taxing district and it is assessed on the basis of the value of each parcel of property in the district.

Thus, it has a ceiling on the amount that may be collected and exactly equals the amount requested by the various city, county and school agencies.

The federal government may or may not run at a deficit depending on how much income tax it collects. How much income tax it collects may depend on the state of the economy.

But local government bodies receive an exact amount equally collected from all property.

CONCENTRATION—Four-year-old Maureen Fleege, learning how to control a pencil and develop habits of concentration at the same time, will be among the Montessori students whose work will be watched by trainees, attending a Midwest Montessori Teacher Training Center course this summer. College graduates may learn more about the course by calling 827-8250 or CL 5-5105.

Plan Montessori Teacher Training

A summer training school for persons interested in becoming Montessori teachers or assistants is being planned by Dr. Urban H. Fleege, supervisor of the Northwest Suburban Montessori School, Des Plaines.

Dr. Fleege is also president of the Midwest Montessori Teacher Training Center, Chicago, which will be conducting the training course.

The Northwest Montessori School is offering a partial tuition scholarship, and an interest-free tuition loan, to a teacher willing to intern at the suburban school as part of her training.

THE MONTESSORI training session will be open to college graduates and will begin July 5. The intensive two-months session will be conducted five days a week from 8:30 a.m to 4:30 p.m.

A national team of Montessori teacher trainers will conduct the series of lectures, demonstrations, laboratory and practice sessions. A staff of well-known early learning and child development specialists from five universities will complement the Montessori training team.

Participants in the training program will spend a minimum of 30 hours in observing the application of Montessori theory in a variety of classroom situations, involving both culturally disadvantaged and middle class children.

A nine-month internship will follow, with the trainees assigned to accredited Montessori schools part time. Their work will be completed with the writing of a thesis and passing of a performance examination.

THE MIDWEST Montessori Teacher Training Center program leads to full certification as a Montessori teacher. Persons with such certificates generally receive higher pay than public school teachers, the society says, because of the severe shortage of Montessori-trained teachers.

Persons interested should contact Orpha Mohr, assistant supervisor, at the training center, 1010 W. Chicago Avenue, Chicago.

Tuition for the 12 month program is $1,000 with some scholarships available from some of the schools where applicants intern. (A15

ROLLING MEADOWS

A dessert pot luck supper for parents and cadettes of Troop 633 was held recently so parents could get a glimpse of what their daughters have accomplished during the year.

A film strip was shown by Richard Kocian on a scouting trip to Colorado which Cadettes are planning to take this summer.

The highlight of the evening was a style show prepared by the girls showing clothes that would be necessary for the trip. Janet McCafferty was the narrator.

Among others giving a helping hand in preparing the supper were Mrs. Russell Williams and Mrs. William Young.

Cadettes have been selling nuts during the year to help finance their trip to Colorado which prompted the scouts to present Russell Williams the Champion Nut Eater award because he ate so many nuts to help further their cause.

Mrs. Robert Winsell and Mrs. Edward Meade are leaders of the troop.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Mrs. Phillip Rives and Mrs. Floyd Caldini, leaders of Cadette Troop 401, report their troop has completed the My Government badge. On March 14, 17 girls attended a District 214 High School Board meeting as a final requirement for the badge. Scouts unable to attend that meeting attended a District 57 Elementary School Board meeting. They were accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Barr. The My Government badge was presented to the Cadettes at Court of Awards on March 17. Mrs. Thomas Wardell, Mrs. James Quigley and Mrs. Floyd Caldini attended the candlelight service.

WHEELING-BUFFALO GROVE

Brownie Troop 173 and Junior Troop 889 went to see Peter Pan March 12. Some of the girls were lucky enough to get autographs from the cast. Everyone seemed to enjoy the play very much.

Junior Troop 889 also had a swimming and skating party April 6.

The troop is also busy planning and preparing for their overnight April 30 and May 1. For some of the girls this is their first campout at Camp Pine.

Junior Troop 181 reports they have just returned from their first overnight at Camp Pine on April 4 and 5. Although the weather was not too good everyone enjoyed themselves.

April 7 Junior Troops 423 and 181 went to a cooking demonstration given by the Northern Illinois Gas Company. At the end of the day Lynnea Thorne, of Troop 181, won the drawing for the Whirly-burgers and Beans that had been prepared at the demonstration. All the girls went home starving after smelling all the good cooking aromas. (B-10

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

A spring-is-busting-out-all-over feeling pervaded the Palatiners' last dance, there's only three more regularly scheduled dances on this season's calendar and who says spring will never get here? Further evidence that it's that wonderful time again is the club's reminder of its annual spring dance, Wednesday, April 27.

One of the most popular "specials" of the year any year, the Palatine Squares' "spring-a-ree" of 1966 will again feature Wally Schultz and co-star Jim Smith and club caller Jim Stewart. Full particulars are available from Lil Langerock, CL 3-7229; tickets will be on sale at Saturday's dance or may be had from any club member.

Saturday's dance, squaring up at 8:30 p.m. in Pleasant Hill School, Palatine, is open to all "square" enthusiasts. In addition to offering a chance to buy tickets for the special, it will be another fine opportunity for a night of fun with one of the most popular clubs in the area. Pleasant Hill School is located at Cedar and Illinois Streets. Be there?

BRONCO SQUARES

Johnny "Redvest" Toth of South Milwaukee, Wis. will be the special guest caller tomorrow night for the Barrington gang's "y'all come" dance in Grove Avenue Grade School. Club publicity says, "He may be short . . . but he stands 10 feet tall in the field of calling." This short, 10-foot tall dynamo will square 'em up at 8 o'clock immediately following the Sanders' round dance workshop which rounds 'em up at 7:30. In case all this exercise makes you hungry and thirsty, there'll be refreshments served throughout the evening. Everybody's welcome to come to school tomorrow night. (A-15

Randy Rabbit, You Were Wonderful!

by BEVERLY AIRTH

Dear Randy Rabbit: I want to thank you for a wonderful Easter.

My Easter basket was more than I ever dreamed it would be — overflowing with chocolate Easter eggs, jelly beans, colored Easter eggs and the three baby ducklings.

Thanks so much for the ducks but you didn't have to put them in my Easter basket along with the candy and other goodies, as they ate all my candy and just left me egg shells and a big mess. Randy, I just can't understand you, was this meant to be a joke or are you really trying to be sincere?

Randy, I know the boys and girls sure enjoyed your Bunnyland. I want to compliment you on a very fine job — your castle was beautifully decorated, your flowers were so refreshing, the ducks were of the finest breed, and the wishing well was a very clever idea. We want to thank you for allowing us to put the beautiful Easter display from Jewel bakery in your Bunnyland — everyone certainly enjoyed it.

Randy, I am sorry that you were mad! I want to apologize for those perky little ducklings. I sure hope that they didn't spoil your stay at Randhurst. You ought to know by now that you can't reason with ducklings. I tried, Randy, to tell them to keep their water clean and keep the action down to a minimum, but I guess it is just their natural instinct to swim in the pool, get the water very dirty, and put on an act for everyone watching.

I am sorry these frisky little ducks stole the show, but that's "Show Biz."

Randy, you will just have to realize that you had something over the ducks. You had your picture taken with the boys and girls and I think the ducks were jealous so they had to make up for it somehow. I want to thank you for allowing us to photograph you again this year.

Randy, I can't tell you how many coloring contest entries were in your mailbox. I really didn't think the judges would ever be able to make a decision as they were all colored very nice. If only I were a "little" younger, I would have entered the contest and colored my picture real nice too! But I'm afraid "my chance" is long gone and now I can only help judge the contest.

Randy, it took the judges and myself three days to complete the screening of the thousands of entries.

After much deliberation they awarded the six shiny new bicycles to:

Cynthia Bateson, 415 W. Central Road, Arlington Heights;

Daniel Fisher, 716 W. Debra Drive, Des Plaines;

Steve Jones, 1539 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights;

Patty Kuzel, 216 S. Donald, Arlington Heights;

Gail Niwa, 7543 N. Overhill, Chicago, and

Steve Paulus, 1103 Brentwood Lane, Mount Prospect.

We certainly hope they enjoy their new bicycles and wish these fine winners continued success.

CONCENTRATION—Four-year-old Maureen Fleege, learning how to control a pencil and develop habits of concentration at the same time, will be among the Montessori students whose work will be watched by trainees, attending a Midwest Montessori Teacher Training Center course this summer. College graduates may learn more about the course by calling 827-8250 or CL 5-5105.

Plan Montessori Teacher Training

A summer training school for persons interested in becoming Montessori teachers or assistants is being planned by Dr. Urban H. Fleege, supervisor of the Northwest Suburban Montessori School, Des Plaines.

Dr. Fleege is also president of the Midwest Montessori Teacher Training Center, Chicago, which will be conducting the training course.

The Northwest Montessori School is offering a partial tuition scholarship, and an interest-free tuition loan, to a teacher willing to intern at the suburban school as part of her training.

THE MONTESSORI training session will be open to college graduates and will begin July 5. The intensive two-months session will be conducted five days a week from 8:30 a.m to 4:30 p.m.

A national team of Montessori teacher trainers will conduct the series of lectures, demonstrations, laboratory and practice sessions. A staff of well-known early learning and child development specialists from five universities will complement the Montessori training team.

Participants in the training program will spend a minimum of 30 hours in observing the application of Montessori theory in a variety of classroom situations, involving both culturally disadvantaged and middle class children.

A nine-month internship will follow, with the trainees assigned to accredited Montessori schools part time. Their work will be completed with the writing of a thesis and passing of a performance examination.

THE MIDWEST Montessori Teacher Training Center program leads to full certification as a Montessori teacher. Persons with such certificates generally receive higher pay than public school teachers, the society says, because of the severe shortage of Montessori-trained teachers.

Persons interested should contact Orpha Mohr, assistant supervisor, at the training center, 1010 W. Chicago Avenue, Chicago.

Tuition for the 12 month program is $1,000 with some scholarships available from some of the schools where applicants intern. (A15

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

A spring-is-busting-out-all-over feeling pervaded the Palatiners' last dance, there's only three more regularly scheduled dances on this season's calendar and who says spring will never get here? Further evidence that it's that wonderful time again is the club's reminder of its annual spring dance, Wednesday, April 27.

One of the most popular "specials" of the year any year, the Palatine Squares' "spring-a-ree" of 1966 will again feature Wally Schultz and co-star Jim Smith and club caller Jim Stewart. Full particulars are available from Lil Langerock, CL 3-7229; tickets will be on sale at Saturday's dance or may be had from any club member.

Saturday's dance, squaring up at 8:30 p.m. in Pleasant Hill School, Palatine, is open to all "square" enthusiasts. In addition to offering a chance to buy tickets for the special, it will be another fine opportunity for a night of fun with one of the most popular clubs in the area. Pleasant Hill School is located at Cedar and Illinois Streets. Be there?

BRONCO SQUARES

Johnny "Redvest" Toth of South Milwaukee, Wis. will be the special guest caller tomorrow night for the Barrington gang's "y'all come" dance in Grove Avenue Grade School. Club publicity says, "He may be short . . . but he stands 10 feet tall in the field of calling." This short, 10-foot tall dynamo will square 'em up at 8 o'clock immediately following the Sanders' round dance workshop which rounds 'em up at 7:30. In case all this exercise makes you hungry and thirsty, there'll be refreshments served throughout the evening. Everybody's welcome to come to school tomorrow night. (A-15

ROLLING MEADOWS

A dessert pot luck supper for parents and cadettes of Troop 633 was held recently so parents could get a glimpse of what their daughters have accomplished during the year.

A film strip was shown by Richard Kocian on a scouting trip to Colorado which Cadettes are planning to take this summer.

The highlight of the evening was a style show prepared by the girls showing clothes that would be necessary for the trip. Janet McCafferty was the narrator.

Among others giving a helping hand in preparing the supper were Mrs. Russell Williams and Mrs. William Young.

Cadettes have been selling nuts during the year to help finance their trip to Colorado which prompted the scouts to present Russell Williams the Champion Nut Eater award because he ate so many nuts to help further their cause.

Mrs. Robert Winsell and Mrs. Edward Meade are leaders of the troop.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Mrs. Phillip Rives and Mrs. Floyd Caldini, leaders of Cadette Troop 401, report their troop has completed the My Government badge. On March 14, 17 girls attended a District 214 High School Board meeting as a final requirement for the badge. Scouts unable to attend that meeting attended a District 57 Elementary School Board meeting. They were accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Barr. The My Government badge was presented to the Cadettes at Court of Awards on March 17. Mrs. Thomas Wardell, Mrs. James Quigley and Mrs. Floyd Caldini attended the candlelight service.

WHEELING-BUFFALO GROVE

Brownie Troop 173 and Junior Troop 889 went to see Peter Pan March 12. Some of the girls were lucky enough to get autographs from the cast. Everyone seemed to enjoy the play very much.

Junior Troop 889 also had a swimming and skating party April 6.

The troop is also busy planning and preparing for their overnight April 30 and May 1. For some of the girls this is their first campout at Camp Pine.

Junior Troop 181 reports they have just returned from their first overnight at Camp Pine on April 4 and 5. Although the weather was not too good everyone enjoyed themselves.

April 7 Junior Troops 423 and 181 went to a cooking demonstration given by the Northern Illinois Gas Company. At the end of the day Lynnea Thorne, of Troop 181, won the drawing for the Whirly-burgers and Beans that had been prepared at the demonstration. All the girls went home starving after smelling all the good cooking aromas. (B-10

Randy Rabbit, You Were Wonderful!

by BEVERLY AIRTH

Dear Randy Rabbit: I want to thank you for a wonderful Easter.

My Easter basket was more than I ever dreamed it would be — overflowing with chocolate Easter eggs, jelly beans, colored Easter eggs and the three baby ducklings.

Thanks so much for the ducks but you didn't have to put them in my Easter basket along with the candy and other goodies, as they ate all my candy and just left me egg shells and a big mess. Randy, I just can't understand you, was this meant to be a joke or are you really trying to be sincere?

Randy, I know the boys and girls sure enjoyed your Bunnyland. I want to compliment you on a very fine job — your castle was beautifully decorated, your flowers were so refreshing, the ducks were of the finest breed, and the wishing well was a very clever idea. We want to thank you for allowing us to put the beautiful Easter display from Jewel bakery in your Bunnyland — everyone certainly enjoyed it.

Randy, I am sorry that you were mad! I want to apologize for those perky little ducklings. I sure hope that they didn't spoil your stay at Randhurst. You ought to know by now that you can't reason with ducklings. I tried, Randy, to tell them to keep their water clean and keep the action down to a minimum, but I guess it is just their natural instinct to swim in the pool, get the water very dirty, and put on an act for everyone watching.

I am sorry these frisky little ducks stole the show, but that's "Show Biz."

Randy, you will just have to realize that you had something over the ducks. You had your picture taken with the boys and girls and I think the ducks were jealous so they had to make up for it somehow. I want to thank you for allowing us to photograph you again this year.

Randy, I can't tell you how many coloring contest entries were in your mailbox. I really didn't think the judges would ever be able to make a decision as they were all colored very nice. If only I were a "little" younger, I would have entered the contest and colored my picture real nice too! But I'm afraid "my chance" is long gone and now I can only help judge the contest.

Randy, it took the judges and myself three days to complete the screening of the thousands of entries.

After much deliberation they awarded the six shiny new bicycles to:

Cynthia Bateson, 415 W. Central Road, Arlington Heights;

Daniel Fisher, 716 W. Debra Drive, Des Plaines;

Steve Jones, 1539 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights;

Patty Kuzel, 216 S. Donald, Arlington Heights;

Gail Niwa, 7543 N. Overhill, Chicago, and

Steve Paulus, 1103 Brentwood Lane, Mount Prospect.

We certainly hope they enjoy their new bicycles and wish these fine winners continued success.

I really must close now, as I have to start working on the 1966 Boat Show, which will be on the mall April 19 through April 24. I know it's really not fair to rush your Bunnyland off the mall and immediately set up something else, but Randy, you had your chance, Easter is over, and the boating season is about to begin.

I know you have to hurry along too, as you have to get started on next year's Bunnyland. Once again, thank you for making my Easter complete, and I can't thank you enough for my Easter Basket. See you next year. (Rh

Harlan Tops Track Triangulars; Lions 2nd in Soph Ranks

Powerful Harlan of Chicago, second in the indoor Oak Park Relays, flashed its outdoor form last week in a triangular victory at Rockne Stadium.

The Chicago Public League entry piled up 74½ points on a varsity level to easily out-distance St. Ignatius (48) and St. Viator of Arlington Heights (23½).

Harlan also topped the frosh-soph competition but experienced more difficulty. St. Viator pushed Harlan at the lower level, scoring 50 points to the Public League team's 55. St. Ignatius was third with 37.

St. Viator scored one varsity first in the meet marred by the weatherman.

JACK HELMER flipped the discus 104 feet six inches to top teammate Jim Hawley who sailed the platter 103 feet six inches.

St. Viator claimed one other individual second place as Ed Brown went 19 feet in the broad jump.

Posting individual thirds for the Lions were Gorman in the pole vault (8-6), Tom McAvoy in the shot put (38-5), and Bob Nemec in the mile run (4:53.8).

ST. VIATOR turned in some strong efforts in frosh-soph ranks with five firsts.

Tom Mungenast covered the high hurdles in 19.5 for one first place award, and Bob Rose got the shot out to 37 feet seven inches and discus to 74 feet.

Mark Pomplun cleared 4-11 in the high jump, and the Lions won the 880 yard relay in 1:47.6 with a team of David Friedrichs, Hussey, John Berielle, and Dom Bellino.

Friedrichs was second in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes and om Carr took runnerup honors in the high hurdles. Bill Balaz was third in the 440.

Live where the streets are wider

Gracious living is reflected in many ways in the Northwest Suburban Area. The parks are cleaner . . . the trees are greener . . . the homes are prettier . . . the sky seems higher . . . even the streets are wider.

They're wider because that's the way they were planned . . . to allow residents even more privacy, more natural beauty and of course, more safety for the family.

When you go to inspect homes for sale with any of the many local Realtors, notice how easy they can travel from home to home, thanks to the uncluttered, uncrowded streets and roads in the area.

See the many home values in this section offered by the many area Realtors each week . . . let them put you on easy street . . . in the Northwest Suburbs.

Sales Rise 33% At Baird & Warner

Baird & Warner's sales volume continues to grow, as first quarter figures show a 33 per cent increase over the same period in 1965, according to John L. Hall, senior vice president and general sales manager for the 111-year-old real estate firm.

He reports total sales of $23,045,075 for a $5,756,208 gain over the $17,288,867 totaled during the first three months last year.

After a slow market in 1965, the sale of apartment buildings with less than 12 units moved sharply upward from 11 to 25 for a 127 per cent increase.

Single-family residences, including co-op apartments, again constituted the bulk of sales. In this category, a 16 per cent increase was noted, with sales totaling 457 for the first quarter of 1966 over the 393 tallied during the same period least year.

A SIMILAR percentage improvement was also noted in vacant land parcels, with sales gaining from 30 to 35. Transactions involving apartment and commercial buildings containing 12 units and over were about even with last year's production and included a large sale leaseback.

The sale of sizable vacant land parcels to commercial and residential developers indicates a growing market for these types of real estate, according to Mr. Hall, who also noted a greatly improved market for residential investment properties shown by the large increase in transactions of this type of property.

Hall points out that the sale of single family dwellings continued to improve because of Baird & Warner's special real estate service for employee transfers and the need for residents already living in the area to move to meet changing family requirements. Mortgage money remains available, he says, although rates are slightly higher from some sources. With continued growth in the Chicago metropolitan community, he predicts another record-breaking year for Baird & Warner, which last year participated in sales totaling over $90 million.

THE FOLLOWING is a breakdown by category of sales transactions:

	1966	1965	% of Inc. or (Decrease)
Gross Sales Volume	23,045,075	17,288,867	33.29%
Residential Properties (Including Co-op apartments)	457	393	16.28%
Apartment Buildings (Under 12 units)	25	11	127.27%
Commercial and Apartment (12 units and over)	22	23	(4.35%)
Vacant Parcels	35	30	16.67%
Miscellaneous	2	0	200.00%

George Tweed Named Division Sales Head

George B. Tweed, 101 W. Orchard Place, Mount Prospect, has been named division sales manager of the Engineered Products Division of Imperial-Eastman Corp., Chicago.

He replaces Michael J. Mitchell who left the position to become a distributor for Imperial-Eastman products in Pittsburgh following a career of 27 years with the company.

TWEED HAS been with the company since 1963. He served for two years as sales manager for the northern California zone, and subsequently, as sales manager for the Midwest zone.

In this new position, his major responsibilities include the sales programs for general industrial and engineered products manufactured by Imperial-Eastman. Newest in the product lines are the Hi-Seal Tube fittings, Nylon 11 tubing, and a full range of fluid control valves for instrument and process service.

A graduate of Northwestern University, Tweed is a member of the Instrument Society of America and Sales Management Executives International.

Milwaukee Orders 1,100 Freight Cars

The Milwaukee Road has placed orders for 1,100 freight cars and 20 diesel locomotives at a total cost of approximately $20.5 million, President William J. Quinn has announced.

Quinn said that this equipment, most of which will be delivered in 1966, is in addition to approximately $15 million in freight cars and locomotives previously scheduled for delivery this year.

Eight hundred of the cars just ordered are box cars of the type most in demand for the shipment of lumber products, having a capacity of 70 tons and being 50 feet 6 inches in interior length. All will have wide doors, with 400 of them featuring a combination door opening to a total width of 15 feet 3 inches to facilitate mechanized loading and unloading of long fabricated parts, plywood and other palletized commodities. Nailable steel flooring will be installed in all of the box cars.

THE OTHER 300 cars in the current orders are 100-ton high cubical capacity covered hoppers which are in great demand by grain shippers. Each has a capacity of 4,427 cubic feet and features trough loading hatches for fast and easy loading. The Milwaukee has been using equipment of this type extensively for the movement of grain in unit trains to eastern milling points and to ports on the eastern seaboard and the Gulf for overseas shipment.

Quinn explained that although wide door box cars are ideally suited to the handling of lumber products, and high capacity hoppers to the handling of grain, both types are extremely versatile and are in demand by shippers of many commodities.

Fourteen of the 20 diesels ordered are 3,000 horsepower units and the other six are 2,800 horsepower. All are specially equipped for high speed, long haul operation between the Pacific Northwest and Chicago, as well as being suitable for use elsewhere on the railroad.

Eighteen diesels of equivalent horsepower which are now being delivered and 24 others delivered last summer are similarly equipped to provide maximum flexibility. By early fall of 1966 the Milwaukee will have added 62 new heavy duty diesel locomotives to its fleet within a period of approximately one year.

QUINN STATED that the Milwaukee's total current commitment for new leased and rebuilt freight handling equipment is an indication of the company's intention to do its utmost to relieve the very acute nationwide car shortage.

The railroad will rebuild or convert about 1,000 freight cars this year, many of which will be lengthened to increase their capacity. This is part of a major car rebuilding program begun by the Milwaukee in 1963 and which has to date put approximately 7,500 freight cars back into service in like-new condition. This program is in addition to routine car repair and upgrading work carried on by the railroad continuously at various points.

"The need for freight cars is a matter of widespread concern," Quinn said. "There is every indication that the strength of the national economy, combined with growing reliance on rail service, will continue to place heavy demands on the railroads for freight handling equipment." (BB

American to Expand Washington Flights

American Airlines will begin jet service between Chicago and Washington National Airport on April 24 with 14 daily nonstop 727 Astrojet flights.

H. D. Silliman, the airline's Chicago regional vice president, said that with the opening of Washington National Airport to jet operations on April 24, American will operate the three-engine Boeing 727 on 14 daily flights—seven in each direction — between Chicago's O'Hare Airport and National Airport in Washington, D. C. One eastbound Electra nonstop flight will be retained from its current schedule.

THE NEW pattern will mean a tripling of American's coach seats on the route—from the present 306 on its Electras to 941 that will be available through the new jet service. Total seats will be increased by the airline to 1,387 from the present 1,278, Silliman said.

American's 727 accommodate 28 first class and 66 coach passengers. Its Electras have 54 first class and 17 coach seats.

REGENT PARK HOMES

2-Bedroom Home Still Exists–at Regent Park

If you're in the market for a new two-bedroom residence with all the latest features, you may have discovered "there's no such animal."

Today's building trends lean to the home with at least three bedrooms and you might look high and low in the Chicagoland area for an up-to-date two-bedroom home but it's doubtful your efforts would prove successful.

However, according to Fred Peterman, sales director, United Development Co. of Chicago has taken the small family (with exquisite tastes) into account in its Regent Park subdivision in Arlington Heights. United, taking a realistic approach to the total home market picture, has constructed two and three bedroom town-and-garden homes which range from $26,200 to $29,500.

REGENT PARK, located on Kensington Road, less than a mile from the Randhurst shopping center, is a 45-acre tract featuring its own private lake, walks, and according to Peterman, the landscaped surroundings alone cost the developer more than $125,000 to create.

The subdivion also has ranch, tri-level and Cape Cod homes, and condominium units.

All town-and-garden models have attached garages, air conditioning, built-in ovens, dishwashers and disposals, insulated sliding glass doors for indoor-outdoor living, woodburning fireplaces, floor to ceiling closets (mirrored in the master chambers), marbleized vanity tops, bathrooms with ceramic tiled floors and walls, slate-floored entry foyers, laundry chutes, sunken garbage cans, birch kitchen cabinets, concrete patios, and storm sash and screens for all movable windows, except those in the basement.

Peterman says three floor plans are available, all featuring family or dining room areas, basements and from 1½ to 2½ baths. Highlight of the three bedroom plan is a walk-in dressing room in the master bedroom area. The models are two-story and/or split-level styles.

NESTLED IN A country club-like atmosphere, Regent Park, in addition to its private seven-acre springfed lake, has its own swimming pool and tennis courts, all available to town-and-garden and condominium residents. Besides pool, a tennis club, and private lake ownership, a small monthly charge entitles town-and-garden homeowners to a complete maintenance program for lawns, gardens and home exterior. The service includes grass-cutting, tree and shrub trimming, exterior painting, and snow plowing of walks and driveways.

If these attractions aren't enough of a lure, Peterman lists these other considerations:

Churches and schools within easy walking distance; the Northwest and Tri-State tollways just a few blocks away; commuter service to Chicago provided by the North Western Railway, and round-the-clock police and fire protection and other municipal services from the village of Arlington Heights.

$700,000 Mortgage Approved

Mutual of New York has agreed to make a long-term $700,000 mortgage loan to finance construction of two one-story industrial buildings in the Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove. The new structures will occupy a 5.85-acre site on the southeast corner of Morse Avenue and Lively Boulevard.

The buildings will provide the D. H. Overmeyer Warehouse Co. with 120,000 square feet of warehouse and office space.

O'HARE International Airport is adjacent to the east, and the site is readily accessible to good highways and the Chicago and North Western Railroad.

The financing was arranged through Devenmuehle, Inc., of Chicago, mortgage loan correspondent for MONY. The insurance company, in business since 1843, has a total of $35,300,00 invested in commercial and residential mortgages in the Chicago metropolitan area. (BB

Privacy Accented At Coventry Green

Coventry Green, a trend-setting suburban office center which puts the accent on quiet and privacy, will be officially opened in Crystal Lake this weekend.

The center, off U.S. Highway 14, was designed to take maximum advantage of a suburban setting. The basic building plan is an "outside-in" quadrangle around picturesque walks, reflective pool, and lawn and garden areas. Landscaping around the exterior will put further emphasis on the suburban atmosphere.

Ladd Enterprises, Inc., built the center. Architect is the firm of Selleg, Stevens, Peterson and Flock, St. Charles.

"THE ARCHITECTS sought an office center which would blend with the open-air environment of a fine suburb," said Roger W. Ladd, president of Ladd Enterprises. "Their design may provide the answer to commercial land use in other communities. Coventry Green is a startling contrast to the side-by-side lineup of buildings often see along busy highways and streets.

Coventry Green occupies 4½ acres. Completed buildings have 13,200 square feet of space, and the eventual plan is for 40,000 square feet. This means buildings will occupy about 20 per cent of the land. The closest buildings are more than 100 feet from the highway.

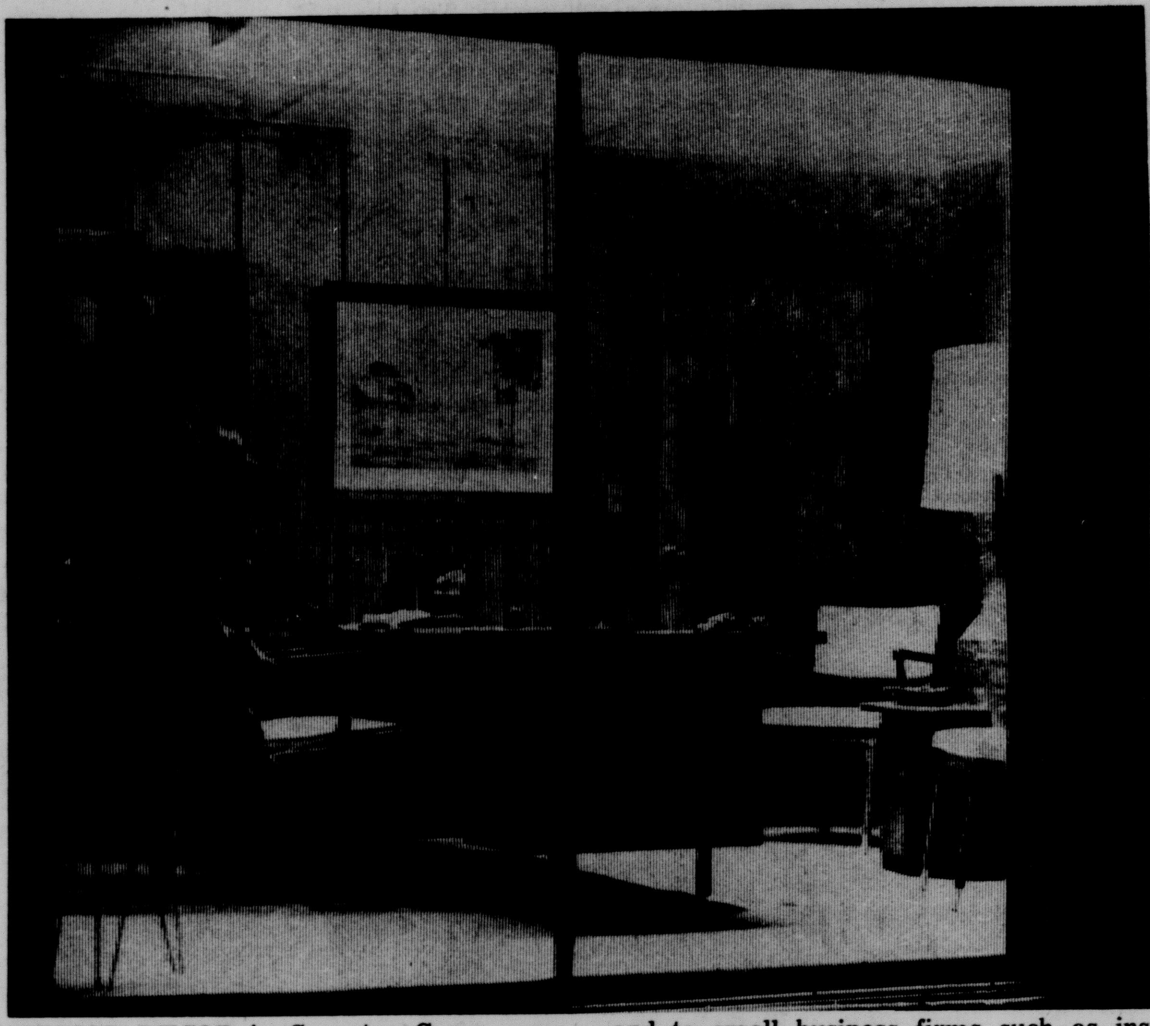
Consistent with the emphasis on privacy, several small parking areas are isolated from each other and will be concealed by landscaping. Because there are no retail shops, parking facilities do not take up much of the open area.

Tenancy in the center is limited to professional men and small business firms. Completed buildings are occupied by doctors, lawyers, an insurance agency, and a firm of public accountants.

GROUND FOR THE second phase of the complex will be broken this summer according to Ladd Enterprises.

"We believe that attractive new offices can attract outstanding professional men to suburban practices," Mr. Ladd added. "Nearly all our growing suburbs need more doctors and other professional people, but good office space has been a limiting factor."

He commented further: "Major new office centers such as Oakbrook have convinced suburbanites that commercial buildings can be an attractive community feature. Now, the new design of a small quadrangle surrounded by greenery can solve the problem of commercial land use between major highways and established residential sections."



INTERIOR DECOR in Coventry Green, new professional office center in Crystal Lake, puts the accent on suburban quiet and privacy. Tenancy in the center is limited to doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, and to small business firms such as insurance agencies. Ladd Enterprises has completed 13,200 square feet of the center and plans to build another 26,800 square feet starting this summer.

THURS., APR. 14, 1966

SENIOR STUDENTS from Prospect High School are conducted on a "fact tour" of town-houses, condominiums and private homes in the Regent Park subdivision of Arlington Heights. Fred Peterman (extreme left), sales director, explained the planned unit development theory, as done by United Development Company in Regent Park. The tour was part of the students' course on housing and home financing. Mrs. Breiding is the class instructor (shown in picture second from the left.)

Coventry Green is a startling contrast to the side-by-side lineup of buildings often see along busy highways and streets.

Coventry Green occupies 4½ acres. Completed buildings have 13,200 square feet of space, and the eventual plan is for 40,000 square feet. This means buildings will occupy about 20 per cent of the land. The closest buildings are more than 100 feet from the highway.

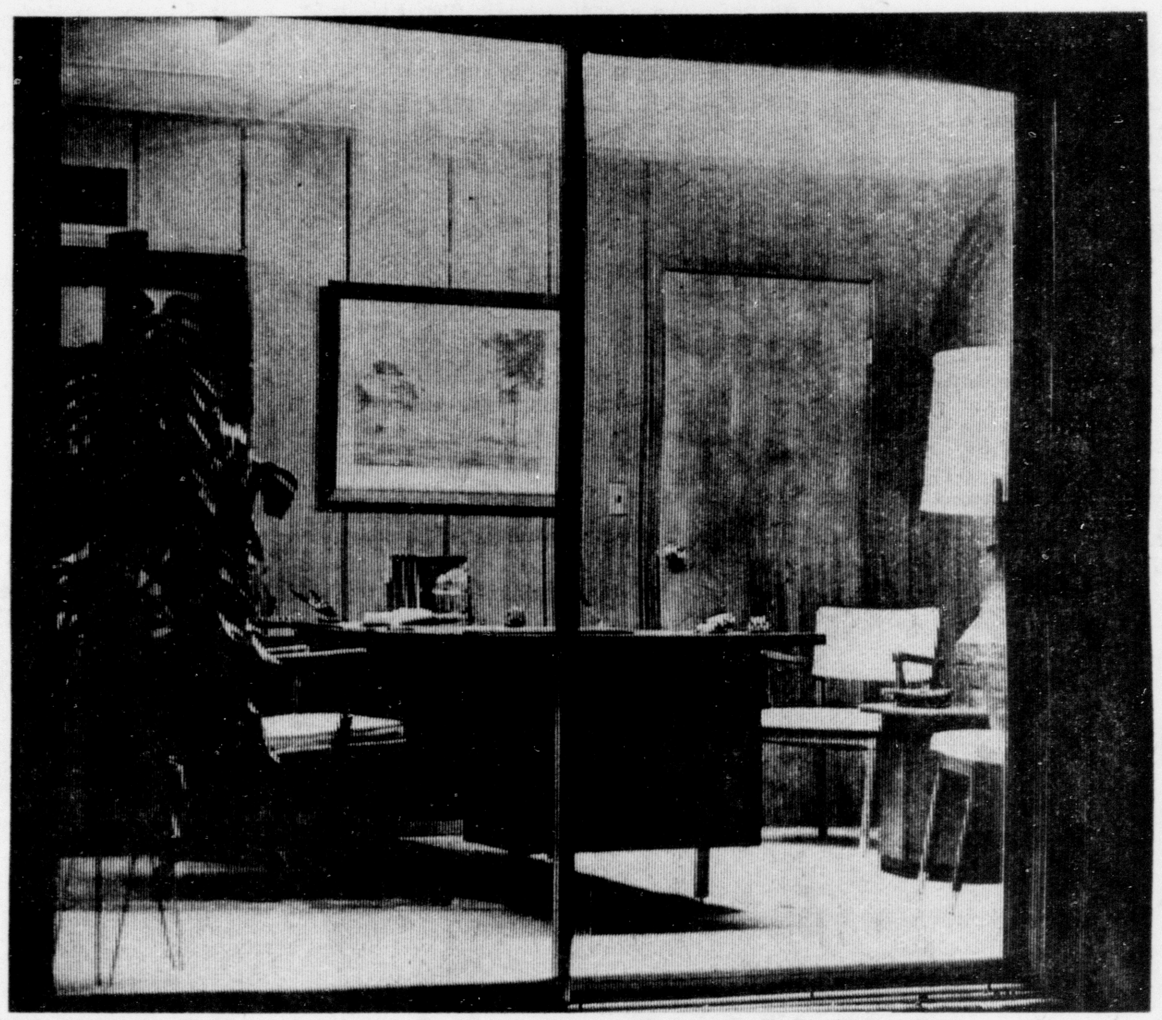
Consistent with the emphasis on privacy, several small parking areas are isolated from each other and will be concealed by landscaping. Because there are no retail shops, parking facilities do not take up much of the open area.

Tenancy in the center is limited to professional men and small business firms. Completed buildings are occupied by doctors, lawyers, an insurance agency, and a firm of public accountants.

GROUND FOR THE second phase of the complex will be broken this summer according to Ladd Enterprises.

"We believe that attractive new offices can attract outstanding professional men to suburban practices," Mr. Ladd added. "Nearly all our growing suburbs need more doctors and other professional people, but good office space has been a limiting factor."

He commented further: "Major new office centers such as Oakbrook have convinced suburbanites that commercial buildings can be an attractive community feature. Now, the new design of a small quadrangle surrounded by greenery can solve the problem of commercial land use between major highways and established residential sections."



INTERIOR DECOR in Coventry Green, new professional office center in Crystal Lake, puts the accent on suburban quiet and privacy. Tenancy in the center is limited to doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, and to small business firms such as insurance agencies. Ladd Enterprises has completed 13,200 square feet of the center and plans to build another 26,800 square feet starting this summer.

THE ESSEX, an intriguing home influenced by Early American and rural French cultures is one of the models now on display in Cambridge. Approaching this home with its diagonal wing and curved, sweeping driveway, one can hardly imagine that it is built on three living levels. The upper level has three bedrooms including a master bedroom with its private entrance to the full bath. The second level has a family-size kitchen, with dining area and a large California-style living-dining room combination. Six steps down is the very large family room, a fourth bedroom and another full bath. The Essex, with finished family room, is priced $27,750.

Cambridge Homes Have Broad Appeal

Have the All-American homes been created by a Chicagoland builder?

It would seem so in reviewing opening sales at Cambridge, the newest development of Richard J. Brown Associates, Inc.

"Many of our first sales were made to people who previously lived in areas scattered from coast to coast and who have been accustomed to dramatically different styles of homes and modes of living dictated by climate and environment," Richard J. Brown, development firm president, reported.

"I have been in the home-building field for years and should be used to surprises," Brown said, "but the manner in which these sales were made and the immediate, enthusiastic acceptance of our homes by people from all parts of the country was really unusual.

"Take for example one buyer from St. Louis who is a senior sales representative with a chemical firm," Brown said. "He and his wife spent part of a Friday afternoon at Cambridge, went back to their motel, then came back the next morning to sign a contract to purchase our tri-level Sussex model."

"ONE CALIFORNIA couple came into our models one Saturday morning and had filled out the final purchase agreement on our Essex model before 4:30 p.m. The husband, an airline maintenance controller and his wife were on their way back to California that night.

"Another California couple, a salesman and his wife, had been renting in Chicago for nearly a year and had shopped many developments," Brown said. "They inspected Cambridge in the morning and by afternoon had made their selection of a Kent model."

"A New York man, a senior analyist for a large firm, had been looking for a home for eight months and told me that he 'had seen them all,'" Brown continued. "He said his wife had told him so many times exactly what she wanted that after having seen the York model, all he was going to do was call her up and tell her to get ready to move."

A man from Massachusettes, an operations manager, and his wife had been home hunting for over a year. They saw our Eton model and decided to buy it in less than one day."

"THE SALE that was most unusual of all," Brown concluded, "was to a methods-and- procedures man from Wisconsin who had been renting here for about a year. He brought a friend to Cambridge who was moving to Chicago from Wisconsin. What started out as just showing his friend around ended with the local man buying a York model, while his friend, who came to look at homes returned to Wisconsin to bring his wife back to see Cambridge."

Cambridge is offering five different homes with numerous elevation and floor-plan variations ranging from 3 to 6 bedrooms. Prices start at $25,900.

The Cambridge community is being built on a 100-acre site formerly occupied by the Palmgren Wholesale Nursery. According to Brown, every effort is being made to save the hundreds of trees on the property and the shrubs and sod will be used to provide complete landscaping for each home which, except for grass cutting, will be maintained for a year after occupancy.

Cambridge is located across the road from Arlington Country Club on Dundee Road, Route 68, just one mile west of Route 83. It has all modern facilities including such innovations as underground wiring, and is within walking distance of a brand new grade and junior high school, a modern shopping center and a new medical center. ROMANTIC Mediterranean accents blended with traditional Cape Cod architecture produce an unusual and interesting effect in the "Champlaine" model, recently introduced in Fidelity Builders' Tallyrand development in Arlington Heights. The home, available with a choice of 4 or 5 bedrooms, has 2½ bathrooms, and offers a large master bedroom suite, complete with dressing room and private bath, which occupies an entire upper wing of the house. Typical of Old World-inspired touches is a Spanish spindle rail which serves as a divider between the breakfast area and the family room. A two-car garage is attached. by DOROTHY MEYER

Now that the robins are back and it's spring, I find myself thinking about fall housecleaning again. I've thought about it every spring and fall since Oct. 15, 1958, when I housecleaned for the last time. (I refer, of course, to the seasonal in-depth cleaning—I have vacuumed and dusted a little from time to time since that fateful date 7½ years ago.)

It was the kids' rooms that started the whole thing. At fall house cleaning time in 1956, I did the kids' rooms first, and then I was so frustrated that I couldn't bear the thought of any more in-depth probing in the rest of the house. The next year I did the rest of the house first, but then was too pooped to consider adding frustration to fatigue. In 1958 I did one kid's room, then part of the rest of the house, next the second kid's room—and I had a nervous breakdown.

OBVIOUSLY THE kids' rooms caused it, and after years of research I think I know why. Kids' rooms are full of knoodles, krudnik and gunk, and there's hardly a mother around who realizes it. Having made a thorough study of the subject, I'd like to pass on my K K & G report with a few suggestions that even I may follow in the future.

Most mothers wouldn't recognize knoodles, krudnik and gunk if it jumped up and bit 'em which is about the only thing it doesn't do. So definition is improtant. We'll take gunk first because it's biggest.

Gunk is closely related to junk which everyone knows is wheel-less trucks, limbless dolls and handleless anything that's supposed to have a handle. Gunk is the accumulation of wheels, limbs and handles—and it never matches the junk. I used to spend hours trying to fit one to the other. Besides the nervous breakdown I got a fleet of toy trucks that limped, dolls whose feet pointed north while their heads faced south and a big bunch of handles with handles. Save your time—preserve your sanity—THROW EVERYTHING OUT!

THROW OUT THE kids, too, if they're around. Don't ever ask them to help. The first time I did, my No. 1 child retired to the far corner of the room and quietly peeled three square feet of paper off the wall, No. 2 salvaged everything I discarded, and No. 3 brought in half-dozen little friends "to help." So out, out, out with gunk, junk, kids and friends, and give yourself room to tackle the knoodles and krudnik.

Knoodles and krudnik are somewhat alike, except krudnik is stickier. A broom or vacuum cleaner will get the knoodles, but you'll need a putty knife and the white tornado to loosen krudnik. Some disinfectant is a good idea, too. For instance, a half-slurped sucker swaddled in dust pussies stuck to the linoleum under the bed, is krudnik. You'll want the disinfectant because krudnik is also a green-whiskered apple core rolled in mouldy graham cracker crumbs in the desk drawer with the little pieces of crayon.

LITTLE PIECES of crayon brings us to knoodles which is partly made up of very tiny pieces of crayon-the walked-on kind. Knoodles can usually be swept up. Therefore, walked-on crayons, chalk dust, chips of woodwork and granulated plastic toys are knoodles. Kids who apparently aren't strong enough to lift a bar of soap can reduce even peach pits to knoodles consistency.

A note of caution: don't burn knoodles, krudnik and gunk. Bury it. The first time I touched a match to a batch of the stuff it blew up and took a side off the neighbor's garage. Either pulverized peach pits and mouldering grahams are a combustive combinaton, or our kids are stockpiling detonators camouflaged as sucker sticks.

Now that I've solved my own housecleaning dilemma and the robins are back and it's spring, I think I'll go outside and watch the grass grow.

The Price Is Not Right

Picture Watcher in Misery

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

Our local Art League isn't aware of what it is doing to me. . .unintentionally, of course.

Unless your family is very different from ours, you've spent a goodly amount of time waiting in reception rooms, usually doctor's or dentist's, as we have. I feel that the lovely art work displayed there is not only in hopes of attracting buyers, but is meant to soothe our nerves as is the soft, background music.

Well, it isn't working for me. I always have been pleased to study a new display, enjoying the colors, techniques and composition of the pictures. I admit that I know very little about painting except I know what pleases my eye. If a picture meets with my approval, I'll mentally shake my head "yes" at the suggested price that is listed. If not, I think, "Oh, no! what a nerve."

IT'S A LITTLE game I enjoy playing, and it is better than sitting there conjuring up the doctor's diagnosis (which can become more dire as the minutes tick by). I've fully enjoyed this pastime of picture watching until recently. Lately, I'll have to admit, I have been just plain miserable.

It has been necessary for me to pay regular visits for some time now to my doctor because of a stubborn ear infection. As it was sometimes a little painful, I haven't exactly looked forward to these visits, and this was before the Art League hung their paintings. Now, the ear is improving, and I should be less skiddish, but I am worse, much worse.

I'll never forget the first time that I looked at "it." My breath sort of left my body, and I stood there feeling definitely dizzy. My inner ear trouble, you think? No, I felt an "O-o-oh, I've just got to have that" feeling go through me.

HAVE YOU ever seen a movie that begins with the camera zeroing in on a colorful painting and with a gradual fade-out and fade-in the characters are performing inside the picture? That is what happened to me. I found myself mentally transported into the scene. . .walking in a snowy orchard behind an old shed or barn.

I fell in the snow with a sharp thud when my conscious, practical eye noted the listed price. The whole experience unnerved me, so I hurried over to study a still life until it was time for my appointment.

One morning not long afterward, I thought I'd see if I could find an understanding heart among my friends. As we sipped our coffee and nibbled our sweet rolls, I casually began a conversation about the Art League displays and mentioned my experience in an off-hand way. Everyone laughed politely, and I thought, "Well, that's that. . . no one understands."

THEN THE lady sitting next to me leaned over and whispered, "I have a picture at home that 'does something' for me, too. It is an abstract painting full of gorgeous colors. It never looks the same to me twice. I've hung it in my bedroom so that I can look at it in private and revel in its particular beauty."

We nodded and exchanged a sympathetic smile.

A few days later I recalled a conversation that I had had with a guest in our home. We were discussing two paintings that I have in my living room. One is of my childhood home and the other a pastoral scene of the Ohio countryside where I was reared. I have a sentimental affection for these paintings, which were painted by an old friend. I feel very comfortable with them.

SUDDENLY MY guest said, "When I was in New England a few summers ago, I was browsing in an antique shop when a painting of an old covered bridge caught my eye. I felt the price was prohibitive, so I walked out without buying it."

Then he said, with a twinkle in his eye, "Come over to the parsonage sometime to see it. It's really a wonderful painting! It makes me feel guilty everytime I think of what it cost!"

"Hm-m-m," I thought, "I wonder if I could dare to do the same."

It was soon time to keep another appointment. Thank goodness, my doctor is an old Navy man and runs a tight ship. At least, I wouldn't have to be in the grip of temptation more than a few minutes.

EVEN SO AS I approached the reception room, my knees began to feel weak and my mouth became excessively dry. I looked around the room furtively. Yes, it was still there! I hurried past with my head averted and gulped down a few mouthfuls of water at the water cooler.

A reprieve! An acquaintance approached, and we had a brief chat. The time of reckoning had to come eventually, and I felt myself irrestibly drawn to "my" painting.

As I studied it, I again felt myself a part of the picture. I sternly shook myself, gave the price a cold appraisal and walked away. That frame is wrong. Those colors wouldn't blend into my living room. No painting is worth all that money.

I took out a tissue and quietly wiped away a tear.

Pet's Faith in Humans Restored

A Happy Ending for Cat

by DORIS M. LISKE

What happened to "It"? It appeared that calamity had overtaken another abandoned cat. The temperature dipped to 20 below zero and hovered around that mark each night while attaining zero or slightly above during the day. There had been no sign of the cat for five days and the food I put out quickly froze and remained untouched.

I remarked to my husband on the sixth day, "It seems useless to put any more food out. The cat must have frozen to death."

"Something has happened or It would have been around for the food," he answered.

WE SAT EATING dinner but I had no appetite. I looked at the clock. It was 5:45 p.m., the cat's usual arrival time. Suddenly for some unexplained reason, I jumped up and looked out the window. There was It by the evergreens looking for food.

"It's there," I cried to my husband and, grabbing a handful of food, dashed out into the sub-zero cold and snow, minus coat and boots, as though I had found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. The strong arctic wind whipped me, but I was only conscious that the cat was there and by some miracle had survived the 20 degrees below zero temperature.

It did not attempt to flee this time but looked at me, crying piteously. I put the food on a bare spot of ground and ran back in the house to fix more on a dish. Hurriedly donning a jacket and gloves, I rushed outside again, crying to my husband, "I am going to try to get the cat in."

THAT WAS the understatement of the year. The cat gulped the food down faster than Fat Beagle gulps his and he is noted for being a champion gulper. As soon as the cat finished eating, I picked It up, but It had other ideas. Between the frantic wriggling and two large scratches on my arm, I was forced to drop the cat. It retreated behind the evergreens and commenced meowing. Normally It would have made a hasty disappearance, but the cat was cold, famished and desperate.

I ran to our garage door and opened it part way, hoping the cat might seek shelter inside. As I walked back to the evergreens, It ran past me and, as I had hoped, toward the garage. It went inside, and I quickly shut the door. And now my understanding husband entered the picture. I gladly accepted his offer to assist in getting the cat from the garage, which housed one car and one jalopy, into the basement.

SO HERE WE were, two husky adults and one little scared cat. This should be easy. What a delusion! While he tried to entice the cat from underneath one car, It would take refuge under the other one. He finally blocked off our jalopy to find the cat had climbed on top of the left front wheel on the other car. After a long drawn out game of hide-and-go-seek combined with sore heads resulting from our banging them on the under part of the car, my husband managed with a gentle prodding of the broom handle to grab It and was also favored with some scratches.

I held the basement door open as he cautiously deposited the cat on the stairs. We hastily closed the door and sank exhausted on the nearest chairs. Now that we have It, what do we do with It, we asked ourselves.

I THOUGHT of our wounds with a feeling of alarm. What did we know about this cat, where it had been or what it had encoutered? It had belonged to a former neighbor, but six months had intervened and this poor weatherbeaten creature bore little resemblance to the pretty sleek cat that once had a home.

"What if we get rabies from these scratches?" I cried to my husband.

"I don't think we will," he replied. "It looks all right outside of being the dirtiest cat I have ever seen."

However, we scrubbed our injuries with plenty of hot water and soap and applied rubbing alcohol. Then armed with a disinfectant cat bath, we proceeded to the basement and after searching behind all the discarded junk that a basement acquires, discovered It had taken refuge on top of the heating register near the ceiling.

DURING THE next few weeks we became quite acrobatic from taking turns in getting It down from its sanctuary. In fact, I missed the exercise after It relaxed sufficiently to descend to a shelf where we fixed a bed near the heat register.

That cat could not get enough heat or food the first few weeks. It was amazing what the combination together with plenty of scrubbing and brushing had accomplished. The incredibly dirty cat had turned into a beautiful specimen with a thick glossy coat. We decided to call her Taffy and when I held out her food, she soon responded to her name. When she finished eating, she would put her nose in my palm and move it back and forth as if saying, "Thank you."

WE TOOK Taffy to a veterinarian for examination prior to letting her mingle with Trixie (Overstuffed and Pampered) and Mike (Fat Beagle). He gave her a complete check-up and pronounced her in good condition. We introduced her to Trixie first. Since they are both lady cats, the impact was not too painful. The resentment and jealousy were primarily Trixie's.

We delayed the introduction of Taffy to the beagle until several days after she met her fellow cat, not because we were worried about her but were apprehensive as to what would happen to him! It was not too good. Mike, like most beagles, is a friendly, effervescent dog and he approached her, tail wagging, anxious to meet the creature he had been seeing from a distance. Although we had her nails clipped, they can still hurt as he quickly discovered when that lightning like paw struck out and hit his nose. It was some time before he ventured close again.

"TIME IS the greatest healer." Taffy is no longer frightened and desperate and does not run and hide at the slightest noise. She has even accepted our beagle! Now we have two cats and one dog lying next to each other on the rug. And to all you animal abandoners or potentials, try it some time for a feeling of well being and peace of mind. But you do not have any feeling excepting for your callous selves.

There is now a definite promise of spring in the air. I opened the kitchen door to let the warm sun penetrate through the storm door. Something was slinking along close to the ground by the evergreens. Oh, not again. It was a big, black cat!

"Something has happened or It would have been around for the food," he answered.

WE SAT EATING dinner but I had no appetite. I looked at the clock. It was 5:45 p.m., the cat's usual arrival time. Suddenly for some unexplained reason, I jumped up and looked out the window. There was It by the evergreens looking for food.

"It's there," I cried to my husband and, grabbing a handful of food, dashed out into the sub-zero cold and snow, minus coat and boots, as though I had found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. The strong arctic wind whipped me, but I was only conscious that the cat was there and by some miracle had survived the 20 degrees below zero temperature.

It did not attempt to flee this time but looked at me, crying piteously. I put the food on a bare spot of ground and ran back in the house to fix more on a dish. Hurriedly donning a jacket and gloves, I rushed outside again, crying to my husband, "I am going to try to get the cat in."

THAT WAS the understatement of the year. The cat gulped the food down faster than Fat Beagle gulps his and he is noted for being a champion gulper. As soon as the cat finished eating, I picked It up, but It had other ideas. Between the frantic wriggling and two large scratches on my arm, I was forced to drop the cat. It retreated behind the evergreens and commenced meowing. Normally It would have made a hasty disappearance, but the cat was cold, famished and desperate.

I ran to our garage door and opened it part way, hoping the cat might seek shelter inside. As I walked back to the evergreens, It ran past me and, as I had hoped, toward the garage. It went inside, and I quickly shut the door. And now my understanding husband entered the picture. I gladly accepted his offer to assist in getting the cat from the garage, which housed one car and one jalopy, into the basement.

SO HERE WE were, two husky adults and one little scared cat. This should be easy. What a delusion! While he tried to entice the cat from underneath one car, It would take refuge under the other one. He finally blocked off our jalopy to find the cat had climbed on top of the left front wheel on the other car. After a long drawn out game of hide-and-go-seek combined with sore heads resulting from our banging them on the under part of the car, my husband managed with a gentle prodding of the broom handle to grab It and was also favored with some scratches.

I held the basement door open as he cautiously deposited the cat on the stairs. We hastily closed the door and sank exhausted on the nearest chairs. Now that we have It, what do we do with It, we asked ourselves.

I THOUGHT of our wounds with a feeling of alarm. What did we know about this cat, where it had been or what it had encoutered? It had belonged to a former neighbor, but six months had intervened and this poor weatherbeaten creature bore little resemblance to the pretty sleek cat that once had a home.

"What if we get rabies from these scratches?" I cried to my husband.

"I don't think we will," he replied. "It looks all right outside of being the dirtiest cat I have ever seen."

However, we scrubbed our injuries with plenty of hot water and soap and applied rubbing alcohol. Then armed with a disinfectant cat bath, we proceeded to the basement and after searching behind all the discarded junk that a basement acquires, discovered It had taken refuge on top of the heating register near the ceiling.

DURING THE next few weeks we became quite acrobatic from taking turns in getting It down from its sanctuary. In fact, I missed the exercise after It relaxed sufficiently to descend to a shelf where we fixed a bed near the heat register.

That cat could not get enough heat or food the first few weeks. It was amazing what the combination together with plenty of scrubbing and brushing had accomplished. The incredibly dirty cat had turned into a beautiful specimen with a thick glossy coat. We decided to call her Taffy and when I held out her food, she soon responded to her name. When she finished eating, she would put her nose in my palm and move it back and forth as if saying, "Thank you."

WE TOOK Taffy to a veterinarian for examination prior to letting her mingle with Trixie (Overstuffed and Pampered) and Mike (Fat Beagle). He gave her a complete check-up and pronounced her in good condition. We introduced her to Trixie first. Since they are both lady cats, the impact was not too painful. The resentment and jealousy were primarily Trixie's.

We delayed the introduction of Taffy to the beagle until several days after she met her fellow cat, not because we were worried about her but were apprehensive as to what would happen to him! It was not too good. Mike, like most beagles, is a friendly, effervescent dog and he approached her, tail wagging, anxious to meet the creature he had been seeing from a distance. Although we had her nails clipped, they can still hurt as he quickly discovered when that lightning like paw struck out and hit his nose. It was some time before he ventured close again.

"TIME IS the greatest healer." Taffy is no longer frightened and desperate and does not run and hide at the slightest noise. She has even accepted our beagle! Now we have two cats and one dog lying next to each other on the rug. And to all you animal abandoners or potentials, try it some time for a feeling of well being and peace of mind. But you do not have any feeling excepting for your callous selves.

There is now a definite promise of spring in the air. I opened the kitchen door to let the warm sun penetrate through the storm door. Something was slinking along close to the ground by the evergreens. Oh, not again. It was a big, black cat!

Here's Haugh to Plan a Party

Hail Spring with a Luncheon

by DOLORES HAUGH

At last the winter blue-greys are turning to bright yellow sunshine and the dogwood will be in bloom soon. What fun this is, to "force" a few blossoms for a Springtime Luncheon.

INVITATIONS

You may find in the gift shops a dogwood or forsythia print type paper, as a well-known paper products company does manufacture this print. If you feel like you would like to be creative, however, then purchase some plain white note paper and with brown ink make a slanting sweeping stroke from lower left-hand corner towards the upper right hand corner, using a small watercolor paint brush. At intervals, place notches, which should be V-shaped and placed alternately on the painted branch. Be sure that you curve this, as the real ones that you will choose to "force" will be of that type. If you have any artistic ability or imagination, cut a branch and copy it just as any artist would do.

Next, cut bright blossoms of the dogwood, carefully placing them in the notches of the branch. These may be cut from yellow tissue paper, and you may want to use the remaining paper for the wrapping of favors, prizes, awards, etc.and tying them with green velvet ribbons and tucking in a small spray of "forced" flowers. If you wait long enough to have this party, you may save yourself the trouble of "forcing" the blossoms and just go to the yard and cut them.

In order to "force" this type of heavy stemmed bush, cut slantwise and then hammer the ends of the branches. Place them in warm to hot water, and let them rest in the dark, preferably a cool place. A few days before you wish them to blossom, bring them up to the sunlight. If this fails, but permanent (or artificial, if you will) flowers.

As for the invitation, after the art work is finished open the note paper and write the following in brown ink:

Lo, Spring has come; at last we see blossoms, buds upon the trees. Sunshine fills our thoughts; you surely, too, must feel the rising of our souls to Spring.
To celebrate, we've set a plate. Below you'll note the time and date — a luncheon there will be.

State time, date, and ask for a response so that you may prepare for the correct number of guests. Also ask each guest to bring a sample if she has anything in bloom in her garden. It should be wrapped and with her name on a card.

DECORATIONS

You will undoubtedly want to serve in the brightest sun-filled room you have. As an added touch, wear a bright yellow and tender green print apron over a plain yellow dress. This is mentioned for you may wish to set the table with a matching print. An all-over yellow and green print material is not hard to find in almost any catalogue, yard goods section or drapery mart.

You can, if you are handy, make aprons for prizes and merely pink them if you do not want to sew them. This may be done with felt also, using brown and yellow applique on yellow organdy and wide green satin ribbon for the streamers.

MAKE RUNNERS for the table and make it a sit-down luncheon as everyone is tired of winter and will want to talk of pleasant things. The runners may be made 20 inches wide and the length of your table with a 12-inch drop at each end, exposing the wood of your table and enhancing the bright blossoms and the floral print.

The latest trend is to mix prints so if your chinaware has a print of yellow and green, use it. Otherwise, the old stand-by rule of thumb applies, plain with print. Use pottery of solid brown, yellow or green. The centerpiece will be forsythia placed in a dark brown pottery pitcher with a bright bird perched near by.

Use green or amber glasses and use contrasting bright yellow napkins, rolling them into cone shape, pulling back the corners to resemble trumpet blossoms. Place them in the glasses.

MENU

Start the luncheon by serving apricot nectar with orange sherbet. A light, bright, sunny yellow fruit salad may be the main course and a blessing to weight watchers. Use mandarin oranges, apricots, peaches, yellow grapes, grapefruit, melon balls and serve them in grapefruit baskets.

These are made by cutting the grapefruit in half and cutting out the center for use in the salad. One-half inch from the cut edge, slit the skin, leaving about one inch on each side uncut. Carefully bring the cut sides up and tie with green ribbon. Heap fruit salad inside. Top the fruit salad with a washed spray of flowers or make a wreath of them around the edge of the grapefruit basket.

SERVE HOT rolls, bright relishes of celery roses. These are made by cutting off the bottom of a bunch of celery so that the stalks remain intact. Place a rubber band high on the stalk before cutting off the bottom core. Then carefully disassemble the celery, cleaning each stalk and placing it in order as it is removed.

Make a filling of soft cream cheese sparked with horseradish and catsup, keeping the mixture spreadable but not too thin. Start with the smallest celery stalk and fill, replace each stalk. Replace rubber bands in three places to hold and return whole celery to refrigerator so that cheese becomes hard. Remove and slice from bottom of celery at intervals of about one-quarter inch. These are lovely and the instructions take longer than the process.

To keep in the green and yellow theme you may wish to tint the cheese with green food coloring and omit the catsup, substituting a tiny bit of tobasco sauce. Round out the menu with nuts and mints in yellow and green. Serve coffee topped with whipped cream.

ENTERTAINMENT

As each guest arrives, have her place her "sample" flower in a separate glass. Place card face down under glass. Do not let the others see what she has brought as this will be a game of guessing who brought what. Awards for the game may be tiny plants which may later be added to one's garden.

Talking, one of women's favorite indoor sports, may be the entertainment or if you wish to play games or cards, follow the theme using duplicate designs of the invitation on the tallies, scoresheets, coasters and matchboxes.

So open up your windows, freshen up the house, bring Spring into your home and heart because she is so very, very welcome. Spring into action now. (SSD

These are made by cutting the grapefruit in half and cutting out the center for use in the salad. One-half inch from the cut edge, slit the skin, leaving about one inch on each side uncut. Carefully bring the cut sides up and tie with green ribbon. Heap fruit salad inside. Top the fruit salad with a washed spray of flowers or make a wreath of them around the edge of the grapefruit basket.

SERVE HOT rolls, bright relishes of celery roses. These are made by cutting off the bottom of a bunch of celery so that the stalks remain intact. Place a rubber band high on the stalk before cutting off the bottom core. Then carefully disassemble the celery, cleaning each stalk and placing it in order as it is removed.

Make a filling of soft cream cheese sparked with horseradish and catsup, keeping the mixture spreadable but not too thin. Start with the smallest celery stalk and fill, replace each stalk. Replace rubber bands in three places to hold and return whole celery to refrigerator so that cheese becomes hard. Remove and slice from bottom of celery at intervals of about one-quarter inch. These are lovely and the instructions take longer than the process.

To keep in the green and yellow theme you may wish to tint the cheese with green food coloring and omit the catsup, substituting a tiny bit of tobasco sauce. Round out the menu with nuts and mints in yellow and green. Serve coffee topped with whipped cream.

ENTERTAINMENT

As each guest arrives, have her place her "sample" flower in a separate glass. Place card face down under glass. Do not let the others see what she has brought as this will be a game of guessing who brought what. Awards for the game may be tiny plants which may later be added to one's garden.

Talking, one of women's favorite indoor sports, may be the entertainment or if you wish to play games or cards, follow the theme using duplicate designs of the invitation on the tallies, scoresheets, coasters and matchboxes.

So open up your windows, freshen up the house, bring Spring into your home and heart because she is so very, very welcome. Spring into action now. (SSD

Cook's Specialty Is Meat Balls

Delicious Dinner Entree, Fare for Smorgasbord

by LOIS SEILER

Whether served as the entree for dinner or as part of a smorgasbord, the Swedish Meat Balls featured today are delicious dining fare.

The recipe belongs to Mrs. Forrest A. Oldenburg of Arlington Heights, whose parents were born in Sweden. This has been in her family for many years and continues to be a great favorite.

SWEDISH MEAT BALLS

1 pound round steak
¼ pound pork
2 egg yolks, beaten
¾ cup evaporated milk
1 finely-chopped onion, sauteed
¾ cup cornflake crumbs
1 teaspoon sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
½ teaspoon ground allspice

Mix ingredients together and form into small meat balls. (The mixture will be moist.) Brown in butter; then simmer, covered, until done, about 30 minutes. Serves 5 for dinner, or use as part of a smorgasbord.

PORK TENDERLOINS EN CASSEROLE

7 pork tenderloin patties, cut in halves
1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
¾ cup sherry wine
1 5-ounce can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 large can sliced mushrooms, drained
¼ green pepper, chopped fine
¼ teaspoon crushed thyme

Brown the pork tenderloin patties in butter; place in baking dish or roasting pan and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Combine the remaining ingredients and pour over tenderloins. Cover and bake one hour at 325 degrees. Serve over rice. Serves 5.

PINEAPPLE-ORANGE MOLD

1 package pineapple-orange Jello
2 cups water
1 can pineapple chunks, drained

Dissolve Jello in boiling water. Chill until partially set. Fold in pineapple and turn into an oiled mold. Place in refrigerator until firm.

Ruth Oldenburg makes these meat balls using both ground round steak and pork. Eggs, evaporated milk and cornflake crumbs give them body, while onion and allspice add zest. The meat balls are browned and then simmered for a mere half hour. They are tender and tasty and have a moist texture. "The pan drippings make a delicious gravy for mashed potatoes," Mrs. Oldenburg commented.

However, for a buffet she recommends cheese-baked potatoes and a salad as accompaniments.

"THE MEAT balls can be made a day ahead and reheated in the oven," Ruth explained, "and the recipe can easily be doubled or tripled for a large group."

Another of this good cook's specialties is a recipe that was originally designed for chicken. She substituted pork tenderloin patties with pleasing results.

The patties are cut in half, browned and then placed in a casserole. Cream of chicken soup and sherry wine are used to make a sauce, with crispy water chestnuts, mushrooms and green pepper adding texture and flavor. Thyme is used as a seasoning.

Baked for an hour, the ingredients make a rich and creamy gravy which, with the pork, is delicious served over rice.

This dish has a unique taste all its own and can be served successfully for a luncheon or dinner. As an accompaniment, Mrs. Oldenburg suggests a pineapple-orange mold and hot rolls. The flavor of the salad complements the savory pork. Butterscotch brownies are recommended by this good cook for dessert.

"THIS IS AN easy meal to serve to guests, as there is no last-minute fuss," Mrs. Oldenburg commented.

The Oldenburg family moved from Kansas City, Mo., to their home at 1517 N. Harvard in Arlington Heights almost five years ago. They have four children: Camille, 16, who is a junior at Arlington High; Marta, 14, a freshman; John, 13, a seventh grader at Thomas, and Charles, 11, who is in fifth grade.

Mrs. Oldenburg is house and hostess chairman for Circle 5 of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church and belongs to the Associate Newcomers' Club.

A DINNER which features their mother's delicious Swedish meat balls and cheese baked potatoes is sure to bring smiles to the faces of Marta, Camille, John and Chuck Oldenburg of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Forrest A. Oldenburg prepares this Swedish specialty by an old family recipe, and the meat balls are excellent to serve as the entree for a dinner or as part of a smorgasbord. (SH

Chicken Dish Tangy With Blue Cheese

Calico Chicken is a delectable baked entree of white meat of chicken, brilliant green broccoli, saucy cheddar cheese soup and tangy blue cheese. Peppy parmesan cheese forms a crisp topping on the casserole.

Calico Chicken may be varied by substituting tuna or turkey for the chicken, and tender asparagus spears or green beans for the broccoli.

Complete your dinner with hot corn bread and a citrus fruit salad. Lemon meringue pie and plenty of hot coffee will be a perfect finish.

CALICO CHICKEN

4 chicken breasts
2 packages frozen broccoli spears
½ cup crumbled blue cheese (about 3 ounces)
2 cans cheddar cheese soup
¼ cup parmesan cheese
3 green pepper rings, optional

Gently simmer the chicken until done. Remove meat from bones. Cut or tear meat into nice large pieces. Cut the broccoli lengthwise into thin stalks.

In a buttered casserole place a layer of chicken, then a layer of broccoli. Spoon soup over broccoli. Crumble blue cheese on top. Alternate layers until chicken, broccoli and blue cheese are used.

Spoon soup on top. Sprinkle parmesan cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until mixture is lightly browned and bubbly. Garnish with pepper rings, if desired.

Week's Best Food Buys

Post-holiday wholesale costs are generally higher. Retail meat prices hold firm but slightly lower than weeks ago, especially bacon and some fresh pork roasts. Beef is being promoted. Fryers featured in more stores. Eggs are up again. Turkeys have been dropped from the promotion list.

Fresh produce problems persist. Quality is low, especially for tomatoes and early cantaloupe. Cucumbers and peppers are scarce. Other survey findings indicate the following Chicago area food values:

Meats: blade cut chuck roast, rolled rump roast, round and sirloin steaks, beef rib roasts; spareribs, pork tenderloin.

Poultry: fryers.

Produce: asparagus, spinach, green onions, radishes, greens, endive, escarole, lettuce and cabbage. (SH

Cheesy Nibbles

Simply cut a good cheese pastry into assorted shapes, decorate with California ripe olives, brush with butter and sprinkle with more cheese before baking. Or, just as good, roll the pastry around whole olives and shape into neat little balls before baking.

Chili Dressing

For an extra-spicy French dressing, add a half-teaspoon of chili powder with the other seasonings in place of the pepper or paprika. SH

Sunday Waffle

Fold blue cheese into waffle batter for your Saturday or Sunday brunch. Top the waffles with fresh or frozen fruits.

We reserve the right to limit quantities. Prices effective thru Saturday, April 16, 1966.

GARDENING TIPS

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

FROM THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

by MARY B. GOOD

April 14

A colonial bouquet of violets is a morale-boosting antidote for spring shower doldrums.

April 15

Roses can be fully uncovered by April 15, providing spring is normal.

April 16

In controlling broad leaved weeds, don't apply 2-4-D to lawns, unless air temperatures are above 70 degrees.

April 17

Much damage is done through the careless handling of chemicals in the home garden. Today's tip: Be sure to read labels thoroughly on all fertilizers, fungicides, etc., before use, and follow directions carefully to avoid plant losses, as well as possible harm to humans and pets.

April 18

Enjoy a fun-filled night out and at the same time learn the gentle art of flower arranging at the Arlington Heights Garden Club workshop, 7:30 p.m., Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez.

April 19

Plan to increase your gardening experiences by planting some new seeds you've never tried in previous years.

April 20

If you're so inclined, why not watch the Top 'O the Morning program, (7:05 daily, channel 9, WGN-TV). Designed primarily as a "farm show," it offers a wealth of horticultural information amidst an interesting and educational format.

April 15

Roses can be fully uncovered by April 15, providing spring is normal.

April 16

In controlling broad leaved weeds, don't apply 2-4-D to lawns, unless air temperatures are above 70 degrees.

April 18

Enjoy a fun-filled night out and at the same time learn the gentle art of flower arranging at the Arlington Heights Garden Club workshop, 7:30 p.m., Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez.

Susan Jo Carle Is Bride Of Christopher Sergel Jr.

In a double ring service that took place March 5 in First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights, Miss Susan Jo Carle, daughter of the Elmer Carles, 18 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, became the bride of Christopher Sergel Jr., son of the senior Christopher Sergels of New York City.

The couple met as students at Ripon College where the bride completed studies as an art major last December. The groom is now studying at Roosevelt University where he is a philosophy major.

Officiating at the 1:30 p.m. service was Rev. Robinson.

ESCORTED BY HER father the bride wore an A-line gown of white alpaca peau with fingertip veil, and carried a traditional bouquet of lily of the valley and white roses.

Her maid of honor was her sister, Christina Carle, who wore an empire gown fashioned with chiffon bodice of moss green and ivory crepe floor-length skirt. In the same ensembles were the bridesmaids, Miss Ann Carol Toffoli and Miss Margaret Moeller, both of Arlington Heights. All carried sprays of yellow daisies.

Attending the groom as best man were George Despotis of Chicago and David Beck of Mundelein and Allen Cook of Maryland as ushers.

THE RECEPTION for 100 guests was held in Old Orchard Country Club where Mrs. Carle received in a blue linen suit with pink orchid corsage and Mrs. Sergel in a green mohair suit with white orchid corsage. Among the guests were the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Sergel, and the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Schwass of Butternut, Wis.

Following a weekend honeymoon the newlyweds are residing at 630 Roscoe St. in Chicago, where the bride is near her work in Montgomery Ward's art department and the groom near his studies and his work at the Dramatic Publishing Co. and Sergel Art Gallery. (S

Americans Like Living In Families

The single state may be bliss, but Americans apparently don't believe it. The vast majority of people in this country live in families, and the number of families has increased markedly in the past 18 years.

According to statisticians at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., there were about 47.8 million families as of March, 1965, a gain of about 12 million in 18 years.

By 1980 they predict there will be some 62 million U.S. families. The experts attribute the spurt in part to the many millions of post-World War II babies reaching marriageable age.

HOW MANY individuals live in families? A whopping 177.6 million people or 92 per cent of the resident population.

About a quarter of the heads of families are under 35, and another quarter are between 35 and 44. Seven out of eight families are headed by a husband whose wife is present. About one out of every 10 families has a woman as its head, including widows and divorcees.

NEW COFFEE POTS purchased by St. Paul United Church of Christ Woman's Guild will be in use Wednesday, April 27, when the women present their annual spring luncheon in Fellowship Hall of the Palatine Church. With ham as an entree, members will bring a variety of salads and desserts to complete the luncheon. Checking the new equipment recently were Mrs. Bruce Stabelfeldt, chairman of the luncheon, Mrs. Thomas Ormerod, who is in charge of decorations, and Mrs. William Webb, who is handling press relations. Americans Like Living In Families

The single state may be bliss, but Americans apparently don't believe it. The vast majority of people in this country live in families, and the number of families has increased markedly in the past 18 years.

According to statisticians at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., there were about 47.8 million families as of March, 1965, a gain of about 12 million in 18 years.

By 1980 they predict there will be some 62 million U.S. families. The experts attribute the spurt in part to the many millions of post-World War II babies reaching marriageable age.

HOW MANY individuals live in families? A whopping 177.6 million people or 92 per cent of the resident population.

About a quarter of the heads of families are under 35, and another quarter are between 35 and 44. Seven out of eight families are headed by a husband whose wife is present. About one out of every 10 families has a woman as its head, including widows and divorcees.

Atcher Proposes A Citizens Panel

An "advisory panel" of citizens' representatives from the 3rd Illinois Senatorial District in Cook County was proposed this week by Robert O. Atcher, Republican candidate for state senator for the district.

Atcher asserted that residents of the district (comprised of the townships of Wheeling, Palatine, Hanover, Schaumburg, Barrington and Elk Grove and portions of Maine and Northfield) "have never been given an opportunity to maintain a close contact with their state senator."

ATCHER, WHO IS mayor of Schaumburg, said he is "convinced that a closer relationship must be established between voters and lawmakers."

The advisory panel, Atcher said, "would invite political, civic and business representatives from our 3d district communities not only to become community listening posts, but to seek the opinions of the people who live in the district and pass them along to me."

He will meet regularly with the panel, Atcher declared, "to discuss pending legislation and make sure we are mutually informed about how best to go about representing the 3d District in Springfield."

ATCHER SAID the panel "will fill a serious void in our district." He said he would rely on the panel "to make regular, positive and realistic propcsals for the district."

In return, Atcher pledged he would give the panel "a real voice in Springfield.". (B-10

Basak Paces Lion Victory

Len Basak staged an impressive offensive show last week as St. Viator's sophomore Lions rocked Palatine, 9-1.

Basak collected a double and two singles, stole three bases, drove in three runs, and scored three runs.

John Wendell contributed two hits for the winners. Len Molway slapped out a double for the Pirates' long blow.

Brian Rooney worked on the hill for St. Viator and allowed three hits. Dick Strauss, Norm Lohse, and Pat Donahue toiled for Palatine with Strauss absorbing the setback.

Cards Take Jayvee Test

Arlington had no trouble coasting past Elgin Tuesday afternoon in a junior-varsity tennis match.

Coach Tom Pitchford's Cardinals didn't lose a set and only faltered in nine games en route to an effortless 5-0 victory.

Bob Von Boeckmann (6-1, 6-1), Jim Esser (6-3, 6-2), and John Jarecki (6-1, 6-1) were singles winners for Arlington.

Brian Burke and Dave Milligan worked in first doubles and John Brost and Matt Weeg toiled in the No. 2 slot, and both Cardinal units fashioned 6-0, 6-0 routs.

BILL COOK BUICK has been flirting with the top all through the Paddock Classic Traveling League's 1965-66 season, missing first by six points in round one, and remaining in a strong second as the teams move down the stretch in round two. The team members, pictured here, are Norb Leja, Ted Geiersbach and Paul Borvig, first row; and Captain Al Jordan, Al Haase and alternate Ed Williams, back row.

Bill Cook Buick Eyes Two 1966 Successes

THURS., APR. 14, 1966

(This is the 12th in a series of stories on the sponsors in the Paddock Classic bowling leagues for men and women.)

"It looks like another big year."

That comment from Bill Cook, founder and president of Arlington's Bill Cook Buick, could as easily apply to the fortunes of the bowling team the agency sponsors as it does to the tempo with which Buicks have been moving out of the showroom.

For Bill Cook Buick, the bowling team, is one of the most potent alignments in the Paddock Classic Traveling League, a team that still has a chance to gather up the PCTL's second round laurels in the 1965-66 campaign.

That Bill Cook Buick, the auto agency, has been successful, there can be no doubt. It has been ever since Bill Cook opened the doors to a modest facility on Vail Avenue in Arlington in 1957.

THE BUICK dealership didn't stay rooted long on that spot. In the pattern familiar with many of the bustling auto dealerships in Northwest Suburbia, the time to move and expand came quickly.

It came, more precisely, in October of 1960, when the jump was made to the present facilities at Euclid and Northwest Highway. The motivation was simple: to expand Bill Cook's sales and service.

"We do everything we can," said Cook, "for the buyer, everything to make his visit to Bill Cook Buick a one-stop deal."

To that end, in addition to its location at the busy but convenient corner, Bill Cook Buick offers a three-car showroom and a service area that can handle 35 cars simultaneously. The service attendants work on a double shift, providing their efforts from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 a.m., an 18-hour day.

THERE'S ALSO a diversity for the buyer, with the regular Buick line available, plus the compact Opel Kadett and a large complement of used cars. The hours at Bill Cook, open six days a week, are 9 to 9 weekdays and 8 to 6 on Saturday.

Cook himself bowls only socially, but keeps a justifiably proud interest in the team he sponsors. It's a team with a strong winning tradition.

In the 1960-61 season, it was a Bill Cook Buick team that won it all, winning the first round crown outright and handling Bill Bond's Men's Wear in the season's roll-off. In 1964, the current team—bowling in the name of Rolling Meadows Bowl—won the league's honors, and in 1965, it just missed the second round crown carried off by Pioneer Lanes.

THIS SEASON, Bill Cook Buick missed by six points the first round title. But even now, with the second round drawing to an end, it is Bill Cook Buick that has been most menacing to leader Concourse Sports Chalet.

The regulars on the team are five high-average bowlers, with one of them—Paul Borvig—fourth in the league's individual rankings. He's currently carrying a 195.22 standard, with a high game of 278 and a high series of 662.

His teammates, with averages, are Ted Geiersbach, 191; Al Haase, 189; captain Al Jordan, 188; and Norb Leja, 186.

They still have designs on that elusive first place, but win or lose, it will have been a big year.

Lions Open Loop Tennis With Win

The play of sophomore John Allare in singles highlighted St. Viator's victory over Holy Cross Tuesday in the Chicagoland Prep League opener for both schools.

Allare, who is unbeaten in three meets this season, toppled Ray Bachmann of the Crusaders in three sets, 6-,4 1-6, 7-5 to spark the Lions' impressive 3-2 victory.

"Allare has been looking real good," praised Lion coach Pete Dunderdale. "He's had some tough matches and has come through for us."

DAVE HARRIS gave St. Viator another singles point Tuesday when he fashioned a 6-2, 6-4 victory in the number two

Greg Leydig and John Lavigne posted a 7-5, 6-4 win in first doubles for the third Lion marker.

In other meets this season St. Viator tripped up Glenbrook South, 3-2, and dropped a 3-2 decision to Glenbrook North.

Allare fashioned a 6-2, 6-4 win in first singles against South, and Bill Gordon also scored in singles. Lavigne and Leydig claimed a victory in first doubles.

In the meet with Glenbrook North Allare posted a 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory in first singles. Harris claimed a win in third singles for the other Lion point.

Card Sophs Third In Quad Net Meet

Arlington's frosh-soph tennis team scored seven points and finished third Saturday in the New Trier Quadrangular.

Coach Bob Knilans' Cardinals trailed first place New Trier by six points and runnerup Oak Park by three.

Blue Island was blanked.

Arlington's only team victory came against Blue Island as the young Cardinals racked up a 5-0 shutout.

Bob Gallagher, Rick Tindall, and Chuck Gibbel didn't have too much difficulty in singles play against Blue Island.

Gallagher whipped Brian Edwards in No. 1 play, 8-4, and Tindall fashioned an 8-2 win in second singles. Gibbel blanked Randy Visser in No. 3 play, 8-0.

In doubles Paul Stevens and Bill Stelling coasted, 8-1, in the number one position. Dennis Conrad and Ken Jorgensen dumped Jim Gooley and Dale Jurich in No. 2, 8-4.

Oak Park whipped the Cardinals, 3-2, taking the three singles matches.

Stevens and Stelling gave Arlington one point with an 8-4 win in first doubles against Dave Barons and Kirk Kubicek. Bob Crockett and John Harmon toppled Jeff Wooley and Steve Karch in second doubles, 8-2.

Powerful New Trier whipped the frosh-soph Cards, 5-0, although it wasn't as easy as the score indicates.

Stevens and Stelling were edged 8-6 in first doubles and Crockett and Harmon went to the wire before falling 8-7.

Gallagher dropped his No. 1 singles match 8-5 in another close battle.

St. Viator Soph Track Team Wins

A convincing victory on the frosh-soph level gave St. Viator High School a split Monday in track and field competition with Immaculate onception.

The Lions routed I.C. in frosh soph ranks, 82-51, but dropped a tight 61½-56½ varsity decision.

Bellino sparked the Lion frosh-sophs as he picked up victories in the 100 yard dash (11.5) and 220 yard dash (25.0).

Also scoring individual firsts were Botterman in the 440 yard dash (62.9), Cunningham in the mile run (5:14.7), Mungenast in the high hurdles (19.2), Rose in the shot put (34-5½), Zimoski in the discus (105-4), and Stuckel in the pole vault (7-4).

St. Viator gained five firsts in the varsity meet.

Bob Nemec covered the mile run in 4:51.9, and Bill Roser moved over the low hurdles in 22.7.

Coach Tom Hansen's Lions collected three victories in the field events with Ed Brown in the broad jump (18-11¾), Dennis Forston in the shot put (44-½), and Roy Gorman in the high jump (5-4).

Bob Cooper gave the locals seconds in both dashes, and Pete McCall was second over the high and low sticks. Forston added a second in the discus to his shot put win, and Peterhans was second in the mile run.

Knights Win One, Lose Two in Track

There wasn't a close meet Tuesday afternoon as Prospect engaged Highland Park in three levels of track and field competition.

Highland Park coasted to varsity and freshman victories, and the Knights waltzed to a 22-point sophomore win.

Jack Pollard was a double winner for Prospect's varsity in an 87-31 setback.

The Knight senior won the 880 yard run in 2:05.5 and the mile run in 4:56.4.

Vaughn Pedersen claimed seconds over both the high and low hurdles, and John Jacobsen was second in the mile and third in the 880.

Dennis Breen took a third a the mile, and Doug White placed in both the shot put and discus. Phil Cordina was third in the high jump and second in the pole vault.

Prospect took the sophomore meet, 70-48, with three double winners.

Dan Ducey topped the high and low hurdles, and Mike Corteen flashed to firsts in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Steve Holmes won the 880 and mile.

Bruce Boult gave the Knights a first in the pole vault.

Bill Benoche was a busy performer with seconds in the 440, discus, and shot put.

On a freshman level Highland Park gained an 80-38 victory.

Basak Paces Lion Victory

Len Basak staged an impressive offensive show last week as St. Viator's sophomore Lions rocked Palatine, 9-1.

Basak collected a double and two singles, stole three bases, drove in three runs, and scored three runs.

John Wendell contributed two hits for the winners. Len Molway slapped out a double for the Pirates' long blow.

Brian Rooney worked on the hill for St. Viator and allowed three hits. Dick Strauss, Norm Lohse, and Pat Donahue toiled for Palatine with Strauss absorbing the setback.

Cards Take Jayvee Test

Arlington had no trouble coasting past Elgin Tuesday afternoon in a junior-varsity tennis match.

Coach Tom Pitchford's Cardinals didn't lose a set and only faltered in nine games en route to an effortless 5-0 victory.

Bob Von Boeckmann (6-1, 6-1), Jim Esser (6-3, 6-2), and John Jarecki (6-1, 6-1) were singles winners for Arlington.

Brian Burke and Dave Milligan worked in first doubles and John Brost and Matt Weeg toiled in the No. 2 slot, and both Cardinal units fashioned 6-0, 6-0 routs.

BILL COOK BUICK has been flirting with the top all through the Paddock Classic Traveling League's 1965-66 season, missing first by six points in round one, and remaining in a strong second as the teams move down the stretch in round two. The team members, pictured here, are Norb Leja, Ted Geiersbach and Paul Borvig, first row; and Captain Al Jordan, Al Haase and alternate Ed Williams, back row.

Bill Cook Buick Eyes Two 1966 Successes

(This is the 12th in a series of stories on the sponsors in the Paddock Classic bowling leagues for men and women.)

"It looks like another big year."

That comment from Bill Cook, founder and president of Arlington's Bill Cook Buick, could as easily apply to the fortunes of the bowling team the agency sponsors as it does to the tempo with which Buicks have been moving out of the showroom.

For Bill Cook Buick, the bowling team, is one of the most potent alignments in the Paddock Classic Traveling League, a team that still has a chance to gather up the PCTL's second round laurels in the 1965-66 campaign.

That Bill Cook Buick, the auto agency, has been successful, there can be no doubt. It has been ever since Bill Cook opened the doors to a modest facility on Vail Avenue in Arlington in 1957.

THE BUICK dealership didn't stay rooted long on that spot. In the pattern familiar with many of the bustling auto dealerships in Northwest Suburbia, the time to move and expand came quickly.

It came, more precisely, in October of 1960, when the jump was made to the present facilities at Euclid and Northwest Highway. The motivation was simple: to expand Bill Cook's sales and service.

"We do everything we can," said Cook, "for the buyer, everything to make his visit to Bill Cook Buick a one-stop deal."

To that end, in addition to its location at the busy but convenient corner, Bill Cook Buick offers a three-car showroom and a service area that can handle 35 cars simultaneously. The service attendants work on a double shift, providing their efforts from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 a.m., an 18-hour day.

THERE'S ALSO a diversity for the buyer, with the regular Buick line available, plus the compact Opel Kadett and a large complement of used cars. The hours at Bill Cook, open six days a week, are 9 to 9 weekdays and 8 to 6 on Saturday.

Cook himself bowls only socially, but keeps a justifiably proud interest in the team he sponsors. It's a team with a strong winning tradition.

In the 1960-61 season, it was a Bill Cook Buick team that won it all, winning the first round crown outright and handling Bill Bond's Men's Wear in the season's roll-off. In 1964, the current team—bowling in the name of Rolling Meadows Bowl—won the league's honors, and in 1965, it just missed the second round crown carried off by Pioneer Lanes.

THIS SEASON, Bill Cook Buick missed by six points the first round title. But even now, with the second round drawing to an end, it is Bill Cook Buick that has been most menacing to leader Concourse Sports Chalet.

The regulars on the team are five high-average bowlers, with one of them—Paul Borvig—fourth in the league's individual rankings. He's currently carrying a 195.22 standard, with a high game of 278 and a high series of 662.

His teammates, with averages, are Ted Geiersbach, 191; Al Haase, 189; captain Al Jordan, 188; and Norb Leja, 186.

They still have designs on that elusive first place, but win or lose, it will have been a big year.

Lions Open Loop Tennis With Win

The play of sophomore John Allare in singles highlighted St. Viator's victory over Holy Cross Tuesday in the Chicagoland Prep League opener for both schools.

Allare, who is unbeaten in three meets this season, toppled Ray Bachmann of the Crusaders in three sets, 6-,4 1-6, 7-5 to spark the Lions' impressive 3-2 victory.

"Allare has been looking real good," praised Lion coach Pete Dunderdale. "He's had some tough matches and has come through for us."

DAVE HARRIS gave St. Viator another singles point Tuesday when he fashioned a 6-2, 6-4 victory in the number two

Greg Leydig and John Lavigne posted a 7-5, 6-4 win in first doubles for the third Lion marker.

In other meets this season St. Viator tripped up Glenbrook South, 3-2, and dropped a 3-2 decision to Glenbrook North.

Allare fashioned a 6-2, 6-4 win in first singles against South, and Bill Gordon also scored in singles. Lavigne and Leydig claimed a victory in first doubles.

In the meet with Glenbrook North Allare posted a 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory in first singles. Harris claimed a win in third singles for the other Lion point.

Card Sophs Third In Quad Net Meet

Arlington's frosh-soph tennis team scored seven points and finished third Saturday in the New Trier Quadrangular.

Coach Bob Knilans' Cardinals trailed first place New Trier by six points and runnerup Oak Park by three.

Blue Island was blanked.

Arlington's only team victory came against Blue Island as the young Cardinals racked up a 5-0 shutout.

Bob Gallagher, Rick Tindall, and Chuck Gibbel didn't have too much difficulty in singles play against Blue Island.

Gallagher whipped Brian Edwards in No. 1 play, 8-4, and Tindall fashioned an 8-2 win in second singles. Gibbel blanked Randy Visser in No. 3 play, 8-0.

In doubles Paul Stevens and Bill Stelling coasted, 8-1, in the number one position. Dennis Conrad and Ken Jorgensen dumped Jim Gooley and Dale Jurich in No. 2, 8-4.

Oak Park whipped the Cardinals, 3-2, taking the three singles matches.

Stevens and Stelling gave Arlington one point with an 8-4 win in first doubles against Dave Barons and Kirk Kubicek. Bob Crockett and John Harmon toppled Jeff Wooley and Steve Karch in second doubles, 8-2.

Powerful New Trier whipped the frosh-soph Cards, 5-0, although it wasn't as easy as the score indicates.

Stevens and Stelling were edged 8-6 in first doubles and Crockett and Harmon went to the wire before falling 8-7.

Gallagher dropped his No. 1 singles match 8-5 in another close battle.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by

BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

Look for Mound Gems Friday . . .

Every game is important when a team is striving to grab a conference championship, but there's that something special attached to St. Viator's home meeting with Holy Cross Friday afternoon.

The season is still young, but the Lions and Crusaders are two respected schoolboy powers and they're both intent on nailing down the Chicagoland Prep League championship.

Claiming a victory Friday would be a gigantic step forward in the quest for a conference title.

Both St. Viator and Holy Cross reached state tournament status last spring.

The Lions advanced to Peoria after a so-so season and drove to second place behind Peoria Manual. Holy Cross carried a 21-3 record and conference title into the prep finals but suffered a loss in its first tourney outing.

Both teams are loaded with talent, and Friday's meeting should be a battle to the wire with a dazzling pitchers duel.

Holy Cross, coaced by former St. Viator coach Frank Mariani, will lead with right-hander Joe Sanchez, a former St. Viator student.

Sanchez, one of the brightest mound prospects to ever hit the Paddock area, transferred to Holy Cross after his sophomore season at St. Viator, sat out a year, but is off to a rocket start in 1966. He's 3-0 with 42 strikeouts in 21 innings, and the Major League scouts are extremely interested.

Sanchez, a 5-10, 175-pounder, earned all-conference honors in his days at St. Viator and fired a no-hitter at St. George as a freshman with the varsity. Joe had a 1.66 earned run average with the Lion varsity as a frosh and hit .317.

Expected to oppose Sanchez Friday is St. Viator right hander Jerry Donahue, another young man who has the scouts interested and who can fire the ball with authority.

Donahue hasn't yielded an earned run in 20 innings this spring and he has 34 strikeouts. He set down St. Joseph 1-0 Monday in his first conference start.

St. Viator and Holy Cross tangled twice last spring, and they both emerged with one-run victories. Donahue picked up a 3-2 decision but suffered a 1-0 setback over ten innings despite racking up 19 strikeouts.

Lloyd Meyer, who guided Arlington Heights to fifth place in the national Legion baseball finals last summer, has been signed as a contract scout for the New York Mets, and he's busy screening the Chicago area. He's trying to see as many games as possible and admits there are some fine prospects in the Paddock area.

Hubbard Picks Northwestern . . .

Northwestern University has landed one of the prize scholar-athletes in the Chicago area.

Bruce Hubbard of Arlington High School has signed a football tender for Northwestern.

Hubbard, a straight A student who is interested in a law career, had been considering Northwestern, Michigan, and Colorado before making it official with the Wildcats.

Bruce enjoyed a spectacular fall as a senior end on Al Allen's varsity Cardinals. The 6-6, 200-pounder was an all-conference selection and did some work on the Arlington record book.

Hubbard pulled in 24 passes for 499 yards and four touchdowns. He set a school mark with his total yardage but fell short of the season pass receiving standard of 28 set in 1959 by Gene Dahlquist.

Hubbard's biggest game was

JOE SANCHEZ

the season opener at Barrington when he pulled in nine passes for 167 yards, school marks for a single contest. He snared a 44-yarder from quarterback Steve Allen with 57 seconds left to give the Cards a 27-20 win.

But the biggest reception of Hubbard's senior year came with 1:42 remaining against Hinsdale. The Cards were trailing 12-7 at the time, but Hubbard was all alone as he gathered in a perfect strike from Allen and he covered the final 35 yards of the 60-yard maneuver unmolested.

Hubbard was a regular forward in basketball, tossing in 226 points and serving as honorary captain, and now he's working in the hurdles for the varsity track squad and maintaining his straight A average.

Fred (Fritz) Peterson will probably get his first Major League start against the Baltimore Orioles. The New York Yankees go to Baltimore after their opening series at Detroit, and manager Johnny Keane likes to use left-handers there. Peterson is a rookie lefty who prepped at Arlington high. "I want to give Peterson a start during the first week or so," Keane says. "He's certainly earned it."

Trackmen Are Warming Up . . .

Once the weather clears up and the prep trackmen are given some mild conditions outside, look for a spectacular season in Illinois.

The preps have already shown that they're headed for a big year.

As a starter, Roy Houston of Evanston is back and he won Illinois titles in both the 440 yard dash and broad jump as a junior.

Houston went :51.4 in the 440 indoors and had a 49 flat in a dual outdoors with York—and didn't win. The Dukes' Al Janulis upset Houston with a :48.9, and Roy was disqualified for running out of his lane.

The top mark outdoors so far is a 6-6¼ high jump by Steve Becker of Springfield. That's better than the state high school mark of 6-5¼ set by Bill Palmer of Arlington in 1967, but new standards have to be recorded at the schoolboy finals. Becker went 6-5 in an outdoor dual.

Tom Bayless, an All-State football player from East St. Louis, has whipped the discus 171 feet three inches, and his coach feels he can reach 190 feet this spring.

Alton has a sophomore (Avery Wallace) who sailed 23-5½ in the broad jump last Saturday.

This is just the beginning. More marks will start filtering in to this office as the weather warms up, and Paddock Publications, a leading voice on prep track, will once again present a weekly honor roll and name an All-State team.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Arlington blew a 6-0 lead and lost an 11-7 decision to York in West Suburban Conference baseball. . . Johnny Sujack had nine strikeouts in three innings before his arm stiffened up. . . Ron Ashley cracked out three hits. . . Mike Spinello carded a 69 as Arlington's golfers trounced Palatine. .

Falcons Begin This Afternoon

FV Hosts West Leyden; May Be 'Down' Campaign

by Michael Hess

This could be a "down" season for Forest View golfers, at least that's what coach Al Kintzle predicts.

"I don't think we'll be as strong as we have been the last two years," says FV's headman. "Our goal is to come out around .500."

Should Kintzle's forecast be correct the '66 campaign would mark a decline for Falcons golf forces. Last spring Forest View had a 7-4-1 overall record and was second, at 5-2, in the Mid-Suburban League.

From that '65 squad a pair of senior lettermen, Al Piehl and Kent Gedmen, have returned. They'll be joined by juniors Doug Turner and Steve Pierce with Hank Baylis, Marty Boratyn and Dane Paladino, other juniors, competing for the fifth spot.

THOSE SEVEN will lead Forest View against its initial opponent of the season this afternoon at 4:00. The enemy, over the Falcons, home Mount Prospect Country Club course, will be West Leyden.

Topping the FV links entry will probably be Piehl. He averaged a low 78 strokes per 18 hole round last year. That figure includes the Forest View school record of 74 and a 39-41-80 for ninth place in the district. Piehl's best nine hole match score one season ago was a 38.

"Piehl has the potential to be one of the best golfers in this area," Kintzle states, He should help us a lot."

Gedmen's lowest 18 of 1965 was an 88. In the M-SL meet he had a 51-45-96 but is expected to show considerable improvement this time around.

TURNER AND Pierce were on the Falcons frosh-soph unit last year. The younger FV golfers compiled a 9-2 over-all record and were 6-1, second, in the conference.

Turner averaged 46 strokes for every nine hole match last year. His best scores were a pair of 40's. He added a 12 hole total of 50 and an 18 of 84 during regular season competition. Turner had a 45-50-95 in the Mid-Suburban meet, tying him for 10th best.

Lowest nines turned in by Pierce a year ago were scores of 42 and 48. He had a 56-52-108 for the 18 hole M-SL event. "Pierce played a lot of golf over last summer," comments his coach, "and he's certain to be improved."

Looking ahead to this season's conference race, Kintzle sees Prospect as the team to beat. "I have no doubt that Prospect will be strong," states Forest View's headman. "They've had good teams in the past but they could be better than they've been in four or five years."

THE FALCONS BEGIN a five meet M-SL schedule against Conant on May 4.

Though the varsity outlook for the coming season is not overly optimistic, FV's frosh-soph picture is a bit brighter. "We have some good sophomores back from last year and a couple of freshmen who are hitting the ball well," Kintzle says. "We should fair pretty well at the soph level."

Expected to be the mainstays of the F-S level are Brian Wolff and Fred Lauing. Wolff's best nines last year

Aim For .500 Mark

Wheeling's Linksmen To Open On Monday

by MICHAEL HESS

Familiarity may breed contempt but, in sports, knowing something well may also breed better performance. That's the hope for Wheeling golf.

"We have all our lettermen back this year," says 'Cats coach Jack Berry. "They've played a lot, they have experience, and we should improve."

Improvement, if it comes, could start Monday in Wheeling's first links dual of 1966. West Leyden will be the 4:15 p.m. opponent over the Chevy Chase Country Club course.

Improvements will try to be made on the Wildcats 1-10 record of last season. That mark includes a last place finish, at 0-7, amoung Mid-Suburban League entries and a last place gained in district competition.

IMPROVEMENT MAY be the result of efforts by Wheeling's eight varsity golfers. They are senior lettermen Al Eisenstein, Bob Boenig, Dick Fontecchio, Dave Quirsfeld and Steve Poulos, juniors Ken Holliday and Bob Selan and transfer Ken Rideout.

"There are 12 meets on our schedule this season," Berry comments. "Right now I think we should be able to win at least six of them. At least our goal right now is .500."

Most pressure to achieve the 6-6 goal during the coming campaign will fall on the senior emblem wearers. They led the 'Cats in 1965.

Best of the Wheeling golfers last spring was Eisenstein. He competed in 13 matches and carded his team's low score in seven. Over 189 match holes he used 931 strokes, an average of 88.7 per 18 holes. Eisenstein had a 90 in the M-SL meet, a 92 in district.

NOT FAR BEHIND Eisenstein were Quirsfeld and Boenig.

For every 18 played Quirsfeld averaged 90.1. He had the Wildcats lowest 18 score for the year, an 80, and also the best nine hole count, a 39. Quirsfeld posted an 89 in the conference meet and followed with a 92 in Arlington Opens Tuesday; Three Lettermen Return

by Bob Frisk

A senior-dominated Arlington High School golf team, stripped of key performers by graduation and transfer, will take out the irons and woods next Tuesday afternoon and launch the 1966 schedule.

Equipped with three senior lettermen as his key performers, head coach Phil Stack will send the varsity Cardinals against Glenbrook South with the tour of Golden Acres Country Club expected to get under way around four o'clock.

Stack and his crew will see a lot of Golden Acres during the early stages of the campaign as the first four duals are slated for the challenging Schaumburg layout.

THE CARDINALS have been sharpening up their games at Golden Acres although Stack admits the squad "hasn't been outside as much as we'd like" in preparation for another ambitious schedule.

"It's been off and on," the Cardinal coach pointed out. "We got in some good days early with that spell of warm weather but only got out once or twice during the vacation."

The major graduation losses at Arlington were Darryl Burkett, a medalist for two sesaons in West Suburban Conference play, and Bob Armour, a 79 shooter in the district.

BURKETT TOURED Woodridge in a sharp 37-35 to take medalist honors in the conference last spring. He had ruled the conference on a varsity level as a soph with a 73 at White Pines and showed a 78 in league action as a junior.

You expect to lose talent by graduation, but you hate to see them go before they receive their diplomas. Arlington lost a standout by transfer.

Jon Keys, a varsity letterman who was expected to make a strong bid for the Cards' No. 1 slot this spring, is now playing his golf on the Massachusetts courses.

CAPT. ROGER Baer, Rick Price, and Jim Saflarski are the three returning lettermen who are expected to occupy the top three slots for Stack's varsity.

"They've been turning in some decent rounds when we have been outside," Stack said. "Baer had a 38 one night and the others have been in the low 40s."

Saflarski fired a 40-40 for an 80 and Baer and Price came in at 82 and 83 respectively in the West Suburban meet in 1965. Saflarski had an 82 in the district.

Scott Pickard, a junior transfer from Texas, will battle seniors Mike Dixon, Tom Sloan, and Jim Theroux for the fourth and fifth spots.

Following the opener Tuesday with Glenbrook South, the varsity and frosh-soph Cardinals will entertain Waukegan on Thursday, April 21. The first big meet of the season will be the Lake Park Invitational on Saturday, April 23.

Arlington was sixth on a varsity level in West Suburban golf last spring and fifth in the district.

The Cards had their problems on a frosh-soph level in 1965 but Stack sees a stronger entry this year with the addition of three sophs who didn't play as freshmen.

Lion Golfers Await Opener

by BOB FRISK

Golf came of age last spring at St. Viator High School when the Lions bagged varsity and frosh-soph championships in the Chicagoland Prep League and climbed to sixth in the district.

The prospects are bright for another impressive campaign although head coach Father Patrick Durkin admits it's difficult to evaluate the team right now "because we haven't been outside that much".

The Lions, who will travel to Carmel Friday afternoon for the season opener, had engaged in only three sessions of nine holes each through Monday.

Three seniors, two juniors, and a sophomore are expected to hold down the top positions on the St. Viator varsity with Pat Phee the main graduation loss.

PHEE WAS THE Lions' low man in district action for two straight years at Mount Prospect Country Club. He fired an 84 as a junior and went around in 38-42 last May.

Seniors with varsity links experience are Bill Crotty, Pat Hawley, and Tim Holmes. They were varsity performers as sophomores and hope to bow out with an impressive spring campaign.

Crotty has had two 85s in district play and Hawley has come in at 92 (as a sophomore) and 88.

Holmes didn't figure in the team score at the district in 1965 but did fashion a 97 as a soph.

DEAN MUENCH and Jim Dahl are the juniors with the varsity and Craig Crotty is the lone sophomore.

Crotty saw varsity action last spring and contributed some key rounds as the Lions clinched the league crown with wins over St. Ignatius and St. Joseph. He had a 39 at White Pines.

St. Viator's varsity was 9-1 in the Chicagoland Prep League in '65. The sophs were unbeaten in ten duals.

The Lions fashioned a 336 total for a respectable sixth place in the district.

St. Viator will play its home matches at Rob Roy.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Look for Mound Gems Friday...

JOE SANCHEZ

Every game is important when a team is striving to grab a conference championship, but there's that something special attached to St. Viator's home meeting with Holy Cross Friday afternoon.

The season is still young, but the Lions and Crusaders are two respected schoolboy powers and they're both intent on nailing down the Chicagoland Prep League championship.

Claiming a victoiy Friday would be a gigantic step forward in the quest for a conference title.

Both St. Viator and Holy Cross reached state tournament status last spring.

The Lions advanced to Peoria after a so-so season and drove to second place behind Peoria Manual. Holy Cross carried a 21-3 record and conference title into the prep finals but suffered a loss in its first tourney outing.

Both teams are loaded with talent, and Friday's meeting should be a battle to the wire with a dazzling pitchers duel.

Holy Cross, coaced by former St. Viator coach Frank Mariani, will lead with righthander Joe Sanchez, a former St. Viator student.

Sanchez, one of the brightest mound prospects to ever hit the Paddock area, transferred to Holy Cross after his sophomore season at St. Viator, sat out a year, but is off to a rocket start in 1966. He's 3-0 with 42 strikeouts in 21 innings, and the Major League scouts are extremely interested.

Sanchez, a 5-10, 175-pounder, earned all-conference honors in his days at St. Viator and fired a no-hitter at St. George as a freshman with the varsity. Joe had a 1.66 earned run average with the Lion varsity as a frosh and hit .317.

Expected to oppose Sanchez Friday is St. Viator right hander Jerry Donahue, another young man who has the scouts interested and who can fire the ball with authority.

Donahue hasn't yielded an earned run in 20 innings this spring and he has 34 strikeouts. He set down St. Joseph 1-0 Monday in his first conference start.

St. Viator and Holy Cross tangled twice last spring, and they both emerged with one-run victories. Donahue picked up a 3-2 decision but suffered a 1-0 setback over ten innings despite racking up 19 strikeouts.

Lloyd Meyer, who guided Arlington Heights to fifth place in the national Legion baseball finals last summer, has been signed as a contract scout for the New York Mets, and he's busy screening the Chicago area. He's trying to see as many games as possible and admits there are some fine prospects in the Paddock area.

Hubbard Picks Northwestern...

Northwestern University has landed one of the prize scholar-athletes in the Chicago area.

Bruce Hubbard of Arlington High School has signed a football tender for Northwestern.

Hubbard, a straight A student who is interested in a law career, had been considering Northwestern, Michigan, and Colorado before making it official with the Wildcats.

Bruce enjoyed a spectacular fall as a senior end on Al Allen's varsity Cardinals. The 6-6, 200-pounder was an all-conference selection and did some work on the Arlington record book.

Hubbard pulled in 24 passes for 499 yards and four touchdowns. He set a school mark with his total yardage but fell short of the season pass receiving standard of 28 set in 1959 by Gene Dahlquist.

Hubbard's biggest game was the season opener at Barrington when he pulled in nine passes for 167 yards, school marks for a single contest. He snared a 44-yarder from quarterback Steve Allen with 57 seconds left to give the Cards a 27-20 win.

But the biggest reception of Hubbard's senior year came with 1:42 remaining against Hinsdale. The Cards were trailing 12-7 at the time, but Hubbard was all alone as he gathered in a perfect strike from Allen and he covered the final 35 yards of the 60-yard maneuver unmolested.

Hubbard was a regular forward in basketball, tossing in 226 points and serving as honorary captain, and now he's working in the hurdles for the varsity track squad and maintaining his straight A average.

Fred (Fritz) Peterson will probably get his first Major League start against the Baltimore Orioles. The New York Yankees go to Baltimore after their opening series at Detroit, and manager Johnny Keane likes to use left-handers there. Peterson is a rookie lefty who prepped at Arlington high. "I want to give Peterson a start during the first week or so," Keane says. "He's certainly earned it."

Trackmen Are Warming Up...

Once the weather clears up and the prep trackmen are given some mild conditions outside, look for a spectacular season in Illinois.

The preps have already shown that they're headed for a big year.

As a starter, Roy Houston of Evanston is back and he won Illinois titles in both the 440 yard dash and broad jump as a junior.

Houston went :51.4 in the 440 indoors and had a 49 flat in a dual outdoors with York—and didn't win. The Dukes' Al Janulis upset Houston with a :48.9, and Roy was disqualified for running out of his lane.

The top mark outdoors so far is a 6-6¼ high jump by Steve Becker of Springfield. That's better than the state high school mark of 6-5¼ set by Bill Palmer of Arlington in 1967, but new standards have to be recorded at the schoolboy finals. Becker went 6-5 in an outdoor dual.

Tom Bayless, an All-State football player from East St. Louis, has whipped the discus 171 feet three inches, and his coach feels he can reach 190 feet this spring.

Alton has a sophomore (Avery Wallace) who sailed 23-5½ in the broad jump last Saturday.

This is just the beginning. More marks will start filtering in to this office as the weather warms up, and Paddock Publications, a leading voice on prep track, will once again present a weekly honor roll and name an All-State team.

Ten Years Ago This Week...

Arlington blew a 6-0 lead and lost an 11-7 decision to York in West Suburban Conference baseball. . . Johnny Sujack had nine strikeouts in three innings before his arm stiffened up. . . Ron Ashley cracked out three hits. . . Mike Spinello carded a 69 as Arlington's golfers trounced Palatine.

Falcons Begin This Afternoon

FV Hosts West Leyden; May Be 'Down' Campaign

by Michael Hess

This could be a "down" season for Forest View golfers, at least that's what coach Al Kintzle predicts.

"I don't think we'll be as strong as we have been the last two years," says FV's headman. "Our goal is to come out around .500."

Should Kintzle's forecast be correct the '66 campaign would mark a decline for Falcons golf forces. Last spring Forest View had a 7-4-1 overall record and was second, at 5-2, in the Mid-Suburban League.

From that '65 squad a pair of senior lettermen, Al Piehl and Kent Gedmen, have returned. They'll be joined by juniors Doug Turner and Steve Pierce with Hank Baylis, Marty Boratyn and Dane Paladino, other juniors, competing for the fifth spot.

THOSE SEVEN will lead Forest View against its initial opponent of the season this afternoon at 4:00. The enemy, over the Falcons, home Mount Prospect Country Club course, will be West Leyden.

Topping the FV links entry will probably be Piehl. He averaged a low 78 strokes per 18 hole round last year. That figure includes the Forest View school record of 74 and a 39-41-80 for ninth place in the district. Piehl's best nine hole match score one season ago was a 38.

"Piehl has the potential to be one of the best golfers in this area," Kintzle states, He should help us a lot."

Gedmen's lowest 18 of 1965 was an 88. In the M-SL meet he had a 51-45-96 but is expected to show considerable improvement this time around.

TURNER AND Pierce were on the Falcons frosh-soph unit last year. The younger FV golfers compiled a 9-2 over-all record and were 6-1, second, in the conference.

Turner averaged 46 strokes for every nine hole match last year. His best scores were a pair of 40's. He added a 12 hole total of 50 and an 18 of 84 during regular season competition. Turner had a 45-50-95 in the Mid-Suburban meet, tying him for 10th best.

Lowest nines turned in by Pierce a year ago were scores of 42 and 48. He had a 56-52-108 for the 18 hole M-SL event. "Pierce played a lot of golf over last summer," comments his coach, "and he's certain to be improved."

Looking ahead to this season's conference race, Kintzle sees Prospect as the team to beat. "I have no doubt that Prospect will be strong," states Forest View's headman. "They've had good teams in the past but they could be better than they've been in four or five years."

THE FALCONS BEGIN a five meet M-SL schedule against Conant on May 4.

Expected to be the mainstays of the F-S level are Brian Wolff and Fred Lauing. Wolff's best nines last year

Aim For .500 Mark

Wheeling's Linksmen To Open On Monday

by MICHAEL HESS

Familiarity may breed contempt but, in sports, knowing something well may also breed better performance. That's the hope for Wheeling golf.

"We have all our lettermen back this year," says 'Cats coach Jack Berry. "They've played a lot, they have experience, and we should improve."

Improvement, if it comes, could start Monday in Wheeling's first links dual of 1966. West Leyden will be the 4:15 p.m. opponent over the Chevy Chase Country Club course.

Improvements will try to be made on the Wildcats 1-10 record of last season. That mark includes a last place finish, at 0-7, amoung Mid-Suburban League entries and a last place gained in district competition.

IMPROVEMENT MAY be the result of efforts by Wheeling's eight varsity golfers. They are senior lettermen Al Eisenstein, Bob Boenig, Dick Fontecchio, Dave Quirsfeld and Steve Poulos, juniors Ken Holliday and Bob Selan and transfer Ken Rideout.

"There are 12 meets on our schedule this season," Berry comments. "Right now I think we should be able to win at least six of them. At least our goal right now is .500."

Most pressure to achieve the 6-6 goal during the coming campaign will fall on the senior emblem wearers. They led the 'Cats in 1965.

Best of the Wheeling golfers last spring was Eisenstein. He competed in 13 matches and carded his team's low score in seven. Over 189 match holes he used 931 strokes, an average of 88.7 per 18 holes. Eisenstein had a 90 in the M-SL meet, a 92 in district.

Carmel Rips Lion Varsity

A nightmare in the afternoon.

St. Viator's varsity Lions saw their four-game winning streak shattered Tuesday in a wild battle in Mundelein.

Host Carmel, already owning a 1-0 victory over the Lions this season, made it two straight over the Arlington Heights crew with a 13-9 decision.

Carmel cashed in with nine unearned runs in the opening inning but still couldn't relax as the stunned Lions came roaring back with their biggest offensive attack of the young season.

THE LOSS WAS the first by more than two runs for St. Viator in 29 games under head coach Len Sparacino.

Of their ten losses last spring four were by one run and six by two runs. The only other setback in 1966 was that 1-0 meeting with Carmel.

St. Viator had gone on top 2-0 in the visitor's half of the first inning Tuesday on doubles by Dan Collins and Jerry Donahue and singles by Tom Collins and Denny Wilkinson, but the lead didn't last long.

NINE RUNNERS paraded across the plate off Lion starter Tom Collins with three errors helping out. Carmel did all its scoring with two outs.

The Lions got two runs back in the second with Bill Kaveney supplying the only hit, but Carmel scored a singleton in its second inning.

Hits by Dan Collins, Wilkinson, and Dan Miksta helped send four more St. Viator runners across the fourth, cutting the Carmel advantage to two runs, 10-8.

But the hosts didn't wilt under the increased pressure. They tallied a pair in the fifth and one more in the sixth.

TOM COLLINS drove in John Loughman with the Lions' final marker in the seventh.

Tom Collins and Ed Erbach shared the mound duties for the losers.

St. Viator unleashed its biggest season effort with the bats, rapping out 13 hits. Dan Collins and Wilkinson had three each and Tom Collins and Donahue connected for two each.

St. Viator will host Maine South today (Thursday) at 4:15 in its next non-conference outing.

MacDonald Named Club President

R. L. MacDonald of Arlington Heights will serve as president of the Arlington Heights Tennis Club for the 1966 season.

MacDonald was elected last week (Thursday) at a special meeting of the area club.

Other officers named at the kickoff meeting were Charles Schunk of Arlington Heights, vice president; and W. J. Oliver of Arlington, secretary.

Named as team captains were Russ Walters, Bob Sir, Donna Cunningham, and Tom Pitchford.

Walters will captain the A team and Sir the Bs. These two squads gained second place slots in North and West uburdan tennis league play last summer.

Donna Cunningham will act as captain of the women's entry with Tom Pitchford directing the juniors. Pitchford is varsity tennis coach at Arlington.

President MacDonald will attend a meeting Friday of the North and West Suburban Conference in Elmhurst. A schedule will be drawn up.

As a special project, the Arlington Tennis Club has provided a wind screen for two courts at Arlington High School.

Palatine Falls To Card Frosh

Steve Stratton yielded four hits over seven innings and pitched shutout baseball after the first last Saturday as Arlington's frosh Cardinals tripped up Palatine, 5-2.

Palatine jumped out in front 2-0 in the opening stanza, but the Cards pecked away with two in the third, one in the fourth, and two in the sixth.

Mike Norman was the starter for the Pirates although Larry Anderson suffered the loss in relief.

Card Frosh Tip Knights

Arlington scored a pair of runs in the first and third innings and added one more in the seventh in a 5-1 frosh baseball victory over Prospect last week.

George Cresswell picked up the pitching decision for the Cardinals. Chris DeBow was tagged with the loss.

Rick Plessner slapped out a double for the game's long blow.

Prospect, limited to one hit over seven frames, tallied its only marker in the fourth.

Pirates Stop Cards 7-4 In Diamond Play

by KEN KNOX

In Arlington's Pioneer Park last Saturday—as in Pioneer America in 1840—only the hardiest survived.

Palatine's baseball Pirates, in their 1966 varsity debut, engaged Arlington's Cardinals against a backdrop of leaden skies and frigid air, and at game's end, the Cards were chilled even more, 7-4.

The game, featured by batters and pitchers steadily congealing in the cold, went to the most efficient. Terry Gellinger's Pirates, though they had only a handful of hits, combined them at exactly the proper moments with a bushelful of walks. Not one of Palatine's four hits went to waste.

The basic pitching statistics show what kind of game it was. Five hurlers took the hill, three for Arlington, and they dispensed 18 bases on balls, nine for each side. They also put down 25 batters on strikes, 13 for Arlington, 12 for Palatine. Thus, most of the slow-paced action was centered in the square around the pitcher's mound.

PALATINE MOVED early to take the game from Fran Somers' nine, which lost its second game in two days with the outcome.

Cards' starter Jim Jorgensen, after knocking the Pirates down in order in the first inning, set up his own demise in the second. He walked—on four pitches each—John Phillips and Bob Young to start the frame. He threw three more balls—11 straight then—before settling to get Wes Dixon on strikes.

But junior catcher Bob Hoffman followed by cracking out the first hit of the spring for Palatine, a line shot to center that scored Phillips and sent Young to third. John Grove followed that for Palatine by hitting a shot to third, where Mark Frase bobbled it. Before he could make a play, Young had scored and Grove was on first.

JORGENSEN STOPPED his pitching counterpart — Barry Yurtis — on a swinging third strike, but Mike Ferguson kept the Arlington right-hander on the ropes by rifling another hit into center. The Ferguson blast sent Hoffman home with the third run, and put Grove at third.

Palatine had only to run for its fourth score of the inning. With Jim Ekeberg at bat, Ferguson broke for second, drawing a throw from Cardinal catcher Tom LeStarge. Grove headed for home, and both runners — both helped by wide throws — were safe. Ekeberg then grounded to first baseman Doug Fink to end the inning.

The Pirates added another in the third, with Brad Somers in relief of Jorgensen for Arlington. Somers, brought in from the outfield in some lineup shuffling, faced just four men before returning to the outfield.

HE WALKED Ken Johnson to open the third. Phillips punched a single to center. Young worked out the second of three walks he netted in the game. Dixon walked, forcing in Johnson and bringing on Arlington's Bob Young as his team's third pitcher.

He proved the most effective of the three, whiffing Hoffman, Grove and Yurtis to stop that Palatine threat, and striking out nine in all in his five-inning stint. He also collected two of Arlington's six hits.

The Cards didn't get a thing off Yurtis until the fourth, when he was victimized by his own wildness. Until that point, though he had already given up five of the eight walks he issued in five innings, Yurtis had the Cardinals off balance with a whizzing fast ball and impressive curve. Arlington caught him in the fourth.

FRASE OPENED the inning by getting the first ball out of the infield for Arlington, a long poke to Grove in center. Vaughan Strong worked Yurtis for a walk, and Young followed with the first Cardinal hit, a sizzling grounder over first base. Fink then walked to load the bases.

Yurtis moved to end the threat by striking out LeStarge for the third time in the game, but Ken Bublitz—the center fielder who was most of Arlington's offense in the game—clubbed a hit to right to score Strong and Young. Fink tallied the third Arlington run when Yurtis, pitching to Thad Woodard, fired the ball past catcher Hoffman. Woodard flied out to end the threat.

Arlington cut the difference to 5-4 in the sixth, when Palatine headman Gellinger lifted Yurtis in favor of shortstop Johnson, who thereby made his varsity pitching debut. Johnson gave up a walk to Fink, an infield single by LeStarge and another run-producing hit to Bublitz before getting out of the inning.

THE PIRATES put the game away for good in the seventh, taking advantage of Young's one wildness lapse. He walked Ekeberg and Johnson opening the inning, then looked to be on the way out of it by getting Phillips on a fielder's choice and Palatine's Young on strikes. But Dixon, a sophomore starting at third for Palatine, whipped the ball up the middle for the hit that scored Ekeberg and Johnson.

In Arlington's last gasp, pinch-hitter Bruce Weber and Young rapped singles off Johnson, but the Pirate reliefer struck out two Cards and got Fink on a game-ending pop to Ferguson, a thing of finesse that saw the Pirate infielder taking the ball on a gallop with arm outstretched over the shoulder.

Palatine Rolls Past Arlington Thinclads

Palatine's trackmen charged into the outdoor season last Saturday by thrashing Arlington in the wind and cold at Palatine's Fremd school track.

Joe Johnson's crew ran up a 93-33 score against Bruce Samoore's thinclads, winning 12 of the 15 events contested. Arlington had some measure of revenge on the frosh-soph level, dominating there 79-47, and putting themselves 2-0 in outdoor duals. The Card varsity, which earlier had beaten Glenbrook South, moved to 1-1 outdoors.

The meet was scheduled after weather sabotaged the traditional triangular with Palatine, Arlington and La Grange. The Pirates will make up the rest of that by meeting LaGrange in a dual this afternoon (Thursday).

TEAM BALANCE was again the plus factor for Palatine in the varsity action, with Bill Meister the only double winner. He led Art Dannenberg and Bob Payne in a sweep of the low hurdles in :20.3, and ruled the broad jump with Arlington's Tom Hahn second and Palatine's Art Zajonc third.

Palatine swept two other events, with Duane Hosimer's 52-8 ¾ effort leading Joe Coffaro and Hughes in the shot put, and Jerry Kissner (:15.5) leading a strong charge in the high jurdles, with Payne (:15.7) second and Dannenberg (:15.8) third.

Both relays went to the Pirates, the 880 quartet winning in 1:34.9 and the mile foursome romping in 3:34.4.

Senior Randy McWilliams, in his first varsity track campaign, dazzled in the 880 yard run, fighting the brutal weather for a 2:01.7 clocking that nipped the Cards' Mark Saylor by a second. Rick Ortman ran third for Palatine in 2:03.9.

ARLINGTON was hurting in the mile, with ace Bob Yeazel out with a bad foot. The event went to Palatine's Jerry Weyrich in 4:48.7, with Arlington's Tom Thornton second and Palatine's Rodger Lawrence third.

Three boys, Arlington's Steve Ewart and Palatine's John Blanchard and Bill Bahnfleth, divided up the 100 and 440 placings. Ewart won the 100 in :10.3, with Bahnfleth and Blanchard next, and Blanchard won the 440 in :52.0, with Ewart second and Bahnfleth third.

Ewart ran a tough race with Palatine's John Ekeberg in the 220, but was second at the tape as Ekeberg triumphed in :22.5. Brian McCartney of the Pirates was third.

Arlington took one of its three firsts in the two mile run, where Dave Schimpf ran to victory in 10:35.3, with two Pirates—Keith Wojtas and Mark Aggerbeck—following him.

THOUGH THE Cards' Greg Zachwieja won the discus, in 132-6, the field events were mostly dominated by Palatine. Coffaro and Dick Wolff were second and third in the discus, while Zajonc and Bob Nordin were 1-2 in the pole vault and Wayne Render and Al Bisantz were first and third in the high jump, with Arlington's Hahn second.

Five boys dominated for Arlington on the frosh-soph level, all of them double winners.

Bob Graham, who also added seconds in the broad jump and high hurdles, won the high jump and low hurdles. Rory Cassidy won the tough double of the half-mile and mile. In the shot put and discus, it was Paul Tollefson first both times. In the broad jump and pole vault, it was the Cards' Todd Somers. And in the 100 and 220, Will Heinemann led the field.

Arlington also picked up firsts in the 880 relay and from Terry Pitts in the 440.

Palatine had two individual winners, with Ray Sommer triumphing in the two mile run and Dave Wessner in the high hurdles. The Pirates also had the mile relay victors.

district.

An average of 90.8 belonged to Boenig one year ago. He had the best total on his team in three meets and led Wheeling against Mid-Suburban meet opponents with an 85. In the district Boenig covered 18 with a 96.

Fontecchio averaged 92.8 per 18 last year including a 92 in the M-SL and a 93 in the district. Averaging 97.7 for each round Poulos carded a 99 in the M-SL and a 104 in the district.

"EISENSTEIN, Quirsfeld, Boenig and Fontecchio are about even," states Berry. "They've been swinging well in our practices. Who our fifth man will be is a toss-up."

That fifth man could be Poulos, or it might be graduates of the frosh-soph '65 unit Selan and Holliday, or possibly Rideout, the transfer from Milwaukee.

Holliday and Selan were best on the lower level team last year. Holliday averaged 100.7 over every 18 he played including the lowest score of 95 which he posted in the Mid-Suburban meet. Averaging 100.9 per 18 Selan had the lowest nine hole F-S total of 43. He came in with a 105 in conference action.

The Wildcats frosh-soph team had an over-all record of 2-9 one year ago. They were 1-6 and seventh in the M-SL. On this year's aggregation there are 10 younger linksmen.

RETURNING FROM lower level play last spring are Dennis Klocke and Craig Saar. Klocke averaged 106.8, Saar 112.5, both have been shooting in the low 90's according to Berry. A pair of soph transfers may also help. They are Greg Turner, from Indianapolis, and Jeff Sorensen, from London.

"We should be a lot better in frosh-soph play this year," concludes Berry.

In first meet action of '65 Wheeling also faced West Leyden. That affair found WL carrying off a nine hole, 164 to 178 varsity triumph. Eisenstein led his team with a 40 while Boenig and Poulos had 45's and Fontecchio a 48. The frosh-sophs also lost to Leyden. The score there was 200 to 217 as Klocke had a 46 and Selan a 53

Carmel Rips Lion Varsity

A nightmare in the afternoon.

St. Viator's varsity Lions saw their four-game winning streak shattered Tuesday in a wild battle in Mundelein.

Host Carmel, already owning a 1-0 victory over the Lions this season, made it two straight over the Arlington Heights crew with a 13-9 decision.

Carmel cashed in with nine unearned runs in the opening inning but still couldn't relax as the stunned Lions came roaring back with their biggest offensive attack of the young season.

THE LOSS WAS the first by more than two runs for St. Viator in 29 games under head coach Len Sparacino.

Of their ten losses last spring four were by one run and six by two runs. The only other setback in 1966 was that 1-0 meeting with Carmel.

St. Viator had gone on top 2-0 in the visitor's half of the first inning Tuesday on doubles by Dan Collins and Jerry Donahue and singles by Tom Collins and Denny Wilkinson, but the lead didn't last long.

NINE RUNNERS paraded across the plate off Lion starter Tom Collins with three errors helping out. Carmel did all its scoring with two outs.

The Lions got two runs back in the second with Bill Kaveney supplying the only hit, but Carmel scored a singleton in its second inning.

Hits by Dan Collins, Wilkinson, and Dan Miksta helped send four more St. Viator runners across the fourth, cutting the Carmel advantage to two runs, 10-8.

But the hosts didn't wilt under the increased pressure. They tallied a pair in the fifth and one more in the sixth.

TOM COLLINS drove in John Loughman with the Lions' final marker in the seventh.

Tom Collins and Ed Erbach shared the mound duties for the losers.

St. Viator unleashed its biggest season effort with the bats, rapping out 13 hits. Dan Collins and Wilkinson had three each and Tom Collins and Donahue connected for two each.

St. Viator will host Maine South today (Thursday) at 4:15 in its next non-conference outing.

Pirates Stop Cards 7-4 In Diamond Play

by KEN KNOX

In Arlington's Pioneer Park last Saturday—as in Pioneer America in 1840—only the hardiest survived.

Palatine's baseball Pirates, in their 1966 varsity debut, engaged Arlington's Cardinals against a backdrop of leaden skies and frigid air, and at game's end, the Cards were chilled even more, 7-4.

The game, featured by batters and pitchers steadily congealing in the cold, went to the most efficient. Terry Gellinger's Pirates, though they had only a handful of hits, combined them at exactly the proper moments with a bushelful of walks. Not one of Palatine's four hits went to waste.

The basic pitching statistics show what kind of game it was. Five hurlers took the hill, three for Arlington, and they dispensed 18 bases on balls, nine for each side. They also put down 25 batters on strikes, 13 for Arlington, 12 for Palatine. Thus, most of the slow-paced action was centered in the square around the pitcher's mound.

PALATINE MOVED early to take the game from Fran Sommers' nine, which lost its second game in two days with the outcome.

Cards' starter Jim Jorgensen, after knocking the Pirates down in order in the first inning, set up his own demise in the second. He walked—on four pitches each—John Phillips and Bob Young to start the frame. He threw three more balls—11 straight then—before settling to get Wes Dixon on strikes.

But junior catcher Bob Hoffman followed by cracking out the first hit of the spring for Palatine, a line shot to center that scored Phillips and sent Young to third. John Grove followed that for Palatine by hitting a shot to third, where Mark Frase bobbled it. Before he could make a play, Young had scored and Grove was on first.

JORGENSEN STOPPED his pitching counterpart — Barry Yurtis — on a swinging third strike, but Mike Ferguson kept the Arlington right-hander on the ropes by rifling another hit into center. The Ferguson blast sent Hoffman home with the third run, and put Grove at third.

Palatine had only to run for its fourth score of the inning. With Jim Ekeberg at bat, Ferguson broke for second, drawing a throw from Cardinal catcher Tom LeStarge. Grove headed for home, and both runners — both helped by wide throws — were safe. Ekeberg then grounded to first baseman Doug Fink to end the inning.

The Pirates added another in the third, with Brad Somers in relief of Jorgensen for Arlington. Somers, brought in from the outfield in some lineup shuffling, faced just four men before returning to the outfield.

HE WALKED Ken Johnson to open the third. Phillips punched a single to center. Young worked out the second of three walks he netted in the game. Dixon walked, forcing in Johnson and bringing on Arlington's Bob Young as his team's third pitcher.

He proved the most effective of the three, whiffing Hoffman, Grove and Yurtis to stop that Palatine threat, and striking out nine in all in his five-inning stint. He also collected two of Arlington's six hits.

The Cards didn't get a thing off Yurtis until the fourth, when he was victimized by his own wildness. Until that point, though he had already given up five of the eight walks he issued in five innings, Yurtis had the Cardinals off balance with a whizzing fast ball and impressive curve. Arlington caught him in the fourth.

FRASE OPENED the inning by getting the first ball out of the infield for Arlington, a long poke to Grove in center. Vaughan Strong worked Yurtis for a walk, and Young followed with the first Cardinal hit, a sizzling grounder over first base. Fink then walked to load the bases.

Yurtis moved to end the threat by striking out LeStarge for the third time in the game, but Ken Bublitz—the center fielder who was most of Arlington's offense in the game—clubbed a hit to right to score Strong and Young. Fink tallied the third Arlington run when Yurtis, pitching to Thad Woodard, fired the ball past catcher Hoffman. Woodard flied out to end the threat.

Arlington cut the difference to 5-4 in the sixth, when Palatine headman Gellinger lifted Yurtis in favor of shortstop Johnson, who thereby made his varsity pitching debut. Johnson gave up a walk to Fink, an infield single by LeStarge and another run-producing hit to Bublitz before getting out of the inning.

THE PIRATES put the game away for good in the seventh, taking advantage of Young's one wildness lapse. He walked Ekeberg and Johnson opening the inning, then looked to be on the way out of it by getting Phillips on a fielder's choice and Palatine's Young on strikes. But Dixon, a sophomore starting at third for Palatine, whipped the ball up the middle for the hit that scored Ekeberg and Johnson.

In Arlington's last gasp, pinch-hitter Bruce Weber and Young rapped singles off Johnson, but the Pirate reliefer struck out two Cards and got Fink on a game-ending pop to Ferguson, a thing of finesse that saw the Pirate infielder taking the ball on a gallop with arm outstretched over the shoulder.

Palatine Rolls Past Arlington Thinclads

Palatine's trackmen charged into the outdoor season last Saturday by thrashing Arlington in the wind and cold at Palatine's Fremd school track.

Joe Johnson's crew ran up a 93-33 score against Bruce Samoore's thinclads, winning 12 of the 15 events contested. Arlington had some measure of revenge on the frosh-soph level, dominating there 79-47, and putting themselves 2-0 in outdoor duals. The Card varsity, which earlier had beaten Glenbrook South, moved to 1-1 outdoors.

The meet was scheduled after weather sabotaged the traditional triangular with Palatine, Arlington and La Grange. The Pirates will make up the rest of that by meeting LaGrange in a dual this afternoon (Thursday).

TEAM BALANCE was again the plus factor for Palatine in the varsity action, with Bill Meister the only double winner. He led Art Dannenberg and Bob Payne in a sweep of the low hurdles in :20.3, and ruled the broad jump with Arlington's Tom Hahn second and Palatine's Art Zajonc third.

Palatine swept two other events, with Duane Hosimer's 52-8 ¾ effort leading Joe Coffaro and Hughes in the shot put, and Jerry Kissner (:15.5) leading a strong charge in the high jurdles, with Payne (:15.7) second and Dannenberg (:15.8) third.

Both relays went to the Pirates, the 880 quartet winning in 1:34.9 and the mile foursome romping in 3:34.4.

Senior Randy McWilliams, in his first varsity track campaign, dazzled in the 880 yard run, fighting the brutal weather for a 2:01.7 clocking that nipped the Cards' Mark Saylor by a second. Rick Ortman ran third for Palatine in 2:03.9.

ARLINGTON was hurting in the mile, with ace Bob Yeazel out with a bad foot. The event went to Palatine's Jerry Weyrich in 4:48.7, with Arlington's Tom Thornton second and Palatine's Rodger Lawrence third.

Three boys, Arlington's Steve Ewart and Palatine's John Blanchard and Bill Bahnfleth, divided up the 100 and 440 placings. Ewart won the 100 in :10.3, with Bahnfleth and Blanchard next, and Blanchard won the 440 in :52.0, with Ewart second and Bahnfleth third.

Ewart ran a tough race with Palatine's John Ekeberg in the 220, but was second at the tape as Ekeberg triumphed in :22.5. Brian McCartney of the Pirates was third.

Arlington took one of its three firsts in the two mile run, where Dave Schimpf ran to victory in 10:35.3, with two Pirates—Keith Wojtas and Mark Aggerbeck—following him.

THOUGH THE Cards' Greg Zachwieja won the discus, in 132-6, the field events were mostly dominated by Palatine. Coffaro and Dick Wolff were second and third in the discus, while Zajonc and Bob Nordin were 1-2 in the pole vault and Wayne Render and Al Bisantz were first and third in the high jump, with Arlington's Hahn second.

Five boys dominated for Arlington on the frosh-soph level, all of them double winners.

Bob Graham, who also added seconds in the broad jump and high hurdles, won the high jump and low hurdles. Rory Cassidy won the tough double of the half-mile and mile. In the shot put and discus, it was Paul Tollefson first both times. In the broad jump and pole vault, it was the Cards' Todd Somers. And in the 100 and 220, Will Heinemann led the field.

Arlington also picked up firsts in the 880 relay and from Terry Pitts in the 440.

Palatine had two individual winners, with Ray Sommer triumphing in the two mile run and Dave Wessner in the high hurdles. The Pirates also had the mile relay victors.

district.

An average of 90.8 belonged to Boenig one year ago. He had the best total on his team in three meets and led Wheeling against Mid-Suburban meet opponents with an 85. In the district Boenig covered 18 with a 96.

Fontecchio averaged 92.8 per 18 last year including a 92 in the M-SL and a 93 in the district. Averaging 97.7 for each round Poulos carded a 99 in the M-SL and a 104 in the district.

"EISENSTEIN, Quirsfeld, Boenig and Fontecchio are about even," states Berry. "They've been swinging well in our practices. Who our fifth man will be is a toss-up."

That fifth man could be Poulos, or it might be graduates of the frosh-soph '65 unit Selan and Holliday, or possibly Rideout, the transfer from Milwaukee.

Holliday and Selan were best on the lower level team last year. Holliday averaged 100.7 over every 18 he played including the lowest score of 95 which he posted in the Mid-Suburban meet. Averaging 100.9 per 18 Selan had the lowest nine hole F-S total of 43. He came in with a 105 in conference action.

The Wildcats frosh-soph team had an over-all record of 2-9 one year ago. They were 1-6 and seventh in the M-SL. On this year's aggregation there are 10 younger linksmen.

RETURNING FROM lower level play last spring are Dennis Klocke and Craig Saar. Klocke averaged 106.8, Saar 112.5, both have been shooting in the low 90's according to Berry. A pair of soph transfers may also help. They are Greg Turner, from Indianapolis, and Jeff Sorensen, from London.

"We should be a lot better in frosh-soph play this year," concludes Berry.

In first meet action of '65 Wheeling also faced West Leyden. That affair found WL carrying off a nine hole, 164 to 178 varsity triumph. Eisenstein led his team with a 40 while Boenig and Poulos had 45's and Fontecchio a 48. The frosh-sophs also lost to Leyden. The score there was 200 to 217 as Klocke had a 46 and Selan a 53

Four Run 5th Brings Defeat

Shadows fell on the diamond as shadows also fell on the 'Cats chances for victory . . .

Wheeling's baseball unit hosted Niles North on Tuesday afternoon. At the end of the third inning the 'Cats were on top by a 2-1 count.

Then, as the field became darker and darker, NN pushed over a single run to tie the game in the fourth. In the fifth the Vikings tallied four times. The game was called after five and Wheeling lost 6-2.

Mark Newman started on the mound for the Wildcats. He issued one run on three hits and a walk in three innings. He also got a triple which drove in his team's two runs.

IN THE TOP of the first inning Newman issued his only free pass. Wheeling received two walks in its hlaf of the frame. Neither team was able to score.

Niles reached Newman for a single in the second but the runner was left stranded. When the 'Cats went down in order in the bottom of the inning the contest was still scoreless going into the third.

MARK NEWMAN
Triples for Two

Newman retired the first Vikings hitter in the third but the next man slashed a double to right center. A single down the line in right followed and NN owned a 1-0 margin. That margin didn't hold up very long.

To start their third the Wildcats' Robin Melzer was hit by a pitch. Tom Manderscheid followed with a bunt single down the third base line and both runners advanced on a wild pitch. After Rex Peterson went down on strikes, Newman came up, selected a 1-1 delivery and boomed it into deep center field.

THAT BLOW BY Newman brought in both runners, gave him his triple and gave Wheeling a 2-1 lead. Bob Krug followed with a ground out to second and Newman was forced to hold at third. A walk to Jeff Powell came next but John Hittman tapped to the hill and the threat ended.

In the top of the fourth Rich Haddock began his stint on Wheeling's mound. He walked the first batter he faced and nipped the second with a fast ball giving Niles runners at first and second. Following a strikeout and a force play, a single allowed NN to even the score at 2-2.

Wheeling got a single from Peterson in the bottom of the fourth. However, though the Vikings committed two errors in the frame, the 'Cats could not get the clutch hit which would have meant a run.

Nine men batted for Niles in the top of the fifth. An error, a bunt single and another error brought one run in. A second run crossed the plate on a ground out and another error. A walk and single gave NN its third and fourth tallies of the inning and fifth and sixth of the game.

AT THAT juncture Wheeling was behind 6-2. There was the start of a rally as Krug led off the fifth with a walk but Powell grounded into a double play and, following another walk, Jeff Winterberg grounded out to second. The Wildcats had lost.

Totals for the contest showed Niles with six runs on six hits and two errors. Wheeling had two runs on three hits and three errors for coach Steve Chernicky.

Lion Sophs Show Strong Mound Work

Strong pitching continued to dominate the sophomore baseball scene at St. Viator High School although the Lions were able to chalk up only one victory in four outings last week.

Coach Larry Nomellini's outfit belted Palatine, 9-1 (see separate story) but dropped a 4-0 decision to Ridgewood in ten innings and 1-0 battle to Glenbrook South.

St. Viator tied St. Joseph Monday afternoon, 1-1.

Mike Miller allowed only one hit in ten innings against Ridgewood but still suffered the setback when the Rebels cashed in four runs without the aid of a base hit.

Ridgewood's only hit was a second inning single.

Pat Loughman, Len Basak, John Wendell, and Aylward had the base hits for St. Viator.

An error, hit, and infield out brought in the only run Saturday as Glenbrook South tripped up the locals, 1-0.

St. Viator had three safeties but couldn't muster up any serious threats.

Jim Kenny allowed three hits as the Lion pitcher.

In the conference opener Monday afternoon Ken Balinski went the distance for St. Viator in a 1-1 deadlock.

Balinski squeezed in the only run for the Lions who showed a 2-2-1 mark for their first five games.

Two-Hitter for Donahue

Lions Launch League Slate With 1-0 Win

Len Sparacino warned that the Chicagoland Prep League was loaded with formidable varsity baseball teams this spring, and the opening card Monday added strength to that observation.

Sparacino, head man at St. Viator High School, was one of six Chicagoland coaches Monday who had to suffer through one of those nail-biting, one-run cliffhangers that bring ulcers to coaches.

Fortunately for Sparacino, he was one of the three league coaches who could relax at the conclusion with a victory.

St. Viator, Holy Cross, and St. George racked up triumphs in the opening Chicagoland contests.

SPARACINO'S LIONS posted their fourth straight season win with a 1-0 conquest of host St. Joseph.

Holy Cross slipped by St. Ignatius, 5-4, in the battle of last spring's co-champions. and St. George blanked St. Mel, 1-0.

Jerry Donahue fashioned his second straight shutout and kept his earned run average at a perfect 0.00 as he pitched St. Viator past a dangerous St. Joseph nine.

DONAHUE, WHO fanned 13 and walked three, slapped in the winning run in the seventh inning with a sacrifice fly.

Center fielder John Loughman, who had scored the winning marker Saturday in the final frame against Glenbrook South, singled to left-center in the seventh and stole second.

Loughman moved to third on a slow roller and dashed home on Donahue's liner to left-center, just beating the throw in a close play at the plate.

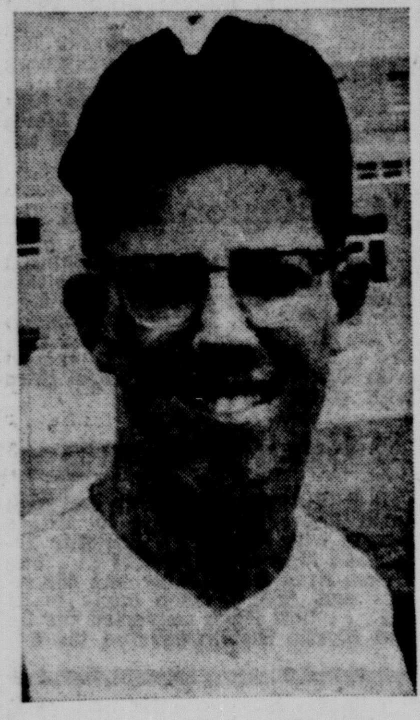
FOR THE SECOND straight game the Lions were checked with only two hits. Bob Thoma of St. Joseph, a right hander with good stuff, fanned nine and didn't walk a man in an impressive stint. Bob had a 2-4 mark last spring but his four losses were by a single run.

Denny Wilkinson reached Thoma for the first Lion safety in the fourth inning, driving a line single to right, and then Loughman came through with his important smash in the seventh.

Donahue was just as stingy as he yielded only two hits and had a no-hitter going in the fifth when a belt past the mound bounced off the second base bag.

UNTIL THAT safety in the fifth Donahue was working on a string of 13 consecutive hitless innings. In a 1-0 loss to Carmel he finished up with two hitless frames. He handcuffed Ridgewood without a hit over seven frames last Thursday.

St. Joseph had a serious threat in the sixth but Donahue got out of the jam.



JOHN LOUGHMAN
A Single, A Run

The two clubs had a split in varsity action last year. St. Joseph gained a 2-0 victory, but the Lions rebounded for an 11-7 decision.

ST. VIATOR will host highly regarded Holy Cross Friday afternoon at 4:15 in its next Chicagoland action. The Crusaders feature five regulars from their state tourney finalist, including outfielders Ken Cristo, James Barra, and Bob Suvada and infielders Joe Dobner and Jim Porter.

Joe Sanchez, who attended St. Viator for two years before transferring to Holy Cross, will open on the mound for the Crusaders.

Donahue should open for St. Viator with lefty Bob Stevens ready if needed.

The Lions will host St. Ignatius next Monday afternoon and St. George on Wednesday in Chicagoland Prep League activity.

Falcons Lose Pitchers Duel

It was an old-fashioned, extra-inning pitchers dual which Forest View lost.

For seven innings Tuesday afternoon, FV and York were locked in a scoreless diamond struggle. Then, in the top of the eighth, came the game deciding action.

An error allowed the Dukes' lead-off batter to reach second base. A bloop single to right put runners on first and third. First out of the inning came when the runner on first was caught trying to steal.

Bob Jacobs was on the Falcons mound during that eighth frame. With one out and a man on third he uncorked a wild pitch which brought in the first York run. A bunt single, an error and a single to center sent another tally across the plate.

FOREST VIEW went down one, two, three in the bottom of the eighth. The charges of coach Hal Sprehe had been defeated 2-0.

Opening hurler for FV was Bill King. He went the first five innings and turned in a brilliant shut-out performance. York got just one hit and no walks off King who fanned eight of the 16 men he faced.

After King was removed, Marty Fontana took over FV mound chores and went through the sixth and seventh giving up only one hit while walking no one. Then Jacobs went to the hill in the eighth. A total of five pitchers worked for York.

Throughout the game Forest View only staged two serious scoring threats. Those came in the secind and third innings.

In the second Dan Smith walked and went to second on a wild pitch. Gary Kalas then lined a shot toward left but it was caught and Smith doubled off second. With two outs Kirt Koentopp singled and Jerry Adams walked putting runners on first and second. A strikeout ended the inning.

IN THE THIRD Wally Zimmer opened with a single and advanced to second on an trror. Zimmer continued to third on a wild pitch. There were no outs. But, Bob Erlander went down swinging and Mike Holstrom and Rick Henderson both grounded to the pitcher. The inning was over.

Only two other Falcons reached base on hits. Kalas singled in the fourth and Holstrom singled in the sixth but neither advanced.

Totals in the contests showed York with two runs, four hits and two errors. FV, its record lowered to 0-3, had no runs, four hits and four errors.

Falcon Frosh Rally for Win

Forest View's frosh 'A' Falcons battled from behind in the final two innings Monday afternoon to pull out a 4-3 victory over Maine South.

Trailing 3-0 after four frames, the young Falcons erupted with three markers in the fifth and one in the sixth.

John Turner, one of three pitchers used by the winners, gained the mound decision. Pat Corrado rapped a double.

It was a different story on a 'B' level as Maine South emerged with a 5-1 win, checking the Falcons with only one hit.

Kingman Allows One Safety; Knights Win

BY BOB FRISK

The weatherman interrupted Dave Kingman's first pitching assignment this season.

Kingman, Prospect High School's 6-foot-5 junior, was working against New Trier East when the weatherman stepped in and halted proceedings.

Arlington High School wasn't that lucky last Friday at Pioneer Park.

The varsity Cardinals had to face Kingman over seven innings, and the big right-hander with the blazing fast ball thoroughly enjoyed the visit with his neighbors to the west.

KINGMAN, WHO worked 12 varsity innings as a sophomore, struck out 15 Cardinals and allowed only one safety, a line single to left field by Thad Woodard in the first inning, as he fashioned a neat 4-0 victory.

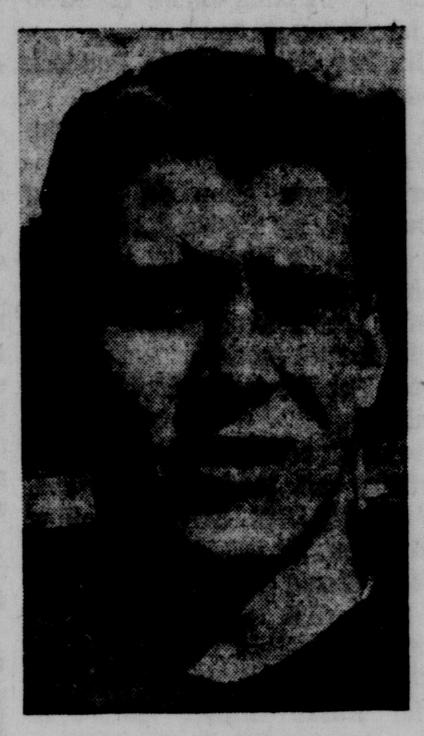
Prospect pushed over a single run in the fourth inning off Cardinal starter Steve Allen and added three more in the sixth off lefty Bob Young in a game marred by cold temperatures and an occasional drizzle.

The victory was Prospect's second straight in the young season. Arlington was playing its first game after failing in three previous attempts to get the schedule off the ground for 1966.

WHAT PROVED to be the only run Prospect needed in the non-league victory came in the fourth inning. And Kingman drove it home.

J. D. Thorne worked Allen for a walk and rode around to third base on Tom Lundstedt's single to left-center. Bob Robinson fouled out to catcher Tom LeStarge, but Kingman belted a drive to left that sent Thorne across.

The Knights added three insurance runs in the sixth off Arlington's Young, who had taken over for Allen. The explosion came after Young had fanned Lundstedt and Robinson.



THAD WOODARD
One hit . . .

DAVE KINGMAN
. . . off fireballer.

KINGMAN AND Maury Galliger walked and two wild pitches, two errors, and three singles later the Knights had three more markers. Paul Peterson, Rick Lott, and Vince Franzone had the base knocks.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's Knights had threatened in the second when Robinson ripped a sharp double to left and moved to third on an infield out, but Arlingon's Allen escaped by getting Galliger on a pop to LeStarge and Clyde Whitcomb on a swinging third strike.

Arlington's best threats came in the first, fifth, and seventh frames.

LESTARGE WALKED as Arlington's first batter of the season and scampered to third on Woodard's smash to left. But Brad Somers tapped to Kingman and Jim Jorgensen grounded to short.

In the fifth LeStarge reached on an error with two outs, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Kingman got out of this jam with a strikeout.

Pinch hitter Joe Nastal walked as Arlington's first hitter in the final inning and went all the way to third on two wild pitches, but Kingman struck out LeStarge and Dave Lockwood to end the game.

Woodard, the only Card collecting a hit off Kingman, was also the only Arlington regular who didn't strike out.

Franzone had two singles as Prospect's top swinger.

Immaculate Conception had whipped the Lion varsity by five points on Monday, and Holy Cross recorded a 66-61 victory Tuesday.

Denny Forston was a double winner for the Lion varsity in the Holy Cross meet. He won the shot put at 44 feet six inches and the discus at 126-6.

Other winners for the Lions were Bob Cooper in the 100 yard dash (11.0), Fred Booth in the 880 (2:11.7), Ed Brown in the broad jump (18-10), Pat Smith in the 440 yard dash (56.2), and Bob Nemec in the mile run (4:57).

Pomplun turned in a 2:19.8 half-mile and won the high jump at five feet. Friedrichs took the 100 yard dash in 11.2 and the 220 in 24.2.

Also posting wins were Mark Madden in the 440 (60.0), Baron in the pole vault (7-9), and Rose in the shot put (34-2½).

Unusual Name

When it comes to odd names the Chicago Cubs have a foremost entrant: Michael Thomas Cherryhomes, a 22-year-old right handed pitcher who is a native of Graham, Texas. Cherryhomes was graduated from New Mexico State university last year. He also attended the University of Texas.

FV Sophs Post Split

An impressive 2-1 victory over Holy Cross gave Forest View's sophomore Falcons a split in the week's baseball activity.

Single runs in the first and sixth innings enabled the Falcons to knock off the Crusaders.

Keith Bauer picked up the pitching triumph, and Mark Erst slammed a double for the winner's long blow.

Maine South stopped Forest View Monday afternoon, 4-1, scoring four runs in the first three frames.

Ernst was the losing pitcher. Stuart Yakes had a double for the Falcons.

Four Run 5th Brings Defeat

Shadows fell on the diamond as shadows also fell on the 'Cats chances for victory . . .

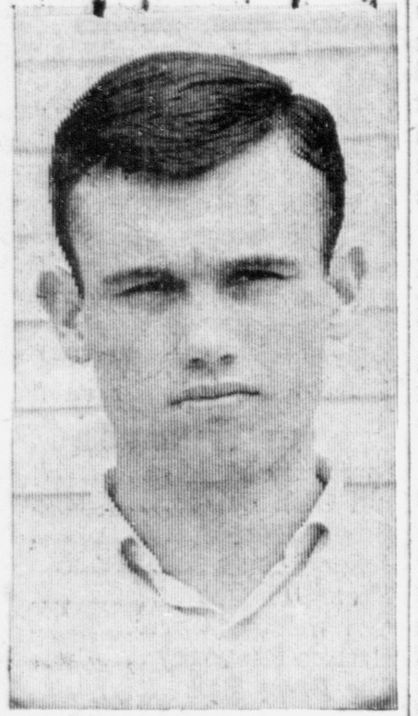
Wheeling's baseball unit hosted Niles North on Tuesday afternoon. At the end of the third inning the 'Cats were on top by a 2-1 count.

Then, as the field became darker and darker, NN pushed over a single run to tie the game in the fourth. In the fifth the Vikings tallied four times. The game was called after five and Wheeling lost 6-2.

Mark Newman started on the mound for the Wildcats. He issued one run on three hits and a walk in three innings. He also got a triple which drove in his team's two runs.

IN THE TOP of the first inning Newman issued his only free pass. Wheeling received two walks in its hlaf of the frame. Neither team was able to score.

Niles reached Newman for a single in the second but the runner was left stranded. When the 'Cats went down in order in the bottom of the inning the contest was still scoreless going into the third.



MARK NEWMAN
Triples for Two

Newman retired the first Vikings hitter in the third but the next man slashed a double to right center. A single down the line in right followed and NN owned a 1-0 margin. That margin didn't hold up very long.

To start their third the Wildcats' Robin Melzer was hit by a pitch. Tom Manderscheid followed with a bunt single down the third base line and both runners advanced on a wild pitch. After Rex Peterson went down on strikes, Newman came up, selected a 1-1 delivery and boomed it into deep center field.

THAT BLOW BY Newman brought in both runners, gave him his triple and gave Wheeling a 2-1 lead. Bob Krug followed with a ground out to second and Newman was forced to hold at third. A walk to Jeff Powell came next but John Hittman tapped to the hill and the threat ended.

In the top of the fourth Rich Haddock began his stint on Wheeling's mound. He walked the first batter he faced and nipped the second with a fast ball giving Niles runners at first and second. Following a strikeout and a force play, a single allowed NN to even the score at 2-2.

Wheeling got a single from Peterson in the bottom of the fourth. However, though the Vikings committed two errors in the frame, the 'Cats could not get the clutch hit which would have meant a run.

Nine men batted for Niles in the top of the fifth. An error, a bunt single and another error brought one run in. A second run crossed the plate on a ground out and another error. A walk and single gave NN its third and fourth tallies of the inning and fifth and sixth of the game.

AT THAT juncture Wheeling was behind 6-2. There was the start of a rally as Krug led off the fifth with a walk but Powell grounded into a double play and, following another walk, Jeff Winterberg grounded out to second. The Wildcats had lost.

Totals for the contest showed Niles with six runs on six hits and two errors. Wheeling had two runs on three hits and three errors for coach Steve Chernicky.

Lion Sophs Show Strong Mound Work

Strong pitching continued to dominate the sophomore baseball scene at St. Viator High School although the Lions were able to chalk up only one victory in four outings last week.

Coach Larry Nomellini's outfit belted Palatine, 9-1 (see separate story) but dropped a 4-0 decision to Ridgewood in ten innings and 1-0 battle to Glenbrook South.

St. Viator tied St. Joseph Monday afternoon, 1-1.

Mike Miller allowed only one hit in ten innings against Ridgewood but still suffered the setback when the Rebels cashed in four runs without the aid of a base hit.

Ridgewood's only hit was a second inning single.

Pat Loughman, Len Basak, John Wendell, and Aylward had the base hits for St. Viator.

An error, hit, and infield out brought in the only run Saturday as Glenbrook South tripped up the locals, 1-0.

St. Viator had three safeties but couldn't muster up any serious threats.

Jim Kenny allowed three hits as the Lion pitcher.

In the conference opener Monday afternoon Ken Balinski went the distance for St. Viator in a 1-1 deadlock.

Balinski squeezed in the only run for the Lions who showed a 2-2-1 mark for their first five games.

Two-Hitter for Donahue

Lions Launch League Slate With 1-0 Win

Len Sparacino warned that the Chicagoland Prep League was loaded with formidable varsity baseball teams this spring, and the opening card Monday added strength to that observation.

Sparacino, head man at St. Viator High School, was one of six Chicagoland coaches Monday who had to suffer through one of those nail-biting, one-run cliffhangers that bring ulcers to coaches.

Fortunately for Sparacino, he was one of the three league coaches who could relax at the conclusion with a victory.

St. Viator, Holy Cross, and St. George racked up triumphs in the opening Chicagoland contests.

SPARACINO'S LIONS posted their fourth straight season win with a 1-0 conquest of host St. Joseph.

Holy Cross slipped by St. Ignatius, 5-4, in the battle of last spring's co-champions. and St. George blanked St. Mel, 1-0.

Jerry Donahue fashioned his second straight shutout and kept his earned run average at a perfect 0.00 as he pitched St. Viator past a dangerous St. Joseph nine.

DONAHUE, WHO fanned 13 and walked three, slapped in the winning run in the seventh inning with a sacrifice fly.

Center fielder John Loughman, who had scored the winning marker Saturday in the final frame against Glenbrook South, singled to left-center in the seventh and stole second.

Loughman moved to third on a slow roller and dashed home on Donahue's liner to left-center, just beating the throw in a close play at the plate.

FOR THE SECOND straight game the Lions were checked with only two hits. Bob Thoma of St. Joseph, a right hander with good stuff, fanned nine and didn't walk a man in an impressive stint. Bob had a 2-4 mark last spring but his four losses were by a single run.

Denny Wilkinson reached Thoma for the first Lion safety in the fourth inning, driving a line single to right, and then Loughman came through with his important smash in the seventh.

Donahue was just as stingy as he yielded only two hits and had a no-hitter going in the fifth when a belt past the mound bounced off the second base bag.

UNTIL THAT safety in the fifth Donahue was working on a string of 13 consecutive hitless innings. In a 1-0 loss to Carmel he finished up with two hitless frames. He handcuffed Ridgewood without a hit over seven frames last Thursday.

St. Joseph had a serious threat in the sixth but Donahue got out of the jam.

JOHN LOUGHMAN
A Single, A Run

The two clubs had a split in varsity action last year. St. Joseph gained a 2-0 victory, but the Lions rebounded for an 11-7 decision.

ST. VIATOR will host highly regarded Holy Cross Friday afternoon at 4:15 in its next Chicagoland action. The Crusaders feature five regulars from their state tourney finalist, including outfielders Ken Cristo, James Barra, and Bob Suvada and infielders Joe Dobner and Jim Porter.

Joe Sanchez, who attended St. Viator for two years before transferring to Holy Cross, will open on the mound for the Crusaders.

Donahue should open for St. Viator with lefty Bob Stevens ready if needed.

The Lions will host St. Ignatius next Monday afternoon and St. George on Wednesday in Chicagoland Prep League activity.

Falcon Frosh Rally for Win

Forest View's frosh 'A' Falcons battled from behind in the final two innings Monday afternoon to pull out a 4-3 victory over Maine South.

Trailing 3-0 after four frames, the young Falcons erupted with three markers in the fifth and one in the sixth.

John Turner, one of three pitchers used by the winners, gained the mound decision. Pat Corrado rapped a double.

It was a different story on a 'B' level as Maine South emerged with a 5-1 win, checking the Falcons with only one hit.

York Wins, 2-0

Falcons Lose Pitchers Duel

It was an old-fashioned, extra-inning pitchers dual which Forest View lost.

For seven innings Tuesday afternoon, FV and York were locked in a scoreless diamond struggle. Then, in the top of the eighth, came the game deciding action.

An error allowed the Dukes' lead-off batter to reach second base. A bloop single to right put runners on first and third. First out of the inning came when the runner on first was caught trying to steal.

Bob Jacobs was on the Falcons mound during that eighth frame. With one out and a man on third he uncorked a wild pitch which brought in the first York run. A bunt single, an error and a single to center sent another tally across the plate.

FOREST VIEW went down one, two, three in the bottom of the eighth. The charges of coach Hal Sprehe had been defeated 2-0.

Opening hurler for FV was Bill King. He went the first five innings and turned in a brilliant shut-out performance. York got just one hit and no walks off King who fanned eight of the 16 men he faced.

After King was removed, Marty Fontana took over FV mound chores and went through the sixth and seventh giving up only one hit while walking no one. Then Jacobs went to the hill in the eighth. A total of five pitchers worked for York.

Throughout the game Forest View only staged two serious scoring threats. Those came in the secind and third innings.

In the second Dan Smith walked and went to second on a wild pitch. Gary Kalas then lined a shot toward left but it was caught and Smith doubled off second. With two outs Kirt Koentopp singled and Jerry Adams walked putting runners on first and second. A strikeout ended the inning.

IN THE THIRD Wally Zimmer opened with a single and advanced to second on an trror. Zimmer continued to third on a wild pitch. There were no outs. But, Bob Erlander went down swinging and Mike Holstrom and Rick Henderson both grounded to the pitcher. The inning was over.

Only two other Falcons reached base on hits. Kalas singled in the fourth and Holstrom singled in the sixth but neither advanced.

Totals in the contests showed York with two runs, four hits and two errors. FV, its record lowered to 0-3, had no runs, four hits and four errors.

Kingman Allows One Safety; Knights Win

BY BOB FRISK

The weatherman interrupted Dave Kingman's first pitching assignment this season.

Kingman, Prospect High School's 6-foot-5 junior, was working against New Trier East when the weatherman stepped in and halted proceedings.

Arlington High School wasn't that lucky last Friday at Pioneer Park.

The varsity Cardinals had to face Kingman over seven innings, and the big right-hander with the blazing fast ball thoroughly enjoyed the visit with his neighbors to the west.

KINGMAN, WHO worked 12 varsity innings as a sophomore, struck out 15 Cardinals and allowed only one safety, a line single to left field by Thad Woodard in the first inning, as he fashioned a neat 4-0 victory.

Prospect pushed over a single run in the fourth inning off Cardinal starter Steve Allen and added three more in the sixth off lefty Bob Young in a game marred by cold temperatures and an occasional drizzle.

The victory was Prospect's second straight in the young season. Arlington was playing its first game after failing in three previous attempts to get the schedule off the ground for 1966.

WHAT PROVED to be the only run Prospect needed in the non-league victory came in the fourth inning. And Kingman drove it home.

J. D. Thorne worked Allen for a walk and rode around to third base on Tom Lundstedt's single to left-center. Bob Robinson fouled out to catcher Tom LeStarge, but Kingman belted a drive to left that sent Thorne across.

The Knights added three insurance runs in the sixth off Arlington's Young, who had taken over for Allen. The explosion came after Young had fanned Lundstedt and Robinson.

THAD WOODARD
One hit . . .

. . . off fireballer.

KINGMAN AND Maury Galliger walked and two wild pitches, two errors, and three singles later the Knights had three more markers. Paul Peterson, Rick Lott, and Vince Franzone had the base knocks.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's Knights had threatened in the second when Robinson ripped a sharp double to left and moved to third on an infield out, but Arlingon's Allen escaped by getting Galliger on a pop to LeStarge and Clyde Whitcomb on a swinging third strike.

Arlington's best threats came in the first, fifth, and seventh frames.

LESTARGE WALKED as Arlington's first batter of the season and scampered to third on Woodard's smash to left. But Brad Somers tapped to Kingman and Jim Jorgensen grounded to short.

In the fifth LeStarge reached on an error with two outs, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Kingman got out of this jam with a strikeout.

Pinch hitter Joe Nastal walked as Arlington's first hitter in the final inning and went all the way to third on two wild pitches, but Kingman struck out LeStarge and Dave Lockwood to end the game.

Woodard, the only Card collecting a hit off Kingman, was also the only Arlington regular who didn't strike out.

Franzone had two singles as Prospect's top swinger.

Steve's Lattof Alone

Ladies' Elite Marching On

For the record, it is a two-team race in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Including position night, there remain three Saturdays to decide the second round title in the PWCTL. And Lattof Chevrolet and Steve's Restaurant—two teams so busy sniping at each other that they abandoned the rest of the pack—have now advanced to the point where no one else can possibly win.

Both rolled to 3-1 victories last Saturday, Lattof over Rolling Meadows Bowl and Steve's over River Rand Bowl, and in the process widened even more the gap between Steve's second place slot and RMB's third place position.

Lattof kept the formal grip on first, but that margin remains at two points, tenuous at best.

LATTOF clearly had one of its chillier efforts, but still disposed of Rolling Meadows Bowl. So cool was RMB that the one game the team won was by the score of 800-794. The individual scores reflected the low team efforts, with Joanne Christensen's 527 pacing Lattof and a 512 from Marlene Smith the best for Rolling Meadows Bowl.

Steve's had a little more to claim its points, notably a 935 second game effort for the team, and a 2636 team series, best of the evening. Bonnie Kuhn of Steve's was the night's individual best, leading the triumph with a 210-204-165—579 series. Ann Neumann had 542 and Winnie Lohse 541 for the victors, while River Rand collected 556 from Carol Drewes and 554 from Ethel Juenger.

A big game from Judy Anderson salvaged something for Striking Lanes as it fell 3-1 to Morton Pontiac, the team efforting to pass Striking in the league's second division. The big game was a 236, which sparked Striking to a third game win and its only point. Judy ended with a 534 series, but tops for the match was Morton's Joan Lindahl, with a 539. By the win, Morton moved to within three points of Striking's fourth place position.

BONNIE KUHN

As the teams head toward the windup, Steve's will seek to profit from Morton Pontiac and Lattof from River Rand Bowl in this Saturday's action at Jeffery Lanes. In the third match, Striking Lanes will engage Rolling Meadows Bowl.

And Time's Running Out . . .

Chalet Widens Gap In Blanking Welding

The calendar is suddenly becoming the big factor in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

It shows but three weekends of action left in the PCTL's round two. The standings show Concourse Sports Chalet still in first, and now by 12 points over a tandem in second, Bill Cook Buick and Brim's Pioneer Lanes.

Another tie, between Morton Pontiac and Jeffery Lanes, has developed for fourth, but they're 23 points out and can no longer maintain designs on the pinnacle.

Hence, if anyone is to overtake Sports Chalet — which has occupied its roost since January — it must be Cook Buick or Pioneer Lanes, and Pioneer — in a direct showdown with Sports Chalet at Gunnell's Lanes this Saturday — has the best immediate chance to gain.

CHALET, WHICH had the Buick team as close as seven points the Saturday before last, sprinted away by whitewashing City Welding Sales and Service, while Bill Cook was getting stopped 5-2 by The Brass Rail. Pioneer stayed in contention by thumping Jeffery Lanes 7-0, and Morton Pontiac moved into the tie with Jeffery by handling Karlsen Pharmacy 4-3.

The leaders showed their team balance again as they ran the 7-0 count against City Welding. Though Mike Wagner Jr. led the blanking with a 171-217-235—623, Ray Neumann had a 592 and Tony Sasso a 588, with the other two team members not far behind. For City Welding, high was Bob Hurwitz' 558.

There was nothing especially spectacular in surging Pioneer's triumph over Jeffery, but enough solid bowling to win everything. In the match, contested at Pioneer, the winners went over 900 in each game, while the losers stayed under it. Bob Krisch, with a 594, and George Schmidt, with 575, paced Pioneer.

COOK BUICK started with a strong 943, but it wasn't equal to the Rail's 984. Buick charged back in game two, but the Railers — with a 1024 effort on their own River Rand Bowl Lanes — ran away with the clincher. Ted Zimmerman led the win for the Restaurant team with a 617, and Al Jordan rolled 605 for Buick.

Joe Simonis and Les Zikes Jr., now running 1-2 for the league's individual average laurels, slammed the pins at a heavy rate in the Karlsen-Morton match. And though Simonis 241-236-207—684 bested Zikes' 225-245-187—657, it was Zikes' Morton team that won the meeting by 4-3. Karlsen's got the point for pinfall by staying close in games one and two, and winning big in three.

Also standing out in the match were Ed Duff and George White. Duff hit 627 for Karlsen, and White had a 243 game for Morton. Herm Simonis just missed for Karlsen with a 597 total.

LES ZIKES, JR.

This weekend, with time running out, Pioneer will be at that headliner with Sports Chalet at Gunnell's. Bill Cook Buick will try to keep pace against Karlsen Pharmacy at Rolling Meadows Bowl, while Morton hosts The Brass Rail at Beverly and Jeffery visits City Welding at Thunderbird.

Steve's Lattof Alone

Ladies' Elite Marching On

For the record, it is a two-team race in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Including position night, there remain three Saturdays to decide the second round title in the PWCTL. And Lattof Chevrolet and Steve's Restaurant—two teams so busy sniping at each other that they abandoned the rest of the pack—have now advanced to the point where no one else can possibly win.

BONNIE KUHN

Both rolled to 3-1 victories last Saturday, Lattof over Rolling Meadows Bowl and Steve's over River Rand Bowl, and in the process widened even more the gap between Steve's second place slot and RMB's third place position.

Lattof kept the formal grip on first, but that margin remains at two points, tenuous at best.

LATTOF clearly had one of its chillier efforts, but still disposed of Rolling Meadows Bowl. So cool was RMB that the one game the team won was by the score of 800-794. The individual scores reflected the low team efforts, with Joanne Christensen's 527 pacing Lattof and a 512 from Marlene Smith the best for Rolling Meadows Bowl.

Steve's had a little more to claim its points, notably a 935 second game effort for the team, and a 2636 team series, best of the evening. Bonnie Kuhn of Steve's was the night's individual best, leading the triumph with a 210-204-165—579 series. Ann Neumann had 542 and Winnie Lohse 541 for the victors, while River Rand collected 556 from Carol Drewes and 554 from Ethel Juenger.

A big game from Judy Anderson salvaged something for Striking Lanes as it fell 3-1 to Morton Pontiac, the team efforting to pass Striking in the league's second division. The big game was a 236, which sparked Striking to a third game win and its only point. Judy ended with a 534 series, but tops for the match was Morton's Joan Lindahl, with a 539. By the win, Morton moved to within three points of Striking's fourth place position.

As the teams head toward the windup, Steve's will seek to profit from Morton Pontiac and Lattof from River Rand Bowl in this Saturday's action at Jeffery Lanes. In the third match, Striking Lanes will engage Rolling Meadows Bowl.

And Time's Running Out . . .

Chalet Widens Gap In Blanking Welding

The calendar is suddenly becoming the big factor in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

It shows but three weekends of action left in the PCTL's round two. The standings show Concourse Sports Chalet still in first, and now by 12 points over a tandem in second, Bill Cook Buick and Brim's Pioneer Lanes.

Another tie, between Morton Pontiac and Jeffery Lanes, has developed for fourth, but they're 23 points out and can no longer maintain designs on the pinnacle.

Hence, if anyone is to overtake Sports Chalet — which has occupied its roost since January — it must be Cook Buick or Pioneer Lanes, and Pioneer — in a direct showdown with Sports Chalet at Gunnell's Lanes this Saturday — has the best immediate chance to gain.

CHALET,. WHICH had the Buick team as close as seven points the Saturday before last, sprinted away by whitewashing City Welding Sales and Service, while Bill Cook was getting stopped 5-2 by The Brass Rail. Pioneer stayed in contention by thumping Jeffery Lanes 7-0, and Morton Pontiac moved into the tie with Jeffery by handling Karlsen Pharmacy 4-3.

The leaders showed their team balance again as they ran the 7-0 count against City Welding. Though Mike Wagner Jr. led the blanking with a 171-217-235--623, Ray Neumann had a 592 and Tony Sasso a 588, with the other two team members not far behind. For City Welding, high was Bob Hurwitz' 558.

There was nothing especially spectacular in surging Pioneer's triumph over Jeffery, but enough solid bowling to win everything. In the match, contested at Pioneer, the winners went over 900 in each game, while the losers stayed under it. Bob Krisch, with a 594, and George Schmidt, with 575, paced Pioneer.

COOK BUICK started with a strong 943, but it wasn't equal to the Rail's 984. Buick charged back in game two, but the Railers — with a 1024 effort on their own River Rand Bowl Lanes — ran away with the clincher. Ted Zimmerman led the win for the Restaurant team with a 617, and Al Jordan rolled 605 for Buick.

Joe Simonis and Les Zikes Jr., now running 1-2 for the league's individual average laurels, slammed the pins at a heavy rate in the Karlsen-Morton match. And though Simonis 241-236-207—684 bested Zikes' 225-245-187—657, it was Zikes' Morton team that won the meeting by 4-3. Karlsen's got the point for pinfall by staying close in games one and two, and winning big in three.

Also standing out in the match were Ed Duff and George White. Duff hit 627 for Karlsen, and White had a 243 game for Morton. Herm Simonis just missed for Karlsen with a 597 total.

LES ZIKES, JR.

This weekend, with time running out, Pioneer will be at that headliner with Sports Chalet at Gunnell's. Bill Cook Buick will try to keep pace against Karlsen Pharmacy at Rolling Meadows Bowl, while Morton hosts The Brass Rail at Beverly and Jeffery visits City Welding at Thunderbird.

Falcon Netmen Top W. Leyden

On the right track at last . . .

After dropping three dual meets to open the season, Forest View's tennis teams gained victory Monday. Both varsity and frosh-soph Falcons beat West Leyden.

At the varsity level the meet tally was 4-1.

Capturing the first singles decision for FV was Jim Buckholz. He beat his opponent 6-2, 6-1. In second singles Howie Brasch lost but was close in both sets, 6-4, 7-5. Bob Glaser turned in a convincing 6-1, 6-0 triumph in third singles.

BRASCH WAS moved up from third to second singles for the meet due to the absence of regular second singles performer Rich Gillespie. Glaser was taking part in his initial varsity singles competition.

JIM BUCKHOLZ
1st Singles—1st Win

Forest View won both doubles matches. Dick Zapfel and Mike Gersie combined to top the Leyden first doubles team 6-4, 6-2. In second doubles the Lampert twins, Bruce and Brian, registered double shutouts. They won 6-0, 6-0.

In frosh-soph action the Falcons didn't drop a match and came out ahead 5-0.

Jim Musgrave, Dave Erickson and Gordon Folkman were the FV singles winners at the lower level. Musgrave gained victory by a 6-0, 6-2 count while Erickson won 10-0 and Folkman came out in front by a 10-5 count. A system of scoring used in professional tennis was employed in the Erickson and Folkman matches.

IN DOBULES Jerry Budz and Mike Omelusik needed three sets but finally whipped WL's team 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. There was a one-sided second doubles encounter which was taken by Falcons Mike Kinneman and Rick Knudson. Those two won 10-1 in another match scored using the pro system.

"The boys played well in this meet," commented Forest View coach Rog Steingraber, "especially Glaser who came through with Gillespie out." Both Steingraber's varsity and frosh-soph units pushed their season records to 1-3.

Next tennis meet for FV will be next Tuesday. The Falcons travel to challenge Glenbrook North at 4:30 p.m.

'Cats Thinclads Top Glenbrook

Wheeling's track team started the outdoor season in the same way it finished the indoor campaign—with a victory.

The Wildcats thinclads, 6-3-1 inside, moved outside last Thursday. It was cold but coach Jim Hoffman's crew warmed up by topping Glenbrook North 63-55.

Pacing the Wheeling triumph were Bill Lytle, Jim Lisafeld, Bob Bromley and Jim Bowker. All were involved in getting two firsts for the 'Cats who captured eight out of a possible 12 top spots.

Lytle, indoors, had been running in the 440 where he was undefeated in 12 straight races. He switched to the 880 outside but still won. His time was 2:10.7.

LISAFELD CAME in first in the 100 yard dash with a clocking of :10.4. A time of :15.6 put Bromley ahead in the high hurdles. Bromley finished a shade ahead of freshman teammate Tom Johann, who was second in :15.9.

Bowker was involved in two relay wins. He teamed with Lisafeld, Mike Guiney and Coe Meyer to take the 880 relay in 1:37.8. Lytle, Bromley and Scott Poklen joined Bowker to end in front in the mile relay. The time there was 3:41.9.

The three other Wheeling firsts went to Paul Fiegen, Doug Steinman and Stew Oakley. Fiegen took the 440 in :54.8 while Steinman was best, at 4:51.8, in the mile and Oakley's leap of 10 feet, six inches was tops in the pole vault.

At the frosh-soph level there was also a Wildcats victory. After compiling a 10-1 record indoors the younger 'Cats started with a 78-39 win outdoors, taking 10 firsts along the way.

WHEELING WON four F-S field events. Ted Milbratz took the pole vault, with the bar at nine feet, six inches, while a leap of 17 feet, 2½ inches gave Mike Mitchell the broad jump. Len Maszko won the shot, with a heave of 38 feet, five inches, and Ed Haase's 101 foot discus throw was best.

Both the relay teams won for the Wildcats. A time of 1:47.1 resulted in an 880 relay triumph while the mile relay went to the meet winners in 3:58.1.

Other firsts for Wheeling went to Bill McKee, Bill Martin, Andy Black and Clay Gallimore. McKee won the 220 in :26.6, Martin the 880 in 2:17.6, Black the mile in 5:13.0 and Gallimore the lows in :23.8.

Wheeling's next track action is today at 4:15 p.m. when the 'Cats travel to Arlington.

Knights Triumph With Big Fourth

Steve Shawhan worked on the mound for the winners and allowed four hits. John Vetter was tagged with the loss.

Jim Gumz rapped a triple for Prospect. Gary Price and Keith Culberson had doubles for the losers.

ARLINGTON'S MARK FRASE reaches first base on an error in the Cardinals' season opener with Prospect last Friday afternoon at Pioneer Park. Prospect first baseman J. D. Thorne awaits the throw which arrived too late in the second inning. The Knights scored one run in the fourth and three in the sixth in their 4-0 victory. (Staff Photo)

One Knight Reaches Base

Prospect Nine Loses; Blanked by Glenbrook

by MICHAEL HESS

"Shutout" is a word Prospect's baseball team enjoyed, but only until Monday.

The Knights diamond crew began 1966 by blanking two opponents. They stopped both New Trier and Arlington without a score.

In the season's third contest, played Monday, Prospect took part in another whitewash job. However, that game involved a defeat. Glenbrook North won 8-0.

GN hurler Ken Kozil went all the way, permitting just one of the Knights to reach base. He didn't yield a walk, he struck out 10 and, from the first to sixth innings, retired 16 consecutive batters.

CHALLENGING Kozil from the Prospect mound was J. D. Thorne. He fanned six and walked two, but was touched for four runs on four hits in both the third and seventh innings. Lackluster fielding support didn't make his chore any easier.

Thorne became the Knights' lone base runner in the first inning. With one out he bounced the ball between short and third. It wasn't handled quickly or cleanly enough and Thorne beat it out for a hit. Moments later he was caught trying to steal and Prospect's offense was finished.

Glenbrook's offense had to wait until the third before getting under way.

Kozil began the third with a single to left. He was nailed at second on an attempted sacrifice but an error and infield single loaded the bases. The The next GN batter was catcher Bob Youngberg.

WORKING carefully, Thorne sent the count on Youngberg to 3-2. Then, with all runners away on the pitch, Youngberg grounded to Gary Guerin at third. Guerin turned and tagged the base with what should have been a force out except that the runner from second had already rounded the bag. Two runs scored.

A walk re-loaded the bases and brought up first sacker Ray Larson. He rammed a double to left center bringing home another pair of tallies. The score was 4-0.

Through the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings Kozil whiffed nine of the 12 Knights he faced. The other three grounded weakly to the infield.

Thorne allowed just one of the Spartans to gain first safely in the fourth, fifth and sixth. That was Larson who picked up his second hit by driving a single to center in the sixth.

IN THE TOP of the seventh, with shadows enclosing the field, Thorne induced the lead-off Glenbrook batter to ground out. The next hitter bunted for a single and scored as Don Piggot lined a triple to center. Moments later Thorne picked Piggott off third.

At that juncture there were two outs and no one on base.

GN was not finished, however, and two singles and an error made the tally 6-0 with runners on second and third. Larson came up again and gained his third and fourth RBI's, his third hit and set the final 8-0 totals by rapping a single to left.

CHUCK ALDRICH
8-0 Not 4-0

Larson became the final out as he tried to stretch his single to a double and was nipped at second by a Don Whitlock to Paul Peterson to Rick Lott relay.

THE FIELD WAS so dark at that point that the game was called and Prospect never had its chance to bat in the seventh. Normally that would mean that the score would revert to the last complete inning, meaning a 4-0 final, except that Knights coach Chuck Aldrich stated that his scorebook, the official one for the contest, would carry the game as an 8-0 defeat.

Prospect's season record was shifted to 2-1 by the setback.

'Cats Netters Drop Opener

It was close, but Wheeling's varsity netmen lost.

In their first meet of the 1966 season the Wildcats tennis team was beaten last Thursday. Glenbrook South won by a narrow 3-2 margin.

Steve Groot dropped his first singles match for Wheeling by 6-0, 6-0 scores. A 6-2, 6-1 count sent the 'Cats second singles performer Ed Graves down to defeat.

Victory was gained for Wheeling at the third singles level. There Tony Martin, a junior who had never played prep tennis before this season, came out on top. Martin won 6-3, 6-3.

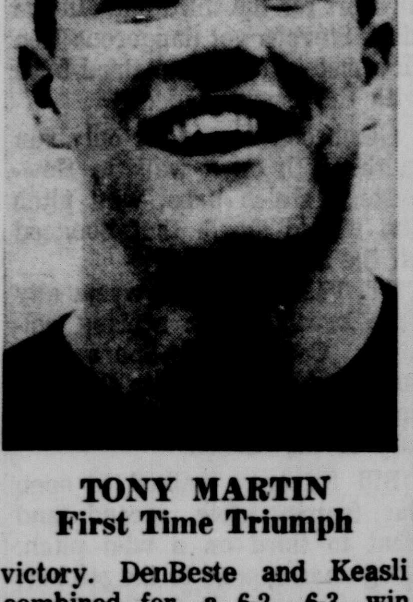
THE MEET'S crucial match came in first doubles. The Wildcats entry of Carl Meisenheimer and Barry Christensen had to win to keep the meet even. They got off to a good start, taking the first set 6-1, but dropped the next two sets 5-7, 3-6.

In second doubles Walk Krier and Dave Liu quickly disposed of their GS opponents. Krier and Liu came out in front 6-1, 6-3.

At the frosh-soph level the final outcome wasn't close. Wheeling's younger netmen left little doubt about the eventual winner as they shut out Glenbrook South 5-0.

An individual whitewash was turned in for the 'Cats by Jim Cuca. He took first single honors in F-S action 6-0, 6-0. Tallies of 6-1, 6-0 meant triumph for Scott Decker in second singles while Tom Kreis came out in front 6-2, 6-3 in third singles.

DOUBLES PLAY at the frosh-soph level found Dan DenBeste-Ron Keasli and Bill Reinhard-Reid Hansen teams gaining victory. DenBeste and Keasli combined for a 6-2, 6-3 win while Reinhard and Hansen bumped GS's second doubles team 6-0, 6-3.



TONY MARTIN
First Time Triumph

Next net competition for coach Ted Ecker's Wheeling forces will be Tuesday and Wednesday. First the 'Cats host Niles West, on Tuesday, and then travel to Highland Park, on Wednesday. Both meets will begin at 4:30 p.m.

Knights' Frosh Suffer 8-5 Loss

A seven-run fourth inning carried New Trier's freshman baseball team to an 8-5 victory over Prospect last week.

The Knights used four pitchers in the contest with Chris DeBow absorbing the loss.

Lions Rock Ridgewood

Jerry Donahue Fires No-Hitter in 9-0 Win

by BOB FRISK

It was a perfect combination.

St. Viator combined some lusty hitting with a superb pitching performance last Thursday and secured its second victory of the 1966 varsity baseball season.

Right-hander Jerry Donahue, who has authored many low-hit affairs in his varsity mound career, fashioned his first no-hitter and sent a visiting Ridgewood nine home with a 9-0 reversal.

An infield tap in the fourth inning that skipped past third baseman Tom Collins was the closest Ridgewood came to a base hit off the slants of St. Viator's fire-balling junior.

DONAHUE SET down nine on strikes and walked three over seven innings. Although he was a 1-0 loser in his initial mound venture this season, Jerry still went through his first two outings without yielding an earned run.

Donahue had adequate support from his teammates in the mound masterpiece.

Coach Len Sparacino's Lions ripped out ten hits for the second straight game, enjoying two explosive frames en route to their second victory of the season.

ST. VIATOR crashed into the scoring column for the first time in the third inning, parading eight men to the plate and pushing across four runs.

It all started with two outs. Bill Kaveney drew a walk, stole second, and rode home on John Loughman's smash to right-center. Loughman went to second on the throw to the plate and Dan Collins was hit by a pitched ball.

Tom Collins sent Loughman across with a hit to left and after Donahue singled to right to score Dan Collins, the Lions worked the double steal with another Collins tallying.

ST. VIATOR threatened again in the fifth when Loughman and Dan Collins singled, but John was cut down trying to steal.

Ten men went to bat for the Lions in the sixth as they padded their advantage.

With one out Larry Snyder reached on an error. He moved to second on another miscue, to third on an infield out, and scored on a single to right by Denny Wilkinson.

Wilkinson reached second on an error, jarring the ball out of the second baseman's glove on an attempted steal, and came around on another error.

THE LIONS DIDN'T stop here. Kaveney singled to right-center, Loughman singled to center to send Leitzen home, and Dan Collins walked to load the bases.

Tom Collins responded to the bases-loaded situation by ripping a single through the box to bring in the two final runs.

Donahue hit a batter to kick off the seventh but preserved his no-hitter by nailing two hitters on strikes and getting a third on a fielder's choice.

Loughman topped the winners at the plate with three singles. Tom Collins and Donahue contributed two hits each.

Pirate Nine In 9-2 Win Over Cards

Palatine's sophomore baseball players used an eight-hit attack to club Arlington's sophs 9-2 last Saturday.

For Tom Hillesheim's Pirates, the victory moved the team up to a 1-1 season mark, while Arlington dipped to 0-2.

Palatine took the lead with two runs in the third, and Arlington came back to knot the game 2-2 in the fifth. But the Pirates, playing on the Fremd School diamond, got those two back in the bottom of the fifth, and exploded for five more in the sixth.

Pat Donahue, who relieved Don Spence, gained the pitching victory, while Gary Price was hung with the loss. John Vetter closed for the Cards on the mound.

Of Palatine's eight hits, one was for extra bases, a double by Kevin Freund.

Lions Frosh Top St. Joseph

A double by Rick Dwyer sent across two runs Monday afternoon and helped carry St. Viator's frosh baseball team to a 4-2 victory over St. Joseph in the Chicagoland Prep League opener.

Dwyer's blast came in a three-run fifth inning as coach Joe Gliwa's Lions battled from behind for their fourth straight win of the 1966 season.

Barry Clark went the distance for the winners and allowed three hits.

In action last week St. Viator belted Palatine, 8-4, and nipped Glenbrook South, 2-1. See separate story on game with Palatine.

John Merges worked seven innings Saturday in the one-run victory over Glenbrook South. He allowed three hits.

The Lions scored the winning run in the final inning when Dwyer scampered across on a wild pitch.

New Trier Tops Prospect Sophs

New Trier's sophomore Indians rocked Prospect last week 13-4, scoring four runs in the first inning and seven in the fifth in a game marred by rain and snow.

Steve Shawhan was tagged with the mound loss. Shawhan and Butch Leonard each collected doubles for the Knights' long blows.

A Blue Monday

Maine S. Tops FV's Nine 8-2

It was a blue Monday for Forest View baseball.

In their second game of the young season the Falcons nine suffered their second defeat. Maine South beat FV on Monday 8-2.

The Hawks opened their victory margin early in the contest. They rocked Forest View pitchers for single runs in the first and second, three in the third and two more in the fourth.

To counter the MS attack the Falcons bunched two of their three hits in the fifth inning. That outburst, combined with an interference call and an error, resulted in FV's pair of tallies.

FOREST VIEW'S lead-off batter, Bob Erlander, became the game's initial runner. He drew a walk in the first but was left stranded. The only other Falcons base runner before the fifth was Jim Meier, who singled in the second. However, he too was stranded.

Meanwhile Maine was getting runners on but was able to bring them around.

Rick Henderson opened on the FV mound. He was touched for two walks, a single and one run in the first and a walk and two singles for one run in the second. In the third a walk, two singles, another walk and another single accounted for three more runs.

When a walk, a sacrifice, two errors, a wild pitch and a walk gave MS two runs to start the fourth, Marty Fontana came on in relief of Henderson for the Falcons. He retired the side without further damage.

IN THE TOP of the fifth Forest View rallied for its scores.

Gary Kalas started frame number five by being waved to first at the umps signaled interference against Maine's catcher. After Jerry Adams singled to center putting runners on first and second for FV, Dan Smith grounded to the pitcher moving each runner up.

When Wally Zimmer fanned for the second out it appeared the Falcons might be kept away from the plate. But, Erlander slashed a single to left to score Kalas. Tom Govdorica was the next batter and he topped a pitch which the opponent hurler threw wildly allowing Adams to tally.

To finish the inning Mike Holstrom gounded to second. Forest View didn't have another base runner.

IN MAINE'S half of the fifth Fontana let just one man reach base. That runner, who got on due to Fontana's walk, did not advance beyond second. Bob Jacobs became the Falcons' hurler in the sixth. Two singles and a wild pitch resulted in a run off Jacobs who set the Hawks down in order in their seventh.

For the game the moundsmen of MS yielded only one walk while fanning eight. Just one of Forest View's runs was earned. For FV Henderson, Fontana and Jacobs gave up eight runs, four of those unearned, on nine hits, seven walks, three wild pitches and one hit batter.

It was indeed a blue Monday for Forest View baseball.

The Wildcats thinclads, 6-3-1 inside, moved outside last Thursday. It was cold but coach Jim Hoffman's crew warmed up by topping Glenbrook North 63-55.

Pacing the Wheeling triumph were Bill Lytle, Jim Lisafeld, Bob Bromley and Jim Bowker. All were involved in getting two firsts for the 'Cats who captured eight out of a possible 12 top spots.

Lytle, indoors, had been running in the 440 where he was undefeated in 12 straight races. He switched to the 880 outside but still won. His time was 2:10.7.

LISAFELD CAME in first in the 100 yard dash with a clocking of :10.4. A time of :15.6 put Bromley ahead in the high hurdles. Bromley finished a shade ahead of freshman teammate Tom Johann, who was second in :15.9.

Bowker was involved in two relay wins. He teamed with Lisafeld, Mike Guiney and Coe Meyer to take the 880 relay in 1:37.8. Lytle, Bromley and Scott Poklen joined Bowker to end in front in the mile relay. The time there was 3:41.9.

The three other Wheeling firsts went to Paul Fiegen, Doug Steinman and Stew Oakley. Fiegen took the 440 in :54.8 while Steinman was best, at 4:51.8, in the mile and Oakley's leap of 10 feet, six inches was tops in the pole vault.

At the frosh-soph level there was also a Wildcats victory. After compiling a 10-1 record indoors the younger 'Cats started with a 78-39 win outdoors, taking 10 firsts along the way.

WHEELING WON four F-S field events. Ted Milbratz took the pole vault, with the bar at nine feet, six inches, while a leap of 17 feet, 2½ inches gave Mike Mitchell the broad jump. Len Maszko won the shot, with a heave of 38 feet, five inches, and Ed Haase's 101 foot discus throw was best.

Both the relay teams won for the Wildcats. A time of 1:47.1 resulted in an 880 relay triumph while the mile relay went to the meet winners in 3:58.1.

Other firsts for Wheeling went to Bill McKee, Bill Martin, Andy Black and Clay Gallimore. McKee won the 220 in :26.6, Martin the 880 in 2:17.6, Black the mile in 5:13.0 and Gallimore the lows in :23.8.

Wheeling's next track action is today at 4:15 p.m. when the 'Cats travel to Arlington.

Knights Triumph With Big Fourth

Prospect hit Arlington with a four-run salvo in the fourth inning last Friday and held on for a 4-2 sophomore baseball victory.

Steve Shawhan worked on the mound for the winners and allowed four hits. John Vetter was tagged with the loss.

Jim Gumz rapped a triple for Prospect. Gary Price and Keith Culberson had doubles for the losers.

One Knight Reaches Base

Prospect Nine Loses; Blanked by Glenbrook

by MICHAEL HESS

"Shutout" is a word Prospect's baseball team enjoyed, but only until Monday.

The Knights diamond crew began 1966 by blanking two opponents. They stopped both New Trier and Arlington without a score.

In the season's third contest, played Monday, Prospect took part in another whitewash job. However, that game involved a defeat. Glenbrook North won 8-0.

GN hurler Ken Kozil went all the way, permitting just one of the Knights to reach base. He didn't yield a walk, he struck out 10 and, from the first to sixth innings, retired 16 consecutive batters.

CHALLENGING Kozil from the Prospect mound was J. D. Thorne. He fanned six and walked two, but was touched for four runs on four hits in both the third and seventh innings. Lackluster fielding support didn't make his chore any easier.

Thorne became the Knights' lone base runner in the first inning. With one out he bounced the ball between short and third. It wasn't handled quickly or cleanly enough and Thorne beat it out for a hit. Moments later he was caught trying to steal and Prospect's offense was finished.

Glenbrook's offense had to wait until the third before getting under way.

Kozil began the third with a single to left. He was nailed at second on an attempted sacrifice but an error and infield single loaded the bases. The The next GN batter was catcher Bob Youngberg.

WORKING carefully, Thorne sent the count on Youngberg to 3-2. Then, with all runners away on the pitch, Youngberg grounded to Gary Guerin at third. Guerin turned and tagged the base with what should have been a force out except that the runner from second had already rounded the bag. Two runs scored.

A walk re-loaded the bases and brought up first sacker Ray Larson. He rammed a double to left center bringing home another pair of tallies. The score was 4-0.

Through the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings Kozil whiffed nine of the 12 Knights he faced. The other three grounded weakly to the infield.

Thorne allowed just one of the Spartans to gain first safely in the fourth, fifth and sixth. That was Larson who picked up his second hit by driving a single to center in the sixth.

IN THE TOP of the seventh, with shadows enclosing the field, Thorne induced the leadoff Glenbrook batter to ground out. The next hitter bunted for a single and scored as Don Piggot lined a triple to center. Moments later Thorne picked Piggott off third.

At that juncture there were two outs and no one on base.

GN was not finished, however, and two singles and an error made the tally 6-0 with runners on second and third. Larson came up again and gained his third and fourth RBI's, his third hit and set the final 8-0 totals by rapping a single to left.

CHUCK ALDRICH
8-0 Not 4-0

Larson became the final out as he tried to stretch his single to a double and was nipped at second by a Don Whitlock to Paul Peterson to Rick Lott relay.

THE FIELD WAS so dark at that point that the game was called and Prospect never had its chance to bat in the seventh. Normally that would mean that the score would revert to the last complete inning, meaning a 4-0 final, except that Knights coach Chuck Aldrich stated that his scorebook, the official one for the contest, would carry the game as an 8-0 defeat.

Prospect's season record was shifted to 2-1 by the setback.

The Knights used four pitchers in the contest with Chris DeBow absorbing the loss.

'Cats Netters Drop Opener

It was close, but Wheeling's varsity netmen lost.

In their first meet of the 1966 season the Wildcats tennis team was beaten last Thursday. Glenbrook South won by a narrow 3-2 margin.

Steve Groot dropped his first singles match for Wheeling by 6-0, 6-0 scores. A 6-2, 6-1 count sent the 'Cats second singles performer Ed Graves down to defeat.

Victory was gained for Wheeling at the third singles level. There Tony Martin, a junior who had never played prep tennis before this season, came out on top. Martin won 6-3, 6-3.

THE MEET'S crucial match came in first doubles. The Wildcats entry of Carl Meisenheimer and Barry Christensen had to win to keep the meet even. They got off to a good start, taking the first set 6-1, but dropped the next two sets 5-7, 3-6.

In second doubles Walk Krier and Dave Liu quickly disposed of their GS opponents. Krier and Liu came out in front 6-1, 6-3.

At the frosh-soph level the final outcome wasn't close. Wheeling's younger netmen left little doubt about the eventual winner as they shut out Glenbrook South 5-0.

An individual whitewash was turned in for the 'Cats by Jim Cuca. He took first single honors in F-S action 6-0, 6-0. Tallies of 6-1, 6-0 meant triumph for Scott Decker in second singles while Tom Kreis came out in front 6-2, 6-3 in third singles.

DOUBLES PLAY at the frosh-soph level found Dan DenBeste-Ron Keasli and Bill Reinhard-Reid Hansen teams gaining victory. DenBeste and Keasli combined for a 6-2, 6-3 win while Reinhard and Hansen bumped GS's second doubles team 6-0, 6-3.

Jerry Donahue Fires No-Hitter in 9-0 Win

by BOB FRISK

It was a perfect combination.

St. Viator combined some lusty hitting with a superb pitching performance last Thursday and secured its second victory of the 1966 varsity baseball season.

Right-hander Jerry Donahue, who has authored many low-hit affairs in his varsity mound career, fashioned his first no-hitter and sent a visiting Ridgewood nine home with a 9-0 reversal.

An infield tap in the fourth inning that skipped past third baseman Tom Collins was the closest Ridgewood came to a base hit off the slants of St. Viator's fire-balling junior.

DONAHUE SET down nine on strikes and walked three over seven innings. Although he was a 1-0 loser in his initial mound venture this season, Jerry still went through his first two outings without yielding an earned run.

Donahue had adequate support from his teammates in the mound masterpiece.

Coach Len Sparacino's Lions ripped out ten hits for the second straight game, enjoying two explosive frames en route to their second victory of the season.

ST. VIATOR crashed into the scoring column for the first time in the third inning, parading eight men to the plate and pushing across four runs.

It all started with two outs. Bill Kaveney drew a walk, stole second, and rode home on John Loughman's smash to right-center. Loughman went to second on the throw to the plate and Dan Collins was hit by a pitched ball.

Tom Collins sent Loughman across with a hit to left and after Donahue singled to right to score Dan Collins, the Lions worked the double steal with another Collins tallying.

ST. VIATOR threatened again in the fifth when Loughman and Dan Collins singled, but John was cut down trying to steal.

Ten men went to bat for the Lions in the sixth as they padded their advantage.

With one out Larry Snyder reached on an error. He moved to second on another miscue, to third on an infield out, and scored on a single to right by Denny Wilkinson.

Wilkinson reached second on an error, jarring the ball out of the second baseman's glove on an attempted steal, and came around on another error.

THE LIONS DIDN'T stop here. Kaveney singled to right-center, Loughman singled to center to send Leitzen home, and Dan Collins walked to load the bases.

Tom Collins responded to the bases-loaded situation by ripping a single through the box to bring in the two final runs.

Donahue hit a batter to kick off the seventh but preserved his no-hitter by nailing two hitters on strikes and getting a third on a fielder's choice.

Loughman topped the winners at the plate with three singles. Tom Collins and Donahue contributed two hits each.

Pirate Nine In 9-2 Win Over Cards

Palatine's sophomore baseball players used an eight-hit attack to club Arlington's sophs 9-2 last Saturday.

For Tom Hillesheim's Pirates, the victory moved the team up to a 1-1 season mark, while Arlington dipped to 0-2.

Palatine took the lead with two runs in the third, and Arlington came back to knot the game 2-2 in the fifth. But the Pirates, playing on the Fremd School diamond, got those two back in the bottom of the fifth, and exploded for five more in the sixth.

Pat Donahue, who relieved Don Spence, gained the pitching victory, while Gary Price was hung with the loss. John Vetter closed for the Cards on the mound.

Of Palatine's eight hits, one was for extra bases, a double by Kevin Freund.

Lions Frosh Top St. Joseph

A double by Rick Dwyer sent across two runs Monday afternoon and helped carry St. Viator's frosh baseball team to a 4-2 victory over St. Joseph in the Chicagoland Prep League opener.

Dwyer's blast came in a three-run fifth inning as coach Joe Gliwa's Lions battled from behind for their fourth straight win of the 1966 season.

Barry Clark went the distance for the winners and allowed three hits.

In action last week St. Viator belted Palatine, 8-4, and nipped Glenbrook South, 2-1. See separate story on game with Palatine.

John Merges worked seven innings Saturday in the one-run victory over Glenbrook South. He allowed three hits.

The Lions scored the winning run in the final inning when Dwyer scampered across on a wild pitch.

New Trier Tops Prospect Sophs

New Trier's sophomore Indians rocked Prospect last week 13-4, scoring four runs in the first inning and seven in the fifth in a game marred by rain and snow.

Steve Shawhan was tagged with the mound loss. Shawhan and Butch Leonard each collected doubles for the Knights' long blows.

A Blue Monday

Maine S. Tops FV's Nine 8-2

It was a blue Monday for Forest View baseball.

In their second game of the young season the Falcons nine suffered their second defeat. Maine South beat FV on Monday 8-2.

The Hawks opened their victory margin early in the contest. They rocked Forest View pitchers for single runs in the first and second, three in the third and two more in the fourth.

To counter the MS attack the Falcons bunched two of their three hits in the fifth inning. That outburst, combined with an interference call and an error, resulted in FV's pair of tallies.

FOREST VIEW'S lead-off batter, Bob Erlander, became the game's initial runner. He drew a walk in the first but was left stranded. The only other Falcons base runner before the fifth was Jim Meier, who singled in the second. However, he too was stranded.

Meanwhile Maine was getting runners on but was able to bring them around.

Rick Henderson opened on the FV mound. He was touched for two walks, a single and one run in the first and a walk and two singles for one run in the second. In the third a walk, two singles, another walk and another single accounted for three more runs.

When a walk, a sacrifice, two errors, a wild pitch and a walk gave MS two runs to start the fourth, Marty Fontana came on in relief of Henderson for the Falcons. He retired the side without further damage.

IN THE TOP of the fifth Forest View rallied for its scores.

Gary Kalas started frame number five by being waved to first at the umps signaled interference against Maine's catcher. After Jerry Adams singled to center putting runners on first and second for FV, Dan Smith grounded to the pitcher moving each runner up.

When Wally Zimmer fanned for the second out it appeared the Falcons might be kept away from the plate. But, Erlander slashed a single to left to score Kalas. Tom Govdorica was the next batter and he topped a pitch which the opponent hurler threw wildly allowing Adams to tally.

To finish the inning Mike Holstrom gounded to second. Forest View didn't have another base runner.

IN MAINE'S half of the fifth Fontana let just one man reach base. That runner, who got on due to Fontana's walk, did not advance beyond second. Bob Jacobs became the Falcons' hurler in the sixth. Two singles and a wild pitch resulted in a run off Jacobs who set the Hawks down in order in their seventh.

For the game the moundsmen of MS yielded only one walk while fanning eight. Just one of Forest View's runs was earned. For FV Henderson, Fontana and Jacobs gave up eight runs, four of those unearned, on nine hits, seven walks, three wild pitches and one hit batter.

It was indeed a blue Monday for Forest View baseball.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Air Travel . . .

Air travel for dogs has come down to an economy rate level, providing that he goes right along with you on your trip, states the Gaines Dog Research Center in New York. On certain flights it is now possible to check your dog along with your luggage at the passenger counter and for a cost of about $8 take him with you most anywhere in the country.

This not only does away with long rides to the air freight terminal and a long wait for unloading, but your dog appears with your luggage at the end of the trip. And all this at a cost far below that of previous years.

Depending on the airline, you can take your dog in his own crate or rent one from the airline. However, advises the Center, be sure to make reservations for the size of the crate you will need when you reserve your ticket. You will also need health and rabies inoculation certificates from your veterinarian, whether your dog travels with you or is sent air freight. The Center advises that air freight rates for shipping an unaccompanied dog remain the same, at the 50 pound or 100 pound rate.

King-Sized Dogs . . .

Americans, who are getting bigger every year, apparently have decided that they want their dogs king-sized also, a survey by the makers of popular brand of dog food indicates.

During the past year, official registrations of pure-bred dogs disclosed that some of the larger breeds made fantastic gains in popularity. From the ever popular German Shepherd, whose 23 per cent gain served to solidify his second place rating behind the poodle, down to the uncommon Belgian Malinois, whose 350 per cent rise was an eyebrow-lifter, the more sizable canines gave ample proof of their rise in public favor.

The breed said to be the oldest in the world, the Saluki, showed a gain of 134 per cent, while the St. Bernard increased his rating with a rise of over 41 per cent. Irish setters did well during 1965 by leaping four places with a 48 per cent gain, while the tallest of all dogs, the Irish wolfhound, went up 10 positions with an increase of 63 per cent.

Other large breeds went up, including the Alaskan Malemute, the Afghan hound, and the Old English sheepdog. Experts trying to account for the trend to larger dogs attribute it to a number of factors: the impressive appearance at dog shows, more space as families move to suburban areas, even as a status symbol. Regardless of the cause, it is certain that the big dog is "coming on fast."

International Show . . .

The only way to describe the International K. C. Show held April 2 and 3, was that it was big. Not only in the number of dogs, but also in the number of people who came just to see the two-day event.

The winner was a popular choice of the crowd and when Ch. Fezziwig Raggedy Andy, an Old English sheepdog, went bounding down the floor, he brought down the house. Andy, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hendrik Van Rensselaer of Basking Ridge, N.J., was only the second Old English to ever win best in show at the International, the other being at the first show held in 1938.

Barks & Bays . . .

Speaking of the International, results were not available in time for this column. There were many people there from the area; as soon as the press breakdown comes from International Kennel Club headquarters, the news of area wins will be passed on to you readers.

Holy Cross Wins 15-1

Falcons' Nine Drops Opener

by MICHAEL HESS

There's a malady, not uncommon, which afflicts baseball pitchers in early spring. It's called wildness.

Forest View hurler Rick Henderson suffered a severe attack of that disease last Saturday. The result was a 15-1 FV loss to Holy Cross.

Coach Hal Sprehe's Falcons were playing their initial '66 contest. They hosted HC, which was among the eight finalists in last year's state tournament.

Little doubt about the affair's outcome remained after the first two innings. Holy Cross took full advantage of 10 walks, two singles, two wild pitches, a hit batter and an error to establish a 9-0 lead in those frames.

A SHUTOUT WAS avoided by Forest View in the fifth. A walk, stolen base, infield out and sacrifice fly gave the Falcons their tally.

Lone bright spots in the game for FV were mound showings by junior transfers Bob Jacobs and Don Gossage and hitting by Bob Erlander. Jacobs and Gossage blanked the Crusaders in the sixth and seventh and Erlander went two for two at the plate.

Opening on the hill, Henderson's wildness put him in trouble from the start. He walked four, hit one and tossed two wild pitches giving HC a pair of runs in the first. A bases loaded double play and catching a runner at the plate closed the inning.

Six more Henderson walks in the second permitted Holy Cross three more runs before Marty Fontana came on in relief. Two singles off Fontana and a throwing error accounted for four more runs. A sacrifice, grounder and strike out finally finished the Crusaders rally.

FOREST VIEW threatened briefly in the bottom of the frame. Singles by Dan Smith and Erlander put runners on first and second. But, they were left stranded as opposition pitcher Mike Mores bore down to retire the side.

Bill King hurled the next three innings for the Falcons. He gave up six hits, walked one and threw three wild pitches. Holy Cross collected six runs, three of which were earned, off King's offerings.

Kirt Koentopp picked up FV's third hit, a single to right in the third. A double in the fourth by Erlander was his team's final base knock. It was Denny Lynch who scored for Forest View. He walked, stole second, took third on an infield grounder and went home as Gary Kalas flied out in the fifth.

In the sixth Jacobs took over on the FV hill. He disposed of HC on only 10 pitches. Four pitches were all that Gossage used to dispatch the Crusaders in their seventh.

BOB ERLANDER
Two for Two

THE FIVE FOREST View pitchers walked 11, gave up eight hits, struck out two and tossed five wild pitches. Holy Cross' Mores whiffed nine, permitted four hits, walked two and helped his own cause by going one for two at the plate.

Deerfield Wins 7-1

Wheeling Defeated In Diamond Opener

For three innings it was close but then Deerfield came up with six runs and Wheeling went down to defeat.

On Monday afternoon the 'Cats played their initial game of the 1966 baseball season. Going into the fourth the score was knotted at 1-1.

The opponent Warriors nine then arose, pushed across a trio of tallies in both the fourth and fifth and beat Wheeling 7-1. Darkness caused the contest to be halted going into the sixth.

Mark Newman hurled the strong opening innings for the Wildcats. He yielded just one run on two hits while walking no one and striking out three. Newman also picked up one of Wheeling's four hits.

ASIDE FROM Newman's single, all other 'Cats hits, and their run, came in the second.

Jeff Powell started Wheeling's action with a line single to left. A sacrifice bunt was layed down by Jeff Winterburg but a throwing error allowed both runners to reach base safely. Another single by Jim Whittington loaded the sacks and Robin Melzer got the RBI with a bunt single.

The rally ended and three were left on base as Tom Traversone, Tom Manderscheid and Gerry Lemke all went down on strikes.

When the game opened Newman became the lone runner in the first. He was hit by a pitch. After Deerfield went down one; two, three in its half of the frame, Wheeling got its tally in the second. The Warriors came back to tie in the bottom of the second on a single, a walk and another single. Neither side put a man on base in the third.

THE WILDCATS benefited from two walks in their fourth but couldn't score.

Scott Bischoff went to the mound to face the Warriors in the last of the fourth. He gave up two doubles, two walks and hit a batter and Deerfield had three runs and a 4-1 lead.

In the fifth Newman's single and an error again put two runners on for Wheeling but again no scoring resulted.

The Warriors gained their final three markers in their fifth. Greg Fedyski had taken over the pitching chores for the 'Cats. He was touched for a walk, two singles, a double and the trio of runs. At that juncture the contest was halted.

AGAINST WHEELING the enemy hurler, Jim Fritz, fanned eight and walked two in addition to giving up the four hits. The three who toiled on the 'Cats mound permitted seven hits while walking four and getting four on strikes.

In his season opener coach Steve Chernicky used 17 players, everyone on Wheeling's team.

Lions Score Winning Run in Final Inning

by BOB FRISK

St. Viator found out Saturday how to win baseball games without making any noise with the bats.

The varsity Lions collected only two hits over seven innings, one an infield safety, but still pulled out a 2-1 victory over visiting Glenbrook South.

Center fielder John Loughman, who delivered a blow to center in the third inning for the Lions' only solid hit, scampered across with the winning run in the home half of the seventh.

The Lions scored the decisive marker without punching the ball out of the infield.

LOUGHMAN reached on an error and moved around to third on a stolen base and wild pitch. He stayed at third when Dan Collins beat out an infield single and then streaked home on Tom Collins' grounder to short.

It would have been a close play but Loughman tallied when the shortstop threw low to the plate.

There have been more artistic victories, but the Lions, who have had their share of one-run disappointments, were happy to survive with a win this time.

LEFTY BOB Stevens, making his first mound start since he set down Waterloo without any hits in the state finals last June, scattered four safeties.

Stevens struck out 14 for a team high in the young season but he walked seven and would be the first to admit that he has had more relaxing mound chores.

Stevens faced three bases-loaded situations in the game but escaped each time.

IN THE SECOND inning Glenbrook South had the sacks jammed with two outs when Stevens got pitcher Chuck Oleson on a swinging third strike.

The Titans loaded them up again in the third, but Larry Bruksch tapped to Rick Leitzen at short for the third out. In the sixth Stevens got dangerous Ken Howenstein to pop to third base with the bases loaded.

Glenbrook scored its only run in the fifth on a walk to Howenstein, stolen base, wild pitch and infield single that bounced off the mound.

ST. VIATOR didn't waste any time crashing the scoring column. Coach Len Sparacino's outfit put one across in the first inning enroute to its third victory of the season.

Bill Kaveney walked to open the frame, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Loughman tapped to the pitcher, one of seven times the Lions were nailed via that route, and Dan Collins was safe on an error, Kaveney scoring.

The Lions had chances in three of the next five innings but couldn't counter again until the seventh. They had runners on second and third in the third and fourth stanzas and had the sacks loaded in the sixth on three successive walks.

GLENBROOK put a man as far as second in the seventh inning, but Stevens got Bruksch on a called third strike to kill off the side.

Third at New Trier

Cards' Tennis Team Travels to Evanston

Arlington tennis coach Tom Pitchford, encouraged by his squad's performance in the New Trier Quadrangular, will send the Varsity Cardinals to Evanston Saturday morning for an eight-team invitational.

Competition is scheduled to get under way at 9:30 a.m. in the net headliner which will match players from host Evanston, Arlington, Niles East, New Trier, Riverside - Brookfield, Homewood-Flossmoor, Maine South, and Rockford West.

Pitchford will use Bill Von Boeckmann and either John Brost or Mat Weeg in singles play at Evanston. Brian Burke and Dave Milligan will work in one doubles position with Jim Esser and John Jarecki in the second slot.

Pitchford was satisfied with the Cards' effort at New Trier last Saturday despite a third place finish in a four-team meet.

"THE BOYS turned in some fine tennis for us," Pitchford praised. "Oak Park and New Trier are expected to rank with the best in the state, but we actually did better in the quad this year than we did last spring

"Von Boeckmann (Bill), in particular, was on his game in the quad. He turned in his best over-all tennis of the season so far."

Powerful Oak Park topped the quad with 23 points on a varsity level. New Trier was second with 18 and Arlington third with 13. Blue Island was blanked.

BILL VON BOECKMANN
'His Best Tennis'

In 1965 New Trier won the meet with 24 markers, eight and one-half ahead of runnerup Oak Park. Arlington was third with 11.

VON BOECKMANN, a sophomore, finished second Saturday in No. 1 singles play behind highly — regarded Dave Armstrong of Oak Park, state singles runnerup as a junior.

Arlington's Von Boeckmann took 21 games out of a possible 24 in the unique scoring system where it was possible for each boy to score 24 points against three opponents.

The Cardinal soph whipped entries from New Trier (8-5) and Blue Island (8-1).

IN SECOND SINGLES Jim Esser finished second over-all with 20 games won. He topped New Trier's Clements, 8-4, for his big victory and also chalked up an 8-1 win against Blue Island. He lost to Hartman of Oak Park, 8-4.

John Jarecki was second in third singles with 22 points. He beat Jim Clarkson of Oak Park, 8-4, and Forrester of Blue Island, 8-3, but lost to Brian Hewitt of New Trier, 8-6.

In No. 4 singles Dave Milligan finished third with 14 points. He beat Anderson of Blue Island, 8-4, but lost to Crawford of New Trier (8-1) and Moelmann of Oak Park (8-5).

BRIAN BURKE scored 20 points for a second place slot in No. 5 singles. His victories came over Oak Park (8-4) and Blue Island (8-6) and he suffered a 8-4 loss to Landman of New Trier.

John Brost and Mat Weeg combined to work in No. 6 singles. Brost whipped a Blue Island entry but lost to Oak Park. Weeg lost to Davis of New Trier.

In doubles Pitchford used teams of Burke and Milligan and Burke and Von Boeckmann. The former worked together two times and turned in good matches before falling to Oak Park and New Trier by identical 8-6 counts.

Esser and Jarecki combined for 20 points and a third, and Brost and Weeg were third with 15 points.

(See separate story for frosh-soph results).

IN DUAL MEETS last week in southern Illinois Arlington lost to Olney, 5-4, but whipped Flora, 9-0.

"We nad hoped for better weather but it was pretty cold for the most part," Pitchford pointed out.

Scoring wins against Olney were Milligan in No. 4 singles (6-1, 6-1 over Mike Elder), Weeg in No. 6 singles (6-3, 6-4 over Len Wood), Jarecki and Von Boeckmann in No. 2 doubles (2-6, 6-3, 6-1 over Snively and Burgener) and Weeg and Brost in No. 3 doubles (8-6, 4-6, 7-5 over Elder and Tate).

ARLINGTON SWEPT six singles matches and three doubles tests against Flora.

Von Boeckmann, Esser, Jarecki, Milligan, Burke, and Weeg won in singles in straight sets.

Thorne Hurls 3-0 Win

Knights Blank New Trier's 9

by MICHAEL HESS

Bone-chilling winds and snow flurries made the 39-degree diamond temperature seem even colder, but one player was warm enough to bring victory.

Senior J. D. Thorne pitched and batted Prospect to baseball triumph last Thursday. He paced the Knights nine past New Trier East by a 3-0 score.

From the mound Thorne, a lefty, fanned five and walked just one in going all the way. He limited NTE to six hits to pick up his initial win in Prospect's first 1966 contest.

At the plate Thorne collected a single and two doubles in four trips, scored one run and drove in another. As a fielder he handled a pop-up and three grounders with ease, including a tough slow roller at game's end.

AIDING THORNE in his offensive efforts were Maury Galliger and Tom Lundstedt. Galliger got a single and triple and tallied one run while Lundstedt went two for three against New Trier hurling. Each got one RBI.

Prevailing mid-winter weather conditions held attendance at the affair to an even dozen. Those who did travel to NTE's Winnetka field, however, witnessed an impressive season debut by coach Chuck Aldrich's Knights.

In the top of the first Prospect's lone base runner was Thorne, who doubled to deep left with one away. He was left stranded. After moving to the hill in the bottom of the frame Thorne got into immediate trouble.

The Indians' lead-off batter lined a single between short and third and promptly advanced to second on a Thorne wild pitch. When the second man up bounced another single to left only a good throw by by Don Whitlock prevented a score. Runners were held at first and third.

WITH A ONE and one count on the next hitter, New Trier tried a double steal. The runner on the first broke for second, catcher Lundstedt made the throw and the runner on third broke for home. Shortstop Clyde Whitcomb cut off the throw, returned it home and Lundstedt made the tag for the out.

Thorne whiffed the next two batters and the Indians' best chance to avoid a shutout had ended.

After a scoreless second, Galliger started the third by banging a single to left. A wild pitch by New Trier's hurler Jeff Nitzkin put Galliger on second. Vince Franzone struck out but Whitlock's ground out moved Galliger to third where he tallied on Nitzkin's balk. Thorne's second double and Lundstedt's single produced the second run.

New Trier was three up—three down in its half of the frame.

WITH ONE away in the fourth Dave Kingman reached base on Nitzkin's throwing error and took second on Nitzkin's second balk. With two away Galliger sent a fast ball high and deep to the corner in left. Kingman crossed the plate with the final run as Galliger got his triple.

Whitcomb's error and a single put Indians on first and third in the bottom of the fourth. But a force at third and grounder to Thorne kept New Trier from scoring.

Whitlock, Thorne and Lundstedt singled, loading the sacks to start the fifth. Bob Robinson fanned for one out and pinch-hitter John Phillips flied to center. Whitlock tagged at third and went home on Phillips' drive but New Trier appealed and the umps ruled Whitlock left too soon and was out.

Until the bottom of the seventh just one more runner reached base. That came on Thorne's walk, the lone free pass of the battle. Prospect was held hitless during the last two innings by NTE reliever Jim Rogers, who fanned four bringing his team's strike-out total to nine.

IN THE LAST of the seventh the Indians' first hitter knocked a towering fly to right which was misjudged and fell for a double. The runner remained at second as Lundstedt handled a dribbler to get the first out. A single to short left moved the runner to third as Phillips' good throw nailed the batter trying to advance to second.

Final man up in the game chipped a roller down the third base line. Thorne raced to his right, grabbed the ball, turned and fired. His bullet throw just nipped the runner at first to wrap up Prospect's baseball victory.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Air Travel . . .

Air travel for dogs has come down to an economy rate level, providing that he goes right along with you on your trip, states the Gaines Dog Research Center in New York. On certain flights it is now possible to check your dog along with your luggage at the passenger counter and for a cost of about $8 take him with you most anywhere in the country.

This not only does away with long rides to the air freight terminal and a long wait for unloading, but your dog appears with your luggage at the end of the trip. And all this at a cost far below that of previous years.

Depending on the airline, you can take your dog in his own crate or rent one from the airline. However, advises the Center, be sure to make reservations for the size of the crate you will need when you reserve your ticket. You will also need health and rabies inoculation certificates from your veterinarian, whether your dog travels with you or is sent air freight. The Center advises that air freight rates for shipping an unaccompanied dog remain the same, at the 50 pound or 100 pound rate.

King-Sized Dogs . . .

Americans, who are getting bigger every year, apparently have decided that they want their dogs king-sized also, a survey by the makers of popular brand of dog food indicates.

During the past year, official registrations of pure-bred dogs disclosed that some of the larger breeds made fantastic gains in popularity. From the ever popular German Shepherd, whose 23 per cent gain served to solidify his second place rating behind the poodle, down to the uncommon Belgian Malinois, whose 350 per cent rise was an eyebrow-lifter, the more sizable canines gave ample proof of their rise in public favor.

The breed said to be the oldest in the world, the Saluki, showed a gain of 134 per cent, while the St. Bernard increased his rating with a rise of over 41 per cent. Irish setters did well during 1965 by leaping four places with a 48 per cent gain, while the tallest of all dogs, the Irish wolfhound, went up 10 positions with an increase of 63 per cent.

Other large breeds went up, including the Alaskan Malemute, the Afghan hound, and the Old English sheepdog. Experts trying to account for the trend to larger dogs attribute it to a number of factors: the impressive appearance at dog shows, more space as families move to suburban areas, even as a status symbol. Regardless of the cause, it is certain that the big dog is "coming on fast."

International Show . . .

The only way to describe the International K. C. Show held April 2 and 3, was that it was big. Not only in the number of dogs, but also in the number of people who came just to see the two-day event.

The winner was a popular choice of the crowd and when Ch. Fezziwig Raggedy Andy, an Old English sheepdog, went bounding down the floor, he brought down the house. Andy, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hendrik Van Rensselaer of Basking Ridge, N.J., was only the second Old English to ever win best in show at the International, the other being at the first show held in 1938.

Barks & Bays . . .

Speaking of the International, results were not available in time for this column. There were many people there from the area; as soon as the press breakdown comes from International Kennel Club headquarters, the news of area wins will be passed on to you readers.

Holy Cross Wins 15-1

Falcons' Nine Drops Opener

by MICHAEL HESS

There's a malady, not uncommon, which afflicts baseball pitchers in early spring. It's called wildness.

Forest View hurler Rick Henderson suffered a severe attack of that disease last Saturday. The result was a 15-1 FV loss to Holy Cross.

Coach Hal Sprehe's Falcons were playing their initial '66 contest. They hosted HC, which was among the eight finalists in last year's state tournament.

Little doubt about the affair's outcome remained after the first two innings. Holy Cross took full advantage of 10 walks, two singles, two wild pitches, a hit batter and an error to establish a 9-0 lead in those frames.

A SHUTOUT WAS avoided by Forest View in the fifth. A walk, stolen base, infield out and sacrifice fly gave the Falcons their tally.

Lone bright spots in the game for FV were mound showings by junior transfers Bob Jacobs and Don Gossage and hitting by Bob Erlander. Jacobs and Gossage blanked the Crusaders in the sixth and seventh and Erlander went two for two at the plate.

Opening on the hill, Henderson's wildness put him in trouble from the start. He walked four, hit one and tossed two wild pitches giving HC a pair of runs in the first. A bases loaded double play and catching a runner at the plate closed the inning.

Six more Henderson walks in the second permitted Holy Cross three more runs before Marty Fontana came on in relief. Two singles off Fontana and a throwing error accounted for four more runs. A sacrifice, grounder and strike out finally finished the Crusaders rally.

FOREST VIEW threatened briefly in the bottom of the frame. Singles by Dan Smith and Erlander put runners on first and second. But, they were left stranded as opposition pitcher Mike Mores bore down to retire the side.

Bill King hurled the next three innings for the Falcons. He gave up six hits, walked one and threw three wild pitches. Holy Cross collected six runs, three of which were earned, off King's offerings.

Kirt Koentopp picked up FV's third hit, a single to right in the third. A double in the fourth by Erlander was his team's final base knock. It was Denny Lynch who scored for Forest View. He walked, stole second, took third on an infield grounder and went home as Gary Kalas flied out in the fifth.

In the sixth Jacobs took over on the FV hill. He disposed of HC on only 10 pitches. Four pitches were all that Gossage used to dispatch the Crusaders in their seventh.

THE FIVE FOREST View pitchers walked 11, gave up eight hits, struck out two and tossed five wild pitches. Holy Cross' Mores whiffed nine, permitted four hits, walked two and helped his own cause by going one for two at the plate.

Deerfield Wins 7-1

Wheeling Defeated In Diamond Opener

For three innings it was close but then Deerfield came up with six runs and Wheeling went down to defeat.

On Monday afternoon the 'Cats played their initial game of the 1966 baseball season. Going into the fourth the score was knotted at 1-1.

The opponent Warriors nine then arose, pushed across a trio of tallies in both the fourth and fifth and beat Wheeling 7-1. Darkness caused the contest to be halted going into the sixth.

Mark Newman hurled the strong opening innings for the Wildcats. He yielded just one run on two hits while walking no one and striking out three. Newman also picked up one of Wheeling's four hits.

ASIDE FROM Newman's single, all other 'Cats hits, and their run, came in the second.

Jeff Powell started Wheeling's action with a line single to left. A sacrifice bunt was layed down by Jeff Winterburg but a throwing error allowed both runners to reach base safely. Another single by Jim Whittington loaded the sacks and Robin Melzer got the RBI with a bunt single.

The rally ended and three were left on base as Tom Traversone, Tom Manderscheid and Gerry Lemke all went down on strikes.

When the game opened Newman became the lone runner in the first. He was hit by a pitch. After Deerfield went down one; two, three in its half of the frame, Wheeling got its tally in the second. The Warriors came back to tie in the bottom of the second on a single, a walk and another single. Neither side put a man on base in the third.

THE WILDCATS benefited from two walks in their fourth but couldn't score.

Scott Bischoff went to the mound to face the Warriors in the last of the fourth. He gave up two doubles, two walks and hit a batter and Deerfield had three runs and a 4-1 lead.

In the fifth Newman's single and an error again put two runners on for Wheeling but again no scoring resulted.

The Warriors gained their final three markers in their fifth. Greg Fedyski had taken over the pitching chores for the 'Cats. He was touched for a walk, two singles, a double and the trio of runs. At that juncture the contest was halted.

AGAINST WHEELING the enemy hurler, Jim Fritz, fanned eight and walked two in addition to giving up the four hits. The three who toiled on the 'Cats mound permitted seven hits while walking four and getting four on strikes.

In his season opener coach Steve Chernicky used 17 players, everyone on Wheeling's team.

Lions Score Winning Run in Final Inning

by BOB FRISK

St. Viator found out Saturday how to win baseball games without making any noise with the bats.

The varsity Lions collected only two hits over seven innings, one an infield safety, but still pulled out a 2-1 victory over visiting Glenbrook South.

Center fielder John Loughman, who delivered a blow to center in the third inning for the Lions' only solid hit, scampered across with the winning run in the home half of the seventh.

The Lions scored the decisive marker without punching the ball out of the infield.

LOUGHMAN reached on an error and moved around to third on a stolen base and wild pitch. He stayed at third when Dan Collins beat out an infield single and then streaked home on Tom Collins' grounder to short.

It would have been a close play but Loughman tallied when the shortstop threw low to the plate.

There have been more artistic victories, but the Lions, who have had their share of one-run disappointments, were happy to survive with a win this time.

LEFTY BOB Stevens, making his first mound start since he set down Waterloo without any hits in the state finals last June, scattered four safeties.

Stevens struck out 14 for a team high in the young season but he walked seven and would be the first to admit that he has had more relaxing mound chores.

Stevens faced three bases-loaded situations in the game but escaped each time.

IN THE SECOND inning Glenbrook South had the sacks jammed with two outs when Stevens got pitcher Chuck Oleson on a swinging third strike.

The Titans loaded them up again in the third, but Larry Bruksch tapped to Rick Leitzen at short for the third out. In the sixth Stevens got dangerous Ken Howenstein to pop to third base with the bases loaded.

Glenbrook scored its only run in the fifth on a walk to Howenstein, stolen base, wild pitch and infield single that bounced off the mound.

ST. VIATOR didn't waste any time crashing the scoring column. Coach Len Sparacino's outfit put one across in the first inning enroute to its third victory of the season.

Bill Kaveney walked to open the frame, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Loughman tapped to the pitcher, one of seven times the Lions were nailed via that route, and Dan Collins was safe on an error, Kaveney scoring.

The Lions had chances in three of the next five innings but couldn't counter again until the seventh. They had runners on second and third in the third and fourth stanzas and had the sacks loaded in the sixth on three successive walks.

GLENBROOK put a man as far as second in the seventh inning, but Stevens got Bruksch on a called third strike to kill off the side.

Cards' Tennis Team Travels to Evanston

Arlington tennis coach Tom Pitchford, encouraged by his squad's performance in the New Trier Quadrangular, will send the Varsity Cardinals to Evanston Saturday morning for an eight-team invitational.

Competition is scheduled to get under way at 9:30 a.m. in the net headliner which will match players from host Evanston, Arlington, Niles East, New Trier, Riverside - Brookfield, Homewood-Flossmoor, Maine South, and Rockford West.

Pitchford will use Bill Von Boeckmann and either John Brost or Mat Weeg in singles play at Evanston. Brian Burke and Dave Milligan will work in one doubles position with Jim Esser and John Jarecki in the second slot.

Pitchford was satisfied with the Cards' effort at New Trier last Saturday despite a third place finish in a four-team meet.

"THE BOYS turned in some fine tennis for us," Pitchford praised. "Oak Park and New Trier are expected to rank with the best in the state, but we actually did better in the quad this year than we did last spring

"Von Boeckmann (Bill), in particular, was on his game in the quad. He turned in his best over-all tennis of the season so far."

Powerful Oak Park topped the quad with 23 points on a varsity level. New Trier was second with 18 and Arlington third with 13. Blue Island was blanked.

In 1965 New Trier won the meet with 24 markers, eight and one-half ahead of runnerup Oak Park. Arlington was third with 11.

VON BOECKMANN, A sophomore, finished second Saturday in No. 1 singles play behind highly — regarded Dave Armstrong of Oak Park, state singles runnerup as a junior.

Arlington's Von Boeckmann took 21 games out of a possible 24 in the unique scoring system where it was possible for each boy to score 24 points against three opponents.

The Cardinal soph whipped entries from New Trier (8-5) and Blue Island (8-1).

IN SECOND SINGLES Jim Esser finished second over-all with 20 games won. He topped New Trier's Clements, 8-4, for his big victory and also chalked up an 8-1 win against Blue Island. He lost to Hartman of Oak Park, 8-4.

John Jarecki was second in third singles with 22 points. He beat Jim Clarkson of Oak Park, 8-4, and Forrester of Blue Island, 8-3, but lost to Brian Hewitt of New Trier, 8-6.

In No. 4 singles Dave Milligan finished third with 14 points. He beat Anderson of Blue Island, 8-4, but lost to Crawford of New Trier (8-1) and Moelmann of Oak Park (8-5).

BRIAN BURKE scored 20 points for a second place slot in No. 5 singles. His victories came over Oak Park (8-4) and Blue Island (8-6) and he suffered a 8-4 loss to Landman of New Trier.

John Brost and Mat Weeg combined to work in No. 6 singles. Brost whipped a Blue Island entry but lost to Oak Park. Weeg lost to Davis of New Trier.

In doubles Pitchford used teams of Burke and Milligan and Burke and Von Boeckmann. The former worked together two times and turned in good matches before falling to Oak Park and New Trier by identical 8-6 counts.

Esser and Jarecki combined for 20 points and a third, and Brost and Weeg were third with 15 points.

(See separate story for frosh-soph results).

IN DUAL MEETS last week in southern Illinois Arlington lost to Olney, 5-4, but whipped Flora, 9-0.

"We nad hoped for better weather but it was pretty cold for the most part," Pitchford pointed out.

Scoring wins against Olney were Milligan in No. 4 singles (6-1, 6-1 over Mike Elder), Weeg in No. 6 singles (6-3, 6-4 over Len Wood), Jarecki and Von Boeckmann in No. 2 doubles (2-6, 6-3, 6-1 over Snively and Burgener) and Weeg and Brost in No. 3 doubles (8-6, 4-6, 7-5 over Elder and Tate).

ARLINGTON SWEPT six singles matches and three doubles tests against Flora.

Von Boeckmann, Esser, Jarecki, Milligan, Burke, and Weeg won in singles in straight sets.

Thorne Hurls 3-0 Win

Knights Blank New Trier's 9

by MICHAEL HESS

Bone-chilling winds and snow flurries made the 39-degree diamond temperature seem even colder, but one player was warm enough to bring victory.

Senior J. D. Thorne pitched and batted Prospect to baseball triumph last Thursday. He paced the Knights nine past New Trier East by a 3-0 score.

From the mound Thorne, a lefty, fanned five and walked just one in going all the way. He limited NTE to six hits to pick up his initial win in Prospect's first 1966 contest.

At the plate Thorne collected a single and two doubles in four trips, scored one run and drove in another. As a fielder he handled a pop-up and three grounders with ease, including a tough slow roller at game's end.

AIDING THORNE in his offensive efforts were Maury Galliger and Tom Lundstedt. Galliger got a single and triple and tallied one run while Lundstedt went two for three against New Trier hurling. Each got one RBI.

Prevailing mid-winter weather conditions held attendance at the affair to an even dozen. Those who did travel to NTE's Winnetka field, however, witnessed an impressive season debut by coach Chuck Aldrich's Knights.

In the top of the first Prospect's lone base runner was Thorne, who doubled to deep left with one away. He was left stranded. After moving to the hill in the bottom of the frame Thorne got into immediate trouble.

The Indians' lead-off batter lined a single between short and third and promptly advanced to second on a Thorne wild pitch. When the second man up bounced another single to left only a good throw by by Don Whitlock prevented a score. Runners were held at first and third.

WITH A ONE and one count on the next hitter, New Trier tried a double steal. The runner on the first broke for second, catcher Lundstedt made the throw and the runner on third broke for home. Shortstop Clyde Whitcomb cut off the throw, returned it home and Lundstedt made the tag for the out.

Thorne whiffed the next two batters and the Indians' best chance to avoid a shutout had ended.

After a scoreless second, Galliger started the third by banging a single to left. A wild pitch by New Trier's hurler Jeff Nitzkin put Galliger on second. Vince Franzone struck out but Whitlock's ground out moved Galliger to third where he tallied on Nitzkin's balk. Thorne's second double and Lundstedt's single accounted for the second run.

New Trier was three up—three down in its half of the frame.

WITH ONE away in the fourth Dave Kingman reached base on Nitzkin's throwing error and took second on Nitzkin's second balk. With two away Galliger sent a fast ball high and deep to the corner in left. Kingman crossed the plate with the final run as Galliger got his triple.

Whitcomb's error and a single put Indians on first and third in the bottom of the inning. But a force at third and grounder to Thorne kept New Trier from scoring.

Whitlock, Thorne and Lundstedt singled, loading the sacks to start the fifth. Bob Robinson fanned for one out and pinch-hitter John Phillips flied to center. Whitlock tagged at third and went home on Phillips' drive but New Trier appealed and the umps ruled Whitlock left too soon and was out.

Until the bottom of the seventh just one more runner reached base. That came on Thorne's walk, the lone free pass of the battle. Prospect was held hitless during the last two innings by NTE reliever Jim Rogers, who fanned four bringing his team's strike-out total to nine.

IN THE LAST of the seventh the Indians' first hitter knocked a towering fly to right which was misjudged and fell for a double. The runner remained at second as Lundstedt handled a dribbler to get the first out. A single to short left moved the runner to third as Phillips' good throw nailed the batter trying to advance to second.

Final in an up in the game chipped a roller down the third base line. Thorne raced to his right, grabbed the ball, turned and fired. His bullet throw just nipped the runner at first to wrap up Prospect's baseball victory.

Area Premiere for Play

When St. James Theatre Group presents "Seven Nuns at Las Vegas" at Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows April 22, 23 and 24, it will be the first time the play has been seen in this area.

Originally written for the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., the premiere performance was by the University Theatre and the Notre Dame Department of Speech in July, 1954.

The plot revolves around Sister Columba, portrayed by Jane Kelly, 1416 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, an elderly, arthritic, Irish nun who prays to St. Joseph for relief for her aching bones. Little does she realize that her prayers will take her to Las Vegas and not to heaven, as she thought.

IN PERFORMING this miracle for her, St. Joseph also moves the convent and the six other nuns who happen to be in it at the time. In these days of strange flying objects, a convent suddenly moved several thousand miles shouldn't shock too many people, but the nuns' effect on the gambling town of Las Vegas is quite disturbing, especially to nightclub owner, Mr. Edelman, played by Charles Willwerth, 226 S. Evanston.

How to get the convent and its inhabitants back home plus keeping some sort of order is the thankless job of Sister Felicitas, Maria Ptak of 1345 N. Vail. The unusual happenings, both in the convent and in the town itself, make for an evening of light comedy, suitable for everyone.

Curtain time for all performances is 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Al Walters, 392-8648, or Mrs. Thad Ostrowski, 255-6187, and also at the door the nights of the performances. (Bill

Opera on Program for Drama Group

Mr. and Mrs. William Fricke will introduce the St. James Theatre Group of Arlington Heights to opera Sunday evening when they present Menotti's one-act comic opera, "The Telephone."

The opera will be given at the St. James Group's regular meeting in the St. James School basement. Accompanist will be Kimberly Schmidt, and Michael McMahon will handle the bell ringing that is an important part of the opera.

MR. AND MRS. Fricke, both members of the St. James players, were the first to present grand opera to northwest suburban residents when they gave Verdi's "Masked Ball" in December, 1959. Next fall they will present excerpts from Verdi's "La Traviata" and Puccini's "La Tosca."

Singers of 20 different operatic roles, the Arlington Heights couple also have directed and managed the Music Drama Guild and the Northwest Opera Co. and taught the opera class at Austin Academy of Fine Arts. (Bill

COFFEE BREAK is taken by cast members of Guild Players' "The Great Sebastians." Al Bollyn, who plays Novotny, pours himself a cup while fellow thespian Sig Thorsen, center, as Parlat, sips. At right is resident director Vic Simone, who not only directs the play this time but acts the role of General Zandek.

Guild Director Also Acts in Current Play

What happens when the director of a play also performs in one of the leading roles? Does the acting director's more intimate contact with the other actors impair or improve his effectiveness as the director?

The Guild Players may soon learn the answers to these questions. For the first time, the Guild is producing a play with its director, Victor Simone, acting in a leading role.

In amateur theater groups, an actor portraying two roles in a play is not uncommon. However, because of the creative function of a director in evaluating and guiding the progress of the total play, his perspective must remain broad and objective.

THE ACTING director must somehow be able to continually see the whole creative effort while developing his singular part within the play.

Simone has the role of General Otokar Zandek in the Guild's forthcoming play, "The Great Sebastians." Now in the final weeks of rehearsal, the play is scheduled for presentation at the Lake Park High School auditorium on Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23.

"Having a role in a play which I'm also directing is an interesting change of pace for me," Simone said after a recent evening rehearsal. "During the early stages of our rehearsals, I have had to give more of my attention to the over-all development of the play than to what I want to do in the role of Zandek."

"IN THE REMAINING weeks of rehearsals, each of the actors, including myself, will spend more time thinking about and working on the particular personalities of the roles we play," he continued.

Hank Ralston as Sergeant Javorsky is in a number of scenes with Simone throughout the play.

"In the scenes in which I appear with Vic, I don't think of him as being anyone other than General Zandek. For me to develop and sustain my characterization while on stage, I feel I must think of the others in the cast only as the characters they are portraying," Ralston commented.

RALSTON HAS twice received the Guild's "Hammy" award for extraordinary contribution to a production. He received the award this season for his portrayal of Mother Gothol in the children's play, "Rapunzel and the Witch."

Czechoslovakia, the birthplace of Ralston, also happens to be the setting for the entire action of "The Great Sebastians." Hearing Ralston's authentic accent has helped others in the cast to develop their own accents to fit the various characters, said Simone.

A limited number of tickets for the two performances of "The Great Sebastians" are still available and can be obtained by calling the box office, 529-2848. (Bill

Met Singer to Give Community Concert

THEODOR UPPMAN

A concert by Metropolitan Opera baritone Theodor Uppman this evening (Thursday) will conclude the 1965-66 season for the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association.

Uppman, handsome star of recital, radio and television as well as opera, will perform at 8:15 p.m. in the Arlington High School Boys' Gym. Doors open at 7:30 p.m.

Uppman's list of successes with the Metropolitan Opera include his performance last year in the role of Guglielmo in "Cosi fan tutte" with Leontyne Price, Richard Tucker and Rosalind Elias.

WHEN NOT busy in opera, he tours extensively, doing concerts, singing with major orchestras and appearing on TV and radio. His summer operatic performances have included singing in German and Latin as well as English.

This past summer Uppman sang in "Damnation of Faust" with the New York Philharmonic and in the same work at the Hollywood Bowl with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

He has given concerts in every state except Alaska.

MRS. LAWRENCE Zonsius, membership chairman under whose guidance the Association conducted its recent membership drive, reported the 1966-67 series is a sellout.

The series was completed following the drive and will include, besides the previously announced Norman Luboff Choir, Rosalind Elias, mezzo soprano; Michael Rabin, violinist; Lee Evans Trio and New York Brass Quintet. (Bill

Discussion Set on Art Education

"What Is Art and Design Education?" is the title of a panel discussion by Countryside Gallery artists Lester Rebbeck, Barbara Houskeeper and R. Thomas Jaeger, to be held at Pioneer Park tonight (Thursday,) at 8 o'clock. Coffee and refreshments will be served before the program-meeting beginning at 7 p.m.

Each of the three panelists has a wealth of teaching experience to bring to bear on the topic of art education.

Lester Rebbeck, with 13 years of experience in teaching art to all age groups, holds a master of arts degree from the Art Institute of Chicago. He is on the faculty of South Junior High School in Arlington Heights and was chairman of the Countryside Gallery Board of Directors last year and has served three terms as a director.

BARBARA Houskeeper was among the founders of the Countryside Gallery and has taught classes at the Art Center for nearly 10 years. She received her own education at the Rhode Island School of Design and the Art Institute of Chicago.

Thomas Jaeger teaches architure at the University of Illinois, Navy Pier and Chicago Circle, and is an architect with the firm of Buderus and Sunshine in Park Ridge. His paintings and assemblages were featured at the Countryside Gallery, to which he is new this season, during March.

There is no admission charge for the program and the public is welcome. (Bill

Mobiles Will Be Featured As Arts Festival Decor

Mobiles, three-dimensional hanging constructions that move, will be the featured decor of Countryside Art Center's second annual Spring Arts Festival.

Made by several artists, the mobiles are expected to be "highly unusual" as the artists have been unrestricted in the type of materials used, according to Mrs. Charles Brockman, festival chairman.

The festival will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24, at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. There will be an exhibit of art, musical and dramatic entertainment and demonstrations of various techniques in art.

BESIDES paintings, prints, drawings, collages and sculptures, crafts will be represented, including gold and silver work, ceramics, sand casting, blown glass, papier mache', textiles and wood carving.

On Saturday, April 23, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at intervals during the festival, demonstrations in painting, printmaking and papier mache' will be presented as well as performances by the Arlington Heights Civic Symphony Brass Ensemble and the Arlington Squares dance group.

On Sunday, April 24, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., performances by the Madrigal Singers, Arlington Heights Civic Symphony String Ensemble, and Arlington Squares dance group will alternate with ceramic, painting, papier mache' and glass blowing demonstrations.

MRS. C. W. TIBBITS, Arlington Heights artist member of Countryside Art Center, shows her construction, "The Birds and the Bees." Mobiles are only one of several expressions of art to be displayed and demonstrated during the Art Center's Spring Arts Festival April 23 and 24.

SPECIAL activities for teens and younger children are planned, with an exhibit of children's art and a Creative Corner to care for youngsters while their parents visit the festival.

"We feel that the festival can assist the community in its cultural growth," commented Mrs. William Stull, Art Center president.

Countryside Art Center Inc., a non-profit group, has offered classes in art for adults and children for the past seven years. In addition to countless art exhibitions, it has sponsored and operated for four years the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

The entire Spring Arts Festival schedule of events will be announced in next week's edition of Paddock Publications. Persons desiring information may contact Mrs. Brockman, 392-6969. (Bill
